It was raining heavily and the chauffeur was going too fast to make the turn safely, as the streets were naturally slippery. The car skidded on a signal light, smashing H. Mrs. Harkins was thrown forward, cutting her forehead, eye and ear, and injuring her shoulder and leg. She had been thrown clear of the car into the street and when picked up was unconscious. She was taken home and for several days three doctors were in attendance. She is now out of danger and I am glad to say the doctor reports she will not be marked in any way but the shock to her nerves will remain for some time. The many friends of Mr and Mrs Harkins will be glad to hear she is recovering."—Acadian Recorder, Halifax.

SPORTING COMMENT

By ("TEC") March 9th

The Abegweit hockey team arrived home yesterday at noon from Campbellton where they suffered their recent defeat and elimination in the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island hockey finals. McEachern, Williams and Kelly did not accompany the team, instead they proceeded to Truro where they were in attendance at the opening game last night between the "Bears" and Campbellton for the hockey championship of the Maritime Provinces.

The boys although somewhat tired are feeling in the best of condition after their extended sojourn in New Brunswick, and although beaten seem to take the defeat as a matter of course, saying they have no alibis to offer whatever and paid high tribute to the hockey ability of the Campbellton outfit.

Manager Parkman interviewed yesterday stated that the New Brunswickers proved the best team on a small ice space, the Abegweits being somewhat "at sea" as a result; he added that the North Shore ice space was thirty feet shorter and seventeen feet narrower than our local rink, the dimensions being, Arena, 190 ft. by 82 ft.; Campbellton, 160 ft. by 65 ft. Therefore local fans can imagine the disadvantage our boys were at, playing against such a formidable aggregation as the North Shore champions. "Parkie" felt sure that Campbellton would take the Bears into camp in their home rink, even by a larger score than they did over the Abegweits. He also stated that Kelly and Williams on the defence were marked men and could not get away for any material damage. "Campbellton played a great game of hockey and certainly deserved the win," were the words of Parkman.

"THE BEST THEY COULD DO"

Hockey has sung its swan song on Prince Edward Island for the season, and with it goes blasted hopes and many regrets—regrets that the Abegweits after going so far have at last been eliminated on the road to Maritime titular honors and all the prestige that goes with it. To the impartial and unbiased hockey fan and all lovers of clean sport, the above regret is the only, we may say, disappointment that can be felt with regard to our Abbies; they gave their all and what more can anyone ask? Beaten, yes, by a team worthy of its steel on a goal count of 4 to 1. Before the first play-off it looked a safe bet for the locals, with the help of fast ice, but alas and alack, soft slushy ice greeted them in their most important fixture, on home ice with the result that is now only history. The breaks, if there is such a thing, were surely against—hard ice faced them in a miniature rink without a goal to come or go on, a rink they never saw before. The fans at home hoped, but were none the less dubious after witnessing the Campbellton campaign on a large ice space against the fast Abegweits—and that ice space was anything but fast. Anyway they did the best they could, and have nothing to reproach themselves with. They are still champions of P. E. Island and the Central Section of New Brunswick and Charlottetown should well feel proud of them. They arrived yesterday unheralded and unsung, walked silently to their homes, and who knows what thoughts were uppermost in their minds as they wended their way.

Another year is coming and the Abegweits will once more be found on the icy battlegrounds of the Maritime and Island rinks, and once again they will give their all and do the best they can. What more can be asked of them?

BASEBALL

It may be somewhat premature to talk baseball, but the way "King Sol" is shining these days makes one long to grab a bat or don a glove to feel the sting of the horsehide. We've seen enough snow and ice this winter and everyone is just itching for a glimpse of the green mantle once more.

"FORE"

And not forgetting golf. Pretty soon the golfers will be with us again, or against us, as the case may be. Golf widows are dusting off their weeds, niblicks are starting to be shone up, the rough is peeping through the snowdrifts, and many a doctor is being urged to advise papa that what he needs for his enlarging girth is some invigorating exercise.

PASSING OF REAL STAR

Speaking about baseball, Eddie Plank who died the other day, was one of the greats of baseball. Perhaps not so colorful as the late Christy Mathieson, nor as eccentric as Waddell, nor even as well known a figure as Mordecai Brown to many, yet he was one of the immortals of the diamond. He was in many ways the most remarkable left-handed pitcher of all time. His control was his greatest asset. He passed out at the age of 51. He was 38 when he reached the age of his greatest triumph by defeating "Matty" and the Giants in 1913. He was contemporaneous with many great moundmen, including Cy Young, Rube Waddell, Chief Bender, Wild Bill Donovan, George Mullin, Bill Dineen, Jack Chesbro, Addie Joss, Ed. Walsh and numerous others. He was a wonder and his records will endure for a long time.

THE CALL OF TIME

Harry Greb, the "Human Windmill" has heard the clarion call of Time. Greb, as easy a living champion as ever laced on a glove, took Broadway for a training camp, cast aside discretion, and fell victim to a man of little skill, according to reports and of no uncertain fortitude. Greb will be remembered as the man who lost to the negro Tiger Flowers. No matter how estimable the "Tigah" is, and how lusty a psalm-singer he appears to be, there is still a stigma attached to the discomfiture of Greb, and the latter's lack of realization of his responsibilities to the Caucasian race as middleweight champion is bringing him a lot of odium.

Three of its members, viz: T. B. Grady, Benjamin Bromner and George S. Ryan have held the highest office in the Grand Lodge of this Jurisdiction—that of Grand Master; while John MacLaughlan has represented the Grand Encampment on three different occasions as its Grand Representative to the Sovereign Grand Lodge.

Willey Lodge will have as its honored guest on Friday evening next the Grand Master, Bro. A. C. Barnaby of Bridgewater, N. S., when they will welcome for him the Lullaby Degree, after which a most interesting and varied programme will be carried out. Willey Lodge takes this opportunity of extending a cordial welcome to all Odd Fellows and Rebekahs to be with them on this memorable occasion.

Children's Poet is Laid to Rest

CHICAGO, Mar. 9.—With the last stanza of "Little Boy Blue" sounding as a requiem the body of Eugene Field, the children's poet, was interred in a tomb in the Episcopal Church of the Holy Comforter. Scores of children mingled with the throng that followed the remains from a suburban grave in Graceland cemetery.

As the coffin was lowered into its last resting place a friend of Field's repeated the lines of his famous poem of the toys of the small boy who died.

And they wonder as waiting the long years through
In the dust of the little choir
What has become of our Little Boy Blue.
Since he kissed them and put them there.

Good Health for All the Family Mrs. Mary Fourgore, Larry's River, N.S. writes: "I was troubled with constipation for years." At last a friend suggested that I try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so and must say that they have given me more relief than all the medicine I have taken during the last ten years. The newest idea in medicine is to prevent serious disease by looking after the "minor ills." Since about ninety percent of serious diseases develop from constipation and torpid action of the liver and kidneys the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to arouse the action of these organs is the most effective of preventives. Backaches, headaches, indigestion, constipation, etc., soon disappear when this great regulating medicine is used.
