1909 styles in Smart Corsets shapes called for by the needs of modern dress and suit designs OF COURSE you know all about the new models made necessary by the slimly graceful figure that Paris decrees as the right and only thing for the incoming season. It you have not given the matter close study it will be worth your while to call and have one of our saleswomen show you the new corsets that have just arrived. She will demonstrate their necessity in forming a foundation, so to speak, for the gown or suit that you will be wearing in a month or two. That the set, and permanent good style of your gown depends upon the correct lines of your corset, is a matter that needs no argument. Among the hundreds of new pairs of corsets that we have just been opening, we have the new ideas in the extreme long hip style, and we would be very pleased to show the new ones to you to demonstrate the most modern, and to let you see designs that we think you will hardly find elsewhere. From 50c commences our showing—and through every price the range proceeds in steps of 10c and 25c right up to $3.50

Colored Coats Going at half price All the remainder of our coloured coats go on sale this morning at a figure that means a quick and final move for them. The showing includes only coats that are new this season all good styles, all thoroughly excellent in every way. The range of each style of course is now broken—there is not a complete range of sizes in each style—and we would prefer to take a sharp loss on the few left, right now, than carry the goods over. So Colored Coats—Half Price. We have a special assortment of coats in many styles, mostly loose tweeds, and some of durable garments, well made, well tailored good, modern, smart, but broken lots, worth up to $15.00 and closing out at.....$6.75

Billings and Dauby in their comedy musical act at New Wonderland last evening provided amusement in plenty and laughs in abundance for the large audiences who were present. As soloists on the cornet, bass and sliding trombone they are exceptionally clever. Their instruments are hidden in all manner of receptacles, which however does not prevent them bringing forth harmonies in overflowing measure. Mr. Blaney's playing of the kettle drum, hidden in a beer keg was a clever piece of work and his imitation of a train approaching and departing was perfect. It is an uncommon act, a good piece of burlesque, and variation by way of entertainment.

Arthur J. Leonard, son of Daniel P. and Emma C. Leonard, of Philadelphia, formerly of Penn's Grove, died at the home of his uncle, Thomas J. Tutton, last Friday night, (Jan. 1st) aged 16 years. He came there the day before Christmas to spend the holidays and in three days was afflicted with fever which he had a fatal turn. Mr. Leonard was at St. John, Canada, where he left Friday night and arrived Sunday. The funeral services were at the house on Wednesday morning with Rev. S. M. Nichols, of Trenton, a former pastor of St. Paul's Church, in charge. Interment was in Riverside Cemetery. Mr. Leonard lived in Penn's Grove, until two years ago. Several young friends of Arthur attended the funeral in a body and gave a pretty floral tribute. The family have the sympathy of their many friends in their bereavement. From the Penn's Grove, New Jersey, Record, Jan. 8th, 1909.—Mr. Leonard referred to is well known throughout this Province, as he from year to year does business here for the firm of Cressbro, Bros., Fulton Market, New York. He crossed from this Province to St. John where he found a telegram two days old awaiting him, stating his son's illness. Mr. Leonard left Jan. 2nd for home reaching there early Sunday morning, but found the young lad had died the previous Friday Jan. 1st, the same night Mr. Leonard had reached St. John from Prince Edward Island. The sudden death has plunged the family into deepest distress and so far as Mr. Leonard's business in Canada is concerned, it is all left unfinished. The Guardian offers sincerest sympathy.

A large and select audience attended in St. James Hall last evening to hear Percy Pope on The Unseen World. In the hour and a half of his delivery his closely attentive hearing broader appreciation of the vastness and potentialities of the unseen forces within ourselves and throughout the universe, and the preponderating importance of the invisible and immaterial over that which is visible and material. Man's relation to the universe was shown to be spiritual and enduring, rather than material and transient. The argument buttressed the doctrine of the essential immortality of man with the dignity that appertains thereto. The lecture was thoughtful and thought provoking, very closely reasoned, admirably phrased, and, was illustrated by frequent references to the discoveries of science, the occult wisdom of the East, and the recent researches in the field of telepathy, hypnosis and psychology. A vote of thanks was moved in very hearty and appreciative terms by Rev. George Ross, seconded by Mr. McCready. Next lecture in the course was announced by Rev. M. Fullerton to be delivered by A. E. Morrison on the Atlantic Cable, illustrated with new views. Rev. G. R. White pronounced the benediction at the close.

The community was shocked to hear yesterday afternoon of the sudden death of one of its well known and worthy citizen George Wilson who passed away at his home on First St. at 4.30 o'clock. For the past thirty years Mr. Wilson had been connected with the hardware firm of S. W. Crabbe and was at his accustomed post of duty until Wednesday last. Though not in the best of health for some weeks past he did not complain until forced by a severe cold recently contracted to remain at home. On Saturday morning pneumonia developed and though everything that medical skill could do was done he succumbed on Tuesday and passed peacefully away to his reward. Mr. Wilson was a son of the late David Wilson and was born in this city sixty-six years ago. He leaves to mourn their loss his widow and grand-daughter Edith Hayden at home, one son David now resident in St. Louis, S. A. and two sisters, Mrs. William Ferguson of Charlottetown and Mrs. John Ferguson of Pictou N. S. For many years Mr. Wilson has been a faithful adherent of Zion Presbyterian Church. The funeral will be on Thursday afternoon, the service at the house commencing at 2.15 and thence at 2.45 to Sherwood Cemetery by train. Rev. Geo. E. Ross officiating.
