INTERESTING DISCUSSION

(Continued from Page Six) Mr. McLEAN: It is in Hansard and I can read it to the House. As a matter of fact Mr. Hegan was never superannuated. He made the statement further that Mr. Hegan was approached by Liberal Conservatives in Prince Edward Island and that he was forced out of his office, that he was approached for graft on contracts. I want to tell the hon. gentleman and the committee that that statement has no foundation whatever in fact. Mr. Hegan was never approached by any person. Any one would be led to believe from the hon. gentleman's statement that Mr. Hegan informed him that he was so approached, but Mr. Hegan states emphatically that he never made such a statement to the hon. gentleman and that his statement in this House is absolutely untrue and false, and I have in my hand an affidavit made by Mr. Hegan to that effect.

—NORTH BEDEQUE SOCIAL —A very successful patriotic concert and basket social was held in the North Bedeque Hall on Tuesday evening, April 6th. Although the night was rather unfavorable the hall was filled and the sum of $55 was realized, half of which is being forwarded to the Patriotic Fund and half to the Red Cross. Mr. James Carruthers acted as chairman and after the opening chorus "O Canada," spoke of our country's great need of financial resources and hoped the people would seize this opportunity of assisting the Patriotic Funds. The next on the programme was a comic recitation by C. Simpson, followed by a duet; "The Minute Gun at Sea" by Blanche Leard and Genevieve (unconced) and "The North Bedeque Dramatic Club then presented the first act of Dickens' comedy "Bardell vs. Pickwick." In this act by a series of ambiguous questions, Mrs. Bardell is falsely led to believe that Mr. Pickwick offers marriage. This leads to act II, a breach of promise trial. The play lasted an hour and was followed with intense interest. The characters in the play were Mrs. Bardell, J. McCool; Pickwick, W. Schurman; Sam Weller, C. Simpson; Winkie, S. Waugh; Snodgrass, Ira Fraser, Tupman, P. Bowness; Judge D. B. McDonald; Sergeant Buzfuz, A. Lefurgey; Sergt. Snodbin, R. Barwise; Mrs. Cluppins, J. Clark; Clerk of Court, Roy Hill; Mrs. Bardell's boy, Hampden McLean. Between the acts two solos were rendered, a base solo "My Ain Folk" by Cleopatra Carruthers, and recruiting song "Your King and Country Need You," by Miss Daisy Fraser. The sale of baskets then took place, auctioned by A. Wright, to whom those in charge of the programme are greatly indebted. The committee are to be congratulated on the success of the concert.—X —IMPORTANT MEETING.—The executive of the French Canadian Teachers' Association of P. E. I. met in Mont Carmel on Friday, April the 9th, at 7 o'clock p. m. in order to formulate a suitable programme for the coming convention of the members of the said Association. The members of the executive present were: Rev. P. P. Arsenault, in whose parish the convention will be held; Mr. Henry Blanchard, of P. W. C., Secretary for the association, Miss Minnie Gaudet, also teacher in P. W. C., and Denis D. Arsenault, and Mr. Denis D. Arsenault, principal of Mont Carmel school. Many important affairs in touch with the programme to be scheduled, were gone over. The most important thing decided on was the setting of the date of the convention which was fixed for the 19th and 20th of August, 1915. Many resolutions were passed in order to make the convention as interesting as possible. It was resolved that the executive of the Association, clerical and pedagogic would make it a duty to send invitations to certain members of the said Association, and likewise of the teaching staff of the French Canadian teachers of the neighboring provinces, to assist to the said Convention. —SUCCESSFUL STUDENTS.—The parish of Mont Carmel, since it has been entrusted to the able and zealous pastorate of Rev. P. P. Arsenault, has been accredited with the successes of many talented young men who are today in offices more or less remunerative and at no time, as at the present time is the future of young men of Mont Carmel more promising especially when Mr. Benoit Gallant of St. Raphael, who with a lot of gallant of St. Raphael, who with a very little religious education has at the issue of his examination of last College has come out 4th in his class of many; showing that Mr. Gallant can compete successfully with any class mates, a fact which does not come unexpected to the people of this section if Mr. Gallant continues his classes with a full connection with perseverance as he did heretofore (and no doubt he will), he will certainly obtain his B. S. A. with high honors. The same can be truly said of another prominent young man of Mont Carmel, Mr. Cyrus Poirier, who is attending classes in the Agricultural College at Truro, N. S. He also distinguished himself as a perseverant and studious character, who will certainly bring credit to his home and parish.—H.

—SOCIAL EVENING.—At Riverside Cottage, the beautiful residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Clarke, Emerald was the scene of much amusement a few evenings ago when a large number of invited guests had gathered to spend the evening. The evening hours which seemed altogether too short were whittled away in social converse, music and speech making. Supper being announced the party entered the dining room where all sat down to a repast that proved beyond the shadow of a doubt that Mrs. Clarke and daughter were experts in culinary science. Before leaving Mr. Thomas F. Hughes with his usual grace and eloquence moved that a vote of thanks be tendered Mr. and Mrs. Clarke for the kind hospitality extended and made a fitting reference to the genial ability of Mr. Clark's charming family. Mr. Joseph Lawless, seconded the motion, which was ably supported by Mr. Jas. Murphy, Bennet Delghan, Michael Clarke, P. P. Duffy, Joseph McDonald, and others. Mr. Clarke made a neat speech in well chosen words thanking those present on behalf of himself and family for their flattering vote of thanks. Mr. Clarke said it gave him much pleasure to know that they had in their humble way contributed some pleasure to those about them that evening, and referred to the stimulating effect of these social gatherings saying he thought they had a tendency to revive social natures and to develop the finer sentiments and feelings of humanity and expressed the hope that these happy reunions might be more frequent. Before leaving for home the company all joined hands and sang Auld Lang Syne. He's a Jolly Good Fellow.
