The City Hockey League got away to a flying start Tuesday night and gave what is estimated the largest crowd in years a thrilling sixty minutes of action-packed hockey. The Legion-Navy duelists gave the fans 14 goals, and plenty of skating interspersed with an assortment of body checks which shook the recipients from their upper molars to their boot straps. All in all it was a crowd-pleasing game and the fans roared their approval at the final bell.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

A feature of games so far this season, and it not only pertains to this circuit, are the large scores chalked up. This, however, is partly due to the teams being evenly matched and the general public is more than pleased with the wide-open brand of hockey dished out. The only protests are liable to come from the goal judges who are busier than the proverbial traffic officer on Hughes' corner on a Saturday night.

From games played by the three teams seen in action thus far, the League promises to be a close one. The Saints are the big question mark and the hockey-minded public are eagerly looking forward to their initial appearance on Forum ice.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

Tonight the Prince of Wales Welshmen are at home to the Legionnaires. There is little or no change in lineups and it goes without saying that the contest will be an interesting one with both teams eager to enter the win column. The Welshmen held their final workout Tuesday and were reported in "top shape" by Coach Johnny Squarebriggs. Coach Roy Prowse of the Legionnaires held a light practice session yesterday and judging from comments the Vets were keyed-up for the fray. Speaking of the game on Tuesday night Roy figured his team had a run of tough luck, but didn't suggest nor offer any alibis. "They (the Navy) had plenty of spirit," he mused.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

Junior hockey, once so popular in these parts, will attempt to stage a comeback this year. A practice session for all eligibles has been called between the hours of one and two today at the Forum. Several players now performing on City League teams will be eligible, including the P.W.C. line of Nicolle, Robertson and Blanchard. Mike Hennessey of St. Dunstan's team may be made available for a defense post and there is an abundance of talent which could be developed. Anyone wishing to try out should attend the first workout at the Forum today.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

Bill Hutchinson, Sports Editor of the Moncton Transcript, writes appreciatively of the year's harness racing review by Col. D. A. MacKinnon, D.S.O., in the following words:

"Once more that veteran sportsman, Col. Dan MacKinnon of Charlottetown has hit the jackpot in a sporting way. He recently published a fine review of last year's harness racing in the Maritimes. The article was carried in the Charlottetown Guardian, and is a complete resume. To the owners of race horses, and to the racing public it is a particularly interesting bit of reading."

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

In his column "An Even Break", Ace Foley, in the Halifax Chronicle has this comment on a well known former junior hockey player from here:

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

"A Lady Follower of Sports" has come up with some interesting information on "Buddy" McEachern, the strapping Charlottetown boy who plays a dashing game on the wing for the Truro Bearcats.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

"It seems that on the hockey broadcast the other evening, we tried unsuccessfully to 'place' McEachern. Well, The Lady places him, and how!

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

"Sez she: 'Oliver McEachern is a Charlottetown boy who starred in junior hockey and later as a member of the Sydney Millionaires when they won the Maritime championship in the winter of 1940-41, played with that team at the Halifax Forum and went on in the Allen Cup playdowns in Upper Canada.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

"'He is a son of the late Fire Chief Angus McEachern of Charlottetown, a nephew of the late James McEachern, a champion pole vaulter and weight man of the old Abegweits, a nephew of the late Oliver (Twisty) McEachern of hockey and football fame in the Maritimes and a first cousin of John (Whacky) McEachern, who was perhaps one of the best all-round athletes ever produced in the Maritimes.

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

"'I am not positive but believe that Buddy McEachern distinguished himself as a Pilot Officer in the R.C.A.F. overseas and has recently received his discharge.'

✦ ✦ ✦ ✦

"And that brings us up to date on Buddy, that stalwart winger with the Truro Bearcats. Thanks a million for the info, and the heat you feel comes from our red face."

"Crocodile Tears" Seems Reaction To Hawks' Beef

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Lay that lace handkerchief down, Johnny—those are obviously crocodile tears you're shedding.

With three National Hockey League teams still to be heard from, that seemed the initial reaction today to Johnny Gottselig's contention that rival clubs are using rough stuff in an effort to hamstring his hustling Chicago Black Hawks, surprise package of the current campaign.

Pointing to knee ligament injuries by Bill Msoienko when checked by Bill Moe in a game against Rangers at New York Dec. 30, Russia-born Gottselig said last night the Hawks are tired of being mauled around by bruisers like Moe and Bill Juzda on the Ranger rearguard.

"If that doesn't stop we can play rough too," said Gottselig, whose fast, light team is tied with Montreal Canadiens for the league lead.

The Chicago boss disclosed the League has advised it will investigate the injury to Mosienko the Winnipeg whiz who teams with Doug and Max Bentley on hockey's hottest forward line. Gottselig also said Detroit Red Wings and Toronto Maple Leafs are protesting Ranger tactics.

