Defence Minister Ralston To Visit Province

OTTAWA, Sept. 20.—(CP)—Defence Minister Ralston left today for Prince Edward Island where he will visit his constituency of Prince. He will return to the capital early next week.

Six Former Navy Destroyers

Navy destroyers are already in service in European waters. Canada's destroyers, he said, will go “where they were needed.”

He anticipated delivery of all 50 destroyers to be turned over by the United States to British naval forces by Christmas. The United Kingdom, he said, had allotted six to Canada and “we will man them and fight them.”

Mr. Macdonald announced that the destroyer Margaree was recently commissioned into the Royal Canadian Navy at a port “somewhere in England.”

This destroyer was acquired to replace the Fraser, lost while on active service off the coast of France. The Margaree was formerly H. M. S. Diana.

Her commanding officer is Cmdr. J. W. R. Roy, R.C.N., formerly director of naval operations at headquarters in Ottawa. Many of her complement are surviving members of the Fraser's crew rescued by the St. Laurent.

Cmdr. Roy is a native of Ottawa, 39 years of age.

In the first Great War Canada had only two heavy cruisers, the Niobe and the Rainbow, which were turned over to the Royal Navy.

In this year the British have assumed the task of guarding her own shores, adding the Royal Navy outside Canada's home waters and in arranging convoy work on the east coast.

Canadian destroyers now in use are approximately 1,375 tons, 317 feet long with a speed of 35 knots and a complement of 152.

Aside from the matter of ships, the Dominion's naval forces now are more than six times as large in number of men as they were on the outbreak of war.

There is no lack of recruits because the navy was a waiting list of 15,000 men eager to aid in manning the additional ships which will come into commission in the next few months.

More R.C.N.V.R.'s
OTTAWA, Sept. 20.—(CP)—Navy Minister Macdonald announced at a press conference today the safe arrival in the United Kingdom of a group of Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve men, who will undergo training.

These 24 officers, all either lieutenants or sub-lieutenants in the reserve, will take a portion of their training in ships on active service.

COMMUNISTS PROTEST
SOFIA, Bulgaria, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Twelve Communist members of the Bulgarian parliament protested today when the president, opening an extraordinary session, thanked German-Italian help in regaining southern Dobruja from Rumania.

Bulgaria has nothing to thank the Axis powers for, said their written protest. “Only Russian occupation of Bessarabia made it possible for Bulgaria to get southern Dobruja.”

transferred to the Royal Flying Corps but later returned to the infantry. He joined the Royal Canadian Air Force on its formation in 1921 and, except for an interval as a bank employee and an official of the Dominion Forestry Service has been with the air force ever since.

In the early months of the present war he commanded the air station at Camp Borden where quite a number of the pilots now serving in the R.C.A.F. at home and overseas obtained their wings.

The organization of the British Commonwealth air training plan placed Stevenson in command of No. 4 training command at Regina, Saskatchewan, where he was appointed to the post was announced today.

Stevenson succeeds Air Commodore George V. Walsh who has held the post for the past few months and is now returning to Canada on sick leave.

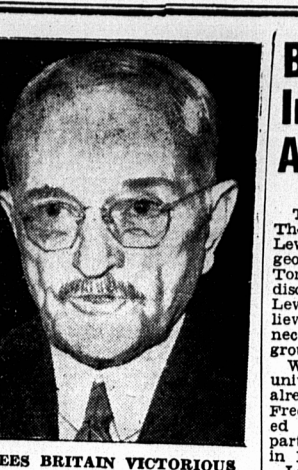

Stevenson's duties will include command of Canada's three squadrons now operating overseas, two army co-operation squadrons and one fighting squadron. The latter is now playing an important role in the air battle raging in the skies over southern Great Britain.

