(Special to The Guardian.)

LONDON, July 28—Discussing the absence of authentic news from British sources on the Pacific conference at Washington, the Morning Post says the press and politicians on both sides of the Atlantic are indulging in specula - tions which are anything but hopeful to the causes which well wishers of the conference have in hand.

Explosion of Bombs

LISBON, July 27.— The festivities of St. John's Eve were interrupted by the explosion of three dynamite bombs of enormous dimensions, placed by unknown hands in different parts of the city, outside three printing offices of which the printers are on strike.

The first explosion was so terrific that although Lisbonites are becoming accustomed to bombs, real panic was produced among the merrymakers in the sreets of the Bairoo Alto who, leaving their open air balls and bonfires, fled into the lower part of the town. Although there were no victims the force of the explosion brought down the ceilings of the houses near which it burst. A dense and suffocating smoke filled the whole street and many people fainted.

Another bomb did less damage in the Rus dos Corriciros, and the third, which was of the same powerful type as the first, burst near an open air ball seriously wounding three persons. Some arrests were made of workmen but no real clue has as yet been discovered.

Another case of attempt against the life of a judge of the tribunal of public safety was also made about the same time two shots being fired at him in the street without wounding him.

As executor of his father's estate, the brother received fifty thousand dollars in royalties during recent years, but persistently ignored a court order for an accounting to his sister, her lawyer told Surrogate Cohalan.

The surrogate took into consideration a request that he hold Danks in contempt of court for failure to let his sister know how much money was coming in from their father's song hit.

Preparing to Handle Unemployment Problem

OTTAW9, July 27.— (By Canadian Press) —Preliminary negotiations are being undertaken with a view to outlining some method of concerted action to relieve unemployment during the coming winter. It is feared that a large amount of unemployment in every city is inevitable, and as a matter of preparedness returned soldier organizations, organized labor bodies, municipalities and Provincial as well as Federal Government departments are seeking to outline a plan of handling the situation.

All the Provinces, it is stated, are replying favorably to the suggestion of Senator G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, that Provincial conferences of all interested be held to seek a solution of the problem. In Alberta and Ontario these conferences have already been called and will give representation to employers, labor, returned soldiers and municipal authorities. When the Provinces have outlined their plans, it is suggested that there may be some scheme of co-operation through the Federal Labor Department machinery.

The Government, in this and previous years, has taken the attitude that unemployment should be tackled locally, and that once the municipalities and Provincial authorities have covered their field and discovered what is necessary, then is the time for them to come to the Federal Department and ask what ever aid may still be needed.

In this important position he remained until July, 1897, when he was made station agent at Charlottetown, an office which he held efficiently until the 1st of August, 1918, when he was appointed ticket agent at Charlottetown, in which position he still remains.

The letter was in answer to a suggestion by Mr. Black that the employing printers labor commit tee meet the union representatives in an effort to break the present deadlock existent in this city.

THE GROWTH OF AN IDEA BORN ON LAKE CHAUTAUQUA

It Was Once a Thought in One Man's Head and Today it is An Uplifting Force Throughout America.

Just what Chautauqua is, why it is and how it is, was very patiently explained to a representative of the Guardian yesterday by Dr. Kammeyer, general superintendent of the Charlottetown Chautauqua, in an interview given on the lee side of the big khaki tent in one of the few off-hours his busy job affords him. The real purpose of Chautauqua has perhaps not been understood or appreciated as it deserves to be. Too often it has been confused with circuses or other travelling amusements of a like nature, which, after raking up all the floating cash of the city, "pick up their tents like the Arabs, and as silently steal away."

The Origin of Chautauqua.

The origin of Chautauqua, Dr. Kammeyer explained, dates back over forty years to a school that was established by Dr. John H. Vincent on the shores of Lake Chautauqua, New York. Dr. Vincent was a great educator and became afterwards one of the bishops of the Methodist church. He says that there were thousands of men and women throughout the country who wanted an education but could not afford the time or the money to attend college to get it. And so he devised a plan of education by correspondence which he conducted at Lake Chautauqua. He instituted a summer school at which lectures covering nearly every field of human knowledge were given by prominent professors from different colleges. Men and women from all parts of the United States, who could not afford to spend nine months of the year at College, could spend a few weeks of their vacation at Lake Chautauqua to hear these lectures and to get an outline for reading courses which they could study up throughout the winter and then, the following summer come again to Chautauqua, take their examinations and in that way in the course of several years get a full university education and diploma.

