—FAREWELL REGRETTED!—A very happy incident took place in connection with the retirement of Mr. Wm. Hunter from the employment of R. T. Holman, Ltd. after a service of seventeen and a half years. On tendering his resignation, Mr. Hunter received from Mr. H. T. Holman, President of the firm, a most kindly note of regret at his decision and wishing him every happiness in the future. A week later on closing his department for the last time, Mr. Hunter, who was born in Scotland on May Day, was tendered an official looking envelope by Mr. B. R. Sharpe, who has been associated with him all the time of his service, on behalf of the managers and his fellow employees, which contained a very complimentary address and a substantial sum of money as a birthday remembrance. Such actions speak louder than words of the cordial relations existing between the management of this progressive and highly successful firm and their numerous employees.

Rev. Mr. Lamont's Farewell

Rev. E. M. Lamont on the eve of his departure for Toronto, spoke to his congregations from Acts 20, stressing the words: "And now brethren I commend you to God and to the word which endures forever." It just occurs to me, he remarked, that the present year is the hundredth Anniversary of the coming to the Island of the Rev. Donald MacDonald, from whom our Church has received her distinctive name. On his coming and his wonderful work could enlarge at length to-day. But I think it is of the spirit of our Church to give herself to an anniversary display.

I call your attention to the parting words of St. Paul when leaving the Ephesian Elders. Not that our parting or the farewell of any minister to his flock to-day, under modern conditions is worthy to be named alongside of that touching and tragic scene down on the lonely Ionian shore, where the little infant church knelt by the rocks, surrounded by a hostile world, where he kissed and wept—weeping most of all for the words he spoke. "Ye shall see my face no more." He was saying his flock, encompassed by hordes of persecutors. You are today surrounded by whole continents of at least nominal christianity. And anyhow, in comparison with the Apostle, who among us all can say "I am free from the blood of all men," in the sense in which he could say

But there are things in this Apostolic farewell that touch our own circumstances. For one thing there is a question here answered that we often have asked, why should these fearful partings ever take place? Why need your first minister, MacDonald, ever have left his flock in Hungary, Scotland, to go to Cape Breton? And why should he have forsaken his weeping flock in Cape Breton to come to P. E. Island? Above all, why should this Apostle himself tear himself from the embrace of the Corinthians, at the very time when they needed him most—when the wolves were awaiting his departure "greivous wolves" as he calls them, ready to get at the "sheep"? Why? Because Paul acknowledged the "must needs be" of Him who saith to one Go and he cometh, and to another Do this and he doeth it. But there was another "must"; and this brings me, dear brethren, to my concluding message to you.

St. Paul, while committing his people to God and to the word of His grace, gave charge also to their elders. It was a comfort and a relief to him to say to his elders "Take heed to yourselves, and to the flock over which the Holy Ghost has made you overseers." Is it not a comfort and relief to me to-day to say to our elders—yea and to other leaders and to parents, to all who fear God and love the Lord Jesus, "Take heed first to yourselves and then to the church of God!" I am glad that there are among you faithful and unselfish ones to whom I can say "Strengthen the things that remain that are ready to perish." Let me say to you elders—especially you younger elders—be not discouraged by the words of some who compare, in order to contrast, your gifts with those of a former age. For there are two precious varieties we are all liable to overlook. First, it is wrong to contrast the glorious past with the gloomier present, as if our Lord had less interest in his people now than in former days—as if those who sought the Lord to-day were less likely to find him than they would be in the reviving times of our fathers. Jehovah always reminds his Israel of this. Yea this truth has been resounded in joyful refrains in the Temple and in the synagogues and unto this day in our Christian Assemblies that "the mercy of God endureth forever." Who then can say on the evening of a great day, "Lord how could I have been saved?" There was no revival. I lived in a dead age and in a dead church." As well might you add: "I knew that thou art a hard Master reaping where thou hast not sown."

Again, "The Lord of the ages is also the Lord of all nations and all churches—He walketh amid the seven golden candlesticks. I do not mean that anyone should say "One church is as good as another." The Lord Himself did not say that, when he judged the seven churches. Rather I would counsel be loyal first to your own church, but ready to a helping hand outside the borders of your own church. Remember that the elect of God are dear to Him in all branches of His Church universal. And the song of the Redeemed is: "He has saved us out of every kindred, tongue, people and nation."

THE MARKETS

(Canadian Press)

MONTREAL, Que., May 4.—The export trade in Canadian grain here today was extremely dull. There being little or no demand from United Kingdom and continental buyers. Owing to the renewed strength in oats futures at Winnipeg and the increase in the Canadian local market for No. 2 Canadian Western oats was strong and prices were advanced two cents per bushel, while other grades were firm and unchanged. The demand for spring and winter wheat grades flour was quiet but prices for all grades were firm. A fairly active trade was done in all lines of millfeed and the undertone was steady. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was quiet but firm. There was no actual change in local jobbing egg prices, but the indications were that they will be advanced over the week-end owing to the high figures demanded by western and Ontario shippers for supplies. The demand was good. The receipts yesterday were 3,215. The trade in potatoes was quiet and the undertone was easy with prices tending to lower level on account of the liberal supply available. The demand for imported beans was quiet but firm.
