IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear wife, Mrs. Donald Matheson, who died February 28th, 1936. Do not ask me if I miss her. Oh there's such a vacant place. Oft times I think I hear her footsteps. And I see her smiling face. Swift and sudden was the parting. Taken from home without a sigh. I did not think her life was ended. For I had no chance to say good-bye. Inserted by husband and daughter, North River. L-5687.

FURNITURE WORKERS URGES STRIKE

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) STRATFORD, Ont., Feb. 28.—Fifteen hundred furniture workers in 27 factories in nine different centres, including nine Toronto plants, will be called out on strike tomorrow morning.

A hastily summoned conference here late today attended by J. F. Marsh, Ontario deputy minister of labor, and members of the District Council of the Furniture Workers Union, failed to avert the strike.

Mr. Marsh asked the Union to delay the walkout until after a new conference between manufacturers and Union representatives, scheduled for Toronto Tuesday. Frank M. Wright, president of the district council of the Union, said tonight the request could not be met. The Union made plans Saturday to call out the men tomorrow and the plans could not be altered, he declared.

Fortunately most of the patients came to us directly from their units, remained a few days, and made a good recovery. But many patients who remained on their feet for the first two or three days of the flu, then reported sick to their own medical officer and were then sent on to us had developed or developed serious complications during their stay with us—pneumonia and bronchopneumonia. As the heart has had to fight the original trouble—the cold or the flu—while the patient further exhausted it by being on his feet when he should have been in bed, it happened in a number of cases that when the bronchopneumonia or pneumonia developed, the heart did not have enough strength left to fight these ailments successfully. The lesson is plain. We must get off our feet and to bed immediately when attacked by a severe cold or the flu.

"Southern Night" By the Chaminade Chorus will be repeated in Hearts Hall, Thursday, March 4, at 8.15 p. m. Silver collection at the door. L-5685-3-1-2.

POLICE COURT—Two motorists were each fined $1.00 and costs or two days in jail in Police Court Saturday. They were charged with not stopping at a stop sign.

POLICE SAVE HORSE—Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers saved a horse owned by a Mr. Hyde of Clyde River Saturday night, after the animal broke through the river ice. Mr. Hyde was returning to his home from Charlottetown when the accident occurred, police said.

PLANES MAKE MAGDALEN FLIGHT—1100 pounds of mail and 20 pounds of express were carried by Canadian Airways Planes in two trips to the Magdalen Islands Saturday. Two Dragons piloted by Walter Fowler and H. S. Jones made the trip.

CAR BREAKS THROUGH ICE—A car in which William Phillips and Jack McAllister were riding broke through the harbor ice as it approached the Ferry Wharf early Saturday morning. The men escaped from the machine before it settled through the crumbling ice. Last night the car was still submerged but it was understood that efforts would be made to raise it.

TO REPEAT CONCERT—The Chaminade Chorus is repeating "Southern Night" at the request of a large number of people. The proceeds of this concert will be in aid of the A.A.C.C. Association. Composed of patients and ex-patients of the Provincial Sanatorium this Association is for the promotion of crafts among the convalescent and cured patients of the institution, a definite forward step in their re-habilitation to normal life.

LOBSTER PROBE IS CONCLUDED AT SHEDIAC

(C.P. by Guardian's Special Wire) SHEDIAC, N. B., Feb. 28.—The Royal Canadian Mounted Police, after a long and exhaustive search, concluded its probe into the alleged lobster smuggling operation here Saturday afternoon and prepared to continue the investigation tomorrow at Port Elgin before going to Prince Edward Island later in the week. Already 165 witnesses have testified before the Commissioner, Mr. Justice A. T. LeBlanc, since the inquiry began Jan. 7.

Four witnesses heard yesterday were Tilman Pellerin, local fisheries guardian from July 1 to Nov. 28 last, David Leger, Alfie Dolron and Fisheries Inspector J. U. LeBlanc.

Tilman Pellerin admitted inability to read or write and said he had done little night patrol work. "That seems to run true to the evidence we have had," commented the Commissioner. "I would appear that no fisheries officers last year bothered or interfered with the poachers. All the evidence we have before us is that Simon Allain seized two bags of lobsters at Point St. John and the Royal Canadian Mounted Police seized two cars with lobsters."