This bright idea was successful from the start. It has been enjoyed by other institutions and has resulted in the establishment of summer schools at most of our great universities and colleges and has resulted also in the establishment of many correspondence schools. Indeed, the scheme was so good, and met with such hearty support, that other "Chautauquas" were established in various parts of the country. Permanent organization was effected, permanent buildings erected, and the thing became a fixed institution, continuing from year to year.

The next step in the development of Chautauqua was the taking of its good things to the small towns of the country. These communities could not erect buildings and go to the expense of having lecturers from all over the country visit them. A circuit system, with equipment of tents which could be moved from place to place was devised to meet this demand. This step also proved an immediate success. The idea has spread from coast to coast and Chautauqua has developed from this bumble beginning into what the late Theodore Roosevelt called "The most characteristically American thing I know off".

The Chautauqua which is in session in Charlottetown this week is part of the Swathmore Chautauqua system which serves nearly eight hundred towns in the States and in Canada. This is the tenth year of its existence and it carries out the original dea of Chautuqua, which is Education along with Entertainment. It is a non-profit making corporation, organized under the laws of Pennslyvania as an educational institution and is exempt in the United States from taxation. No dividends are declared because there are no stockholders. If there is a surplus at any time it is put back into the organization so that more towns may be added to the list, new circuits formed, and more and better talent employed.

It is a thoroughly co-operative plan. Chautauqua contracts to bring to the town its talent and all its equipment of chairs, piano and platform. It is financially responsible for the salaries and railroad expenses of its workers, its lecturers and its entertainers. The duty of the guarantors in each town visited consists in selling a sufficient number of season tickets to cover the guarantee, which has been $1,500 up to now, but which for next year will be $1800, making season tickets next year $3.00 instead of $2.50. This increase became imperative because of increased transportation costs in the United States, which amount this year to over $40,000 more than last year. The Swathmore Chautauqua Association will not lower the standard of its programme in order to offset rising costs and it believes that in this the towns which it serves will give their loyal support.

A very strong feature of the circuit is the Junior Chautauqua, which meets every morning from nine to eleven. Under the efficient instruction of the two junior leaders, Miss Adeline Fisher and Miss Anna Brown, the children learn songs and plays and receive interesting lessons in good citizenship. On the last day of Chautauqua the children who have received this instruction put on a play in the afternoon which is considered by many to be the most interesting programme of the week.

The aims and standards of Chautauqua are high. It seeks to promote the best interests of the town it serves and it would be hard indeed to imagine a more practical plan by which so many outstanding lecturers and so much good music and other forms of entertainment could be brought to a small city or town at so little cost to the ticket holder. It brings the cost of each of the twelve programmes to a fraction less than twenty cents—or, for next year, twenty five cents.

Dr. Kammeyer made the interesting statement to the reporter yesterday that Charlottetown is considered by Chautauqua workers as one of the best on the circuit. By its loyal support and its intelligent appreciation of the entertainments, it has won the hearts of more than one visiting artist and lecturer. The "Americanadian" Circuit of Swathmore Chautauqua, to which Charlottetown is connected, has thirty Canadian and eighty American towns and cities on its travelling list, and it is a pleasant thing to believe that through every town and city the performers as they go are dropping a good word for Charlottetown and the province in general.

WESTERN MAYOR RAPS EASTERNERS

OTTAWA, July 27.—To all interested in municipal government the sessions of the Union of Canadian Municipalities today in the city hall were of intense interest. The delegates evidently felt so, for, despite the great heat, there was an almost 100 per cent, attendance. That the convention is not one of these cut and dried affairs is shown by the fact that there were many sharp divergences of opinion amongst the members.

One of the members deplored the fact that the western municipalities were not taking the same interest in the union as were the cities and towns of the east.

Mayor W. D. L. Hardie of Lethbridge, sprang to his feet. "Do you know why that is?" he said. "We give up a week or ten days to come down here from the west and when we get here we find that you men are so damnably important in eastern cities that you must occupy all the time on the program with your problems."

The incident, however, passed off good-naturedly.

