...SPORTSMEN AT GLENFANNING.—Messrs Fiddle Gallant and Duncan and Percy McIntyre, of West Royalty, Queen's County, spent a few days very pleasantly at Glenfanning last week, the guests of Mr. Patrick O. Rice, of that place. Being expert hunters and crack shots they made great havoc among the smaller fur-bearing animals with which the woods in that vicinity abound, and secured a very creditable "bag" of game as a result of their labors. Mr. Gallant was assisted very materially in the work by a rabbit hound or beagle which he had with him, and which proved of inestimable value in hunting the "bunnies." One of the younger members of the party had a rather unpleasant experience in getting astray in the woods and had much difficulty in retracing his steps and rejoining his companions. A cow-bell in the hands of one of the latter proved of material assistance to the lost man in finding his way. The loud reports of the guns as the stillness of the woods echoed and re-echoed, the noise of the shots, the shouts of the hunters, and the barking of the hound made a din which caused the peace-loving inhabitants of Glenfanning to imagine that the Germans were upon them, and that the "tight little isle" was about to become the spoil of the invading Hun. The sportsmen returned home by the morning train on Thursday last, having enjoyed the trip immensely, and are looking forward with pleasurable anticipations to their next visit to Glenfanning. —"E"
