MEIGHEN WILL ATTEND PEG CONVENTION

Former Prime Minister Will be Present at Convention which is to Choose His Successor in Winnipeg on Oct. 10.

(Special to the Guardian) OTTAWA, Sept. 12.—Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Prime Minister of Canada, and leader of the Conservative party, and Mrs. Meighen will attend the National Convention which is to choose his successor in Winnipeg on October 10th and following days. Word to this effect reached the national committee yesterday.

Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Prime Minister of Ontario, will also be among those present and will be accompanied by Mrs. Ferguson according to advices reaching the capital. No word has been received from Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Borden, former Prime Minister, or from Right Hon. Sir Thomas White, former Minister of Finance, but both have been invited and are expected to be present and speak.

Suggestions now reaching Ottawa with respect to a party platform will be turned over to a committee on resolutions. In some quarters it is argued that the construction of a platform is more important than the choice of a leader, but others are inclined to select the leader first and let the platform wait. At the national Liberal Convention in 1919, when Right Hon. Mackenzie King became leader, the framing of the tariff policy occasioned some difficulty and it is believed the Conservatives will experience similar trouble.

Hon. Hugh Guthrie proposes to pay less attention to Quebec and to the west. It will be interesting to learn his ideas on tariff reduction for by reducing the tariff alone can he appeal to the people on the plains.

The reduced freight rates on grain and flour will be in effect when the convention meets, and he cannot offer the west very much in respect to the wheat pool. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Sir Henry Drayton, C. H. Cahan, and Hon. Dr. Manion all are "moderate protectionists."

Wreckage Washed Up On Sable Island

(Canadian Press) HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 12.—Numbers 11, 20, 21, 5 and 14, painted in black on five dories, and a pair of grey oars marked "Columbia" were the only identification marks on wreckage reported today to have been washed up on Sable Island "The graveyard of the Atlantic." When the wreckage was first seen it was hoped something tangible might be learned of the fate of at least sixty men, members of the crew of the three Lunenburg fishermen, but, although the dories might very well belong to one or more of the missing vessels, no definite light has yet been thrown upon the mystery.

Piche, chief forester. Last year the cut amounted to about one and a half billion feet, but the figures for next winter will not exceed one billion by much. He stated that various companies were getting ready for the start of the season.

Drive On To Stop Swearing

LONDON, Sept. 12.—On the ground that stage swearing has passed the bounds of realism as well as those of decency newspapers have begun a campaign to force playwrights to censor the language of their characters.

It was declared that if some of the language used in plays recently produced were used in real life in clubs whose atmosphere some of them purported to portray, the users would have been expelled and would have been ostracized from society.

CANADA'S CLAIM PRESSED BY DANDURAND

Senator Dandurand in a Speech to the Assembly Said it Was Desirable That a North American Voice be Heard at Geneva.

(Special to the Guardian) GENEVA, Sept. 12.—Canada's claim to a non-permanent seat in the council of the League of Nations was pressed today by Senator Dandurand in a speech to the assembly. It was desirable, he said, that a North American voice be heard at Geneva. The Canadian delegates also declared that the Dominion would not accept the defunct league protocol for disarmament, security and arbitration. He expressed Canada's faith in the principle of arbitration, however, despite a decision that had gone against her.

Canada, Dandurand explained could not accept the protocol which was sponsored by France in 1924 and opposed by Great Britain largely because of hostility on the part of the Dominion, largely because of the results that would arise from its application to the United States. Senator Dandurand, however, pledged the Dominion to accept any disarmament proposal advanced and accepted by other nations. Canada, he said, could respond to any appeal for disarmament because no minimum scale could be fixed which would be lower than that which Canada already had fixed for herself. "The fact," he added, "that we have as a neighbor a great state as pacific as ourselves perhaps accounts for our sense of security."

Referring to the recommendations of the recent economic conference, that trade barriers should be lowered, or removed, Dandurand said that Canada was the only country which, since the war, had lowered its customs tariff four times. The Canadian delegates in discussing the minorities problem in Europe explained the working of the Canadian constitution in relation to the two great racial divisions of the country. The harmonious relationships existing between French and English Canada, he declared, was an example to the world.

On the score of the defunct protocol, delegates of small nations to be understood to be formulating a challenge to Great Britain. They plan a reply to the arguments of the protocol put forth by Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Minister of Foreign Affairs. Sir Austen said Saturday that a protocol would mean the disruption of the British Empire, since the guarantee of peace would prove too much of a strain upon the Dominions. To that claim, the lesser countries will say that a protocol, providing a sort of international police force, to which the major powers, particularly Britain, would contribute most would be to their advantage. General opinion among diplomats here, however, was that Great Britain would not accept any revised protocol because of spirited opposition from the Dominions.

Kyle, the vessel chartered by the Mirror to search for the missing monoplane Old Glory: "Located wreckage of Old Glory latitude 51.17 north, longitude 49.23 west at 4.20 p. m. No sign of crew. Woman Shot In Front Of Her Boarding House

(Canadian Press) HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 12.—A woman said to be Mrs. Alice Jones, formerly of Annapolis, N. S., was shot and almost instantly killed in front of her boarding house at 71 Maynard Street here tonight, following a conversation with a man who approached as she stepped from a taxicab. Police were combing the city for Louis Jones, formerly of St. John, N. B., her husband, who had accosted the woman.