In Toronto the reference to a Leaf protest drew emphatic denial from coach Happy Day, whose Stanley Cup champions languish in fifth place 4½ games behind Boston Bruins. Day, more concerned about Toronto's five-game losing streak than rough play, said he has never made a protest against illegal play "by any team and I'm not going to start now."

The Chicago complaints came as the injury-battered Bruins announced they have purchased Mike McMahon from Montreal Canadiens for the season, with the option of buying him outright at the season's close. Earlier Bruins, who play at Detroit Thursday, announced goalie Paul Bibeault will be returned to Montreal Canadiens as a replacement for Bill Durnan.

Durnan broke his right hand last Saturday in the same game which cost Bruins the services of their two star centres, Milt Schmidt and Bill Cowley.

The Boston-Detroit clash Thursday will have considerable bearing on the third-place struggle, which finds Detroit now one point ahead of Boston. The other N.H.L. game Thursday sends Leafs to Montreal, whose Canadiens can move into undisputed leadership with a victory or a tie. Canadiens now are tied with Chicago, two games ahead of Detroit.

Polish-Born Doctor Is New Chess Champion

HASTINGS, England, Jan. 9—(Reuters)—First prize or the first post-war International Chess Congress played here went today to Dr. Savielli Tartakower, Polish-born French master, when he won his final match from Scotland's J.M. Aitken in 29 moves.

F. Ekstrom, of Sweden, piled up nine points during the tournament to take second place, half a point behind Dr. Tartakower.

Two United States chess aces, Herman Steiner of Los Angeles and Arnold Denker of New York, United States champion, scored seven points each to share third place with Max Euwe, Dutch titleholder.

North Shore League Has Been Revived This Year

The North Shore League has been revived after being dormant during most of the war years. The following five teams are entered in the League: Kensington Crescents, Kensington Phantoms, Spring Valley, New Annan and Darnley. The officials elected at the organization meeting were:

President, F. R. Nauss; vice president, S. Pendleton; secretary-treasurer, Theo. J. Ling; executive Crescents, James Saunders; Phantoms, George Brookins; Spring Valley, Ken Champion; Darnley, Art Wall; New Annan, Art Wright.

So far three games have been played, Spring Valley defeating the Crescents, 4-3, the Phantoms scoring a victory over New Annan 6-5, and those same Phantoms triumphing over Darnley 4 to 3.

Good crowds have been attending the games and interest is high. An all-star team, called the Kensington Intermediates, is being picked from this league to enter intermediate playdowns. Once picked they will not be able to play again in the North Shore League. The manager of this team is Everett Champion, and the coach, Art Larkin.

The Kensington Bantams defeated the Summerside Junior Pioneers, one of two bantam teams in that town, Saturday in Kensington, by the score of 6 to 3. The teams were evenly matched, but the accurate long-range sniping of Jackie Bernard on the Kensington defence was the deciding factor in the contest.

Ronnie Kennedy of Kensington refereed to the entire satisfaction of both teams.

N. Y. Giants Count On Farm After This Year

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Jan. 9—While the Giants still are flashing a heavy bankroll around the National League in order to field a contender this year, the business of dishing out $175,000 chunks isn't going to become habit-forming with president Horace Stoneham.

With their bankroll bloated from a million-plus home turnstile count with a fifth place club last season, the Giants definitely are in the market to buy up talent—but for 1946 only. From then on the Gothamites are counting on a growing farm system—to be headed again by Carl Hubbell for the next five years—to raise a crop of ball players that will keep them up in the loop.

And they hope to net a Walker Cooper or two in this manner which would be a lot cheaper than the $175,000 the Giants handed Sam Breadon for the Cardinal catcher.

One look at the "problem" facing the star-laden Cardinals and New York Yankees—top farmers in the trade of growing 'em yourself—has convinced the Giants and most of the other major outfits that the only way to make a showing in the flag races is to develop their own players.

Built up under Hubbell's direction, the Giants' farm consists of three clubs owned outright and eight teams with which they have working agreements.

The International League Jersey Giants, Trenton, N. J., of the Interstate League, and Fort Smith, Ark. (of the Western Association) are the Giants' property.

TRURO, N. S., Jan. 9 — (CP) — Truro Bearcats scored their 14th straight victory of the current season tonight as they smothered the Dartmouth Air Force, 8-4 in an exhibition game. A scoreless second period was the highlight of the game.

Nelson Favored To Win Tourney At San Francisco

By RUSS NEWLAND

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 3 — (AP)—Led by defending champion Byron Nelson, greatest money-winning golfer in history and the player to beat, a standout tournament field tees off here tomorrow in the 15th annual San Francisco open.

