WHEN YOUR CHILD SUFFERS.

For lack of knowledge of the value of Dr. Chase's Ointment, as a cure for eczema, many a mother has been worn out in the effort to relieve her child of suffering. Eczema, scald head and other forms of itching skin disease are common to children, especially during the teething period. Though readily cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment, eczema, if neglected, becomes chronic and may last for years.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OPENED

After Repairs at North Tryon Sunday.

A LARGE ATTENDANCE

And Eloquent Sermons Given by Different Ministers—Church Much Improved.

The re-opening of the Presbyterian Church at North, Tryon took place on Sunday last. This church has been undergoing extensive repairs during the summer months. Only a short time ago it presented a style, of over fifty years ago, when it was built to accommodate the congregation, which was organized in 1822; it now presents a beautiful appearance second to none in the country.

The opening words were said by the pastor, Rev. A D McDonald and the first sermon was preached by Rev. Mr. Stebbings of the Tryon Methodist circuit.

He selected as his text, John 12 and 22, and gave an eloquent address thereon.

Rev. T. F. Fullerton addressed the afternoon and evening meetings, holding the congregation enthralled, with his eloquence.

The church was crowded morning, noon and evening and the special collections amounted to almost $150.

This congregation is to be congratulated on their enterprise, in thus pushing forward.

LAKE OF PITCH.

Chief Wonder and Attraction of the Island of Trinidad—Natural Asphalt in State of Perfection.

Asphalt, in its natural form, is too brittle when cold and too sticky when warm to make a serviceable road, but when mixed with sand, gravel and tar, answers every requirement. In its natural state, it is found in many parts of the world, and that is the Island of Trinidad, one of Great Britain's numerous possessions in the West Indies.

Trinidad's great pitch lake, which is the chief wonder and attraction of the island, is situated in a low, sandy stretch of the southwest coast, near Cape Corbarary. The surrounding country is low and malarial, in striking contrast to the high hills and rich woodlands to the coast further back.

The laborers are all negroes, even the coolies shrinking from the heat and low fovers of the place.

The lake itself is about a mile in diameter, hard at the edges and softening toward the middle. The surface is continually changing, apparently from subterranean action.

Little oases of dry land, and even trees and shrubs, will disappear in a single night and fresh islands of soil be reared in other places.

The lake is in all probability merely an unusually large deposit of bitumen or soft coal, that has undergone its transformation from decaying vegetable matter in contact with water, and too near the surface for the earth pressure above to harden it thoroughly.

Hundreds of negroes the year round toil at the lake's edge, taking out cargo after cargo from the supply that seems never to diminish.

The asphalt crust is broken up with picks and crowbars, and is loaded on dump-carts, drawn by a single mule. The carts crunch through a long, sandy road down to the wharf at the water's edge, where the load is dumped and carried by wheel barrows on board of lighters, which in turn carry it out to ships, lying a half mile out in the shoal water.

The rough lumps of pickings are hoisted on board in baskets and piled in the hold, where they sink down into a compact mass, requiring a fresh filling the next day, and so on till the solid cargo is completed.

When the vessel reaches its port of discharge the asphalt has to be broken up again before it can be removed from the hold.

Owing to the viscous quality of the native "pitch" it has, in the course of ages, filtered through the sand soil around the lakes, and of these great fields the asphalt is, if anything, better after its filtering process than the original deposit.
