A three-day-old mystery surrounding a deserted ship found drifting off Cape Breton Island was cleared up Saturday when the 30-foot craft was identified as that of an Alberton fisherman.

Discovery of the small vessel in the Gulf of St. Lawrence Thursday, 13 miles northwest of Cheticamp, N.S., touched off an intense, three-province search by R.C.M.P. marine units and civilian shipowners.

The puzzle was deepened by discovery of complete fishing gear aboard the vessel, whose white hull bore no name. Only trace of her crew was a ragged cap. The one-cylinder engine was not serviceable.

The fisherman, John Myrick, told R.C.M.P. his boat was missing after he heard of their search. Mr. Myrick reported that about two weeks ago his boat, No. 13, was fishing about five miles off Tignish when a heavy blow came up and the engine broke down. A companion boat attempted to pull in the Myrick craft, in charge of Henry Christopher with one of a crew. However, the attempt had to be abandoned and Christopher and his companion was taken aboard the second boat after the Myrick craft had been anchored.

Later an attempt was made to locate the anchored boat but it had broken adrift and could not be located, although messages were broadcast.

Mr. Myrick said it was a pleasant surprise to find that the boat was in good condition. Plans are being made to tow it to Alberton shortly.

When she was boarded off Cheticamp the partly-submerged craft had drifted more than 150 miles.

He also attended a birthday party given his father, Mr. Robert MacDonald who is now making his home with his nephew, Mr. Joseph Dunsford, South Melville. Mr. MacDonald was 94 years old July 17, 1949. In his honor, Mrs. Dunsford invited a few of his old friends in for a six o'clock chicken supper. In the centre of the table was a beautiful large birthday cake, which Mrs. MacDonald brought with her from Alberta. Among those present were: Mrs. Charles Dunsford, Mr. Dugald MacKinnon, and Mr. W. A. MacQuarrie. After a short while recalling old times, and thanking Mr. and Mrs. Dunsford for their hospitality and wishing Mr. MacDonald many happy returns, all departed for their homes.—(Patriot please copy).

TUESDAY

The spirit of festivity was abroad last evening at the Exhibition Grounds when Hon. Joseph Smallwood, Premier of Newfoundland formally declared open Prince Edward Island's celebrated Old Home Week before thousands of holiday makers from near and far.

Dr. J.P. Lantz, vice-president of the Provincial Exhibition Association presided and introduced Lt. Governor J.A. Bernard who welcomed one and all to this week's high spot in Island hospitality.

In introducing the principal speaker, Premier J. Walter Jones spoke of the Island ancestry of "this atom of a man, popularly known at home as 'Joey' " and welcomed Mr. Smallwood to the Island.

In a jocular vein, Premier Smallwood told of sitting in at yesterday's cabinet meeting and "hearing little but talk of the form of the various horses which will be racing during the week." He stated he was being advised in this matter by Premier Jones and had taken the precaution to bring an extra shirt with him so that he might return home properly dressed.

Premier Smallwood stated that Newfoundland hoped to put on an Old Home Week itself in the near future and that he was keeping his eyes open for the secrets of the Island's success.

The funeral of the late Wm. R. Garrick who passed away suddenly at his home in Montague, Monday evening, was held from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Wednesday afternoon. The service was conducted by his pastor, Rev. F. N. Young. Mr. J. E. Dunning sang very tenderly "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" accompanied by the church organist, Mrs. A. F. Campbell. The hymns sung were "O For a Faith That will Not Shrink" and "Forever With the Lord". The many beautiful floral tributes were silent testimony of the esteem in which the deceased was held by a wide circle of friends. The members of the Masonic Lodge were in attendance and conducted the service at the grave, led by Mr. Harry Johnston. Interment took place in the Montague cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gardiner of Central Lot 16, who observed their 70th wedding anniversary last Saturday, were happily greeted by about one hundred and twenty five relatives, friends and neighbors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Pillman, Travellers Rest and Mrs. Harry Murray, West Roxbury, Mass., and a granddaughter, Mrs. Gordon Harris of Wetaskiwin, were among those present.

Rev. E. J. Barrass, Minister of the Summerside Baptist Church, in a brief complimentary address expressed to the honored couple the feelings of happiness, pride and emotion of all those present, with the hope that God's richest blessings would continue with them to the end of their lives.

Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner were also the recipients of a number of lovely gifts. Mrs. Lyle, assisted by her daughters and a number of the ladies, served delicious refreshments.

FLOWERS FOR PATIENTS — Fitting observance of Sanatorium Week was paid by the Parkdale Women's Institute as they delivered 130 bouquets of flowers to a similar number of patients at the Provincial Sanatorium Sunday. The ladies spent between two and three hours taking out the flowers making the bouquets and attaching appropriate cards to each. The Parkdale W.I. also donated $10.00 to be used in the purchasing of new flower vases. Sanatorium week was inaugurated by Mr. P. J. Bonnell in 1943 and has been faithfully observed each year by the Parkdale branch of the Women's Institute. Members of the committee who made the arrangements for the delivery of the flowers were Mrs. Victor Hudson, Mrs. M. F. Rodd, Mrs. H. W. Clay, Mrs. Robert Compton and Mrs. Ovid Dollar.

The handicraft section of the P. E.I. Women's Institute at the Provincial Exhibition shows the largest entry list and incidentally the highest general standard of work, according to a quick first-day statement given by judges of all divisions and classes in the Women's section. Judges of the Art Class reported a smaller number of paintings entered in competition. Entries in the domestic science department showed that the rural housewife prides her cooking of breads and fruit cake above all other mixing bowl products. Greatest competition was in this section with smallest numbers of entries in pies and cookies.

Mr. Ernest S. Macdonald, executive vice president, Bank of Manhattan Company, New York, was guest speaker yesterday at Rotary luncheon, at which brief remarks were also made by Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland.

In introducing the former, Rotarian Roy Cudmore said Mr. Macdonald was born in Charlottetown the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Macdonald. He was educated at Queen's Square School, St. Dunstan's University and Prince of Wales College. Entering the Bank of Nova Scotia in 1905 he spent a number of years banking in various parts of Canada and the United States where he joined the Bank of Long Island. Shortly after this bank was merged with the Bank of Manhattan, and for the past 23 years Mr. Macdonald has held his present position.

The spacious and beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. John Paynter, Freetown, was opened Wednesday evening, August 3rd., in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Bernard, Vernon River, the occasion being their fortieth wedding anniversary.

Mr. Bernard who is an uncle of Mr. John Paynter and Mrs. Bernard were invited to his home apparently to meet his many relatives and friends and the arrangement for the happy occasion came as a complete surprise. About thirty three years ago Mr. and Mrs. Bernard moved from Long River to Western Canada, later moving back to Prince Edward Island. The evening of August 3rd brought them in contact with many friends and relatives not only from Long River and other surrounding vicinities but also from the U.S.A.

The community of Carleton, Lot 6, and surrounding districts were greatly saddened when it was learned that Mrs. Peter Blanchard had passed away on Monday morning, Aug. 1st, at the age of 80 years. Though in failing health for the past five years she was able to be up about until one week previous, when she was stricken with a serious heart ilment from which she never rallied; despite all that medical care and kind nursing could do she passed peacefully away after receiving the last holy rites of the Catholic Church from her beloved pastor, the Rev. Fr. M. J. Rooney. Thus the severing of such a valuable link in home, church, and community is deeply regretted by a large friendship circle who loved her and will always cherish sweet memories of her well-lived life.

Early requests are answered promptly and the September magazines will be mailed to all school secretaries before the end of August. The alert branches are planning a very full program. They make a portfolio or plan a toy making project. Other groups will raise money for the Crippled Children's Fund at home or for the Service Fund which provides food and clothing for overseas. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Queen Hotel to about fifty guests. The dining-room was decorated in pink and white streamers and a profusion of cut flowers. A beautifully-decorated two-tier wedding cake centred the table and was cut in traditional style by the bride and groom. The toast to the bride and groom was proposed by Rev. Kenneth MacPherson of Tracadie.

In the afternoon the happy couple left by plane for a honeymoon trip through the Maritimes. For travelling the bride chose a light grey gabardine suit with navy and pink accessories.

Previous to her marriage the bride was guest of honor at two showers at which she recevied many costly and useful gifts from friends and relatives.