HALIFAX JOBLESS HOLD A PARADE

HALIFAX, July 27—"We can't eat grass," and "Canada, the home of fish, fruit, meat and wheat," why should we starve? were among the inscriptions on banners carried by a crowd of six hundred unemployed who today waited on civic and provincial authorities to ask for work. Marching in orderly fashion from Halifax Common to the city hall, the crowd presented its demand to Deputy Mayor John Murphy. The Deputy Mayor assured the men that the city council was heartily desirous of providing work for them and that he intended to immediately call an emergency meeting of that body. The crowd then marched to the provincial building where W. B. McCoy, secretary of industries and immigration, said that the government was moving heaven and earth to find work.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Reduction of the United States army to peace time strength of one hundred and fifty thousand men will be acomplished by July 31, in accordance with the decision of congress when it refused to appropriate funds for pay or a greater force after October 1.

With the reduction, secretary Weeks announced there would be a general redistribution of troops, practical abandonment of seven of the great war time army cantonments, placement of many organizations on the inactive list and skeletonizing of others into materially reduced strengths.

Irish Situation Is More Hopeful

(Special to The Guardian.)

LONDON, July 28—The outlook for an Irish settlement was regarded as more hopeful today, following an announcement by Lord Birkenhead, Lord High Chancellor, that the negotiations might continue for several weeks. Another significant incident of the day was the postponement by General Smuts of his departure for South Africa until August 5th, which was taken to imply the belief that his services as mediator may again be needed.

Premiers' Approval Of Imperial Wireless Chain is Expected

LONDON, July 28.—There seems to be some authority for stating that the Empire Premiers' Conference has approved of plans for an Imperial wireless chain at a total cost to the British Government of two million pounds. Matters down for discussion at the Premiers' Conference are understood to be nearly cleaned up and it is thought the agenda of business will be concluded this week.

Chaldean Priests Arrested

PARIS, July 27.— In the arrest of two men, alleged to be Chaldean priests, the police say they have uncovered fraudulent collections in France and the United States amounting to many millions of francs. The men, according to the police, confessed that on different occasions they had called on the Rev. Frederick W. Keekman, rector of the American Episcopal church in Paris, to collect funds for Chaldeans persecuted by the Turks, each with a letter supposed to have been signed by the Archbishop of Palestine.

Before their operation in France, they are declared to have confessed the men had been in the United States, where they obtained many thousands of dollars from the Episcopal clergy and a large number of prominent laymen.

NO WORD IN DORCHESTER AS TO WERNER HORNE

MONTREAL, July 28—Nothwithstanding the press despatch from Ottawa last week stating that an order had been issued for the release from the maritime penitentiary at Dorchester of Werner Horne, the German officer who attempted to blow up the C. P. R. bridge at Vanceboro during the war, the Warden of the maritime institution has received no official word from Ottawa regarding the matter. As previously stated in The Times, doubt is expressed by the Dorchester officials that such an order has yet been issued. However, it is stated that it is not improbable that Horne may be liberated in the near future, but as to when he will be given his freedom or under what conditions, nothing whatever can be ascertained from the Dorchester prison officials.

Mr. W. P. Archibald, Dominion parole office, who is paying a visit to the maritime institution at the present time, informs The Times that his trip to Dorchester has nothing to do with the rumors concerning the liberation of Horne.

Eldiari Universal says that while the natives are incapacitated so far as continuing their advance is concerned they were attacking Spanish auxiliary trains by surprise. In a few days, however, the Spanish offensive will begin in Recoupe where most of the territorial losses in the Melila are.

The barns belonging to Mr. John P. McDonald, of Pinette were struck yesterday afternon by lightning and burned to the ground. About fifty people gathered and by their efforts the rest of the farm buildings were saved. The barns destroyed were stocked with a considerable amount of hay, which was a total loss. The farming machinery was saved.

The lightning struck about six o'clock in the afternon, during the short electrical storm which swept across the country yesterday. An hour's heavy rain afterwards was of great assistance in saving the other farm buildings.

Mr. McDonald's loss is estimated at about $1,000. There was no insurance.

