CHARLOTTETOWN AND QUEEN'S COUNTY

It pays to buy in this Province.

Miss Winnifred Bruce, Boston, is visiting in this city.

Miss Kitty Peters, City, returned yesterday afternoon from a short visit to Georgetown.

A telegram has been received telling of the serious illness of Mrs. John McNeill, sister of A. J. McLaine of this City and of Miss McLaine, North River.

Anyone desiring a delightful sea trip with magnificent scenery should take advantage of the excursion to Brown Island by the S.S. Lady Sybil leaving Souris Monday, Aug. 7.

A. J. McLaine, engineer of the P. E. I. Railway, City, left yesterday on a holiday trip to Winnipeg. He was accompanied by his son Rankin. Mr. McLaine may go on to the coast before returning home.

A. E. Leigh of Winnipeg has arrived in this city on a visit. Mr. Leigh has been very ill of blood poisoning and is now here for the benefit of his health which his large circle of friends trust will rapidly improve.

The Guardian is informed that at the Liberal convention to be held on Friday next, in addition to the names of the sitting members, the names of Horace Haszard and ex-Governor McKinnon will be submitted to the delegates. Both these gentlemen have had experience in Parliament where they served the constituency with credit.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Patrick Walsh, City, took place yesterday morning at St. Dunstan's Cathedral at which High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Pius McDonald. The pall bearers were—Peter Bradley, Thomas White, Michael Curran, Samuel Lowe, John Conolly and P. H. Trainor. The services at the grave were taken by Rev. Maurice McDonald.

On many occasions The Guardian has seen good subjects at the People's Theatre but last night the feature film "Ataliah" surpassed anything ever witnessed at this popular picture house. The coloring was magnificent, the costumes superb, the acting perfect and the staging magnificent. It was a hushed audience that witnessed the story of that cruel queen and the scene in which she has the vision of her murdered victims caused a shudder to pass through those who witnessed it. But this was offset by two good comedies "Lost a Baby" and "Getting His Own Back." A most touching war picture was also shown entitled "A Little Lad in Dixie" and Mrs. Tomlin's music helped the story admirably, especially in the pathetic portions. Ralph B. Fisher in his illustrated song and specialty added materially to an hour of refined entertainment, such as is always to be seen at this popular photo play theatre.

Assistance of the distressed steamer. The cruises took off the mails and baggage of the Empress and aided in removing the 185 passengers to the main land. The passengers were temporarily housed in temples and a school building, and later proceeded by train to this city. The bottom was badly damaged and if the craft is saved it will take three months time to repair her. The sea near her was rough last night.

"RED WIDOW" OF PARIS MARRIES POOR ARTIST

PARIS, July 26—Madame Steinheil, the famous beauty whose subtle charms captivated a President of France and turned the heads of aristocrats and politicians, and who was the chief figure in Paris' most noted modern murder case when she was tried and acquitted on the charge of killing her husband and mother was married quietly today to R. De Perugia, an obscure young painter.

In De Perugia, the poor painter, she has at last found the ideal man of her dreams—the sympathetic and understanding soul that she so often bemoaned the lack of during the sensational trial for her life. On the boulevard it is being whispered that this woman of genius, who might have at one time swayed the destiny of the French Republic, and who did unquestionably guide many political moves of importance, was possibly madly in love with the world's greatest even heard of in the world of painting. In a decade, perhaps no woman has been gifted with a more fatal beauty than Mme. Steinheil. At a glance from her beautiful eyes, men fell and worshipped, and became hopelessly enamored in the net of her fascination. It was charged at the trial that Mme. Steinheil was the murderous agent of the Jewish party in despatching President Faure; that she was engaged by friends of Major Alfred Dreyfus to inveigle Faure, to charm him and end his existence because he opposed the reopening of the Dreyfus case and the revision of the captain's trial and sentence. Mme. Steinheil met Felix Faure several months before his death, and he fell in love with her. A few weeks before his death, on Feb. 16, 1899, Faure established a secret boudoir in the Elysees Palace.

