MUSICAL COMEDY "MOONLIGHT AND PRETZELS" AT PRINCE EDWARD

Cramped chock full of tuneful melodies, pulchritudinous girls, and the best talent that Broadway, Hollywood, and the radio airwaves can offer, "Moonlight and Pretzels" which opened yesterday at the Prince Edward Theatre is one of the most cleverly mounted, fast-moving and refreshing screen musicals made to date.

"Moonlight and Pretzels" is a backstage romance with Broadway and dance man whose ambition is to become Broadway's leading songwriter. Stranded in a small town in New York State, he is given a job plugging songs by the pretty proprietress of the local music store. With Sally Upton, owner of the music shop, a case of love at first sight; but with George Dwight, the ex-hooper, its a case of getting to New York as fast as possible. After many discouraging rejections, George receives a check from a leading Broadway producer for an overnight lodging and our passage across Northumberland Strait.

August the 12th found us quite busy looking after minor details such as having the car greased and oil changed, as we were planning on leaving Arlington, Mass., Sunday morning August 13th for a three weeks vacation into that land of unexpected beauty. My destination was Murray River, Prince Edward Island, where I was going to spend three weeks with my relatives.

To roll and jolt along for many hours over rough roads and then to come upon some secluded overnight cabin late in the evening as we did is one of the unique pleasures of my motor trip.

Naturally other foreign visitors are asking as I did whether it is possible to motor extensively in Canada. It is possible I discovered, it is sometimes slightly uncomfortable, to go by automobile on certain roads. To be sure, many of the roads are true sunshiny roads, which means woe to him who attempts to travel there during rainy weather, yet motoring in places where rental saving down to a minimum speed. Crossings are also marked with signs giving an equivalent warning to stop, look and listen for approaching traps.

On many of the roads signs are being placed to warn motorists of dangerous curves, steep descents, and obscure crossroads ahead; but signposts giving directions and distances to different towns are as yet not very numerous.

"ANN CARVER'S PROFESSION" AT CAPITOL

A decidedly interesting twist has been given the over-abundant home-or-career theme in the Columbia picture, "Ann Carver's Profession," which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre. It is destined to create much controversy and it behooves you to get acquainted early with what the commotion is all about.

Directed by Eddie Buzzell, who made the smart "Child of Manhattan" the story is a screen original by Robert Riskin showing the inevitable conflict that arises when a woman's professional activities threaten her domestic happiness. Fay Wray is cast in the role of a talented woman lawyer whose over-maternal attention to her legal affairs pauses her husband to leave home and seek forgetfulness in the arms of another woman. Complications tend to widen the breach between the pair and it takes a tragedy to bridge the gap, with the woman making her choice between Love and Duty. Her choice would be the choice of every woman in the same predicament—or would it? See what you think.

Gene Raymond, recently seen in "If I Had a Million" and "Zoo in Budapest," is the hapless husband and it needs only a glance to see why he falls easy victim of the willowy Claire Dodd. Jessie Ralph accounts for a splendid character portrayal, Claude Gillingwater, Arthur Pierson and Frank Conroy stand out in the strong supporting cast.

Reforms To League Will Resist Major

PARIS, Dec. 8.—France will resist any attempt basically to change the League of Nations, Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour said today, but is willing to consider minor reforms in it.

It is "absurd" he maintained, to talk of substituting alliances for the League because every treaty since the war has been within the framework of the League.

In other high circles, meanwhile, it was learned that France, faithful to the international organization, will aim to be a mediator in an effort to restore its capital role, that of maintaining peace.

Fruit Growing In The Empire

It is only within the past few years that the vast fruit growing resources of the Dominions have become generally known, and the increasing cultivation of fruits in Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, the West Indies and Palestine have given practical proof of the ability of the Empire to supply the greater part of its own requirements.

How I Enjoyed My Vacation On Prince Edward Island

BY NOAH GODFREY MacLEAN

The idea of the trip originated one evening in March. Mr. James and I were sitting across a dinner table from one another discussing different events. We discussed a trip to the World's Fair in Chicago. Why not take a trip to Prince Edward Island, and see our relatives? I said, from then on we planned to leave Arlington, Mass., around the first of August, for a three weeks vacation in the Province.

From personal experience however, the second trip I intend to make this coming year 1934. I am going to be inclined to fare venturing forth taking things as they come. Without all the sundry details of a perfectly planned trip, the unusual and unexpected add spice to any journey.

