Telescopes Bare Old Catastrophe

MT. WILSON, Calif., Oct. 23.—A catastrophe on a star that happened about the time King Solomon was born, some 3,000 years ago, is being watched with great interest by astronomers here.

The star, listed in astronomical catalogues as Nova Ophiuchi No. 3 is many times the size of the sun and some 18,000,000,000,000 miles from the earth. This is so far that what the telescopes reveal today is something that happened 30 centuries ago, for the light travels at the rate of six million million miles a year.

With a great explosion of gas, apparently, the star has flared from one of the 12th magnitude to the brilliance of one of the fifth magnitude. This is the second known time this has been observed, on this particular star, the earlier observation having been 35 years ago.

LARGE BARN DESTROYED AT VERNON RIVER

Fire discovered about 4.30 o'clock yesterday morning completely destroyed the large barn, with contents on the farm of Mr. James Praught, Vernon River.

A passing motorist, who noticed the flames bursting through the roof, quickly awakened the family, but the building was a roaring mass of flames, making it impossible to save anything.

The entire contents of the fine large barn, about 50 x 80 feet, modernly equipped, consisted of the season's crop of hay and grain, sixteen head of cattle, five horses and seven pigs.

The loss is estimated at $4,000, partially covered by insurance. This large barn replaced one destroyed by fire about three years ago.

SKUNKS OVERRUN DISTRICT IN U. S. LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 23.—Lancaster County farmers, their villages and lands over-run by skunks, blame international financiers for their plight.

Harassed agriculturists explain that just as soon as the United States went off the gold standard, the "gold countries of Europe quit buying skung hides, prices collapsed and trappers went into retirement."

That's the reason the skunk 'crop' is the largest in half a century, they say.

If something isn't done about it, some feel, even the rat troubles of Hamlyn town, as told in story books, will pale in comparison.

The worst of it is that the police department announces its duties do not include chasing the little striped "kitties." And the health department isn't convinced that its a health matter either.

Skunks are breaking up meetings and church services, skunks are blocking traffic; there's wholesale vacating of garages, particularly on the outskirts of the town, and many folks have had to burn their clothes after coming in contact with the pests.

The mistress of the house engaged a new cook and was explaining her duties.

"The master often brings three or four friends home to dinner without warning," she said. "I see, ma'am," put in the cook. "You'll be prepared for that, won't you?" said the mistress. "Father, ma'am," replied the cook. "I'll keep my bag packed ready."

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION TO J. J. TRAINOR

Former Chairman of Railway Telegraphers Is Signally Honoured.

The members of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers of the province met in the hall of the railway station here on Sunday afternoon and presented Mr. James J. Trainor with a radio and complimentary and congratulatory address.

Mr. J. J. Trainor, Bedford, Prince Edward Island, Dear Brother Trainor.

We, your brother members of the Island Division of System Division No. 1 of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers are here today for a two fold purpose. First, to congratulate you upon having been awarded your pension and to assure you that even though we are well pleased that you have won this much coveted prize, we are grieved with the thought that your gain is our personal loss as well as a distinct loss to our organization. We are fully aware of your splendid record which we as members of our noble order would do well to read and emulate and we would be remiss in our remarks if we did not now remind ourselves of a few of your achievements.

Commencing your career as a railway agent at Bedford, (the home of your birth) we personally know that you won the love and respect of all the people irrespective of class or creed in that surrounding district. The old proverb that a prophet seldom gains credit in his own country is a misnomer in this instance and your record as a country agent would be a safe and splendid course for the rest of us to set our compass by, especially in those trying times for our railways, when with the ever increasing menace of truck competition it is up to us as agents to give of our very best if we hope to ultimately save the railways as a means of transportation in the future.

As our train despatcher for some years, we remember you as one who at all times and under varied circumstances worked with us on the most amicable terms and we are not unmindful that the duties of a train despatcher are at times most nerve-racking.

As our Local Chairman for our own province and General Chairman for eastern lines for a period in all of almost a quarter of a century, we have ever been proud of you. It is no easy task to be a leader of men at any time but particularly during the past few years of depression, which to say the least have been nothing short of night-mares to labor organizations and their executives. Yet, as such, you sufficiently proved your worth as to merit your appointment to the high and honorable position of acting third vice-president in our organization during the absence of our late lamented brother, Senator Gideon D. Robertson, then Minister of Labor. We regret that this position demanded a more central residence compelling you to allow the honor to pass into other hands rather than move with your family to Ottawa at this late date in life. We are also satisfied that if it were not for great geographical disadvantages now that two General Chairmen only cover our entire system) you would still be our worthy General Chairman of eastern lines championing our cause and carrying on the fight against this present iniquitous was cut.

Secondly, being conscious of your deep interest in our behalf for so many years we could not permit of your retirement without showing in a more tangible manner than mere words our personal appreciation of you and now we will ask you to accept this radio as a symbol of our respect. May kind Providence grant unto you many more years of useful citizenship thus enabling you to listen in on the many wonderful programmes as they are carried to you over ether waves and reproduced in the spoken word, songs and music, and may it ever remind you of our pleasant associations while working together in the ranks and for the advancement of our great organization.

We wish at this time to say that this symbol of our affection is (as

Inspirational Sermon Preached By Evangelist

The law of sin and death, and the law of the Spirit of Life were discussed in a most inspirational sermon preached last evening by Evangelist R. George Quiggin at the Central Christian Church.

The speaker in introducing his subject last night, mentioned the universal quest for guidance. And this quest is not always in the direction of Christianity. There is a veritable flood of pamphlets issued by various cults all purporting to satisfy this quest. In referring to the principle, or "law of sin and death" mentioned by Paul in the eighth chapter of Romans, the speaker stated that to be free from this principle, one must supplant it with another principle, "The law of the Spirit of Life in Christ Jesus."