Group Capt. A. T. M. Coffey will succeed Stevenson as officer commanding No. 4 training command with headquarters at Regina. Group Capt. R. S. Grandy will succeed Group Capt. Cowley in command of the Camp Borden air station. Wing Cmdr. A. L. Moore, senior staff officer at No. 4 training command, Toronto will go to Dartmouth, N. S., to succeed Group Capt. Grandy in command of the station there and Wing Cmdr. J. L. Jackson will move from Dartmouth to Toronto to succeed Wing Cmdr. Moore.

Overseas duty will be no novelty to the 45-year-old Stevenson, a stern-visaged flying man from Richibucto, N.B. He served in the First Great War and is a former liaison officer for the Royal Canadian Air Force at the British Air Ministry. He also attended the Royal Naval College at Greenwich, Eng.

Stevenson's first war service was as a private in the 73rd Northumberland Regiment which he joined at the age of 16. He later transferred to the 32nd Manitoba Light Horse and went overseas. He went to France with the 8th Battalion and in July, 1916, won his commission and appointment as bombing instructor with the 16th and later the 236th Battalion.

In the last year of the war he planes and sent them back toward France in disorderly retreat. This brief but violent battle that began above cloud level and then was strung out in many a howling plane-to-plane encounter above the English Channel, was the greatest engagement in the day's defence of London.

Illustrative of the savagery of the R.A.F. attack was a British statement last night that in the day's fighting more British than German planes were downed—seven British to four for the Nazis. It was the first time that the R. A. F. suffered heavier losses than those of the invaders. It was stated, however, that reports were not complete.

(Germany also made an unprecedented claim on losses. The high command declared that in Thursday's operations, three German planes were missing to one British craft downed. Actually, however, on that day the R. A. F. shot down five German planes, and lost none.)

Last night the darkness brought a new assault—the 14th successive night of raids—and the city's anti-aircraft batteries lifted against the familiar opening curtain on the new familiar melodrama.

British Clip Italian Quills

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 20.—(AP)—The Royal Air Force tried today to clip Italian “hedghog” formations on the western desert.

So called by the British officers, each “hedghog” consists of a core shaped ring of light tanks and armored cars equipped with anti-tank guns and cannon up to 75 millimetres.

At the head of each unit are groups of small and medium tanks followed by a dozen or so armored cars which fan out to right and left to fend off flank attacks. The oval is completed by a similar formation in the rear.

For four hours today, the R.A.F. rained explosives on such a contingent at Sidi Barrani, and other bombers set fire to three Italian ships in Bengasi Harbor, Libya, an air force bulletin announced.

At the same time officers of British warships which returned to Alexandria after bombarding the Italian positions the night of Sept. 17-18, said the combined air and sea blows were disorganizing the Italians.

They expressed belief a delay of several days confronted Italian Marshal Graziani before he could make any mass forward movement.

These naval men said that from a half-mile offshore they played havoc with Italian concentrations at both Sidi Barrani and Salum (Sollum).

The British military command said merely that there was “no change in the situation on the western desert,” where the Italians have entered the Egyptian wastelands from Libya.

Believed Mixed In Communist Activities Here

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—(CP)—The arrest today of Dr. Samuel Levine, a research associate in geophysics at the University of Toronto, was followed by a police disclosure that they had found in Levine's home a letter they believed had been written in connection with Communist underground activity.

When Levine was arrested in his university office police said they already were holding Norman Freed and Muri Erlichman, alleged members of the Communist party who had been using a room in Levine's house.

Levine was charged under Defence of Canada Regulations and remanded one week.

The letter allegedly found in the Levine residence was dated Sept. 15, 1940, and appeared to be a covering letter to accompany a pamphlet entitled, “A Political Letter on Our Tasks,” copies of which police said they had found in Levine's possession.

Police said that Erlichman, who was arrested with Freed last week, served in the Mackenzie-Papineau Battalion in the Spanish civil war and that Freed was acting as sub-study secretary of the Communist party in Canada during the absence of Tim Buck. Buck has not been seen in Toronto since the war started.

Believe 20 Men Lost Off N. B. Shores

CARACQUET, N.B., Sept. 20.—(CP)—The death of two fishing captains and probability that 20 more men were lost with four schooners tonight loomed over all along New Brunswick's north shore by Monday's gale.

