

"It Looks Like Cream!"

Milk when used with Blue Bird Tea takes on the consistency of cream—for Blue Bird actually creams by itself, a test of good tea. See for yourself; pour some Blue Bird into a cup and let it stand. In a while it will cloud like cream.

Brings Happiness!

AUCTION SALE

of Valuable Property in Charlottetown

I am authorised by the executors of the Estate of the late T. Hegan to sell on FRIDAY, SEPT. 30th.

Commencing at 12 O'clock Noon

that valuable property situated on the corner of Spring Park Road and Brighton, and consisting of large dwelling house and store with large warehouse and other outbuildings. This is an ideal business stand. Also on the same day will sell a large lot of furniture at 1.30 p.m.

TERMS AT SALE. BENJ. CARTER & SON, Auctioneers.

MUSSEL MUD

We are prepared to supply a good quality of the above fertilizer when farmers require it in the following places. Now in Orwell Bay landing at Vernon Bridge, China Point, Malliday's and Brush wharves, later in the season at Pownal and West River wharves and on cars at the Railway wharf Charlottetown.

Apply to MALCOLM MARTIN, in charge or to D. L. McKINNON, Montague

September 27th to October 1st, 1921

Prince Edward Island EXHIBITION

AT

Charlottetown Open to All Canada

Over $13,000 in Exhibition Prizes

Over $7,000 in Race Purses

5--Days Horse Racing--5 13 CLASSES

The Valetenes, sensational optical loop the loop gymnasts.

De Renza and Ladue Comedy revolving ladder and sensational double trapeze act.

Lewis Brothers aerial flying trapeze in gymnastic high dome flights. Braggair Brothers comedy horizontal bar acts.

The fastest horses in Canada and the Eastern States are coming.

The largest attendance in the history of Prince Edward Island Exhibition is anticipated. Make your arrangements early.

For all information write the Secretary.

C. F. SMALLWOOD, Sec'y-Treasurer JOHN J. DAVIES, President

A HUSBAND TO MARCIA

By CAROLYN BEECHER

Chapter XXXI

Gradually the thought of Elaine ceased to be a poignant regret to Elaine. She had grown numbly to be all she should be to Marcia. She thought that even in spirit he had wronged her making him more amenable to her wishes, more lenient with her faults.

Yet John had not become at all lenient. Neither had Marcia grown less selfish.

He gazed himself in his work still new and then, dizzy with a sense over him as he thought of what his life might have meant if he had married Elaine; what it was living with Marcia.

"But Marcia has done no wrong, she is faithful itself," he reminded himself.

Once Marcia said: "Don't you know I love you, John?"

Did the devil prompt his reply? "As much as you can—are capable of loving any one—but yourself."

Marcia cried bitterly for an hour, then dried her eyes and went to play bridge. That day she lost heavily.

"I don't care! It was your fault," she declared when at dinner she confessed her loss.

"My fault? If you hadn't made me feel badly when I told you I loved you, I wouldn't have been unhappy and lost. I never can play a good game unless I feel just right."

"How much did you lose?" "I'll need $15."

She had not answered his question but John gave her the $15 without comment. It probably had been much more and she feared he would not pay it if she were frank with him. This $15 would be added to what she happened to have to make up the amount of her loss.

So John had worried along, often bills of one month juggling over; until the end of the next in a discouraging fashion bills have. Occasionally he would earn something extra—he now kept all these extra money from Marcia as far as he could and have what he called a "clean up" when he would breathe freely for a while. But the constant strain frazzled his nerves, made him impatient at times. Then Marcia complained bitterly that he no longer loved her, that she was unhappy.

But John tried to be deaf at such times. He avoided them as much as possible; then when they came he zizzaged them. But when Marcia had her own way she was charming. John would find her either dressed to go out, or reclining lazily in an easy chair her favorite magazine, a fashion exponent, in her lap. She would look up at him and murmur:

Mean to handle. Sold by all Druggists, Grocers and General Stores

He never quarrelled with her now over her losses at cards. She did not often appeal to him for help, and if she wished to use her allowance in that way he could no longer object.

It was so with many things. John no longer had the patience to argue with Marcia. Rather he let things slide even when he felt them an imposition. He had changed positively that he would not "do the society act," yet he seldom refused to attend any function she asked him to. He had accepted many extravaganzas as he had accepted the new car—in silence.

Gradually he was again letting go of his ideals, those ideals that had been warmed into life by Elaine Westmore's sympathy. And this second letting go was even more complete than the first. Marcia's demands grew daily more insistent, her style of living more extravagant. John had been given more responsibility, more money, not once but twice, by an appreciative firm, yet he had saved nothing, and was almost always in debt. He had struggled hard against the debt habit. Marcia demanded accounts at the shops and for her household accounts.