The witness said his entire season's accomplishment had been seizure of 30 traps. He did not know the request could not be met. The Union made plans Saturday to call out the men tomorrow and the plans could not be altered, he declared.

Alfie Dolron declared incorrect a statement that he had sold about two and a half tons of illegally caught lobsters to William Arsenault at the Conley Fisheries. The amount was about 1,500 pounds, he testified.

Inspector LeBlanc, veteran fisheries official, affirmed that before the inquiry here he was unaware that Arsenault had bought illegally caught lobsters. The witness believed his staff of three guardians last year was insufficient to catch poachers.

"These (guardian) are political appointments, and I can recall only one or two guardians in my district who could read or write, which of necessity left all the clerical work in the district to be done by myself," said the inspector.

"How many guardians do you feel are needed to enforce the law properly and protect the fisheries in your district?" asked Mr. Justice

Rev. Father Doyle Speaks At Saint Dunstan's Basilica

Speaking at the High Mass at St. Dunstan's Basilica yesterday, Rev. Basil Doyle told the congregation that the primary purpose of marriage is the procreation and education of children. The mere generation of children might be accomplished without any marriage bond, but more than this is needed. They must be educated to be citizens of Church and State and finally of the Kingdom of God. This is done in the family and cannot be adequately accomplished otherwise.

The speaker declared the first duty of parents is to be parents, God willing. There is a vice, however, that propagandists are bending every effort to lift to plane of respectability, and their efforts have been remarkably successful. "I mean 'Birth Control', more correctly called 'Birth Frustration'." Father Doyle said. But the practice of birth frustration is opposed to the eternal, necessary, law of God, as revealed in nature. Therefore it is condemned by the Catholic Church. The Church could not teach otherwise on the subject even if she would. The law is God's own making and the Church simply declares it. She will continue to teach on this subject only when she changes her teaching on slavery, stealing and murder. When such things become lawful, birth frustration may be lawful, too. Furthermore, the law is positively set down in Holy Scripture. In Genesis, 38, there is the account of the crime of Onan, the first recorded case of birth frustration. In the tenth verse we read: "And therefore the Lord slew him because he did a detestable thing." The thing itself was detestable, and that is what the Church means when she speaks of it as intrinsically evil.

Whilst marriage has for one of its secondary purposes remedy for concupiscence, and mind, that is only a secondary, not the primary purpose, it was never intended to be a complete palliative for sexual passion. The Church recommends and urges due restraint in conjugal relations, keeping the sex impulse under control of reason and faith. This done, in times of sickness or separation there will be no danger of incontinence. Also, if for some good reason, husband and wife agree to limit the number of their children they will not have to resort to sin. For there is one, and only one, lawful means of birth control, and that is self control. The lie that this self control in sex matters is too much to be expected of married people comes up out of hell, and has for its sponsor the "other of lies."

The 8 o'clock mass was celebrated by Rev. Dr. McKeen who, in the course of a series of talks, explained the Mass.

Rev. Father McCordle was the celebrant at the 9.30 mass. He also preached.

High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Dr. Ellsworth of St. Dunstan's University.

Last evening at 7.15 Father Doyle preached on "Temperance."

Address By Evangelist

The Central Guardian's special wire... The speaker said that Christ was the One who made the Sabbath at Creation, 10,000 years before the world was a thing at all. It was not until 4,000 years ago, in the seventh day of the week, commonly called Saturday, Gen. 2: 2; Ex. 20: 8-11. This, he said, is the true Lord's day, for when Christ was on earth it was His custom to attend divine service on the Sabbath day. The new Testament writers also observed the seventh day Sabbath, and they never kept any other day in place of the Sabbath. Neither do they mention that Christ nor themselves ever authorized a change from the seventh to the first as the new Sabbath for Christians.

The speaker offered a $1000 cheque to any individual who could produce one text of Scripture which said that Christ or His apostles had changed the Sabbath from the seventh to the first day of the week, or that Christians ought to observe the first day of the week as the Sabbath.

Mr. Brennan read considerable from authoritative historical sources to corroborate his statements, and urged in his closing remarks, a return to the Bible and the Bible only as the only safe rule of faith and doctrine.

