IN the spelling match on Friday last between the highest departments of Queen Square and West Kent schools, the words to be given were limited to the first half of the 6th Reader. It appears that the word "metonymy," chosen by Mr. Landrigan's room was outside the limit and that thereby the total marks made by his room are reduced by 21, thus giving him an average of 76 instead of 81. This statement is made as a matter of justice.

THE New Brunswick Legislature was prorogued on April 28th.

THE SS. Jacques Cartier sailed yesterday afternoon for Crapaud.

GEORGETOWN NOTES.—The Schr. Edridge, Captain Dicks, arrived in Georgetown from Causo, about 7.30 Saturday evening. She reports the straits full of ice. Four other vessels arrived here Sunday morning.—The S.S. Electra made a return trip Saturday, arriving at 6 p. m. She brought a number of passengers and a full cargo of freight.—John Rogers, Montreal, representing Evans Sons, wholesale druggists, left for Charlottetown on Saturday.—Several of our young men are contemplating bicycling during the coming season.—A number of schooners are waiting for the ice to clear in order to sail. Some sailed on Saturday morning but returned in the evening.—Farming has commenced around Georgetown.—Chas. Fitzgerald has built a steam launch, the machinery of which was furnished by Mr. J. T. McLean, Charlottetown, and on her trial trip showed considerable speed.—Prosecutor Bears and Constable McCarron are in Georgetown.

MARGATE NOTES.—Rev. Mr. Wightman last Thursday evening delivered in Margate to an appreciative audience a very interesting and highly instructive lecture on Canada, or 'Our Lady of the Snows.' During a short intermission in the lecture, the choir sang 'Our own Canadian Home' after which the lecturer resumed his discourse dwelling particularly upon the great natural resources and future possibilities of our fair Dominion. The evening so pleasantly spent by all who took advantage of the rare treat afforded them, was brought to a close by singing 'God save the Queen.' Praise is certainly due all those who have been instrumental in the building of the large and substantial shed in connection with the Margate church and which is now nearing completion.—Mr. William Johnson, always actuated by the principle of advancement is at present erecting a new building on his premises. Mr. William P. Ford, the well-known carriage builder of Margate, is doing a rushing spring business. The continual ring of the hammer, manipulated by Mr. Walter Waye, the popular manager of the iron-work department, attests to the fact that the Margate carriage factory still sustains its reputation as one of the busiest and best patronized carriage establishments in this country.—Mr. John Durant, the genial proprietor of the saw and grist mill, is receiving a good share of patronage in the lumber sawing line this spring.—A few days ago, Mr. Theodore Smith, at a very early hour and in the presence of a number of spectators, launched his beautiful new boat, in the building of which he has been busily engaged for some time past.—The farmers in this section are busily engaged in preparations for the usual spring work. Some, we understand, are contemplating sowing wheat right away. ROMULUS.
