REOPEN DEBATE

"We are not going to have another war," the Western Senator continued. Canada had done more than her share in the last war. As what might be called a "rebel" in fighting conscription in 1917 the Western Senator said no member sat in this House who was prepared to do more for the defence of Canada and in accordance with the country's ability. He spoke only for himself but where would Canada get the money for the naval defences which General Griesbach had proposed should be set up.

"In this country 90 per cent of the people are opposed to Canada taking any further part in any European war," Senator Molloy declared.

"If we are part of the British Empire we are bound to follow the Empire," Senator J. J. Hughes, (Lib. Prince Edward Island) said, and Canada could not isolate herself.

He was satisfied the large majority of the Canadian people would favor protection of the United Kingdom in times of peril. Great Britain, Senator Hughes said, was defending Christianity in the war with paganism. Canada should "pull her own weight in the boat," he added.

Senator Frank B. Black (Cons. Saskatchewan) said he thought the remarks of speakers in earlier debate had been misinterpreted in today's discussion. He moved adjournment of the debate until tomorrow.

Freeland Farmers Co-operative Assn. Is Formed

A largely attended meeting was held at Freeland hall on Saturday, April 5th when the farmers of school districts of Freeland, Murray Road, Foley River, Inverness, MacNeill's Mills, Poplar Grove and Conway, organized a new co-operative association to be known as Freeland Farmers Co-operative Association.

Farmers from all parts of Lot 11 were present. Mr. Herman G. Bryan was called upon to act as chairman and Mr. L. J. Murphy secretary.

Mr. Bryan in his opening remarks outlined the purpose of the meeting, stressing the importance of the co-operative movement to farmers.

The secretary read correspondence relating to Farmers' Clubs from such authoritative persons as Hon. W. H. Dennis, minister of agriculture, and Mr. Roper, Dominion live stock promoter, Charlottetown.

Mr. A. A. Ramsay gave an interesting address in which he emphasized the benefits to be derived from farmers' clubs and illustrated similar organizations who had adhered to the rules and benefitted thereby.

Rev. George MacDonald, parish priest, gave an instructive address on the co-operative movement and stressed the need for farmers' organizations in this province.

Other speakers were Messrs. Nelson Palmer, L. J. Kibridge, John A. MacKinnon, Ira Banks, and others.

After some constructive criticisms by Mr. Banks the meeting was thrown open to discussion and then organized into an association.

The above named school districts were represented in the Association, and Mr. H. G. Bryan was appointed president. L. J. Murphy, secretary treasurer; and Rev. George MacDonald, auditor. On the directors' board were: Geo. Tuplin, Murray Road; L. J. Kibridge, Foley River; Major Milligan, Inverness; H. D. Smith, MacNeill's Mills; Ira Banks, Poplar Grove; and A. A. Ramsay, Conway.

The secretary was empowered to try and procure for the district two Shorthorn dual purpose (Durrham) bulls to improve the live stock.

The meeting then discussed drafting of by laws and regulations. The matter was left in the hands of the executive committee. About twenty members were enrolled. Membership entitled farmers to market their produce and stock through the Association and purchase grain, seed and other requirements. Only those paying their fees to the Association would be allowed these privileges.

It was decided to hold the annual meeting on the second Tuesday in November.

The farmers of West Prince are very optimistic in regard to the future of their Co-operative Association, with such progressive farmers on the executive board.—S ence, Davis said: "It is to such international cooperation that we must look for a firm basis for restored prosperity to nations and for mutually beneficial trade and peaceful relations among them." Macdonald opened the conference with a plea for international cooperation in the industry.

A two-fold objective was set for delegates from 22 countries—raising world sugar prices to a remunerative level, and doing so through an agreement flexible enough to permit adjustments to meet both increases and decreases in world requirements.

Davis was understood to have told a private session that the United States desires to make sacrifices provided other countries will do the same.

PARLEY OPENS MONDAY

BRUSSELS, Belgium, April 5—(CP)—Talks pointing toward an international effort to improve international commerce and loosen foreign exchange limitations may begin here Monday.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the German Reichsbank, will visit Brussels then in connection with a conference of economic advisors to signatories of the Oslo economic accord. His visit will mark an initial exchange of financial views, authoritative sources predicted today.

Belgium, at the behest of France and Britain, was credited today with the task of making a survey of economic conditions of European nations.

