Hunting Fatality At Campbellton On Sunday Last

(Special to The Guardian.)
CAMPBELLTON, Oct. 6.—While hunting partridge on Sunday afternoon last, Henry Corrier, age 18, of Eel River Cove, was fatally shot through the head when a rifle in the hands of his younger brother was accidentally discharged as the younger boy fell while climbing over a fence. The unfortunate young man, who was a son of Frank Corrier, of Eel River Cove, started out Sunday afternoon, it is understood to secure a brace of partridge, accompanied by his brother, who is about 14 years of age, and two other boys of that place. Upon deciding to precede the party, the victim of the accident for some reason or other handed his gun to his brother. When a ragged brush fence was reached the young brother made an unsuccessful attempt to scale it and fell headlong, simultaneously discharging the rifle. The barrel happened to be pointed in the direction of the older brother, who was as yet only a short distance away and the shot entered behind the ear, coming out on the opposite side. Death was instantaneous. An inquest was held by Coroner Dr. Ellis, of Jaquet River, and the jury gave a verdict of accidental death. The funeral services were held on Tuesday morning. Rev. Father Robichaud officiating.

Church Union Under Discussion at Methodist General Conference

(Special to The Guardian.)
TORONTO, Oct. 6.—By the most interesting debate of the Methodist General Conference since it opened in Toronto about ten days ago, was that on church union which occupied both sessions today and which was precipitated by the presentation of the report of the church union committee. The first speaker to offer a criticism of the methods by which church union was being brought about was Rev. Dr. James Smythe, principal of the Wesleyan College, Montreal, who emphatically declared his opposition to amalgamation with the Presbyterian Church if that body was not unanimous on the question.

Barns Burned in Yarmouth Co.

(Special to The Guardian.)
YARMOUTH, Oct. 7.—News has reached here of a fire which occurred at Wellington, a suburb of this county, yesterday which destroyed the barn of W. B. Clark, which was totally destroyed, together with several tons of hay, and a large part of his farming implements. Mr. Clark discovered the blaze about three o'clock a. m., burning briskly at the southeast corner of the building, and had much the appearance of having originated on the outside, as there appeared to be no fire inside of the barn. He alarmed the neighborhood and then used every effort to stay the flames, but without success. He turned his attention to rescuing the cattle, which he succeeded in doing. The barn was situated only a few feet from Mr. Clark's dwelling. It was only through the strenuous efforts of the neighbors that the house was saved. The roof is considered damaged.

POST OFFICE CONFERENCE.

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—Parcel post limitations came under consideration this morning by the conference of Dominion postal officials here. The point was taken that the present 11-pound limit of weight per parcel was inconvenient to the public, and the conference went on record that it should be increased. The limit of size, however, is to remain the same. In spite of considerable opposition, especially from western officials, the conference, by a majority vote, favored extension to ten months of the present annual leave season of six months. The extended leave season applies only to city postoffice staffs and the railway mail service.

300 Ready to Give Blood to Save Soldier's Child

(Special to The Guardian.)
TORONTO, Oct. 7.—Members of the local branch of the Amputations Association, otherwise known as "Fragments from France," were worried last night by the news of a young soldier's child. There was a report that the pension of the armless and legless veterans are to be cut as soon as the life of the high cost of living bonus expires. Ways and means were debated to enlist public opinion on their side. "If our pensions are cut, it is the government that has lost the spirit that won the war," said Captain Sydney Lambert.

While the president was speaking a woman entered the assembly hall. "My child is in danger of death at the hospital for sick children," she said. "Blood transfusion must be made immediately, the doctors tell me. Is there anyone here who will volunteer to give a pint of his blood for my child?" she appealed. "I am a soldier's widow." There was a hush, then somebody grabbed his crutches and stumbled to his feet. "Right here, madame," he called. Another man stepped forward. "I am a doctor," he called. "I will give you a pint of my blood." Finally three hundred men responded. The meeting broke up. No more business was done. The call for service had come once more.

RESTIGOUCHE BOY SHOT BY ACCIDENT AS BROTHER TRIPS.

