REMAINS WILL ARRIVE TONIGHT—The remains of the late James McRae will arrive from Outlook, Sask., by the late train tonight, and will be taken to the McLean Funeral Home, where they will remain until Tuesday, crossing at 1.30 on the Rocky Point boat for Canoe Cove, where service will be held in the church at 3 o'clock.

WATCH THE THREE EXPERT Judges place the ribbons at the Fox Show. 9515-21.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—On Thursday afternoon a distressing accident occurred at Brookfield when the ten-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carter, who recently arrived from the Old Country, received serious burns about the face the result of an explosion of gunpowder. The little chap with companions, secured the powder and placing it in a tin the Carter boy applied a match receiving the full blast in the face. After receiving medical treatment he was taken to the Prince Edward Island Hospital. It is feared he will lose the sight of one eye.

WHIST PARTY.—The popularity of the whist and auction forty-five being conducted in the C. W. L. Hall in aid of the new parish is increasing weekly as is being evidenced by the increasing numbers who attend. Friday night witnessed the largest crowd yet seen at the tournament. The prize winners in the whist were: Ladies, Mrs. F. Peters; gentlemen, Mr. Montague Hennessy, Auctioneer; forty-fives: Ladies, Janie Bradley; gentlemen, Mr. Earl Ranaghan. The "freeze-out" was won by Mr. Ernest Regan. This week the game will be played on Thursday night—regular Halloween affair when double prizes will be presented to the winners.

FUNERAL SERVICES.—The funeral of Donald E. Campbell took place Friday. There was a short service at the house, followed by another service, which was held in the Brookfield church, the remains being placed in that cemetery where Mr. Campbell formerly belonged. The funeral was largely attended at the home, Elm Avenue, Charlottetown, with quite a number driving to Brookfield from the city. Rev. M. Scott Fulton of Zion Presbyterian church, of which the deceased was a member, officiated at both services. The pall bearers were: Peter Dewar, Murdoch McLeod, Robert Stewart, Edgar Shaw, Murdoch Ross, Alex. A. MacDonald.

AT ST. JAMES CHURCH.—Rev. Dr. M. E. Genge preached two eloquent sermons in St. James Church yesterday having exchanged pulpits with Rev. W. Bruce Muir, who was holding Communion services at Marshfield, Highfield and Mt. Stewart. At the morning service the congregation heard with great pleasure the tenor solo, Behold I stand at the Door and Knock, sung by Mr. A. R. Mosher, who feelingly interpreted the beautiful words. The choir during the offertory gave as their selection, Prof. Fletcher's beautiful anthem Dear Lord and Father of Mankind, dedicated to Mr. F. T. Watkins. Mrs. J. A. Lawson and Miss Jacqueline MacDonald taking the solo parts. At the evening service Mrs. Lawson sang with exceptional sweetness as a solo, the hymn, "At Eventide."

LETTER OF SYMPATHY To Mrs. Herman Hill.—We the members of the Mayfield Institute wish to convey to you our heart felt sympathy in the loss you have sustained by the death of your darling baby. Although she was with you but five short weeks we know this precious one was very dear to you all. While you mourn the loss of your loved one who is not dead but gone before, you have the assurance of knowing that your dear one is waiting there for you, for God has said "Suffer the little children to come unto me and forbid them not for of such is the kingdom of Heaven." Signed on behalf of the members of the Mayfield Institute.

MALPEQUE NOTES

A social evening under the auspices of the ladies aid of Princeton United Church in Malpeque Hall on Tuesday evening was enjoyed by a large number of the congregation. The Rev. D. M. Grant, the chairman for the evening, announced the twofold purpose of the social time namely:—to afford an opportunity for friendship and fellowship and to assist the choir members in their work. A programme consisting of choruses, piano solos, readings, etc., was successfully carried out and is as follows:—1. Chorus—Loves Old Sweet Song, Mrs. W. McNutt, soloist. 2. Reading—Leslie Abbott. 3. Piano solo—Mrs. Campbell. 4. Dialogue—Misses Currie and Waller. 5. Solo—Mr. Charles Lowe. 6. Reading—Mrs. James Hickey. 7. Piano Solo—Miss Jean Owen. 8. Reading—Mr. Charles Lowe. 9. Chorus—Carolina Moon. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge assisted by a number of the young ladies and during this period an hour of social chat was heartily enjoyed. A vote of thanks moved by Mr. Herbert Donald, seconded by Mr. Edward MacKay, was conveyed to the members of the ladies aid and to all those taking part in the programme. A pleasant social evening was brought to a close by the singing of the national anthem.