Political circles here agreed there must be long delay before an international conference on tariff barriers can be called.

Preliminary enquiries are expected to be entrusted to a Belgian economist who will visit interested capitals.

CANADIAN DELEGATES

LONDON, April 5—(CP Cable)—Canada's delegates at the international sugar conference that opened here today are Hon. Vincent Massey, high commissioner, and L. B. Pearson, first secretary of the high commissioner's office.

Secret Agents Of R.C.M.P. Underfire

OTTAWA, April 5—(CP)—Secret agents of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police should not be permitted to interfere with labor and political organizations, J. S. Woodsworth, C.O.F. Leader declared in the House of Commons tonight.

Joining with M.J. Coldwell (C.F. - Rosetown - Biggar) Mr. Woodsworth protested against police activity of the type carried on by John Leopold, staff sergeant in the force, whose evidence figured in the trial and conviction of Tim Buck and other Communist leaders some years ago.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, said the secret agents had instructions to stay away from legitimate trade unions and Mr. Woodsworth declared if this was the case the regulations had been changed.

Every police force in the world, including Scotland Yard, had a secret department, said Mr. Lapointe. The Royal Canadian Mounted Police was performing valuable work at the present time and it was not always possible to disclose the nature of that work.

Everything was done not with a view to harming any one but to "keeping conditions in Canada as orderly and peaceful as possible."

In raising the question Mr. Coldwell said there were many splendid men in the Mounted Police force or the Government. He knew of Sergeant Leopold's activities at first hand, having been associated with that officer when the latter was posing as a Communist and a Trade Unionist in Regina.

Leopold had become a special officer in 1915 at a time when he could not have been a British subject and was in fact the subject of an enemy nation. He was set to spy on British subjects.

In trying to form a constitutional labor party in Regina Mr. Coldwell had met with opposition from Leopold, operating under the name of Esselwein, who was known as the most active Communist in Regina. He was organizing the worker's party, a frankly Communist organization and was urging people to join the Communists. As secretary of a Communist group he accepted memberships in it.

Leopold was now engaged on the force in Ottawa and wore a sergeant's stripes. It was a reflection on the force to retain him in the service.

Mr. Lapointe promised to look into the matter. His information was Leopold had been employed because of his knowledge of languages. He could not have become a member of the Force without swearing allegiance to the King.

According to his information Leopold was still a member of the force in Ottawa and a good man.

Germany Protests Anti-Nazi Decree

CAPE TOWN, April 5—(CP-Havas)—In a protest against a decree restricting Nazi activities in the Union of South Africa, Germany today asked that it be applied in such a way as not to increase differences between Germans there and other sections of the population.

The note, presented by German Minister Emil Wiehl to Prime Minister Hertzog, said the decree was "combative" in character and contradictory to the status as a mandated territory of the formerly German part of the Union.

Under the decree, which went into effect last Friday, persons not British subjects were forbidden to engage in organized political activity in the Union.

Police Search For Missing Woman

(C.P. by Guardian's Special Wire) ELK LAKE, Ont., April 5—Police were still without any definite clue tonight after four days of investigation into the baffling disappearance of Mrs. Frank Dolan, attractive 35-year-old mother missing from her home since March 21.

They sought for questioning also, the woman's husband, who left this Northern Ontario village 45 miles northwest of New Liskeard, Ont., nine days after his wife's disappearance and has not been heard of since. He is believed to have gone to some Northern Quebec town.

When neighbors informed police Mrs. Dolan had left her home following an alleged dispute with her estranged husband, a search was made of the district. Vacant houses and abandoned mine shafts on the outskirts of the town were searched but no sign was found of the woman.

(A.P. by Guardian's Special Wire) LANSING, Mich., April 5—Walter P. Chrysler and John L. Lewis, laboring over final phrasology of a plan to settle the Chrysler automobile strike, were reported tonight to be near an agreement that might come in "a matter of hours."

Opening Night Capitol Theatre

The Capitol Theatre was reopened last night under the distinguished patronage of the Premier, Hon. Thane A. Campbell, K. C., and Mayor P. W. Robinson, who congratulated Mr. Harold E. Gaudet, proprietor of the Capitol, on the splendidly equipped building with its many new features. The artistic lighting effects were particularly commented upon.

Ah, Wilderness, the picture chosen by Mr. Gaudet for the opening night, delighted the large audience which taxed the increased seating capacity of the stadium to the limit.