The annual picnic of Paton & Co., City, was held yesterday near Dalvay-on-the-Sea and a delightful time was spent. Several teams left this city in the early afternoon and arrived at their destination in time for tea which was daintily served by the young ladies of party. After a pleasant hour spent on the shore, bathing, etc., the company left for home. During the afternoon two of the young ladies of the party had a thrilling experience while in the water and but for the coolness of one of the young men something more serious might have occurred. The picnic was voted one of the best yet and next year's event will be eagerly looked forward to.

There he died and the newspapers of Paris asserted that it was known in Liverpool and other foreign markets six hours before the event, that he would die.

INSURANCE RATES ARE TOO HIGH

MONTREAL, Que., July 29—That the existence of high marine insurance rates are detrimental to the port of Montreal was the statement of Thomas Harling, a well known shipping agent who just returned from an extended trip to Europe. Mr. Harling declared that the high insurance rates of ten years ago are still in force and the government is spending $2,000,000 in deepening and improving the St. Lawrence route. He expressed the opinion that immense amounts of grain are diverted from the St. Lawrence route owing to these high charges, grain being principally affected. Mr. Harling states that many ship owners on the other side were debarred from sending their steamers to Canada on account of the extra premium of insurance, which they would require to pay over and above the rates charged under their annual policies. As an instance it is pointed out that it is possible to insure grain and other cargoes from New York and other American ports at from 10 to 25 cents per ton about the year round while from Canadian ports the minimum rates are about 25 cents per $100 by regular lines and advance to 50 and even 75 cents during October and November, while even taking the winter rates into consideration from St. John and Halifax the average premiums are at least twice as much as is charged from competitive points. The extra charge on a full cargo of grain may amount in some cases to nearly a cent a bushel, and this combined with the extra rate charged by ship owners in consequence of their having to pay extra premiums of insurance, no doubt tends very largely to the diversion of an immense amount of grain to American ports.

NOTED NEW YORK POLITICIAN DEAD

LAKE GEORGE, N. Y., July 28—Edward M. Shepard, who has been ill for several weeks, died at 6 o'clock tonight.

Edward Morse Shepard was one of New York's leading lawyers. He was born in New York, July 1850, and studied at the College of the City of New York.

Mr. Shepard has been constantly active in Democratic and reform politics and was leader in the Democratic reform party in Brooklyn in 1892 and 1893. He was a promoter of reform in the tariff and civil service, ballot, tax, and other matters.

Though he had oftentimes warred against Tammany Hall, he was made the Democratic candidate for mayor of New York in 1901, but was defeated. Last year he was strongly considered as a candidate for governor of the state, and later his friends urged his election as United States senator to succeed Chauncey M. Depew. He was unacceptable to Tammany, however.

Mr. Shepard was counsel for many large corporations, a director in several Mexican enterprises, and author of numerous articles on legal, social and political projects.

WEALTHY WOMEN WOULD BUY FINGER

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 28—Mrs. Reginald Waldorf of Philadelphia, a wealthy widow, an accomplished musician, is willing to pay several thousand dollars for a new index finger. She is here to recuperate from the effects of an operation by which her right forefinger was amputated after becoming infected by an accidental cut with a rusty knife. She appealed to Dr. Fred B. West, who has advertised for a finger. He names no price, but says his patient is willing to pay liberally.

Mrs. Waldorf feared that she could never play piano or organ again when she found that she must part with her finger. Now, however, she is taking hope. A plaster cast of the index finger has been made and accurate dimensions taken, and Dr. West says he is going to find a finger.

Here is the kind of finger Mrs. Waldorf wants:

Index finger of right hand; length, 3 inches, distance from finger tip to palm; thumb joint, 27-16 inches; proximal joint, 22 inches in circumference; middle joint, 23-16 inches in circumference; distal joint 21-16 inches in circumference.

