

THE PRINCE COUNTY GUARDIAN

Offices in Summerside, John Dickieson, Agent, and in Alberton, Herbert Clark, Agent.

The latest news, first of all.

J. P. Tanton, Summerside, made his first shipment of live fowl yesterday.

The schooner Coreau is being loaded at Alberton with oats, potatoes and other produce for Nova Scotia ports.

Don't you Need a New Coat

You'll like our New Coats this season. They are here awaiting your inspection. They embody our ideal of tailoring. Coats should in our opinion be strictly tailored, you'll find our Coats are just this kind. We have just added another shipment—of those beautiful Kersey Coats in the Taupe shade to our already magnificent stock.

Coats for Driving Coats for Walking Coats for general purposes.

All reasonable prices from $7.00 up. All the new weaves, the new colors and the new styles. We show stylish long freeze coats at $5.00 Handsome tweed Coats—Fine Kersey and Bear coats at $12.00 $13.00

Ladies' Underwear for Fall

Not quite cold enough yet for heavy winter underwear; but not too soon to buy. Our selections are now at their best. We show a large range of suitable weights for wearing. Now don't fail to pay us a visit—for your underwear wants.

MCGUGAN & WRIGHT

SUMMERSIDE

drstf

Brass Shells, Wire Cartridge Loading Sets, Gun Cleaners, 3 in 1 Oil. Ragoon Oil. Cartridges loaded with smokeless powder at

CAMERON & CO'S

Important Announcement to the Produce Trade.

We have opened business in Summerside on October 4th having purchased the Lefurgey Property. We will deal extensively in PRODUCE and GRAIN and will pay highest cash prices for Oats, Potatoes, Hay, Butter, Eggs, Pork, Hides, &c., in any quantities, having the best connections in the Maritime Provinces and being in an unequalled position to handle your products to the best possible advantage.

We would solicit your business Yours respectfully.

Edgett Grady Co., Ltd

SUMMERSIDE.

10-741f

R. W. Sharp, Summerside, who has been ill for the past few weeks is now reported seriously ill. Mr Sharp's many friends will be grieved to hear this.

The branch office of the Charlottetown Guardian will be found on Water Street, Summerside, directly opposite the Railway Station. John Dickieson is the agent. 3-11drf.

The Price Welber Co. play a return engagement in the Market Hall, Summerside Wednesday evening, Nov 3rd—in a new comedy drama—A Women's Heart. Seats on sale at Gourlies. 10-28drf.

Don't make the mistake of buying anything in Ladies' Fur-Lined Coats until you have seen what we are showing. Qualities better and prices much lower than last year. R. T. Holman Ltd, Summerside. 10-30smwd&3r.

H. Clark the efficient manager of The Guardian's branch at Alberton, having resigned owing to other duties, applicants should write 'The Guardian Manager, Charlottetown' at once. A free telephone and other concessions. 10-30drf.

The death is announced of Mrs Gilbert Murdoch, St John, N. B. For a number of years Mrs Murdoch had spent the summer season in Summerside the guest of Mrs R. T. Holman and had many friends here who will be pained to hear of her sudden demise. About two weeks ago she left Summerside for New York where she expected to spend the winter.

Articles having live fowls and chickens for sale at high prices, should call at J. P. Tanton & Co., Summerside, or their agent, before Nov. 1st. After that date prices will be one cent a pound less than the former price. Live turkeys, geese and ducks will be handled in large quantities. Prices quoted later. J. P. Tanton & Co. 10-30dlpd.

Thursday morning, Joseph Perry, one of Summerside's citizens appeared before Stipendiary Magistrate to answer for a charge brought against him by the health officers of the town for not conforming to quarantine rules in accordance with the law. It appears that a few days ago some members of this man's family became ill with a cold and sore throat and the health officer quarantined the house fearing that it was diphtheria. The attending physician differed in his opinion and assured the citizen that there was no necessity for quarantine. However the court ruled that he must obey the order of the Board of Health and fixed the fine at one dollar. It appears to be an unsettled question among the doctors in Summerside as to whether the few cases of reported diphtheria were anything more than an ordinary cold and sore throat.

MONTAGUE MARKETS.

Corrected for every Wednesday and Saturday's Issue.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. Includes Herring per hbl $5.00 to $6.00, Flour Roller process $5, Cod per quintal $4 to $5, New Oats $3 to $4, Potatoes per bus 22, Turnips per bus 14, Oatmeal per cwt $3.25, Butter per lb (creamery) 16 to 18, Barley, per bus 50, Calbage per doz 75, Hides per lb 7 to 10, Eggs $21, Hay per ton loose $10, Pork 8 1/2

SUMMERSIDE MARKETS

Corrected for every Wednesday and Saturday's Issue.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. Includes Cornmeal per bag 100 lbs $2 to $2.50, Wool per lb 20, Eggs per dozen 21, Hay loose $8.50, Straw $4.50, Butter per lb 20, Beef (carcass per lb) 6 to 8, Potatoes 18, Oats 38 to 39

There's no substitute for Inverness Coal when you want Clean Coal. It has the qualities that satisfy. Try some—you'll see. 10-30drf of Men's Storm Boot 9 to 15 ins. high. Price from $4.00 to $6.50 a pair.