The 72-hole event, at the Olympic Club's picturesque Lakeside Course, is the richest of the P.G.A. winter tourneys, victory bonds totalling $15,000 will be distributed to 20 winners. In addition, $10,000 will go as gate prizes to spectators.

Nelson, who pocketed something like $66,000 in bonds last year and bagged first prize in the $13,333 Los Angeles open, concluded this week, will be trying for his third successive San Francisco open victory.

Nelson's rivals are both numerous and capable. Among them, expected practically to match shot for shot, are Ben Hogan, Hershey, Pa., Sam Snead, Hot Springs, Va., Harold (Jug) McSpaden, Sanford Me., and Jim Demaret, Houston. Demaret, colorful Texan just out of the Navy finished second to Nelson in the recent Fort Worth, Tex., open and tied for third in Los Angeles.

International League Figures Are Released

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 — (AP) — Montreal's International League pennant winners were tops in fielding with an average of .968 as well as batting and pitching leaders according to the final League averages released today.

Although shortstop Stan Breard and pitcher John Gabbard were the only Royal regulars to pace their departments, the team as a whole played better defensive ball than any other club.

An all-star infield of regulars playing at least 100 games, would have Mike Schemer of Jersey City at first base, Bob Rausch of Rochester at second, Mike Portner of Newark at third and Breard at shortstop.

Ira Houck and Chet Morgan of Toronto and Woody Wheaton of Buffalo had the best marks among the outfielders and, on the same 100-game basis, Sherm Lollar of Baltimore, the batting king, was the best catcher.

Twenty-three pitchers went through the season without an error but Gabbard was proclaimed the leader because he handled the most chances perfectly, 42. Tom Warren of Montreal and Frank Radler of Rochester were close behind.

AMHERST N.S., Jan. 9 — (CP) —Two rinks of women curlers left today for Saint John, N.B., to compete in a bonspeil there tomorrow. Amherst skips are Mrs. F. S. Scott and Mrs W. A. Fox.

to be suitably within the scope of the Board, it will be passed to the appropriate Committee for consideration. Detailed discussion and fact-finding will take place within the Committee, which will then pass its findings and recommendations to the Council. If not satisfied as to the quality of work done, the Council will pass its brief back to the Committee, for further attention. After completion the brief will be presented to the first general meeting, or special meeting if necessary, for final approval of the Board, and release to the press.

"It is in Committee meetings that members will widen their knowledge of local affairs and their skills in dealing with facts and figures. I earnestly commend your enthusiastic attack on such problems as may be presented. There has never been a time when our united effort is more urgently required than at present. Many economic problems are just around the corner, or are pressing on us already. I appeal to the business and professional men, not yet giving us support, to come and lend their talents in this community effort.

Suggested Program

"Now as to work:—

"First—a drive for increased membership and more active participation of present members.

"Second—a capable committee of experienced buiness men (which should include a chartered accountant) to make a thorough investigation of the City's financial structure and condition. This will take time, but will be of interest and value to citizens and councillors. It should be in readily understandable form, and should indicate just what we should expect from our City Councillors of the future in a financial way.

"Third—to compile an industrial census which will list all firms doing business in the City, in groups by occupation, with numbers of employees, vacancies, possible future vacancies, skilled trades required now or in the future, additional real estate requirements, transportation difficulties, and so on.

"Fourth—to investigate the restaurant, comfort, and entertainment situation in Charlottetown, and to make definite recommendations as to how our City may better serve its visitors.

"Fifth—to report fully on shipping facilities at Charlottetown by rail, road, air, and water, including a detailed brief on present and possible future operations of the Port of Charlottetown.

"Sixth—to investigate the bus terminal situation, endeavoring to find a solution satisfactory to all concerned.

"Seventh — to investigate ways and means of securing and maintaining permanent quarters for your Board headquarters, being an office at which visiting business men, and purchasers desiring direction, can call. A room large enough for your Council and Committee meetings should be made available. Later on the possibility of a permanent secretary might also be considered.

"Eighth—to examine primary, secondary, and vocational education as presently available, and in the light of the requirements of local business and industry.

A Partial List

"This is only a partial list of the work which should be done if we are to have the information at our command which will enable business men and citizens to set their sails for the future. Briefs submitted by committees should be complete with all factual data, and be in such form that they can be printed for public distribution, if this were considered desirable.

"It should be emphasized that we as business men, depending on the surrounding farming community and the City trade for our livelihood, should know of everything that goes on within the community which may affect our respective occupations. Your Board of Trade shuold be the central pool of such information and discussion. May I remind you that the population of Charlottetown and Royalty is now in the vicinity of 20,000, and in a very few years should reach 25,000. It will tax the ingenuity of business and governments alike to find continuing employment for this number. Only by making the most of what we have, and what we may reasonably hope to get, can we maintain our present standard of living.