"I get better service," she declared. "When you pay cash for everything, you get no consideration."

So John had worried along, often bills of one month juggling over; until the end of the next in a discouraging fashion bills have. Occasionally he would earn something extra—he now kept all these extra money from Marcia as far as he could and have what he called a "clean up" when he would breathe freely for a while. But the constant strain frazzled his nerves, made him impatient at times. Then Marcia complained bitterly that he no longer loved her, that she was unhappy.

But John tried to be deaf at such times. He avoided them as much as possible; then when they came he zizzaged them. But when Marcia had her own way she was charming. John would find her either dressed to go out, or reclining lazily in an easy chair her favorite magazine, a fashion exponent, in her lap. She would look up at him and murmur:

"You may kiss me if you are a good boy," or some other arrant nonsense that invariably grated on John's nerves. Yet he would bend down and dutifully kiss the free Marcia in his car, after which Marcia would patter on about something she wanted, must have it, wear, or something she wanted to do.

In all the years of their married life she never had shown the slightest interest in his business save to learn how much money he made. That was the Alpha and Omega of her concern.

"John Aldrich is an artist," had said of him more than once, "a dilettante," but Marcia called it "collecting trash" when he now occasionally indulged his passion for china. At such times she invariably asked:

"How much was it? His answer would be:

"Oh, I picked it up cheap." Which he did, yet to her it would have seemed a considerable sum to "waste on an old piece of china." But John never had forgotten the plate he had bought after years of self denial, or the hat.

"You may kiss me if you are a good boy," or some other arrant nonsense that invariably grated on John's nerves. Yet he would bend down and dutifully kiss the free Marcia in his car, after which Marcia would patter on about something she wanted, must have it, wear, or something she wanted to do.

In all the years of their married life she never had shown the slightest interest in his business save to learn how much money he made. That was the Alpha and Omega of her concern.

"John Aldrich is an artist," had said of him more than once, "a dilettante," but Marcia called it "collecting trash" when he now occasionally indulged his passion for china. At such times she invariably asked:

"How much was it? His answer would be:

"Oh, I picked it up cheap." Which he did, yet to her it would have seemed a considerable sum to "waste on an old piece of china." But John never had forgotten the plate he had bought after years of self denial, or the hat.

(To be Continued)

To make your food more healthful, delicious, and appetizing use Borden's St. Charles or Jersey Milk "with the cream left in."

Dr. MacKinnon is Veterinary Surgeon

Dr. MacKinnon who was the popular veterinary at the Exhibition grounds last year has been notified of his reappointment this year and will be in readiness to attend any sick animal at the Exhibition giving swift and constant attention.

ASPIRIN

"Bayer" only is Genuine

Warning! Take no chances with substitutes for genuine "Bayer" Aspirin. Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablet you are not getting Aspirin at all. In every Bayer package are directions for Colds, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Earache, Toothache, Lumbago and Pain. Handy tin boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell larger packages. Made in Canada. Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacturer of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

REVERE HOTEL HALIFAX

$1.50 PER DAY 50c-75c-$1.00 PER NIGHT Special rate to steady boarders. Strictly first class and up-to-date.

PETER McDONALD, Proprietor

Notice of Meeting

THE ANNUAL meeting of the Spring Park Black Fox Co., will be held in the Y. M. C. A. Hall at eight o'clock Thursday evening, Oct. 6. Signed R. G. Spillet.

TENDERS

Tenders called for the purchase of land in Little Pond. Tenders will be received up to October 1st by the undersigned for the purchase of the following property situated at Little Pond, Lot 55, Kings County, containing 55 acres of land more or less and buildings.

The highest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

MRS. JOSEPH N. McDONALD, Souris, Box 72.

Notice to Oyster Fishermen

The Oyster season opens on the first day of October. Every fisherman must take out a license before beginning operations; other wise, he is liable to the penalty provided by the Fisheries Act.

Applications may be made to the Fishery overseers and to the Inspector of Fisheries, Charlottetown.

(Sgd.) S. T. GALLANT, INSPECTOR OF FISHERIES.

DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVAL SERVICE SALE OF LUMBER

SEALED tenders addressed to the undersigned and endorsed on the envelope "Tender for Lumber" will be received up to noon on Tuesday the 4th day of October 1921, for the purchase of the whole or any portion of approximately 500,000 feet B. M. assorted Lumber consisting of Oak, Birch, Fir, Pine Spruce and Hemlock now lying at H. M. C. Dockyard, Halifax, N. S.

This Lumber is well seasoned, unused stock and is open to inspection at any time.