ORDER TO RETURN HOME THE GREATEST SETBACK IN LIFE OF PHIL WOOD

Great Disappointment To Royal Windsor Pilots When Their Flight Committee Issue Orders To Abandon Trans-Atlantic Flight.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Sept. 12.—Orders received Saturday to abandon their attempted flight in the monoplane Royal Windsor from Windsor, Ontario, to Windsor, England, has been characterized last night by Phil Wood, co-pilot, with Duke Schiller, of the plane as "the greatest setback of my life."

The flier said he would stick by his flight committee's orders, however, and return home to prepare for the New York-Spokane race on September 21st, abandoning both the idea of a trans-Atlantic flight and night flying.

"I doubt if the engine failed, I believe they ran into a fog belt of high altitude in the darkness and the plane started a spin and sidestepped to the ocean. I think the plane was well across before the accident."

Declaring that he and Schiller still had "implicit confidence" in their plane and were "ready to start tomorrow for England," Wood turned to the Old Glory flight, declaring "I cannot express my sorrow for Bertaud. We were lifelong friends, married on the same day. In my short life this day has been the saddest I hope to see. The loss of his chance, not only on account of the backers of his flight but because of his co-pilot Schiller, read this: 'My heart goes out today. Looking for a pilot,' he added, 'I selected Duke Schiller whom I've known personally for 12 years. I bless and protect you.' It was think him one of the best fliers in the world today. I induced Schiller to apply to the Canadian government to grant a leave of absence for the ocean flight and he forfeited his seniority position in the fire patrol service to get it. All this was sacrificed by the failure of trans-Atlantic fliers to reach their destination."

Expressing his first public opinion on the ill-fated flight of the other Canadian plane, the Sir John Carling, carrying Captain Terry Tully and Lieut. James Medcalf, Wood said he attributed the failure of the flight to "inexperience in fog flying."

"What I would like to see is the entire Empire by means of dirigibles."

RETIREMENT R. C. M. P. MAN GETS POSITION OF CHIEF OF POLICE

Heated Discussion At Council Meeting. The Citizens In Attendance Showed Disapproval Of The Appointment Which Is To Be Reconsidered At Next Meeting.

The calm and agreeable tone of the debates which was the feature of previous City Council meetings was in sharp contrast to the heated discussions which took place at the regular Council meeting held last night. Expressions of anger and repugnance to the "funny work" of a few monopolizing the duties of the council and of procedure contrary to that expected from City Fathers kept the large representation of citizens present far from being bored.

The meeting which was attended by His Worship, the City Recorder, the Health Officer and all the Councilors did not commence until nine o'clock on account of a caucus in the Mayor's office and it was not far from the hour of midnight when the meeting was finally declared adjourned.

Mr. James McMillan was appointed Acting City Clerk due to the absence of Mr. George Nicholson, who is at present on his vacation.

The meeting assumed a lively aspect when the question of the appointment of Chief of Police came up for discussion. On the request of Councillor Moran that the applications to the Police Force be read, communications were submitted from the following: Sergt. Allan J. McInnis, Sergt. A. Birtwistle of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Stanford Biggar City, James L. Arthur, 102 Euston St., W. H. Johnson, New Wiltshire, William McNaughton, Wallace Diamond, Fred H. Hobson, Angus McNeil, 44 Union St., E. Crane, Lot 52, Cyrus Jay, Gerald St., W. Warren, City, James Walker, Chester St., C. A. Conrad, City; William McInnis, Police Officer.

A resolution moved by Councillor Hennessey, seconded by Councillor Dougan was submitted asking for the appointment of Sergt. Allan McInnis to the position of Chief of Police was read. An amended resolution moved by Councillor Hennessey, seconded by Councillor Prowse, for the appointment of Sergt. Birtwistle of the Mounted Police at a salary of $1500 per year followed. The tabling of this amendment was the occasion of a prolonged heated discussion. Councillor Moran strongly objected to the consideration of this resolution on the grounds that the salary of $1500 did not coincide with that asked for in Sergt. Birtwistle's application. He considered this an attempt to "put something over on the Council." Applications were to be considered in the light in which they were submitted and not in any altered form. Councillor Prowse arose and stated he was prepared to face this objection and submit a telegram from Sergt. Birtwistle signifying his willingness to accept the position at a salary of $1500 per annum. The reception of the telegram seemed to be a revelation to several of the Councilors. Councillor Dougan wanted to know where Councillor Prowse received the authority to wire Sergt. Birtwistle. He indignantly stated that he thought there was "funny work" going on. He had a right as a member of the committee to be advised of any such communication. He had been overlooked on other occasions when he had just right to be on the "inside" of proceedings. Why was not the telegram revealed in caucus. It looked very much, he said, as if two or three were trying to run the Council.

