Page Old Rome For Paris Aid In Nazi Raid

By GLADYS M. ARNOLD Canadian Press Correspondent PARIS, Jan. 10 - One of the safest and probably the most interesting bomb shelters in Paris was built by a Roman general.

His chief concern at that time was to build a first class arena capable of holding 8,000 spectators who loved the amusement of seeing the lions eat the Christians - or at least the lions at the battle between Roman gladiators.

Not far from the Moutefard in the Latin Quarter - where the treasures of golden coins were discovered last winter when some 10th century buildings were torn down - a workman discovered what appeared to be a series of steps covered by earth.

Parts of that ancient arena have been dug out and are being shown through the centuries in each series of buildings built on the spot. They are a brick out almost anywhere in the city and they have a museum piece of Roman vintage.

Extend Air Raids

The German aerial invasion of British coastal waters was extended today to the southeast coast. Watchers said they saw two Nazi bombers attack an unidentified vessel with bombs and machine-gun fire.

The ship zigzagged until British fighters appeared and chased off the attackers. The toll of Tuesday's mass attacks by German warplanes on British and neutral shipping was increased with the announcement that a second British ship, the 1,985-ton Oakgrove, went down after an assault from the air.

It also was disclosed that the 1,000-ton British ship Umpinster was bombed, but not sunk. Three of her crew were killed. Survivors said they were machine-gunned in the lifeboats.

British fishing boat operators, who had five vessels raked by Nazi machine-gun fire yesterday, also were under attack. The class-room was artistically decorated for the occasion and a heavily laden Christmas tree adorned one side of the platform.

Mr. Hold, who capably acted as chairman and after a few remarks a program consisting of recitations, monologues, choruses, and dialogues, was well rendered by the different pupils.

At the close of the program a vote of thanks was extended to the teacher, Miss M. Mill, for the excellent showing of the pupils, each one taking their part in a very creditable manner.

Soon Santa's arrival brought cheer and merriment. He distributed presents and candy and apples to the pupils and teacher. The audience were then treated by the teacher and the singing of the Christmas carols.

By secretary, $150.00 to Red Cross; $50.00 for treat for school; $1.25 for funds for school; $1.25 for roller for map; and $2.00 for wedding gift for one of the members.

THIRD SOVIET

He found the town of Stomus-salmi completely demolished by savage warfare, with only blackened chimneys and shell-riddled frame buildings left standing.

Hundreds of Russian shells, guns, trucks and tanks were seen abandoned in wild confusion along the 1-2 mile stretch of twisting highway which served as a battlefield for the 44th Red division and attacking Finnish troops.

A Finnish colonel at Raate told the Associated Press that Finland's losses in the battles against the 44th and 163rd divisions were comparatively small "although there are casualties of course in a heavy battle."

Thousands of Russians were reported killed and more than 1,000 captured. The Finnish Army communique said there was comparative quiet on the other fronts. Only minor engagement were reported in the air and on the sea.

RETALIATION

British Intensify Flights

Other official reports gave no details, saying merely that bombs had been dropped near Sytt during patrol operations. The flights, British "security" patrols of the air are intensifying their flights over the North Sea and Frisian Islands, it was stated, to keep German bombers and navigators at some guess as to their whereabouts.

It was indicated from Danish advice that the country's neutrality had been infringed in today's battles. One plane dropped three bombs on the Danish island of Roem, near Sytt, doing little damage. The German Messerschmitt fighter, which landed near Halm, Denmark, was reported to have bullet holes in its gasoline tanks. The pilot was interned and the plane confiscated.

An official British statement disclosed full retaliation if it was discovered on investigation that the plane which dropped bombs on Danish soil was British. "Danish" bombers, reported by the R. A. F. in today's raids, are two-motored planes with top speed, at 20,000 feet, of 277 miles per hour.

Bombed, Not Sunk

It also was disclosed that the 1,000-ton British ship Umpinster was bombed, but not sunk. Three of her crew were killed. Survivors said they were machine-gunned in the lifeboats.

British fishing boat operators, who had five vessels raked by Nazi machine-gun fire yesterday, also were under attack. The class-room was artistically decorated for the occasion and a heavily laden Christmas tree adorned one side of the platform.

LOCAL BIBLE SOCIETY ELECTS TO PROVINCE NEW SLATE

Mr. J. A. Haslam Named President - Third Of Prayer Services Held.

The third service of the Week of Prayer was held in Zion Presbyterian Church last evening. The minister, the Reverend G. C. Webster, conducted the service assisted by various ministers of the city Churches. The choir led the congregation in worship as they sang the anthem, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is" by Shelley.

The annual meeting of the Charlottetown Branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society was held Mr. William Hogg, the President, presided and gave an encouraging report.

The Secretary, Mr. J. A. Haslam, gave his report and it was gratifying to learn that the offerings this year were considerably larger than those of the previous year.

The election of officers took place with the following result: President - Mr. J. A. Haslam, Vice-President, Mr. Warren Lord, Sec'y, Mr. J. P. Crockett, Executive: Miss J. C. Stewart, W. L. Henry, A. R. Gillis, Prof. George Patterson, George R. Brady, H. Bohner, J. E. H. Worth, A. M. McDonald, Ross McEwen, Percy Proud, Ross, Belshine, Ian Burnett, Neil D. MacLean.

