

NEWS OF THE WORLD IN PICTURES

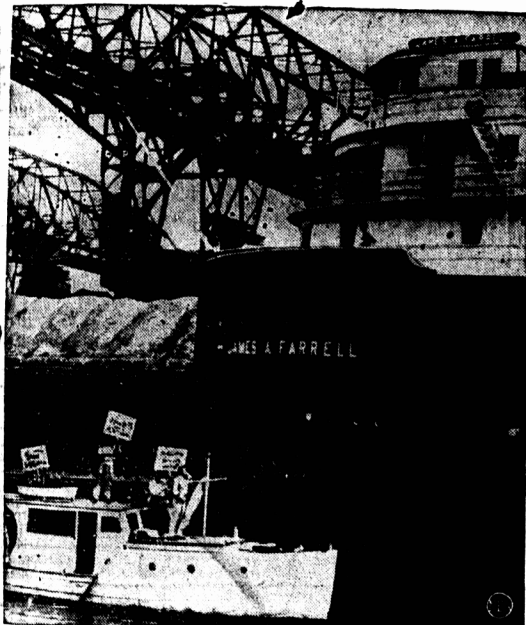

Richard S. Golick, Sheboygan, Wis., and Paula A. Filipus, Detroit, review their account of how Yugoslav fighter planes shot down an American transport over Bled on Aug. 19. The two employees of the LNRFA Yugoslavia mission saw the U. S. plane go down in flames to crash into a mountain. The U. S. now is asking indemnity for the lives of flyers lost in the crash. The couple was photographed at Trieste.

Detroit police combed the city for the person who branded William Kelly, Jr., 17-month-old baby held above by his mother, Mrs. Margaret Kelly, with the crudely lettered initials "A.S." Police believe the branding may have been done with acid, fire or a knife.

Reichsmarschall Hermann Goering protests his innocence in a last minute plea before the International Military Tribunal at Nuernberg, Germany. Goering was the first of 20 co-defendants to speak before the tribunal begins to weigh evidence.

National Maritime union members take their boats to throw a picket line all the way around the James A. Farrell, an ore boat moored at the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Co. dock in Chicago. Pickets urged new members of the vessel to join the growing Great Lakes shipping strike.

At least 50 Danish patriots are reported to have lost their lives because of the artist model, above. She is Grethe Bartram, 27, who shortly will be brought to trial for alleged dealings with the Nazi Gestapo during the occupation of Denmark. Her uncovered posing allegedly was only a cover for her spying activities.

Russian airborne forces on Aug. 23, 1945, occupied Port Arthur in Manchuria, avenging after 40 years the Japanese attack on that naval center in the Russian-Japanese war, when Russia lost the port to Japan. The Soviets also occupied Dairen, and the entire Japanese Fifth Kwantung Army Group surrendered. On that day, too, General MacArthur sent instructions to Tokyo in preparation for Allied occupation.

Police and by-standers try to shield Alexander Warya, 32, Mineola, N. Y., from the rain as they await an ambulance to take him to hospital. He was injured in an automobile accident at Garden City, L. I., one of the hundreds hurt over the Labor Day week-end.

James Utley, associate of gambling ship operator Tony Cornero Stralla, winces in pain as Dr. Marchenko, left, and nurse Hattie Amundsen take a look at wounds inflicted by two gunmen who shot Utley in a Hollywood, Calif., restaurant. When he finished, the doctor decided Utley got off with only a concussion and several lacerations.

Lucien Fontaine's homemade 20-nozzle spray gun seen in action at the Rougemont, Que., orchard. The gun is operated by a wheel near the driver's seat which directs the spray up or down, forward or backwards.

Pictured tied up at a Lisbon, Portugal, dock is the USS Little Rock, one of the group of U. S. warships participating in combined Mediterranean training cruise and good-will visit to Greek ports. Moscow saw significance in fact the visit coincided with USSR's demand for a hand in control of Dardanelles.

The Jersey class for boys and girls at the third annual show of Manitoba Jersey Cattle Breeders in conjunction with the fair at Stonewall, Manitoba, brought out these winners in this order (left to right): Annie Kjean, Oscar Kjean, Marion Small, John Small, David Alme, Sven Kjean, Toddy Alme and Gerald Brennan.

Record rains sent a flash flood scurrying over a section of the highway between East St. Louis, Ill., and Collinsville, inundating farms and buildings. More than 2,000 families in the St. Louis area were left homeless and two persons were reported drowned. August rainfall was so heavy it broke a 100-year record.