CAMPBELLTON, Oct. 7.—While hunting partridge on Sunday afternoon last, Henry Corrier, age 18, of Eel River Cove, was fatally shot through the head when a rifle in the hands of his younger brother was accidentally discharged as the younger boy fell while climbing over a fence.

United States Strong Measures on Prohibition

U. S. Ships Forbidden to Carry Liquor and Foreign Ships Must Not Have Liquor on Board Within Three Mile Limit.

(Special to The Guardian.)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 7.—Intercourse are absolutely banned from vessels flying the American flag, according to a ruling of Attorney General Daugherty. Furthermore, the ruling holds that vessels flying foreign flags cannot have liquor in their possession even as ship stores, much less for transportation or sale purposes, within the three mile limit about these United States prohibition states. It now remains for shipping interests, both foreign and those operating American vessels either as owners or lessees of the United States shipping board to test out the Daugherty rule in court. Daugherty has been advised that suits to this end are being prepared assuring an important and possibly a prolonged legal battle over the issue. Daugherty, however, made it clear that in his ruling he was governed largely by the supreme court, which would seem to augur ill for those hoping for legal relief from the mandate.

Even Scotland Yard Has Been Burglarized

(Special to The Guardian.)
LONDON, Oct. 7.—The wildest fiction writer would not have dared to put it in a story, but Scotland Yard itself was visited by burglars Friday. The sacred sanctum of criminals justice which no stranger can enter without being asked his business at every turn was thought to be the one place thieves would let alone but early morning visitors entered the lost property room within a few feet of a score or more reserved apparently passing right by a man patrolling outside and got away with several hundred dollars worth of valuables.

Rev. Dr. Hill on Christian Brotherhood

There was a large attendance at Zion Presbyterian Church last night when Rev. Dr. A. M. Hill, secretary of the Brotherhood Movement in the Maritime Provinces, spoke on the organization he represents in a most interesting and spirited manner. An excellent solo by Mrs. Jos. Riggs and an anthem by the choir were features of the evening service. Dr. Hill speaking from Matthew 23 and 8: "One is your Master even Christ, and all ye are brethren." Dr. Hill said in part "The world needs peace because the spirit of brotherhood prevails. It is the purpose of the World Brotherhood Movement to instill the spirit of world brotherhood into the church, the community, and national relations. The Student Volunteer Movement, which asked for 24,000 college men and 320,000,000 to Christianize the world in this generation proved by its failure to secure these things that the spirit of brotherhood was rather theoretical than practical. The churches, colleges, and the people thought the program too large, and so the demand was not met. Then materialism quenched the true spirit and Germany first and foremost became a prey to that opposing spirit. In the world war she gave 42,000 college students to answer the call of the cannon, while Great Britain gave 22,000 and Canada and the United States many thousands more. An estimated $30,000,000 the different Christian nations gave billions and billions. Had this first call of the Student Volunteer Movement been answered there would have been no world war and many thousands who now sleep in France would be preaching brotherly love among the nations. The boasted Christian civilization on the outbreak of the war, proved to be a polished surface under which was found a mess of barbarism. It is the business of Christian men everywhere, these post-war days, and on the advent of a new social era, to clean up this mess of barbarism by instilling the spirit of brotherhood and thus giving reality to the gospel of Christ. Dr. Hill pointed out three phases of the work in the church as a step towards Christian brotherhood. These were: 1st. In the church. 80 per cent of our churches have no organization of men of any kind or description. If the churches' organization can be likened to a table with four legs, then that part of the table representing the men in the congregation has been sadly lacking, and the church has not been able to function as it should. At this point the speaker told of having heard Dr. Charles Steele of New York tell how a Socialist victory was won in Milwaukee—three hundred Socialists every Sunday spread literature in the different homes there. Dr. Hill observed that he often wondered if there could be found three hundred Christian men in every community who every Sunday would be so diligent in spreading the gospel of Christ by example and precept in their communities, believing that the message of Christ is far more necessary to Canada's prosperity than Socialism. 2nd. Brotherhood in the Community. The speaker told realistically the story of Christ's visit to Galilee and his healing of the gathering. Christ made this man safe for the community life by driving the devils into a herd of swine. But when the owner of