"Committees will be selected and given their problems as soon as possible. In the meantime I ask again for your wholehearted co-operation with your Council and your Committees in this post-war year of 1946."

British Supply Trimmings For Hockey Games

(By The Canadian Press)

LONDON, Jan 9—Hockey may be Canada's favorite winter sports dish but it takes Britain to supply the trimmings.

A Canadian attending his first game at Wembley Stadium in Northwest London is so interested in the stands he hasn't much time to watch the players who provide the only Canadian touch. It is a combination of going to a swanky restaurant, bar, movie, and dance-hall and listening to some fancy by-plays on the public-address system.

A 12-piece dance band with dinner-jacketed players swings into hit tunes for early arrivals in a setting reminiscent of some of Canada's better-than-average night clubs.

On the ice surface multi-colored lights chase barrel-hurdlers and fancy skaters. The band, situated directly behind the south goal, relaxes in comfortable chairs when it is announced over the public-address system: "Ladies and gentlemen, the contest is about to commence."

One complete section of the stadium is reserved for "fans" who like to watch their hockey over teacups, glasses of sherry or port or a full-fledged dinner. Long rows of white linen-covered tables gaily decorated with flowers are served by waiters in white ties and tails.

Between periods, when the fan in Canada dashes out for a smoke, the Englishman watches 12 deadpanned ice-sweepers equipped with street-cleaning brooms march up and down the ice in formation with semi-military tunes provided by the orchestra. Clad in white jerseys and black trousers with an inch-wide gold stripe, their routine is: lift broom, step; sweep, step.

Debate Hot Over Youth In Britain

By JAMES McCOOK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Jan. 9—British street corner toughs are "more animal than human".—Church of England Youth Council report.

"There should be more getting together of the sexes. Girls go to school with women teachers and when they are let loose with men they go crazy."—Megan Jones, 19, a London student.

Half Britain is worse than heathen because it does not even believe in itself.—Dr. C. M. Chavasse, Anglican Bishop of Rochester.

The Church of England will advertise itself and seek to "convert Britain to Christianity."—Decision at Church Assembly.

"What I see today amongst our young people is a Piccadilly Circus spirit allied with the 'honky-tonk' of the saloons of America."—Lieut. H. L. Austin, Labor M.P. for Stratford.

"I do not believe that there is any loss of moral fibre in the youth of this country."—G. H. Oliver, undersecretary for home affairs.

Thus the storms of debate rage in the United Kingdom over the question of juvenile delinquency.

The sharpest commentary on the situation came in the Anglican Youth Council report which said the street corner toughs, "more animal than human," had such a lack of knowledge of Christianity that Good Friday suggested only "pancakes," "Robinson Crusoe's friend" or "one of Robin Hood's gang."

The boys and girls of the streets were the greatest problem faced by social workers in industrial districts, said the report, describing how they "from time to time shoulder their way into evening institutes and open clubs on dancing nights and, after snapping a billiard cue or pulling a door off its hinges, are ejected with the help of police.

Situation Exaggerated

Mr. Oliver, speaking for the Home Office which deals with crime and its prevention, said the problem of juvenile delinquency tended to become "a little exaggerated."

He said the abnormal circumstances of war had caused an expected increase in juvenile offences. The group of indictable offences in which juveniles under 17 were found guilty in 1940 showed an increase of 37 per cent compared with 1939.

The year 1942 was the peak year of the war with 42 per cent. In 1943 the figure fell to 25 per cent and in 1944 was slightly less again. By 1946 it was anticipated the figure would be back to that of 1939.

Lieut. Austin had suggested children under 16 be barred from public dances. Mr. Oliver asked if Lieut. Austin would suggest "that there is anything immoral in going to a dance." He said he did not think the house would approve a ban on young people going to motion pictures, nor would there be any purpose in the Home Office seeking legislation prohibiting children from going to places of entertainment such as greyhound race-tracks and amusement arcades.

Under the Amusements Tax Act of 1920, which was consolidated in 1940 and passed by the Legislature on April 10th 1940 without discussion, a tax of approximately 10 percent is to be collected on places of amusement, "including skating rinks where amusement is provided or facilities provided therefor."

Discretion to reduce the tax is left with the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council only where the price of admission does not exceed twenty-five cents.

Because some rinks have not collected this tax during war time and also because others did collect it, an order-in-council has been passed exempting all skating rinks from paying the amusement tax where the price of admission does not exceed twenty-five cents.

Such a tax is usual in other provinces despite newspaper statements to the contrary.

The order-in-council of January 8th, 1946 is the only action taken by the Government of Prince Edward Island despite statements to the contrary. The Act can only be changed by action of the Legislature.

All skating rinks please take notice.