New Stock

Morris & Smith

GASOLINE TANK BURSTS.

TORONTO, Oct. 29—With a roar heard many blocks away the gasoline tank of Parker's Dye Works exploded yesterday completely wrecking the building and burying nine men and boys in the ruins. Fire was added to the horror of the situation threatening to destroy the whole works. Three men are in the hospital, seriously injured, while the others are suffering from very painful burns.

The responsibility of filling the physicians prescription rests with the druggist. We know our responsibility and understand our business. Any prescription can be compounded by us. We have filled over fifty thousand in less than 10 years. Let us fill yours next. You will find us worthy. The Two Macs, Druggists.

CHARLOTTETOWN MARKETS.

Corrected for every Wednesday and Saturday's Issue.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. Includes Beef quarter 6 1/2 to 9, Flour $6, Oatmeal per cwt $3.50, Potatoes 20, Black oats new 40, Pork 9 to 10, Hay pressed per ton $9 to 9.50, Hay loose per cwt 48 to 50, Butter fresh per lb 22 to 23, Eggs 21 to 22, Straw pressed per ton $5 to $6, Straw loose cwt 35, Beef small 9 to 10, Lamb small 8 to 12, Pork 8 to 12

"Sovereign" Cashmere Hose and Half Hose will out wear all other makes.

Men's and boys' Underwear worth $1.70 for $1.25 a suit at Paton's. 10-30drf.

Invest Wisely

Write me today for the best dividend paying Stocks and Bonds to be had. With largest return on your money—in keeping with safe investment. I will send free of cost my Weekly Stock Market Review of Prices.

F. P. BUCHANAN

Member Montreal Stock Exchange, Liverpool & London & Globe Building Montreal.

DAMAGES $1700 GIVEN JURY

HALIFAX, Oct. 28—A trial, which lasted for three days, was brought to an end at 9 o'clock last night. It was a case brought by Mrs Elizabeth Cullen and Robert J. M. Cullen against Detective J. Ehlers, the Canadian Detective Bureau and Alexander McNeil, the plaintiffs charging conspiracy, and claiming $10,000 damages. The case was tried before Mr Justice Longley and a jury, of which George E. Smith was foreman. The jury were out a comparatively short time when they returned with a partial verdict that the plaintiffs had suffered damages. They went back to their room and after four hours further deliberation returned with a verdict assessing damages of $1700 in all.

STOCK QUOTATIONS.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Price. Includes Copper 85 1/2, B. R. T. 76 1/2, Baltimore 114 1/2, C. P. R. 185, Reading 162 1/2, Southern Pacific 157 1/2, St Paul 157 1/2, U. S. Steel 201 1/2, Missouri Pacific 69 1/2, Boys' and girls' coat sweaters from 55c to 90c at Paton's. 10-29drf. Huestin Underwear at 95 cents a garment, at Paton's. 10-30drf. Men's and boys' Union Wool Underwear worth $1.30 for 75c a suit at Paton's. 10-30drf. A large stock of the regular $1.25 fiction by best authors selling at Carter's Bookstore at 75 cents each. 250, English Colonial Library books, regular price 50 cents, price at Carter's Bookstore only 25 cents. Book bargains all over the Big Bookstore of Carter & Co, Limited. 10-28drf.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

- *Attention is called to the ad of The Shediak Electric Light & Power Co., which appears in this issue. *See ad Auction Sale Even McKinnon, Winsloe Station, which appears in this issue. *Attention is called to the ad re Charlottetown School of Music which appears in this issue. *Sons of Temperance will please remember the meeting of Victoria Division on Monday evening. 10-30dlf. *The Ladies' Aid Society of Grace Church will hold a rummage sale on Thursday, Nov 4, in the store of the late D. L. Hooper, Elm Avenue. 10-29dlw

DEATH OF SIMON COMPTON. Simon Compton, who was laid to rest in a bed of flowers in the I. O. O. F. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an indulgent father and grandparent. During his short stay in California, he endeared himself to many. He sacrificed a good home in Prince Edward Island in 1906 to come west and be with his family. Mr Compton was a man of estimable qualities. He was a good neighbor, upright and honest and had faith in his Redeemer. During a short illness he tried to make those about him happy, and left the burden for his good wife. Mr Compton went to Elverta Station two weeks previous to his death to meet a relative and in some way he missed his footing and fell from the platform, a distance of four feet, and was taken home, and the family doctor sent for at once. He pronounced nothing more serious than a sprained ankle and a bad jar. At the time of his death he was considered getting along as well as could be expected for a man of his age. At 3 o'clock in the morning of the 3rd inst, he took a nervous spell and told his devoted wife he was going to the Great Beyond. She tried to rouse him, but without avail. He asked for her hand and in a few minutes his soul had fled. The brave little woman closed his eyes and locked the doors and went to the nearest neighbors for assistance. His daughter, Miss Sarah, a trained nurse, just left a few days previous to his death for San Francisco, thinking he was out of danger. All his family were present at the funeral, except Simon of Arizona and Mrs Angus Bell of Prince Edward Island. Rev D. W. Chilson O. P. cemetery on Oct 4th, was a large-hearted man, a kind husband, an