Careful Selections of Immigrants to Canada

OTTAWA, July 28.—Intending immigrants to Canada from Britain are being urged not to sell their homes and other property until they are assured that they can comply with the Canadian immigration regulations. This is the reply of the Department of Immigration to the statements of Canon J. P. Pughe, Honorary Director of Immigration of the Church Army, London, England. Canon Pughe declared that selection of immigrants should be made on the other side of the Atlantic as rejections at Canadian ports means a great deal of hardship for intending settlers who had given up their homes to come to Canada. The Canadian Federal authorities are not urging any one to come to Canada at the present time, officials of the Department stated. All Government advertising for settlers has been discontinued owing to employment conditions here.

Lloyd George's View on Religion and Politics

LONDON, July 27—Prime Minister Lloyd George has aroused the ire of leading churchmen by telling them that they ought to keep out of politics.

The occasion was the general assembly of Welsh Calvinistic Methodists at Portmadoc, Wales, when the premier delivered an address, in the course of which he complained of public utterances by highly placed divines at church conferences and elsewhere on questions of the day such as Ireland and the industrial unrest, which, he asserted, "they were not in the least competent to discuss. "He stigmatized their observations as "interferences in the task of government, which, if followed, are replete with mischief both to the church and the state."

This incident has arounsed a storm of protest and rebuke among Mr. Lloyd George's former colleagues in the Free Churches, and resolutions have been passed at various evangelical council meetings strongly dissenting from the prime minister's attitude.

Dr. John Clifford, the veteran Baptist leader, asserts that the Premier's doctrine is contrary to his own, which is that "the churches should take such action as to secure the application of the principies of the Gospel of Christ to the political conditions of the world."

More outspoken is the Rev. H. J. Taylor, a Primitive Methodist leader, who says: "The Premier declares that the business of the church and her ministers is to mind their own job. Their job is to demand that the Premier should practice religion in the law of the land."

From the pulpit of St. Paul's, Convent Garden, the Bishop of Chelmsford flatly told the premier that he wouldn't accept his rulings.

"If he had said the church must not interefere in party politics, we might be agreed; but that is very different to politics," the bishop said. "The government touches human life at every point, and the church cannot agree to refrain from expressing her opinion upon that which touches all her members.

"We are going to make continuous war upon all that poisons the atmosphere," continued the bishop, "we intend to have our politics impregnated with the right spirit—that of Christianity.

Memorial Service At Montague

On Sunday last one of the largest audiences in the history of the Montague Christian Church assembled to witness the dedication of the bells recently placed in the church tower in memory of the men of the congregation who fought and died during the great war.

For some time the church had felt the need of doing something to commemorate the great sacrifice made by its young men during the war. Some three months ago it was decided that a peal of bells dedicated to the memory of the fallen brave would be the best memorial that the church could erect. The bells were immediately sent for and within two months they were installed in the church tower to be rung for the first time at the Memorial service.

The following programme was rendered:

Prelude——Dead March and Bugle Call.

Doxology.

Invocation.

Scripture Readng—Ephesians (6)

Anthem by choir—God of our Fathers, by Kipling.

Prayer by Rev. C. E. Armstrong.

Memorial sermon preached by Rev. C. E. Armstrong. Subject: Saving Others. Text, "And the Chief Priests and the Scribes said He saved others, Himself He cannot save."

Ladies Quartette—Lead Kindly Light by Newman.

Dedication, read by Homer Norton.

Dedication prayer by the pastor.

Tolling of the bell in memory of the fallen heroes Abner Dewar and Homer R. Campbell.

Hymn: Blest be the tie the binds.

Benediction.

The service throughout was deeply impressive.

GREEK DESTROYER OPENS FIRE ON TREBIZOND

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 28— The Turkish Nationalist Prime Minister Fevze Pasha told the National Assembly last night that although the Turks had been obliged to yield ground in the face of the Greek advance, the enemy suffered terrible losses. The region between Kutaia and Eski-Shehr which recently was captured by the Greeks was covered with thousands of bodies, he declared. The Prime Minister warned the Assembly against panic asserting that every precaution had been taken to secure a successful continuation of the struggle, which he said was entering the decisive phase.

A Greek warship today approached Samsun, on the south shore of the Black Sea, with the intention of bombarding the town, but the commander of a United States destroyer lying off the coast dissuaded its commander from firing, pointing out that such action might endanger the Greek population.

The Greek destroyer Panther opened fire today on Trebizond on the Black Sea Coast to the east of Samsun but did not cause much damage.
