Deadlock Feared At Conference

Right Hon. Philip Snowden, British Chancellor Of The Exchequer, Tells The Hague Conference That Great Britain Has Gone The Limit In Sacrifices.

(Special to The Guardian)
THE HAGUE, Aug. 9.—Britain has sacrificed her own interests to the utmost limits, and will yield no further, Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, told the Hague conference in a sensational speech to delegates assembled to discuss the Young plan of reparations. The Chancellor was candid and outspoken and it is apparent that unless the Italian, French and Belgian delegates recede from the stand they have taken there is no way to satisfy Great Britain's demands and a deadlock will result.

Great Britain, Mr. Snowden declared, would not accept the shares in the reparations annuities accorded by the committee of experts; she would not consent to the division of annuities into conditional and unconditional parts and, thirdly, would not approve of continued deliveries in kind. No country approached the sacrifices made by Great Britain, he continued, but the British people have never complained. She entered the war, not for any material interest but to support treaty rights and defend world security. She willingly did that, willingly sacrificed her blood in her own interests. Great Britain was left with a war debt double that of any other country, he said.

$11,000 FIRE AT BUNBURY

Modern Equipped Home of Mr. Wilfred Boyver Completely Destroyed With Outbuildings—Fire Started When Gasoline Engine Exploded.

The fine, modern-equipped home of Mr. Wilfred Boyver, Bunbury, with several outbuildings, was destroyed by fire between 7 and 8 o'clock last evening. The loss is estimated at about $11,000. The fire commenced at about five minutes to seven, when a gasoline engine in the power-room at the rear of the house which was used to pump water, backfired and exploded, and spread so rapidly that Mr. Boyver was scarcely able to get out of the building. He received several bad burns about the face and hands. In an incredibly short time the fire had reached the house and the adjoining chain of outbuildings which were speedily demolished. Another large barn about two feet away caught fire and with it were destroyed several sleds, a potato-digger, gang-plough and all other tillage machinery. Adjoining to the house were the garage, power-room from which electric light for the farm was generated, cold-storage room, milk-cooling room and ice-house. The house was equipped with all up-to-date comforts, bath-room, a sewerage system, hard-wood floors and an electric light plant. It was valued at $8,000 with $1,400 insurance. So rapidly did the fire spread that but a small quantity of the very valuable furniture could be removed. Efforts were made to save a new Heintzman piano valued at $700, but it was found impossible to get it past the door. Mr. Boyver attempted to drive a new Durant car out of the garage but could not get the engine going. It was insured.

At the first alarm a large number of the neighbors gathered quickly and succeeded in removing some of the furniture, but the house with adjoining outbuildings and the barn containing the machinery, in but a short space of time were beyond all hope of saving. Nearly was a large and valuable barn containing three lots of hay and one of the finest herds of pure-bred Holstein cattle in Eastern Canada. In spite of the fierce heat, a large number climbed to the roof of this building and soaked it with wet bags and blankets. The hay and straw in the barn caught fire several times from sparks, but the vigilance of those about prevented serious damage. The Charlottetown Fire Department arrived at about 7:15 and were able to prevent the fire from spreading. The City water-truck arrived with a supply of water of which there was a lack and its contents were poured upon the flames and the large barn. About 8 o'clock the fierceness of the blaze began to subside and there was nothing left but a blazing mass of embers, over one hundred and fifty feet in length. Watchers were set to see that the blaze should not spread. At a late hour last night, the situation was still considered dangerous. Had there been a high wind, the entire mass of farm buildings probably would have been destroyed. The fire could have been many miles away and attracted a large number of people from Charlottetown and the surrounding countryside. A large number of very fine trees on Mr. Boyver's farm in the neighborhood of the burnt buildings were badly scorched.

POLITICAL PROMISES RE EDUCATION

Tactics of Politicians Deplored by Witnesses Before Educational Commission.

The Royal Commission on Education held a very successful session at Central Bedque yesterday morning. A number of leading citizens from the surrounding districts were present including the local clergymen. The witnesses who gave evidence were as follows: Messrs William Callbeck, Thomas Moyle, Rev. J. W. Nicholson, Rev. Dr. Sidney, Central Bedque, Mr. Craig, Middleton, Rev. A. J. Reynolds and Mrs. Bruce Curtis of Middleton. The chief question under discussion was the present system of education, which, in the opinion of most of the people present was very much at fault. One of the greatest drawbacks to the present system was that it was often used as a political issue. At the time of elections politicians often made promises to the public on vexed questions pertaining to school matters which were forgotten when they gained their objective. This was considered very hurtful to the advancement of any real effort towards a better system of education. The whole system should be absolutely free of any element of politics as is the case in other provinces of Canada and other countries where

NEGOTIATIONS NEW REGULATION BREAK DOWN FOR INSPECTION NOW IN FORCE

War Is Feared as Result of Breakdown in Russian-Chinese Negotiations.

(Canadian Press)
TOKYO, Aug. 9.—Newspapers here are publishing alarming reports from Vladivostok and Manchull of the danger of warfare as a result of the breakdown in Russian-Chinese negotiations over the Chinese Eastern Railway. The reports are largely discredited, although Soviet authorities maintain formal negotiations are impossible as long as Soviet officials of the railway are not reinstated. Chinese representatives have attempted to arrange long distance telephones for carrying on negotiations, but this has proved unsuccessful. The Japanese foreign office believes reports of arms unlikely, but that attempts to arrange formal negotiations will continue unsuccessful for some time.

TOKYO, August 9.—Japanese despatches from Manchull, Manchuria, where representatives of Russia and China have been discussing the situation arising from Chinese seizure of the Chinese Eastern Railway, reported this afternoon that the negotiations had broken down. The Chinese delegates announced that they were leaving Manchull for Nanking tomorrow. Another Japanese despatch from Harbin said revival of the tension between Russia and China had marked the resumption of Russian aerial demonstrations over Pogranichnaya and Manchull. A message from Pogranichnaya this morning said 38 Russian aeroplanes had manoeuvred over town today.

Changes Proposed In Office System

Recommendation Of Outside Auditor Considered at Meeting Of Provincial Government Yesterday.

At a meeting of the Provincial Government yesterday, lengthy consideration was given to the report and recommendation by Mr. Hart, chartered accountant, of Halifax who was called in some time ago to investigate the accounts of the Highways Department. Mr. Hart, who submitted a report covering this phase of governmental activity, later began an investigation of the accounting system of all the departments and submitted recommendations including the following: That all incoming cash should be handled through the Treasurer's office. That a central cashier or teller's cage, similar to that used in Banks, should be installed. That the cash receipts for Falconwood Hospital should come through the Provincial Treasurer's office in the same manner as ordinary governmental Department accounts. That there should be a control account for taxes.

More Publicity For Maritimes

The attractions of the Maritime Provinces are fast spreading throughout Canada and the United States as is evidenced by the special feature writers that have visited here so far this summer. Another was the Picture Editor of the New York Times. Mr. Arthur Merritt and Mrs. Merritt, of Boston, Mass., have just returned after making a tour of the Provinces for the purpose of gathering information and pictures for a lecture series this winter in Boston and the New England States.