LeBlanc. "Two guardians and a flying patrol," replied the witness. "Don't mention flying patrol," said the commissioner. "We had evidence of one in Kent County and they flew so high they couldn't catch anything."

St. Pats Trounce Canadiens 12-3

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire) AMHERST, N. S., Feb. 28.—Amherst St. Pats, last year's Maritime junior hockey champions, were top-heavy favorites tonight to reach the finals of the Nova Scotia Junior playdowns.

The defending champions defeated Halifax Canadiens 12-3 here last night in the first game of a two-game total-score semi-final series for the right to meet the Cape Breton champions.

The second game of the series will be played in Halifax Tuesday.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

ST. PAUL'S ANGLICAN CHURCH

Yesterday at St. Paul's Church, Holy Communion was celebrated at 8.30, followed by Morning Prayer at 11.00. Speaking to boys and girls, the Rector told the story of the Prodigal Son, and intimated how God, our Heavenly Father, is ever seeking those who go astray from Him. The sermon to the adult congregation entitled "The Message of a disappointed God," Isaiah 59-16. "He wondered that there was no intercessor." The earlier verses of the chapter present a terrible record of sinfulness, provoking God's displeasure. But the text seems to indicate that what saddens the heart of God most in the picture is the fact that nobody cares. In strong lines the prophet goes on to portray the divine punishment, the eternal hope of a Redeemer, and a promise of a new covenant, which shall not fail. It occurs to us to ask, whether God is disappointed in us as we fail before every commendation of the de-cologue. Still more is He disappointed at the poverty of our prayer and the little space that it occupies in our daily program. Yet He hastens to answer before we ask giving us an unending hope in our Redeemer, and the sure promise of a covenant which will remain eternal.

The evening sermon "Upon Christ's Stilling the Tempest" emphasized the necessity of being ready for the unexpected in life; of allowing our Saviour to silence our honest fears into faith; and by busy Christian service, finding ourselves ready for whatever God has in store for us.

The morning anthem was "Seek Ye the Lord"—Roberts. At the evening service there was a tenor solo "The Lost Chord" sung by Mr. R. Metzler. Announcement was made of special services of the D. C. S. and W. A. to be held during the week.

CHURCH OF THE MOST HOLY REDEEMER

Rev. Father Baines preached at all the masses at the Church of the Most Holy Redeemer yesterday. He spoke on the "Sacrifice of the Mass." Rev. Father Howard celebrated the 9 o'clock mass and Rev. Father McKenna High Mass at 10.30.

In the evening Rev. Father Hewcock preached on the "Unity of the True Religion." Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given by Rev. Father Baines.

TRINITY UNITED CHURCH

Both services in Trinity United Church yesterday were conducted by Rev. A. E. MacKenzie. At the morning service he spoke on the subject "Our Light and Our Salvation." The subject of the evening sermon was "Our Unused Talents."

The music of the day consisted of an anthem in the morning "Incline Thine Ear" by Himmel, in which Mr. Jas. Calder took the solo in a very pleasing manner.

At the evening service the choir rendered "Jesus My Strength" by C. Marks, Miss Deane, doing the solo parts effectively. Spencer and Mrs. L. T. Lowther which was much appreciated by the large congregation.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH

The morning sermon by the Rev. H. L. Denton, B. D., "Avoiding Anxiety" was based on Matthew 6, 34 "Do not be over-anxious, therefore, about tomorrow, for tomorrow will bring its own cares." The uncertainty, ominous secrecy of the morning, its possible perils and cares, seems somehow to worry all mankind. Jesus in speaking to his friends recognized this fact, pointing out the uselessness of worry. "Sufficient for the day is the evil thereof."

In one's religion—one's faith, is found the motivating factor that sustains in the face of anxiety. Faith is not a substitute for work or preparedness but work and preparedness in faith while they may not remove the danger do supply the courage with which danger may be met, the power with which it may be sustained.

The anthem of the morning was "Thimian's 'O strength and stay'." Miss Vera Campbell taking the solo. The evening service opened at 6.45 with a song period led by the male choir which had charge of the music of the evening. The quartette, Messrs. Quigley, Calder, Dingwell and Sterns sang with usual fine effect.