For terms and full particulars may be obtained on application to the undersigned or to the Naval Store Officer at the Dockyard.

The right is reserved to reject any or all tenders.

G. J. DESBARATS, Deputy Minister, Department of Naval Service, Ottawa, Ont., September 13, 1921. Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for.

S. S. "Canadian Sapper"

The following are the proposed sailings of the S. S. "Canadian Sapper" from Montreal to Charlottetown and St. John's, Newfoundland and this season, namely:

From Montreal October 11th, October 29th. From Charlottetown October 16th, November 3rd.

Should there be sufficient cargo offering the S. S. "Canadian Sapper" will load here and sail about November 20th for St. John's Newfoundland direct.

For further information apply to BUNTAIN, BELL & CO., Agents. Charlottetown, Sept. 26th, 1921.

"MANOA" Passenger Steamer

Leaves Montreal—19th August, 6th September, 23rd September. Leaves Charlottetown for St. John's, 22nd August, 9th September, 26th September.

Leaves Charlottetown for Montreal 29th August, 17th September, 1st October.

Carvell Bros Agents

Desirable Residence For Sale

I offer for sale my residence on Poplar Avenue, Summerside, consisting of two and three quarters of land with orchard and fourteen room house. The house is finished with hardwood floors throughout, hot water heating, electric light and sewerage. Is built as a residence for one or for two families.

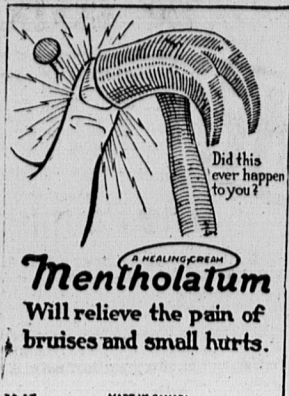

Inquire at McQuarrie and Arsenault, Barristers, Summerside or to undersigned.

A. E. ARSENAULT

TENDERS

Sealed Tenders addressed to the undersigned will be received by the Morell Institute until noon, October 6th for the purchase of sheep and lambs; also cattle and canners.

GEORGE GRANT, Secretary

MADE IN CANADA

Canadian Trade Chances In South

Commercial Opportunities in Brazil if Vigorous Campaign is Made

LONDON, Sept. 24.—Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Wood, Toronto, arrived here on the Almazora from Brazil. They spent a short time in Paris

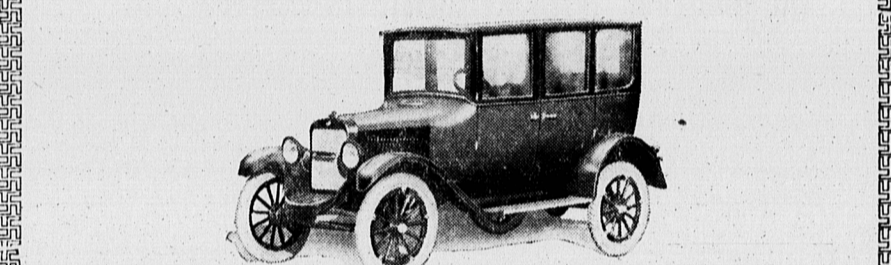

PROTOVIM

Brings strength and energy. Restores lost vitality. The greatest and quickest restorative known. Protovim will make you strong and robust. Weaklings are transformed into men of strong nerves with plenty of will power. Price per box, Three dollars

Sold in Charlottetown by the TWO MACS, At Charlton Sidings by Lords Ltd, at North Tryon by H. M. Chisholm, at Summerside by Gourley, Ltd.

OLIVER WARREN

Overland

We are not showing Cars at the Exhibition this year, but we take great pleasure in inviting everyone who shall be attending to our GARAGE and SHOW ROOMS at BRUCE STEWART & CO., LTD., WHARF where we shall be pleased to show and demonstrate to you the now famous Overland in three models, namely at remarkably low prices which have just come into effect.

THE EXHIBITION

TOURING, COUPE AND SEDAN

OUR GARAGE and ACCESSORY BUSINESS will be open for the WHOLE WEEK till 11 p. m. for the purpose of storing Cars, Washing, Oiling, Greasing, Gasoline, Etc., Etc.

Bruce Stewart & Co. LIMITED

Dealers Charlottetown, P. E. I.

Garage and Show Rooms at Bruce Stewart & Co., Ltds., Wharf

Proctor Potato Digger

We now have on hand the old reliable Proctor Digger, which has been in use over fifty years in Prince Edward Island and gives general satisfaction. They will work in all kinds of land, smooth or rough, wet or dry. For sale with our local dealers all over the Island and at our showrooms in Charlottetown and Summerside.

A. Horne & Co.