The story of Eugene O'Neill's great stage drama brought to the screen in elaborate form by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, tells in intensely human manner the story of a typical American family. Both Wallace Beery and Lionel Barrymore are superb in their roles, one as lovable alcoholic Uncle Sid, and the other as the father of a modern youth.

Beery's love moments with Aline MacMahon add poignant pathos to a general comedy characterization. Charming character both youth and middle age and moments of dynamic drama hold the audience spellbound from the opening scene, cast in a quaint New England town, to the closing acts. If you could not get a seat last night be sure to be there early this evening.—S

Compensation Committee Tables Report

(C.P. by Guardian's Special Wire) HALIFAX, April 5—(Advance)—Increased compensation to injured workmen was suggested in a report of a Government Commission to the Nova Scotia Legislature tonight.

The Commission which was appointed last October to conduct an investigation into the Workmen's Compensation Act in this province finished its sessions in January, after hearing 385 witnesses and receiving briefs from 13 organizations including labor unions.

Maximum compensation payments of 66 2-3 per cent of $1,500 for the death of a workman through accident would be set in place of the present maximum of 60 per cent of $1,200. The amount of $1,200 is the maximum income on which compensation can be based under present regulations. Where the workman would leave his widow, the person taking care of the children should be entitled to such compensation, it was recommended.

Under the suggested amendments, compensation for permanent total disability would be raised to two thirds of the worker's average weekly earnings during the 12 months previous to the accident. Under the present act payments are 60 per cent of the average weekly earnings.

Compensation for permanent partial disability would be raised to 66 2-3 per cent of the difference between the workman's average weekly earnings before the accident, and the average amount he was able to earn afterwards. Minimum payment for total disability would be set at $8 weekly, or an amount equal to the average weekly earnings where less than $8. Present minimum scale starts at $6.

terday's arrest of 29 United States citizens who apparently hoped to cross the Franco-Spanish border near here, it was learned tonight.

Although the band maintained they were merely tourists, police apparently were satisfied they were members of a group of 200 who left the United States to fight for the Spanish Government.

The last 13 of the 25 volunteers arrested off Port Vendres on March 27 were brought to Ceret for trial today. There were Canadians; Alexander Maclure, 26, and William Gordon, 22, Montreal, and John Denny, 24, Toronto.

INSURGENT VICTORY

VITORIO, Northern Spain, Apr. 5—(AP)—Ochandiano, Basque stronghold, and three villages fell before Insurgent troops today in their drive toward Bilbao, capital of the Basque country.

Insurgent guerrillas said 600 Government soldiers were killed and 400 Basques captured.

The day's offensive netted a gain of three miles, and put General Emilio Mola's men only six miles from Durango, their immediate objective and key to the Bilbao defences.

MADRID, April 5—(AP)—Insurgents sought to reform the offensive today in two sharp attacks on the northern Guadajara front where they have suffered successive defeats the past few weeks. Both attacks were repulsed.

Although the Madrid defence chiefs were confident the attacks were not the signal of a much-heralded second Insurgent campaign in Guadajara, sharp vigilance was maintained.

The Southern Government army continued its advance in Cordoba Province and captured the village of La Granjuela, opening a direct path for attack on the valuable Penarroya coal mines.

Seize Arms Store
Within the capital, police seized a store of bombs and arms in one of the principal markets and asserted they had broken up a plot to convert the market and a nearby hotel into an Insurgent fortress.

Twelve were arrested including Ruiz Gonzalez, 33-year-old fish salesman whom police accused of inspiring the plot.

Armen listed heavy destruction to a number of Insurgent troop concentrations and disrupted Insurgent troops attempting to move around from Avila Province to the Guadarrama mountain front, northwest of the capital.

Continue Advances

Madrid artillery continued its daily pounding against Navalperal de Pinarens in Avila Province, and infantry continued advances along the Coruna highway sector after resisting an Insurgent attack early in the morning.

New fighting developed in Carabanchel, suburban city to the south of Madrid. Government troops captured 220 houses in an advance there under Insurgent shelling.

With the Government waging the major part of the offensive for the first time in 8 1-2 months of civil warfare, there still appeared no indication of an early end to the conflict.

Government commentators were confident they would win eventually. Defence Chief General Jose Miala, however, refused to make predictions, except that the Government could reestablish control of the entire country within two months if all foreign assistance was withdrawn.
