He left here about five years ago.

RACING OVER.—Owing to the unsafe condition of the ice, it is thought advisable to abandon any further racing for this winter. The C.D.C. has had a most successful winter's sport, the very best races, fastest time, and good feeling prevailing throughout the many races. The members of the Club are looking forward to the matinee racing, which will be quite early this spring.

Y.M.C.A.—The Y.M.C.A. Sustaining Fund balance of $90 has not been added to very much this week owing to some citizens called upon being absent, or Directors requested to call again. Another effort will be made next week to clean up the balance necessary, and anyone who desires to help, kindly see Mr Cross, the Secretary of the Association, or write him.

SALVATION ARMY.—A very enjoyable evening was spent in S. A. Citadel on Thursday evening, among the items being a celestiphone selection by Miss Berard (encored); also three dialogues. The tableau "the wounded soldier," was something long to be remembered, the first part being the carrying in of the wounded soldier by two men dressed in uniform. A camp was erected on the platform, with a sentinel on guard. The last scene was very touching as the Red Cross nurses cared for the wounded soldier, with the doctor in attendance. The gramophone selections were very appropriate for the tableau, being "Just Before the Battle Mother" and "Tenting on the Old Camp Ground."

CHESS TOURNAMENT.—Owing to various engagements the ninth round of the first contingent and the first set to of the second contingent, was not so well attended at last night's grind. Woodman won from Worthy, among the champions, and McRae won from Doull. Gardener and Doull drew their first game and the second was a win for Gardener. A number of games were played by members present which were "for pleasure" and not in the tournament series. A special round is called for this Saturday evening at 7.30, Dalton Rooms, to give several of the players, who have not been able to keep up with the strenuous pace of the last three weeks, an opportunity of catching up their games. All lovers of chess made welcome at to-night's session.

FISH AND GAME MEETING.—The quarterly meeting of the Fish and Game Association was held in the City Court Room last night. Several letters were read from parties asking for permits to run hounds in the woods in order to capture foxes lost from ranches. The Secretary was instructed to reply to the correspondence. Complaint was made to the Association that illegal trout fishing was being carried on throughout the province. On enquiry at the Fisheries Department the Association representative was informed that several convictions had been secured, but the names of the offenders could not be made public. The Secretary was instructed to write the Inspector of Fisheries to ascertain the reason why these names were not published. It is gratifying to know that a number of men from the country districts are showing their interest in the Association by enrolling as members. Members in arrears for their annual fee are urged to remit the amount to the Secretary so that the work of the Association may be carried on.

RED CROSS SOCIETY

The numerous branches and affiliated societies have been doing splendid work in the past months. The demand for money contributions and Hospital supplies are greater now than ever. We urge upon all even at great sacrifice to continue to put forward their best efforts to provide our suffering soldiers at the front with first aid necessaries.

Never before was the call so urgent, never will a loyal response be more fully appreciated than now.

RECRUITING FOR THIRD CONTINGENT

Captain G. H. Campbell, of Summerside, has been appointed Recruiting Officer for Prince Edward Island with headquarters at Charlottetown. A call is being made for the enlistment of another infantry battalion, to be known as the 55th Battalion. It is hoped that enough men will be enlisted to form a complete Prince Edward Island Company. This would require at least 120 men. Of these so far sixteen are enlisted and applications are coming in daily. This will probably be Prince Edward Island's last chance to send men to the front and its last opportunity to respond to the call of the Empire. If Prince Edward Island responds as generously as Nova Scotia has done in proportion to military strength there will be no difficulty in securing the required number. Should this be realised the company will be entirely under command of Prince Edward Island officers and will remain as a separate Prince Edward Island unit throughout the war. Should the required number fail to enlist the men will be merged with New Brunswick companies and so lose their identity as a Prince Edward Island force. In other words, although the province has representatives in two contingents, Prince Edward Island is not known in the war. This is regrettable and it is hoped the want will be made good before the war has grown too old. Captain Campbell has opened a recruiting office in the Armouries, Charlottetown, and will be glad to confer with any who wish to enlist. The probability is that the opportunity will not long remain open, as both New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are enlisting strongly and orders may come at any moment that the strength has been secured. A Battery of Field Artillery is being recruited for the Maritime Provinces, of which also Captain Campbell is the recruiting officer for Prince Edward Island.

SPLENDID SHOW AT THE PEOPLE'S

Patrons of the People's Theatre who are fond of a story of adventure had a regular treat last night in the big three-reel Selig production, "The Fifth Man." It was the story of five college boys, who at a supper in honour of their graduating pledged to meet at the same house five years later, providing they were all alive. The years roll round and on the appointed night three of them are present. A letter is received from a fourth, who is in hospital with a bullet wound. No word was received from the fifth, John Gaunt, and just as they were drinking a toast to the missing friend, "wherever he may be," a man in tattered clothing and with long unkempt hair, staggers in and announces himself to be John Gaunt. The picture dissolves into his story; how he went to Central America, prospecting, lost his way in the jungle and was captured by a mad scientist. Among the scientists "collection" is a pretty girl, who had been shipwrecked and held a prisoner for two years. Gaunt and his fair companion attempt to escape, but were captured. After spending two years in imprisonment he finally escapes and promises Joan to return for her. He reaches a coast town, but the inhabitants thinking him mad pay no attention to his story. He finally works his way back to New York and reaches the house in time to keep his appointment made five years previous. The four then set out in a yacht and reaching the jungle release the prisoner, whom as many would guess Gaunt marries. "The Girl Across the Hall," a fine Thanhouser drama, was the story of a ne'er do well who was converted by a pretty seamstress. "Her Birthday Present" was a pretty home story, while a Keystone comedy, "Twenty Minutes of Love," was a laugh all the way. The big three-reel jungle picture will be shown at the matinee this afternoon at 3.15 and again to-night, in conjunction with a three-reel feature, "Was He Guilty," a fine detective story.

