By C. N. and A.M. WILLIAMSON

Authors of "The Lightning Conductor" and other fascinating romances of mystery and love. Copyright 1924, by Public Ledger Company

"Well, I'd like to hear the details and to see how Pan would open her big eyes. Wondering why she came here that night, I remembered suddenly, I burst upon me like a bomb. The girl came because I was smiling at her. Now another wicked Sir Rawdon of Hidden Hall court will have his chance to make a bride disappear. I believe the poor child must have taken that in earnest thought I'd asked the Hastes here for their honeymoon with a fiendish motive. That's why she came. And that's why—on top of all the proofs against me—Pan believed me guilty—why she took on herself if there's been a crime. I don't know. But I wonder I've turned to her? That I should unconsciously have loved her? Well, she was a child and that I shall love her all the rest of my life, whether it's short or long?"

"No, I don't wonder," said Dagon. "The wonder was always the other way round. It wouldn't have been my business exactly, if I hadn't any reason to believe that Miss Pandora Haste and I are brother and sister. You know who it is I look like now, don't you? Well, I was a foundling and she was a foundling. I've seen the cloak she wore as a baby when she was left at the Hastes' door. A waistcoat I had on when I turned up alone in Canada was made of the identical stuff, with the same kind of buttons, and though I've no time to explain much more to you just now, I'll say this: I'm tracing our origin back to your house, to your family, Sir Rawdon Wells."

Sunday Rally

At Kilmuir

A very interesting and instructive Sunday School Rally, held under the auspices of the Maritime Regions Educational Council, took place at Kilmuir on Friday evening, Feb. 20.

Despite the rather unpleasant conditions of the road, a good attendance was in evidence and representative of the different parts of the congregation.

Mr. S. M. Martin of Headherald occupied the chair and under his direction a well arranged programme was efficiently rendered. This consisted of various selections of vocal and instrumental music, scriptural recitations, and several able addresses, all having a bearing on the evening's theme.

The main feature of the evening was an address by the Rev. J. A. McLellan, pastor of the Congregation, who in the unavoidable absence of the Rev. Mr. Armstrong and Rev. Mr. Sterling was obliged to undertake the role of substitute in each instance. This he did most effectively and seldom has the Rev. gentleman been heard to greater and more profitable advantage. In the first part of his address he dealt with the M. R. E. Council, explaining its origin, the then existing conditions which lead up to its organization, the mission it was endeavoring to fulfill and the educational opportunities and active bearing it held forth to all who wished to take advantage thereof.

Comb Sage Tea In

Faded Or Gray Hair

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture with wonderful effect.

By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say every body uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

JACK AND JILL

AT THE WELL

Here's the old-fashioned well to which Jack and Jill go after water. If you read the story every day and color and cut out the pictures at the end of this week you will have a whole set of "Jack and Jill" paper dolls.

"Well, here we are," said Jack, stopping to set his breath at the top of the hill. Then he started turning the handle which would bring the bucket up out of the well. Quickly he filled Jill's pail and they started back down the hill both of them taking a firm hold on the handle.

"Careful!" warned Jill. "The hill is slippery."

But her warning came too late. Jack lost his balance and slid, Jill holding onto the pail, went with him.

Tells Rheumatics

To Begin on Salts

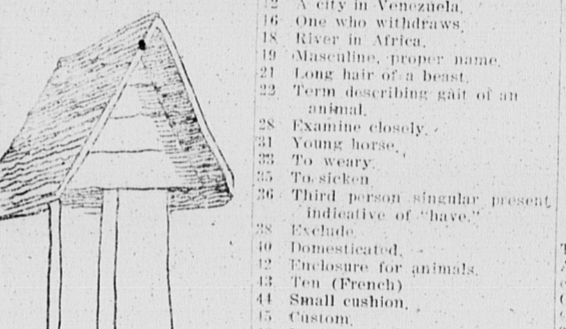

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation; then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases, which inflame the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, while it is effervescing, and furthermore to continue this for one week. While the relief often follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, to move the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of stomach sufferers with excellent results.