Mr. Russel Woodside, who has enjoyed a short holiday at his home in Darnley, left on Tuesday evening en route to Halifax where he will resume his work in Pine Hill College.

Miss Lillian Donald, R. N., left on Friday for Carleton to visit her aunt, Mrs. Samuel Carruthers, from whence she will leave for Montreal where she will resume her work as a special nurse in the Royal Victoria Hospital.

Mr. Claude Bearisto, who has been spending two weeks at his home, Malpeque, left by motor on Friday for Boston, Mass.

The school children of the different schools in this locality have been absent from school for several days as the result of vaccination which was performed by the Red Cross nurses.

Many of the citizens took advantage of the privilege afforded them of hearing the Welsh singers in Summerside on Saturday evening. On their return they reported that their anticipations of what they would hear were fully realized.

The sudden passing of Mrs. Charles MacLellan of Spring Valley at the early age of twenty-five years is deeply regretted by a large circle of friends, not only in Spring Valley but also in Darnley where she resided for several years. Her passing is particularly sad as she leaves to mourn a grief stricken husband and four young children who will sadly miss a mother love and care; also a devoted father and mother. The funeral service at Indian River was attended by many friends from Spring Valley and Darnley.

The Rev. D. M. Grant gave his address on "Palestine" to a Sea View audience under the auspices of the former Captain Alfred Dreyfus of Paris, Rennes and Devil's Island. Charges of high treason, it was led by the "Tiger," Olemeneau, then a newspaper owner, half of France clamored for revision of the sentence which had sent the former army officer to Devil's Island for life. The other half of France opposed revision.

"Colonel Dreyfus, one word, please!" the correspondent calls out from the crowded terrace has been an inconspicuous as his entrance. (Dreyfus was rehabilitated, served in the French army throughout the war and retired with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel.)

Not a muscle moved in the wrinkled face that turned upon the stranger and a voice devoid of the slightest intonation of annoyance, or any other emotion, said when the correspondent explained his mission, how did the Colonel spend his time, what were his hobbies and his work?

"I am a private citizen and as such entitled to privacy. I would appreciate it if you would respect it."

Dreyfus and the correspondent, exchanging not another word, walked about a hundred yards down a side street. There the Colonel saluted, a very civilian salute, and entered a new apartment house.

On the third floor of this house, in the fashionable sixteenth ward of Paris, Colonel Dreyfus, his wife and two young children, make their home. He seldom receives callers. His chief diversion of a Sunday consists in strolling through the Parc Monceau with his wife and children. He never attends a theatre. He has had a tragedy of his own, and he does not care for comedy.

disease. Smokers' throat from excessive use of nicotine favors infection. Other predisposing factors are habitual overeating and under-exercising, faulty elimination, sedentary occupation in overheated offices and dwellings, and a general run down condition.

Explains Prevention.

"One should avoid persons with colds who do not use handkerchiefs when coughing and sneezing, or who expectorate on floors, etc. Impairments of the ears, nose, throat and mouth, especially of the teeth, gums and tonsils, should receive proper treatment. Clothing should be suitable for the season and occupation. Keep feet dry. Take sufficient exercise in the open air and have abundance of fresh air in your place of employment.

"Be regular in all daily habits. Have sufficient sleep at night with proper ventilation. Take frequent baths ending with cold water to fortify the body against sudden changes in temperature. Wash the hands before meals, especially after contact in street cars, trains and public places. Promote ample daily elimination by the use of a nourishing and well balanced diet, including milk, fruit, vegetables and salads. Observe regular meal hours and eat slowly. Drink 6 to 8 glasses of water (not ice water) daily between meals.

Advices Visit to Doctor.

"The general treatment of a cold consists, first, of a dose of salts or any simple saline laxative. This will relieve an overloaded intestinal tract and liver. Secondly, a hot bath and hot lemonade at bedtime to promote perspiration. If a thermometer is available, the temperature should be taken.

"Thirdly, local treatment, which, in the case of a cold in the head, should include a spray of the nose or throat four times daily with a solution of one-fourth teaspoonful each of ordinary table salt and bicarbonate of soda dissolved in one-half glassful of water; or a gargle with diluted Dobell's solution, followed by a soothing spray containing menthol and sedative oils.

FAY NO ATTENTION TO CAPTAIN DREYFUS

PARIS, October 26.—Twelve o'clock noon. The boulevards are choked with people. Paris is seething with daily, ever-renewed turmoil. It is the hour of the apertif.

At the terrace of a large cafe on the Boulevard de Courcelles, a slight, unassuming old man is taking between chairs and tables to the very edge of the sidewalk, filled with noisy but slow drinkers. Finally, he settles into an unobtrusive seat.