BRITISH SHIPPING DURING THE GERMAN "BLOCKADE."

LONDON, March 4.—The British Admiralty issued a memorandum of the number of arrivals and sailings of overseas steamers of all nationalities at and from United Kingdom ports during the present year. It shows that from February 18, when the German blockade began, until February 28, 708 vessels arrived and 673 sailed. The Admiralty also gave out the following list of British vessels "sunk by German submarines"; the steamer Crambank, Downhire, Branksome Chine, Oakby, Rio Parana, Western Coast and Harpalion. It says the steamer Deptford probably struck a mine.

DISTRUST IN ENGLAND OVER UNPATRIOTIC ATTITUDE OF SOCIALISTS.

LONDON, March 4.—While Russian, French Belgian and German socialists are loyally supporting their governments waging the war, there is a feeling of distrust in England over the unpatriotic attitude and utterances of the English socialists. The reason for this lack of patriotism among the socialists in England is due to the fact that the party is largely of cosmopolitan origin and the character of the doctrine freely promulgated makes no difference "to wage slaves" whether the British people are administered by a freely elected parliament of by a German military governor. The party is largely dominated by Russian Polish Jews and the Globe claims to possess exclusive information proving that the Kaiser's government, through the German socialist party, is exerting influence on the English socialists to agitate strenuously for a premature peace at a moment suitable to German interests.

BELGIANS ERECT MONUMENTS

HAVRE, March 2.—Belgians will boycot all German products after the war, according to an announcement by P. Segers, the Belgian Minister of Railroads, Marine, Posts and Telegraphs.

The Belgians will also do all in their power to prevent Germany from spending Belgian money to reconstruct armaments and will raise monuments to perpetuate the scenes of German cruelties in all destroyed cities.

MILITARISM IN ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS.

LONDON, March 4.—Lord Willoughby de Broke has given notice that he will call the attention of the House of Lords to the attention made by the President of the Board of Education, that the Board is not prepared to sanction the introduction of military drill into the elementary schools. Lord de Broke will urge that much will be gained for the national physique and preparedness for war if the Australian system is adopted, whereby all schoolboys are enrolled in the cadet corps, drilled and trained to use the rifle, with the natural result that they join the militia after leaving school.

The House of Lords is certain to support of motion, and it is conceded that if introduced in the House of Commons it will receive far more support even from the Liberals than it would have before the war.

DARING FLIGHT OVER ENEMY'S LINE BY A RUSSIAN PRINCESS.

PETROGRAD, March 4.—The Princess Shakhovsky, who recently went to the front as a military aviator, has sent back to the editor of the Bourse Gazette an account of her flight over the enemy's positions. She had made three flights, the shortest an hour in length and the longest two hours, when the letter was written.

"As I found myself over the German lines, I began to observe beneath me the small clouds which indicated that the enemy had opened fire on my machine. Somehow I did noe feel afraid, even when the bullets came quite close to me. Some of them even pierced the wings, but fortunately did not touch any vital part of the machine. After half an hour of flight, one grows quite accustomed to the situation. Later I flew in such severe cold that my petrol began to work badly. Luckily this lasted only a few seconds, which rather resembled hours."

FROM BELGIUM

Mr. Alex. M. Beaton, Flat River, has received the following letter:

19908 Sgt. W. Harwood,
134th Bty., R. F. A.
4th Division
British Expeditionary Force
Feb 9th, 1915.

Dear Mr. Beaton:—I'm the individual who opened the bag of corn which contained your note. It was opened in Belgium on the 15th Jan. last, the actual place I am not at liberty to say but I can assure you it was very near the firing line. I cannot give you any news of the war or any startling experiences. We have been out here since the war started and of course have had some touch and go escapes but nothing out of the ordinary what one can expect during war. I have not met any of the Canadian Contingent yet but if I do I shall enquire if any of them know you. Wishing you all in Flat River the best of luck and a speedy return of all the boys who have left there to take part in this hulabalo.

I remain yours truly,
W. HARWOOD.

LONDON, March 2.—The officers and crews of British warships present at the capture or destruction of any armed hostile ships will share in the distribution of prize money, calculated at $25 for each person on board the enemy vessel at the beginning of the engagement. This order in council was promulgated today.

CANADA LIFE ESTABLISHED 1847

Age is no Bar to efficiency

To a man increasing years bring decreased energy and impaired faculties.

A Life company, however, gains strength with experience, and should have increased success---if its management is alert and able and its organization efficient and aggressive.

The Canada Life in its 68th year is more keenly alive to its opportunities than ever before. Its management is constantly studying to render increased service to the policyholders.

As a result, the policies issued and paid for in 1914 were greater in number by several hundreds than those of 1913. The amount of surplus earned, over $1,533,000., was exceeded only once in the company's history. Other features of the year were equally satisfactory.

HERBERT C. COX,
President and General Manager.

The full detailed report will gladly be sent to those desiring it.