How little good is the usual teaching of the Sunday Schools, unless at the same time the principle of Life in Christ Jesus is instilled? We have made the mistake of teaching Law as Christianity, rather than Life. The eighth chapter of Romans deals with this new principle. The flesh as referred to by the Apostles does not refer to the human body, but rather to temporal interests. These are not necessarily evil. They may be decidedly good, but they are not permanent. Those who give attention to the things of the Spirit are giving attention to those things that are permanent: "All that is in the world the lust of the eye, the lust of the flesh and the pride of life are of the world. And the world passeth away and the lust thereof, but he that doeth the will of God abideth forever. It is possible to be a church member and not be a Christian: "If you have not the Spirit of Christ, you are none of His." "For as many as are led by the Spirit, these are the Sons of God." Services will be held every night this week at 7.30.

You will notice in reading over the address) headed and was instigated by our late and greatly respected brother Parke Ritchie. Words fall us when we recall the suddenness of Parke's passing in the very flower of his manhood. Few, if any in our ranks were more kindly regarded and at this time we will ask the brothers now present to rise and bow their heads for a two minutes silence as a symbol of our respect to our late brothers who with in recent years have gone to their reward and while with us on earth labored faithfully and well to the best int rests of O. R. T. namely: Brother Parke Ritchie, Brother Joseph Kelly, Brother James Burge Brother Neil Campbell, Brother George McMahon, Brother Alexander Clark, Brother Daniel Montgomery, Brother Arthur Seaman, and Brother Gideon Robertson.

In conclusion, we would ask you to extend to Mrs. Trainor, your venerable mother and your children our most cordial greetings, and to yourself, sir, our unanimous wish is that you may be spared for many years to come and that God's richest blessings, health and happiness, may ever remain with you.

(Signed) Brothers E. J. McTague, L. E. R. Douglas, J. J. McQuaid, J. H. R. McEwen, E. A. Large, A. Monaghan, G. J. McCormack, P. E. Murray, P. T. Power, A. C. McKay, E. O. White, J. P. McMillan, P. Campbell, E. E. Jardine, P. L. Morris, J. Callaghan, E. E. Moles, Innis, S. M. McKay, W. S. Dalziel, J. E. Power, M. A. Howatt, Minister of Labor. We regret that this position demanded a more central residence compelling you to allow the honor to pass into other hands rather than move with your family to Ottawa at this late date in life. We are also satisfied that if it were not for great geographical disadvantages now that two General Chairmen only cover our entire system) you would still be our worthy General Chairman of eastern lines championing our cause and carrying on the fight against this present iniquitous was cut.

Practically all present added their verbal commendations and congratulations to those so eloquently set forth in the written address.

Mr. Trainor, who was deeply moved by the honors paid him by the brethren made an appropriate and feeling reply, expressing his heartfelt thanks and appreciation. Mr. Trainor first entered the railway service on October 2nd, 1891, as station agent at Bedford. On April 15th, 1913, he was appointed train despatcher at Charlottetown and on November 1st, 1918, was given leave of absence in order to enable him to travel to various places in connection with his duties as a high official of the O. R. T.

He was Acting Third Vice President of the International Order for about three years during the time the late Hon. Senator Robertson was Minister of Labor and while the latter was ill. Mr. Trainor therefore in the last named capacity represented from 4,000 to 5,000 employees in the various railways in Canada and New-

MISS CATHERINE MACLEAN, superintendent of Junior Red Cross work in Prince Edward Island, has returned from St. John, N. B., where on Friday last she addressed the Saint John County Teachers Institute on the work of the Junior Red Cross. Characterizing ignorance and hatred as the world's greatest evils, Miss MacLean told of what the Junior Red Cross is doing to bring children of the different nations closer together in understanding and friendship. By portfolio exchange and other methods children belonging to the Junior Red Cross become familiar with one another's social customs and learn about the young people of countries other than their own. Miss MacLean pointed out that sharing of the common aims of Junior Red Cross is a great incentive toward friendship. The Junior Red Cross has 12,000,000 members in 50 countries. The aims of the organization are health, service and good citizenship. Miss MacLean said the Junior Red Cross tends to transmit knowledge into action in regard to health rules, at a period in a child's life when the habits that are formed will remain habits for life. She referred to the way in which the organization develops a spirit of citizenship and responsibility. She touched upon the Junior Red Cross work for crippled and handicapped children, giving statistics about the number treated. Other speakers at the Institute meeting were Professor A. F. Chaisson of St. Francis Xavier University; Miss Frances H. Stetson, chairman of the Junior Red Cross Committee of the New Brunswick Red Cross; Mrs. Leonard Tilley, and Dr. S. A. Worrell, Superintendent of Schools for Saint John. Mr. James D. MacLean, president of the Institute, was in the chair. Miss MacLean during her visit to Saint John was also tendered a luncheon at the Union Club by Miss Stetson. The table was centered with a silver bowl of yellow chrysanthemums. Covers were laid for 14. The guests included the following members of the Saint John Junior Red Cross committee: Mrs. James F. Robertson, Mrs. J. Royden Thompson, Mrs. W. A. Sault, Mrs. T. F. Drumme, Mrs. A. O. Burnham, Mrs. I. F. Longley, Miss Margaret Murdoch and Dr. S. A. Worrell, superintendent of city schools; G. J. Marr, inspector of the school district; James D. MacLean, retiring president of the Teachers' Institute of Saint John County; E. A. Schofield, of the New Brunswick Red Cross, and Dr. J. P. McInerney, president of the Saint John Red Cross.