No one pays the slightest attention to him, yet twenty-five years ago this man's appearance on the boulevards would have created a riot. Cabinets tumbled, erstwhile friends fought duels, homes were wrecked and even the republican structure of France was shaken at mention of the little old man's name.

Slipping his strawberry flavored water unrecognized, unnoticed, is be there also. No delegates to the conference holds official position in his own country, but its participants include men and women of international reputation, and its proceedings will be watched keenly by the chancelleries of most of the countries bordering on the Pacific.

Japan, as the entertaining country, is expected to have the largest delegation at Kyoto. Active delegations are also coming from the United States, China, Great Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the Philippines; while there will be observers from France, Mexico, The Netherlands, India and probably Soviet Russia. In addition there will be a group of observers from the League of Nations headquarters at Geneva, two representing the League Secretariat and two the International Labor Office.

General topics listed for discussion are grouped under the following headings: "Food, population and land utilization," "Questions particularly concerning China," "Industrialization and foreign investment," "diplomatic relations in the Pacific," "cultural relations." There will also be discussion of trans-Pacific communications with special reference to the present high cable rates, many times higher than trans-Atlantic rates.

More specific subjects expected to produce warm debate include Japan's place in Manchuria, Chinese colonization of the same area, Manchurian treaty relations, Russian influence in the Chinese revolution. Although the Chinese Eastern Railway, over which China and Soviet Russia almost went to war this summer, is not specifically mentioned in the program, it is not expected that it will escape thorough consideration especially since it is understood the Chinese delegation is coming primed for forceful presentation of China's case in several very much alive and open questions of the day.

CONSULT YOUR DOCTOR

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—If you value your health, have your doctor treat your colds, for many a fatal illness has begun with a common cold, warns Dr. William J. Hammer, Welfare Official of the New York Life Insurance Company.

"Colds lower the body's resistance and frequently lead to such serious diseases as influenza, pneumonia, pleurisy, and, at times, tuberculosis," states Dr. Hammer. "They cause a greater loss of time and money to the community than any other ailment. It is, therefore, a good practice to call in the family doctor if your cold does not improve immediately. One should also take more than ordinary care in avoiding colds.

Causes of Infection.

"Most colds, of course, are infectious and are conveyed from one person to another, either in the home, in the office, school, or in crowded places. This explains their occurrence in epidemic form. A patient sneezing or coughing without the use of a handkerchief can infect his associates. The use of a common drinking cup spreads infection. During epidemics, soda fountains and restaurants are a source of danger if paper cups are not used, or if the glasses and silverware are not sterilized in boiling water.

"Persons with certain impairments are especially predisposed to colds. Among these impairments one might list: decayed teeth, pyorrhea, chronic infections of the tonsils, sinuses, chronic catarrh of the nose, and ear

NOTABLE PERSONS VISIT JAPAN

TOKYO, Oct. 28.—Japan is preparing this month to welcome the largest invasion of foreigners of "Who's Who" rank in her history. This influx of notable persons from abroad comes with the conferences of two important international organizations, the World Engineering Congress and the Institute of Pacific Relations, which Japan invited to meet here in 1929.

The engineers will be in session in Tokyo from October 29th, to November 7th, and the experts on Pacific Ocean and Far Eastern problems in the old capital, Kyoto, from October 28th, to November 9th. Since late in September, trans-Pacific travel accommodations have been taxed to capacity. The limited hotel accommodations suitable for foreigners in Tokyo and Kyoto have all been taken for the conference period and the ensuing weeks. Never before has Japan been hostess to two great international conferences at the same time, and the effort to display Japanese hospitality at its best has been extraordinary.

The government is largely assisting in the preparations for the world engineering congress and has made the parliament building in Tokyo available for its sessions. Prince Chichibu, heir presumptive to the throne is patron of the congress and will make the address of welcome. Prime Minister Yuko Hamaguchi is honorary president and is taking an active part in the preparations. The government has appropriated 150,000 yen ($75,000) for entertaining the engineers, and in addition to this, the national railways are providing passes for all foreign delegates, giving them travel privileges throughout Japan.

Many of those who will attend the Pacific Relations Conference at Kyoto are already in Japan or other parts of the Orient, obtaining first hand knowledge of problems expected to come before the gathering.

The conference is entirely unofficial and seeks to formulate no policies and to reach no decisions, but in view of the lively and controversial nature of present-day Far Eastern questions its deliberations and researches are expected to develop spirited debate. It is certain, for example, that the vexed problems of Manchuria will come before the gathering, and it is certain that at least two of the three nations most vitally concerned in that region, over which war clouds have been lowering all summer, will take part in the Kyoto discussions, Japan and

The third party, Russia, may