FRIDAY

Returning for another carload of Island Yorkshires during Old Home Week, Dr. W.J. Huls, of Davenport, Iowa, who established the foundation herd of these swine in the United States with the first carload shipped from the Island last September, has been a constant — and happy — spectator at the swine pens.

Some thirty swine from Dr. Huls' shipment were sold to breeders in eight middle western states—Nebraska, Colorado, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa. These breeders are so well pleased with the Island type that fifty of this carload will be similarly sold "and, as a matter of fact, are all spoken for", states Dr. Huls.

It has not been enough for the Doctor to discuss the finer points of the swine with the judge, Mr. Mike Chepesuik and Mr. Harold Clay, senior live stock fieldman with the Dominion Department of Agriculture. But he was also constantly enquiring from the many breeders about the breeding of outstanding entries.

The entire carload will be the choice of Mr. Clay, who not only enjoys the confidence of Dr. Huls but also of the Island breeders.

Ten high grade Jersey heifer calves were sold, the P. E. I. Jersey Cattle Club obtained funds to go over the top in the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club's drive for funds and the Jersey breed on the whole was strengthened as the result of the sale of Jersey calves at the Exhibition grounds yesterday morning.

The sale, carried out under the auspices of the Island Jersey Cattle Club, was primarily a move to collect funds for the mother club. The Canadian Jersey Cattle Club is building a new office, and in order to raise funds, each provincial club was assessed. Yesterday's sale enabled the Provincial club to be the first Canadian club to obtain its quota.

Average selling price of each calf was $108.00. Dr. J. P. Lantz's junior reserve champion took top individual price selling to Mr. Campbell MacKay, Rothesay, N. B. for $190.00.

Splendid co-operation was received from the breeders in donating the calves. Mr. Bruce MacKinley, North River donated his only heifer calf which sold for the price of $155. Judge Norman Bagg was warm in his praise of this animal stating she would have placed well in her class at the Exhibition had she been entered.

Prospects for the Prince Edward Island potato crop are "average and a little above average" and advanced "about a week ahead of the average." This is the gist of a report made by Mr. N. M. Parkes, Associate Dominion Horticulturist and Director of Potato Investigations from Ottawa.

Mr. Parkes made his report yesterday on a flying visit from the capital. He consulted with Mr. R. C. Parent superintendent of the Experimental Farm and Glen C. Ramsay Potato Certification Service, replacing Mr. S. G. Peppin who is on holidays.

"Moisture has been adequate until about a week ago", Mr. Parkes said in an interview with a Guardian representative yesterday. "A good rain at the present time, would of course, improve conditions."

He warned farmers, however, that if the weather comes in cool and damp now, strict attention must be paid to spraying and advised that all foliage should be kept well covered with fungicide.

"With more moisture, there is the possibility that tops will make new growth and unless well protected by spraying, late blight may develop," he said.

Some of the fine results of an art which she began in 1938 due to the demands of several friends, are the beautiful hand-made roses shown in the W. I. building on the Exhibition grounds by Mrs. Joseph Sack of Shubenacadie, N. S.

The roses displayed range in color from white to deepest red with several blends. They were being sold in the building and so popular were they proving that less than a dozen remained last night.

Questioned about their make-up Mrs. Sack replied they were all made from the wood of a poplar tree. The carving was all done by hand with the use of a knife with the petals being assembled first, followed by the leaves. The wood was sometimes tinted before it was assembled and sometimes after, depending upon the species of the flower.

Mrs. Sack stated that she was the originator of this art. She said she obtained many of her ideas from books and filled in with the others herself. Asked about the numbers of others performing this kind of work she replied that many were trying to imitate her work but very few were successful.

Another display which was attracting a great deal of attention was that of the multi-colored baskets. These baskets are the result of the work of Mrs. William Paul, of Shubenacadie, N.S.

Mrs. Paul stated that she has been making baskets for 18 years. The baskets are made from the wood of poplar, maple and ash trees and some of the work can be done by machine. In the case of the baskets the material must be dyed before it is assembled.

Special application forms have been issued for the use of eligible United States veterans, and in Prince Edward Island applicants should write to the American Consulate at Saint John, N.