Captain Eddie Gallien, of St. Simon, six miles from here, was struck by a boom and knocked overboard during the furious storm. The three crewmen, Fred Gallien, Fred Herbert and B. Gallien, brought their battered two-master into Esquimaux Wednesday night. Exhausted after having kept themselves afloat in their homes for hours, they went to the shore and recovered tonight.

Yesterday the exhausted three-man crew of a St. Simon schooner reached Richibucto and reported that Captain J. Hache had been swept overboard.

As the hours passed without word of the 18 fishermen still missing, there appeared to be slight chance they could have survived the long storm and huge seas.

Six were aboard another schooner from St. Simon—Captain Edmond Gallien; his three sons, Lionel, Claude and John; Theophile Gallien and Will Herbert.

The other three missing schooners, each with four men aboard, were in charge of Captain Martin Savoie, Romauld Paulin and Leo Chassalon, all of Shippegan Island.

Boats and fishing gear were destroyed or damaged on a long section of coast, leaving hundreds of fishermen without means of earning a livelihood.

New Deputy Naval Chief

OTTAWA, Sept. 20.—(CP)—Captain L. W. Murray, now Deputy Chief of the Naval Staff, will take over new duties as senior Canadian naval officer afloat in a few weeks, Navy Minister Macdonald announced today.

He will be succeeded by Commodore H. E. Reid, who will take the rank of Captain, and will likely also succeed Capt. Murray as Canada's naval representative on the Canadian-American Joint Defence Board.

Commodore G. C. Jones, now senior naval officer afloat, will go on two weeks leave shortly, and will be relieved by Capt. C. R. W. Taylor, who will later go to England as officer commanding Canadian destroyers overseas.

TIMELY NOTES ON TOPICS CONNECTED WITH Silver Fox Farming

A timely letter from our friend B. Graham Rogers, Supervisor of the Prince Edward Island Travel Bureau which appeared in this paper last Wednesday entitled “Fox Breeders Can Help” has been widely commented upon. There are few men who can express themselves as well as Graham on matters connected with the silver fox.

Right here we would like to pay tribute to Don's purposeful and determined championing of our interests. His legal training has given him a clear mind which seizes on the worthwhile things to go after and his perseverance and diplomacy achieve the object desired.

Our friend W. Fred Burke was a bit perturbed that nothing in the regulations for grading applied to the new type foxes, and as they are classed as silvers by the United States government it would not appear as though they could be shipped to the great Republic. However, Don assures us that this will be taken care of in some 1,500 females which has been the result of his appointment.

Dr. and Mrs. L. Erick, Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Dunkel of Athens, Wisconsin, are in this province on a visit with the object of viewing fox ranches and comparing methods of raising and feeding foxes with those practised in their home State. They conduct a ranch of some 1,500 females which has been

Huge Industrial Program Launched

OTTAWA, Sept. 20.—(CP)—More than 100 new plants or plant extensions, costing approximately $225,000,000 have been contracted for on behalf of the British and Canadian government since the war started, it was revealed in a statement issued today on behalf of Munitions Minister Bennett.

While it was impossible to state definitely what part of this represented purely Canadian activity as distinguished from work being done on behalf of the British government, the department estimated Canada's share at about 35 per cent.

Summarizing the tremendous industrial program now being carried out in Canada the statement said orders placed through the department or its predecessor purchasing bodies amounted to $325,000,000 with orders pending to the extent of about $20,000,000.

Another $100,000,000, the statement said, could be added to expenditure of the Department of Materials as representing purchases made through the department by the British government.

Japs Modify Demands On Indo-China

HANOI, French Indo-China, Sept. 21.—(Saturday)—(AP)—The government of the French colony announced last night that Japan has modified her demands for “limited” military facilities in Indo-China and conversations are being resumed with an agreement expected.

During the day, the negotiations had broken down and the head of the Japanese military mission had said plainly that the world now could look for a “crisis.”