The Rev. H. L. Denton preached a moving and eloquent sermon on "What will you do with Jesus?" The music of the day was under the direction of Miss Vera H. Malcolm Campbell Mus. Bac., with Miss Helen Colbeck at the organ.

SONG SERVICE

The service of song was held last night in Herzog Memorial Hall under the auspices of the Student's Christian Movement of Prince of Wales College. The service took the form of a prayer service for the Student Christian Federation throughout the world. Niall Burnett gave an interesting address on the work and origin of the movement.

L. P. U. Win From Saints

Displaying their best form of the season the L. P. U. Saints, City League champs, got sweet revenge for a previous defeat by the S. D. U. boys by soundly trouncing them 12-4 over the week end. The Saints took an early lead by counting two goals in the first five minutes of play but the Union boys came back strong, slamming home three goals the period ending 3-2 for the city champs.

The second period saw the Saints held scoreless while the L. P. U. were chalking up three more counters, the period ending 6-2.

The third period produced a re-scoring spurge with the Saints by scoring six goals to the Saints two, the game ending L. P. U. 12; S. D. U. 4.

At the morning service, Dr. R. Moorhead Legate, continuing his series of pre-Easter addresses took his text from St. Matthew VI "Ye seek me...because ye did eat of the loaves and were filled. Labour not for the meat that perisheth but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life which the Son of man shall give unto you...from that time many of His disciples went back and walked no more with him." Our Lord had miraculously fed a multitude of five thousand men. Some of those who had enjoyed the feast came later to Jesus hoping that such a thing might happen again. But as soon as He begins to talk religion to them, off they go. Are things very different today? When we come down to solid fact, we are bound to admit that the mass of people today are no more attracted and influenced by Jesus Christ than they were when he trod the roads of Galilee. And out of this problem, there comes the church's task. For although this is a Christian country with churches dotting the landscape, the great majority of people hold their beliefs in such a vague and inconsequent manner that it has no real value for them and no power over their lives. Why is this so? The fundamental reason is that people generally are neither much interested nor impressed by Jesus Christ's spiritual way of life. Material concern holds the stage. How is the church to meet this attitude? We could fill the churches if we were content to take certain means of doing so. But that would be taking quantity and neglecting quality. What we must do is win the people for Christ. The spirit of God is moving the heart of the church in a new way; that is to say the re-consecration to God and His service of all who profess the faith of His eternal Son. That is what you and I, as members of the church are being called to do today. You and I can help the master. It is up to each member of our Christian congregation to catch the inspiration of this mighty movement of re-act to God. If we could do this the world's resistance would be broken down.

The text of the evening sermon was taken from Phillipians 3-13: "This one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Jesus Christ."

St. Paul who wrote these words, was a most remarkable man. He had first used all his talents against Jesus Christ and then came his conversion. Thereafter, he literally wore himself out in the cause of Christ. Yet, after doing all he had done, he wrote the words of our text tonight. This contains a lesson for everyone. If St. Paul could say that he still pressed on, surely there is no Christian today who is entitled to feel contented with himself. We must all press on to the prize, which is the approval and reward of God. And although we may often feel discouraged and weary, let us remember that there's no limit to our endurance if we rely and lean on Jesus Christ.

The anthems were, in the morning "O Lord"; in the evening, "But the Lord is Mindful of His Own."

CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The services at the Central Christian Church yesterday were conducted by the Rev. S. C. Cooper. An appropriate children's sermon was delivered and the morning subject for the adult congregation was "The Supreme and Inspiring Example." The text was Heb. 12:2 "Looking unto Jesus the author and perfecter of faith."

Luke has given two accounts of the Ascension one in the Acts and the other at the end of the gospel. The ascension denotes a permanent state between God, Jesus Christ, the church and the world.

The evening subject was "The Love of God." The text was John 3: 16.

No words ever carried deeper meaning than those spoken to the learned Rabbi. Angels beheld the marvels of creation but only the fishermen of Galilee heard for the first time the greatest of all marvels.

The music of the day was in charge of Mrs. V. L. Dingwell. Miss Lorina Sampel sang a touching solo at the morning service and the choir at night rendered the anthem "Blessed Be The Lord." Mr. Preston Beck taking the solo part.
