A PRESENTATION

An especially pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. Everett Wedlock, Hunter River, when the people of the Village gathered there to say Good-bye to Mr. A. R. Gillis, who had decided to leave Hunter River to make his home in another part of the Province, after being a resident for two years.

Dear Sir:—Having learned that you are about to leave us to make your home in a different part of the province, we cannot allow this opportunity to pass without placing on record the large place you filled while living amongst us. Not quite two years ago you came here a total stranger to almost every one of us, having undertaken the management of a large business concern.

Socially you will be missed even more than you will be in your business life. Being possessed of musical talents of a high order you were ever ready to help our church choirs, and when a concert was got up for any worthy object, the programme was never complete without your name.

Kindly accept this small gift as a slight token of our appreciation of your great worth as a citizen while a resident of Hunter River.

Mr. Gillis, although taken by surprise, spoke very highly of the people of Hunter River and hoped to see Hunter River in ten years time not a village but a town, and thanked them all for their generosity and thoughtfulness especially Mr. and Mrs. Wedlock, who opened their home to all besides going to such trouble for the pleasure of all present.

SATURDAY'S ICE RACES

The conclusion of the horse races for the season that had been so successfully carried on, by the Charlottetown Jockey Club, took place Saturday afternoon at a new course, measured off in the North River.

The races were attended by a large crowd and were hotly contested, especially in Class B Trot, which was finally won by Picton S, a fine big trotter by Acquiri, 2.27 1/2, driven by Mr. Picton C. Brown.

The first class trot failed to fill and was scratched from the card, but a class for four horses, which the owners thought were evenly matched, was made up instead. It however, proved a walk over for Queenie, Mr. Lee Essory's mare, one of the sweetest going pacers seen around here for years.

W. W. Warren, driven by Mayor Brown, went a splendid race, and bid fair to be a contender of the class, during the coming summer.

Tipperary, Mr. F. W. Hughes' good trotter, went the best race of his career, being well up with the leaders on all four heats.

The officials were: Starter, Mr. Frank W. Hughes; Judges, Messrs P. I. McMahon, D. M. McDonald, and C. P. Thorne.

Timer, Dr. J. M. Nicholson. Patrol, Mr. H. C. Hooper.

The Driving Club is surely deserving of great praise for the grand racing and clean sport it has provided the public for the past two months, Saturday's being the fifteenth race of the winter held by this enterprising Club.

The members are enthusiastic over the prospects of holding a horse show the coming month, full particulars of which will appear shortly.

ENTERTAINMENT AND LECTURE IN MALPEQUE

Last Thursday evening's entertainment in the Malpeque Hall was one of the most enjoyable of the many enjoyable functions for which that community is noted.

Mr. Nash, who is a fluent and forceful speaker, held nearly for two hours the undivided attention of an audience which completely filled the hall.

His lecture abounded in humorous selections, inimitable sketches and romances culled from the pen of the great American humorist concisely arranged and excellently delivered.

In addition to the lecture the following programme was excellently rendered, after the opening remarks by the chairman, Mr. Edward McKay of Darnley; Chorus "O Canada"; solo, Russell McKay; solo, Mrs. Chester Simpson; Patriotic Airs, organ, Mrs. Wilbert Delaney; solo and duet, Mr. Russell McKay and Mrs. Simpson; "Tenting tonight," Andrew McNeill; solo, "Never let the Old Flag Fall," Master Duncan McGougan; Solo, Russell McKay.

Col. H. M. Davidson, who was present, being called upon for a few remarks heartily congratulated the ladies of the community, Darnley, Sea View, Baltic, Indian River, Hamilton and Malpeque on the splendid work done by the Women's Patriotic Society.

They had contributed regularly to the Red Cross fund $100 every two months since the war began; they had sent presents, innumerable, Christmas boxes and Easter gifts to the soldiers every season since the war began. The Colonel also congratulated the community on the number of young men who had offered their services to their King and Country in the great war, some sixty having enlisted, a fact which would for all time be a testimony to the patriotism and loyalty of this section of the province.

The Colonel also took occasion to refer to the war and the duty of all eligible young men going over to take their stand with the men who were fighting the Empire and their homes from the ruthless tyranny of Prussian militarism.

CELEBRATION OF ST. PATRICK'S DAY

isters of religion; but it was especially the unselfish, heroic conduct of the clergy during that long period of persecution, that knitted more closely still the ties of love and affection between those faithful children of the church and their Soggarth Aroon.

That purity of faith and soundness of morals are still, thank God, flourishing in Ireland. The spirit inflamed by her apostle still broods over the land. His deep religious faith, his love of prayer, his spirit of self-denial and penance, those qualities that made such a deep impression on the nation he converted, are still marked features of their descendants in Ireland.

Those places sanctified by Patrick's prolonged and repeated fasts and vigils, such as Lough Derg and Croagh Patrick, continue to attract thousands of pilgrims, whose prayers and penances there offered up are a living testimony of the fulfillment of the promise said to have been vouchsafed to the apostle himself on Croagh Patrick, that the light of Divine Faith would never be extinguished among the Irish people.

My dear brethren: We are assembled here to-day to do honor to St. Patrick. We are here as true Catholics to offer before this altar in His Divine presence, praise and thanksgiving to God, and to honor the apostle to whom our ancient ancestry and we, through them, owe that priceless treasure which we possess in consequence of Patrick's labors—our Catholic Faith. And how can we bestow that homage?

By bringing the spirit of faith so characteristic of the Irish race, into our daily conduct as citizens. We are living in an age fraught with dangers, whether manifested or insidious, to our Catholic Faith. We need more than ever before men, especially young men, who, imbued with a strong and practical faith, will employ to the best advantage the talents God has given them, and thus attain positions in life, whence they may exert themselves as honored and respected members of society, in behalf of religion, and for the well-being of their country.

By pursuing such a course, my dear brethren, the honor we owe our patron saint and a noble faithful ancestry, will thereby be closely linked to the duties we owe to this, our native land. We cannot be unworthy citizens if we fulfil our Christian duties faithfully.

To-day my dear brethren, whether we are Irishmen or descendants of Irishmen, our thoughts naturally revert to the land of our forefathers. Beyond the Atlantic we behold to-day with mingled feelings a nation still virtuous, a nation still struggling for constitutional liberty, ready and willing to bury the sad memories of past misgovernment, if that long delayed measure of justice and liberty be at length granted.

The present condition of Ireland is grave in the extreme. A crisis has been reached when no half-hearted concessions will satisfy a long-suffering nation. Her future hangs in the balance of political uncertainty. Let it be our fervent hope and prayer this morning that justice may speedily and peacefully be meted out to Ireland; this is assured by the prayer and fond hope of her millions of children who to-day, kneeling before God's altars throughout the Catholic world, return thanks for the priceless faith received through their apostle St. Patrick.

The fifth household science short course, closed Saturday morning, and the following ladies left for their homes on the afternoon train: Miss Sharky, Miss Chism of Tryon, Miss McLeod, Miss McEwen of Stanley Bridge, Miss Casn, Miss Read, of Graham's Road, and Miss McMurdo, of Kensington. Mrs. James Greenan, left the city Friday morning for her home in Emerald.