WEIRD STORY OF ONCE THIRSTY MAN

NEW YORK, July 29—"There were five of six of us and we were awful thirsty, wanted a drink. We didn't have anything to make it in, so Thora and Sutherland went into the laboratory and got the jar which contained Col. Waring's ashes. He died of yellow fever on his way up to Cuba. I threw the ashes out, made the ricey and we all had a drink."

Arthur Denyse, who worked at quarantine until three years ago, startled the members of Governor Dix's special commission which is investigating Dr. Alvah H. Doty's administration of affairs at the New York Quarantine Station, by relating this weird story on the witness stand yesterday. It was one of the incidents, he said, which occurred during

LONDON IS WITHOUT LIVE CATTLE MARKET

LONDON, July 28—For the first time for many years London is without a live cattle market. Owing to foot and mouth disease making its appearance on a farm in the Hounslow neighborhood, a fifteen-mile radius has been constituted an infected area, which virtually means that live stock markets are suspended for the time being. As a rule the supplies are not very heavy at this period of the year. Had the disease appeared early in September the result would have been more serious, when country stock from all parts of the country is sent up for sale.

Some apprehension appears to be felt that the closing of the Metropolitan market will tend to increase the price of beef and mutton owing to the price of beef and mutton increasing in all probability. Metropolitan butchers will require to operate further afield, thus partially relieving the temporary congestion caused by local marketing of ripe bullocks and sheep. It is probable that the restrictions will only remain in force for a few weeks if no further cases of foot and mouth disease occur.

Everything points to the food being the vehicle of infection, and it is hoped that the source of the trouble will be traced. The Yorkshire and the Surrey cases remain mysterious, but the Edinburgh outbreak was attributed to fodder imported from the continent.

PASTIME CAMP CLUB NOTES

Saturday was a big day in camp. The forenoon was mostly spent in cleaning up and preparing for Sunday.

In the afternoon the boys lined up on the camp grounds and headed by the band and attired in the regulation camp costume paraded the principal streets and across the bridge to the Railway station on the opposite side of the bay.

Here on arrival of the train from the city they were joined by several additional members of the club, including three extra bandmen with their instruments. The parade lined up again and marched back to the camp grounds.

In the evening a grand minstrel show was put on as advertised, under the direction of Prof. J. A. Trainor, stage manager.

The program consisted of choruses, comic songs, band selections, step dances, etc., while the end men kept the jokes spinning around at a lively pace.

A hearty and unanimous vote of the camp was tendered the boys by Dr. McDonald, on behalf of the audience, and was responded to by three hearty cheers for the people of St. Peter's.

After the performance was over, and the audience dispersed, the boys retired for the night but their slumbers were interrupted by the arrival of the "Irish Doctor" who took a stand in the tent and after introducing himself proceeded to sell his remedies. On Sunday the boys attended church in a body, where the members of the chorus club assisted the choir.

FOREIGN CHURCHES TO BE EXEMPTED.

LISBON, July 27—The government has delivered to the representative of the powers copies of the promised amendments to the law of separation exempting the foreign churches from the payment of one-third of their revenues for charities and removing them from the dominion of the fiscal authorities of the Portuguese churches.

The diplomatic corps is insisting that the government also amend that article of the law which makes obligatory the supplying the government of information relative to the officiating clergymen.

SPARKS FROM THE CAMP FIRE.

Who is the fellow who started the laundry?

Several of the boys are becoming badly affected with heart trouble.

C. P. R. STEAMER STRUCK SUNKEN WRECK

TOKYO, July 27—The British steamer Empress of China today struck a sunken wreck off the province of Boshu. Her passengers were landed safely. It is expected that the vessel will be refloated.

The accident occurred near the scene of the wreck of the Great Northern Steamship Dakota in the spring of 1907. Submerged rocks extend about a mile from the coast which is swept by dangerous currents. The Empress of China sailed from Vancouver on July twelfth and was making for Tokio Bay en route to Yokohama, forty miles to the west and north.

As soon as word of the accident was received, Vice Admiral Saito, the minister of marine, despatched the cruisers Asa and Soya of the Japanese training squadron to the as-