The Reverend R. Moorhead, Legate, D. D. brought the message of the theme: "The Christian's Bible" and took his text from the epistle of St. James 1:22. Dr. Legate brought out four distinct points: 1. The Christian's relation to the Bible. 2. The Christian's Employment of the Book. 3. The Christian's enjoyment of the Book. 4. The Christian's enrichment by the Book.

There are two ways in which a Christian may read his Bible. The one is to read it timidly and more. The other brings the unsearchable riches into a man's soul. The words of St. James apply to the reading as well as to the hearing.

St. James said that the Bible is a mirror. The speaker suggested that earnest readers soon find out what the Bible is a very self revealing Book. We Palm and the Gospels are the most read books and are full of allusions to oneself.

"How are you doing the mirror?" St. James asks. Some treat their Bibles as they do their mirrors, the speaker said. They give it an odd, hasty, superficial glance which leaves no impression on the mind. He read a few verses from the Gospels and the very purpose of reading defeat the very purpose of the Book.

It is strange that in this day of easy education the Bible is the book least read in the public schools. The speaker suggested that the circulation of the Bible atones for our neglect of reading it. St. James suggests that some people use mirrors for vanity. Many do that very thing with their Bibles.

Sometimes the Bible is read in a way never intended for it to be read. They read it in a false perspective magnifying unessential things, separating texts from their lawful contexts and reading all kinds of odd conclusions from themselves and others. Some people play with the Bible as with a cross word puzzle. St. James shows the foolishness and the wrongness in thus treating the Holy Book.

Dr. Legate said that our mirror has an exact and definite purpose. We buy it to serve our actual requirements. We use it to find out what is right in our lives. We use it to find out what is wrong in our lives. We use it to find out what is the will of God in our lives. We use it to find out what is the will of God in our lives.

Russia Blames Britain For Balkan Moves

MOSCOW, Jan. 10 (AP) - Britain's economic warfare against Germany in the Balkans today drew the fire of the Communist party newspaper, Pravda, which printed a special article asserting that Moscow was manoeuvring to extend the war to that part of Europe.

Criticizing Britain for sending capital into the Balkans, the article said she was "availing herself of the economic and financial dependence of small countries of southeastern Europe," and was "making all efforts to involve these countries in war."

Rumania, Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, Turkey and Greece were especially mentioned. British and French authorities have been negotiating trade agreements with most of these countries, and backing up some of the agreements with credits.

Daily War Survey Parish Guild

(By The Canadian Press) If Rumania and Hungary under the impetus of Russian threats and Italian promptings are able to settle the long-standing dispute over the Province of Transylvania one of the trouble spots of the Balkans will be removed.

Hungary's grievance dates back to the settlement which followed the first great war when its territory was reduced to one third its pre-war size, the largest loss being Transylvania. Rumania supported the Allies in that conflict but was defeated and forced to make peace with Germany and Austria-Hungary. Strange though it may appear Rumania acquired territory from both its former allies and former enemies.

In the German-dictated eastern peace pact early in 1918 Rumania was forced to give up territory to Bulgaria and in return obtained Bessarabia from Russia. After the war ended and the Austro-Hungarian empire was broken up Rumania regained the territory surrendered to Bulgaria and acquired Transylvania from Hungary.

Hungary suffered greater territorial losses than any other country following the first great war. Austria, Italy, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia, as well as Rumania obtained slices of Hungarian territory and ever since the Hungarians have kept up their demands for revision of treaties.

A deal by which Hungary and Italy would guarantee Rumania against the loss of Bessarabia to Russia in exchange for the return of part or all Transylvania to Hungary might go a long way towards ensuring peace in the Balkans by satisfying Hungarian national aspirations.

Nazis Warned To "Voluntarily" Reduce Purchases

By Melvin K. Whiteleather Associated Press Staff Writer BERLIN, Jan. 10 (AP) - German newspapers today said that they must "voluntarily" reduce purchases of unrationed articles or force would be used to compel them to spend less of their income.

The warning was issued by Das Schwarze Korps organ of the Hitler Elite Guards, which added that one plan under consideration to force workers to save is that of paying wages partly in certificates which would not mature for several years. Authorities have been seeking method to halt what is considered to be a wave of excessive buying of unrationed goods, which is making the government automatically would stop such buying and thus make available more cash to pay for the war.

Das Schwarze Korps said that the Nazi state was seeking to reduce income in the same measure but it is considered necessary to reduce purchasing power. It was made clear that force would be used if discipline failed.

Referring to Nazi expenditures for armaments and other purposes to increase German world prestige, the paper said: "Reduction of purchasing power is the entrance price each individual is paying for Germany's entrance into the world constellation of powers."

The rush to buy anything not rationed is attributed partly to a psychological reaction to the war fears and to fears of inflation caused by issuance of additional paper bills and small coins in aluminum. Authorities also consider it is bolshing the bread ration cards. Instead of consumption declining under rationing it actually has increased.