The total trip took us a distance of about 1700 miles. During the trip our automobile consumed some 60 gallons of gasoline, ranging from prices as low as 18 cents a gallon in the United States to as high as 34 cents per gallon in Canada. Total expenses of the trip came close to $400.00, which included overnight lodging and our passage across Northumberland Strait.

August the 12th found us quite busy looking after minor details such as having the car greased and oil changed, as we were planning on leaving Arlington, Mass., Sunday morning August 13th for a three weeks vacation into that land of unexpected beauty. Enchanted Isle

"Enchanted Isle" we are immediately impressed with the coloring of its banks.

The warm glowing earth and verdant foliage satisfy the most exacting lover of beauty and bespeak the kindly feelings of the Islander even though the traveller's feet have touched on a perfectly planned trip.

Although I found no wild grandeur of mountain scenery, no sombre mystic forests, the beauty of this beautiful Isle is far from being monotonous. In all my travelling through North and South America, I don't think there is any fairer scenery and no place that offers so much to the wearied business man or nerve-worn person, as Prince Edward Island.

Notwithstanding the fact that it is extensively cultivated and is often referred to as "The Million Acre Farm," there are many beautiful bits of woodland, dotting the scenery. Delicate white-barked birch groves carpeted with scented ferns, call invitingly to the picnicking party and there are sturdy oaks, stately elms and dense spruce mingling their different foliage along the road sides and through the meadows.

Especially in the summer months, the Island is only one hundred and thirty miles long and from two to thirty-five miles wide, we found the smooth beaches always within easy reach of us and I am sure that anyone who has experienced the tonic qualities of its bracing salt waters, will return after a year for healthful rest and relaxation.

Another feature I found in its bathing facilities, and one that I think should appeal especially to mothers is the safety of its beaches. There are very few places along the shores unsafe for children; and, protected by the sand dunes on the North Shore, are sunny Lagoons, where little feet may toddle secure and happy.

As we drove eastward from Bordonia beautiful summer afternoon, intent on arriving in Murray River that evening, we found ourselves plunged on a moment's notice into a contrasting scene of meadows, hills and valleys, which is a never ending fascination.

Whirling along the close packed dirt road for about an hour and a half we suddenly found ourselves entering the City of Charlottetown, which is the Capital of the Island, with a population of about 13,000. We found it well laid out with beautiful wide streets and an abundance of shade trees.

It was also a case with the number of public buildings and willow churches in the City. The Catholic Cathedral, if I might say, is one of the finest specimens of architecture south of Quebec.

Queen Square is in the business part of the City, a public garden, which is beautifully designed and always kept in perfect order. We also had the pleasure of motoring out to Victoria Park, the natural beauty of which we found to be well preserved. We drove over a beautiful driveway which skirted a portion of the Harbor, passing Government House and the old Fort Edward.

Charlottetown is a City with some very historic interest. It is one of the oldest provincial or state capitals on the Continent, dating from 1773 and ante-dating Washington, and nearly all other American State capitals. There is a memorial tablet in the Legislative Council Chamber which records the fact that in it met the first Canadian Union Conference in 1864, and myself borne and raised on Prince Edward Island, and I know other Islanders home or abroad are proud of the fact that our little Province was the "Cradle of Confederation."

Late in the evening of August 14th found us nearing Mr. James home in St. Peters. I found some very beautiful roads around St. Peters, and nothing more beautiful could be imagined than to drive along those beautiful roads.

I arrived in Murray River that evening where I had the pleasure of spending three weeks. Murray River is a beautiful little village situated within easy reach of some fine beaches. There are good stores and some fine old residences there.

And in conclusion I must say that I never enjoyed myself before as I did on that "Enchanted Isle." After three weeks spent motoring, fishing and bathing, we found ourselves once again standing on that beautiful ship giving a last look back at the fields and red banks fading in the distance. Good by Prince Edward Island until we come again.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Big Saving! No Cooking! So Easy!

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare, and costs very little, but its potency has no equal for quick, lasting relief.

From any drugist, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 oz. bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Thus you make 16 ounces of better remedy than you could buy ready-made, and you get four times as much for your money. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This simple mixture soothes and heals the inflamed throat membrane with surprising ease. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and causes chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

Several parts of the British Empire are capable of producing leaf tobacco of good quality but at present the only countries which export it to any considerable extent are: Canada, British India and Southern Rhodesia, the two former countries being much the older cultivators.