Councillor Prowse in reply stated that as Chairman of the Finance Committee it was his duty to get a good man at a salary lower than that which had been asked for.

Councillor Moran wished to know why all the Councilors were not informed of the fact. Some of the Councilors, he said, were in the confidence of Councillor Prowse, some were not.

Councillor Dougan arose and stated that Sergt. Birtwistle's application should not be considered as a good man at a salary lower than that which had been asked for.

Councillor Moran in a speech which was interrupted by the applause of the citizens present, said he thought he would be remiss in his duty as a representative of the people of the City of Charlottetown to let the resolution go by without saying something of the man whose appointment he was supporting. During the past sixteen years as police officer, Sergt. Allan McInnis has proved himself an honest, sober and industrious ward of the city. Not a finger of scorn could be pointed at him. He is a married man who works for a small pittance has raised a family while giving his best to the interests of the city. Now when the opportunity has come to give him a well merited promotion whereby he could also earn a few more dollars, he is set aside by some to give place to a stranger. A man should be placed to go to the North Pole to get a Chief there anything connected with Sergt. Hennessey had ridiculed the Police Force

WILL LINK UP CANADA AT OUTSET

Passenger and Mail Airships Under Construction For Use in 1929.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—While long distance airplane flights were being frowned upon as dangerous and impracticable, the air ministry announced today that it was proceeding with plans for inter-dominion dirigible services, both mail and passenger, including a trans-Atlantic service.

Commissions were sent to Canada and South Africa to select landing places.

Dirigibles, built on the Zeppelin lines, now were being built to inaugurate the service, probably during 1928. The trans-Atlantic service was expected to be between England and Canada only at least at first.

It was planned eventually to link the entire Empire by means of dirigibles.

REDUCE AND NEW YORK MAYOR CHAT

"Jimmy" Walker Tells Mussolini That Italians Are Good Citizens.

ROME, Sept. 12.—"It seems like only six minutes," said Mayor James J. Walker of New York, as he emerged from a 45-minute private conversation with Premier Mussolini yesterday. "But these birds," indicating Senator Downey and other members of his party "put the clocks on us and they call it 46."

"What did he ask me?" "How do I know?" the Mayor replied to an interviewer. "It was just like you and I were talking—neither of us could remember which one brought up which subject. I told him what Italian-Americans meant in the life of New York, and that of the nation as a whole. Yes, I told him we have three Italian-American Supreme Court Justices, two magistrates and lots of officials in New York."

"He seemed real pleased when I told him what good citizens they were. But when I put it up to him that he ought to go to New York and let not only the Italian-American but the whole nation see him and know him, he smiled and would not commit himself."

but for the express purpose of getting an investigation to ascertain the source of trouble and the purpose was accomplished.

Councillor Foster asked Councillor Hennessey why the change of heart since Shaw left."

Councillor Hennessey replied that Shaw did not prove himself a leader. The police were powerless on account of lack of co-operation from their head. The police force fell down because there was no head to it.

Both Councillor Foster and Councillor Prowse stated that Sergt. Allan McInnis was an efficient Police officer. There was nothing of a personal nature in their objection to his appointment. The force needs a man of more police experience. Sergt. Birtwistle, as far as efficiency is concerned is the man. The Council had failed miserably in the appointment of Island men. Throughout the entire debate, neither Councillor Yeo nor Councillor Kennedy spoke for or against either of the applications under consideration.

Councillor Moran in a speech which was interrupted by the applause of the citizens present, said he thought he would be remiss in his duty as a representative of the people of the City of Charlottetown to let the resolution go by without saying something of the man whose appointment he was supporting. During the past sixteen years as police officer, Sergt. Allan McInnis has proved himself an honest, sober and industrious ward of the city. Not a finger of scorn could be pointed at him. KING GIVES SCOTS LESSON IN SELLING

Operates Booth at Charity Fete—His Majesty Manages to Keep Much Change at Balmoral.

BALMORAL, Scotland, Sept. 12.—King George, Queen Mary, and their daughter-in-law, the Duchess of York, operated three booths at a charity fete at Balmoral Castle, Saturday and the King gave his Scotch subjects a lesson in salesmanship.

The King was behind the counter at the flower booth. He took the coins that were given him, and gave flowers in return.

When he received 10 shillings or one pound notes, the question of change sometimes arose.

In each case, the King, apparently unaccustomed to counting small change, fumbled around in his cash box, until their patriotism overcoming their native thrift, the customers said: "Keep the change" and kept on, while the King blandly added their bills to his receipts.

As customer after customer told his friends of how the King seemed embarrassed when he tried to find change for a note, trouble began to arise as to whether the King's fumbling was entirely accidental, as it had caused his receipts to multiply. He sold out his entire stock in three hours.

Queen Mary did a brisk business at her soap counter.

The Duchess of York did not do so well. Her baby, Princess Elizabeth, third heir, was behind the perfume counter with the Duchess of York, smiling happily in charge of a nurse. It had been hoped that the presence of the possible future queen would help sales.

But women anxious to see her packed the Duchess' booth so tightly and remained so long, that few cash customers were able to approach.
