KUBELIK'S MASTERFUL VIOLIN RENOWNED DELIGHTFUL HEAR

The Greatest Virtuoso Play Three Super Numbers in His Striking Original Style

Kubelik's genius has been making in the history of violin playing, his whole style of performance, strikingly original. His violin as are his feet of virtuosity, his sense hold upon his audience, chiefly due to his impressive individuality and the passionate warmth of his playing. And every one who has ever heard him play, every lover of music, will be interested to know that the famous Bohemian violinist has entered into an exclusive agreement to make records for the Victor.

The first of the Kubelik records have just been issued with the December list of new Victor Records, and three numbers, "Zapateado" and "Furioso," mobile, "exhibit well his firm pure and beautiful tone, his admirable technique and the airy grace and freedom of his playing. It is indeed fortunate for present-day music-lovers and for posterity that satisfactory reproductions of the art of this young virtuoso have at last been made.

The Victor Red Seal offerings also include a fine interpretation of the favorite concerto, "Jeanne d'Arville," by Reache, of Schumann's "Ich grolle nicht," which many critics consider the composer's noblest song. John McCormack sings "Macushla," a delightful little Irish ballad of the type which he sings better perhaps than any tenor now before the public. An amusing air, "Nord-Express," from a popular German operetta is sung by Albert Reiss, and with Otto Goritz this artist gives a splendid rendition of a famous scene from Siegfried. A charming old English ballad, "My Pretty Jane," is beautifully sung by Evan Williams, and there are other fine renditions by Alma Ginek, Janet Spencer, Emilio de Gokorza and Herbert Witherspoon.

The Victor Company is to be congratulated upon the really marvelous record made by Robert Hilliard. The famous actor has given a dramatic record of scenes from his greatest success, "A Fool There Was." He recites a part of the Kipling poem, and between the lines he gives several scenes from the play. These highly dramatic characters he has keenly appreciated by all who have seen Mr. Hilliard's portrayal of the unfortunate husband, and it will bring to those who are only familiar with the poem a fuller understanding of Kipling's weird tale.

Agnes Kipling, a dramatic soprano of unusual ability, sings in English the beautiful air of the unfortunate butterfly, "Some Day He'll Come," from the second act of Madame Butterfly. An old Scotch ballad, "Within a Mile of Edinboro' Town," is given by Lucy Isabelle Marsh with charming sentiment and a crisp diction as unusual as it is delightful, the touch of Scotch in her rendition making it especially attractive. Two records are presented by Victor Herbert's orchestra—and especially played selection of Puccini's lively "Madama Butterfly" music, and a fine number from Herbert's own opera, "The Rose of Algeria."

The Victor Light Opera Company gives a brilliant and perfectly sung medley from the new musical play, "The Quaker Girl," which is rich in charming music and dainty lyrics, and this talented organization also revives the favorite musical comedy, "A Runaway Girl," in its presentation of the gems from this successful production of a few years ago. And there are a host of other good things from the musical successes of the present theatrical season, given