Spain Terrorized By New Revolutionary Movement

MADRID, Dec. 11.—(A.P.)—A long-expected revolutionary movement guarded by special squads to prevent was apparently under way in Spain tonight with attempts to cripple international communications and with open outbreaks in Barcelona.

Extremist action expected since last month's general elections which turned the government sharply to the right, was scheduled to begin tonight with the smashing of communication lines.

Services from Madrid to London and Paris were interrupted when the International Trunk Lines were cut between the Capital and Zaragoza.

Lines between Barcelona and Logono were severed following upon an attempted manifestation of Extremists which police broke up. Volleys of gunfire were heard in Barcelona streets when Extremists launched an attack on a motor bus garage.

Troops opened fire on the attack between the Capital and Zaragoza, wounding several. Bombs were thrown into a government-owned garage housing cars and trucks used of Val, nerve centre of telephone by civil and assault guards.

Bertram-Holmes Nuptials

The following marriage is taken from the Sunday Standard-Times of New Bedford, Mass., Oct. 29th, which also reproduced photographs of the handsome bride and her attendants. The bride and her bridesmaids are granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Clow, of New Haven, P. E. I.

Miss Hazel P. Bertram, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Franklyn Bertram, of 209 Allen Street, became the bride of Leander Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Holmes, of Haw River, N. C., yesterday at an afternoon ceremony performed at the Allen Street M. E. Church.

The bride wore a gown of white satin, trimmed with rose point lace made in princess style, on train. Her veil was of tulle with a cap of rose point lace and followed the train of her gown. She carried orchids and lilies-of-the-valley, and was given in marriage by her uncle, Lawrence E. Bertram.

Miss Edna Bertram was her sister, maid-of-honor and wore a gown of American beauty transparent velvet with matching turban and a corsage of gardenias.

The bridesmaids were Miss Sally Clow and Mrs. Russell Perry of Somerville, wore a costume of navy blue crepe trimmed with brocade velvet and a corsage of lilies of the valley and rapture roses.

Mrs. Alfred Holmes, mother of the bride, wore a costume of navy blue crepe trimmed with brocade velvet and a corsage of lilies of the valley and rapture roses.

Mrs. Alfred Holmes, mother of the bride, was attended in a gown of black transparent velvet, in which she wore a corsage of American beauty roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Following the ceremony, a supper and reception took place at the New Bedford Hotel for about 140 guests, who were seated at individual tables placed in heart-shaped formation. Pom-pom chrysanthemums and palms were used for decorations and music was supplied by a string trio.

Mrs. Holmes attended local schools and is a graduate of the Fitchburg Teacher's College. Prior to her marriage she taught in the Allen P. Wood school, this city.

The bridegroom is a textile engineer, a graduate of the New-Bedford Textile School, and a member of the Phi Psi fraternity.

After a honeymoon of one month to the British West Indies, the young couple will reside in New River, North Carolina.

UNEARTH PLOT FOR PRISON BREAK

JOLIET, Ill., Dec. 11.—(A.P.)—A desperate plot for a wholesale break of convicts from the Illinois State Penitentiary, scene of one of the bloodiest prison riots in history, was frustrated today by the vigilance of guards.

Six long term prisoners, most of them incorrigible, were placed in solitary confinement on bread and water diets, warrants were issued for a man and wife outside the penitentiary and prison officials were tracing evidence toward other unruly convicts.

The plot was described as unusual, cunning. It centered about smuggled pistols and knives, code telegrams and letters, and plans for inciting a riot to befall a walkout with guards as shields from gunfire.

Several of the plotters were ring leaders in the vicious Stateville riot of 1931, in which several were killed as thousands of convicts fought for liberty. Joe Latino and his wife, Jennette, were arrested at Rockford, Ill., as the couple waited outside the walls for assisting in the escape conspiracy.

They are reportedly relatives of Donald Loftus, desperado convicted of robbery in Mchenry, Ill., and suspected of the kidnapping several years ago of Gordon Sawyer, banker of Tucson, Ariz.

Prison officials first discovered the escape plan a week ago when a wooden box containing a pistol and ammunition was thrown over the prison wall. Guards then found six knives secreted in a barrel in a work shop.

Canadian Forest Ownership

It may be said that 904 per cent of Canada's forest area is still owned by the Crown in the right of the Dominion or the provinces, and subject only to certain temporary privileges granted to limit-holders, may at any time be placed under forest management and dedicated to forest production.
