CROP PROSPECTS

With the exception of a possible slight shortage in the hay crop this season's harvest promises to be somewhat better than average.

The thing to bear in mind now is the harvesting. With reference to the hay crop the general opinion among farmers is that harvesting should be delayed as long as possible.

It is yet too early to predict what the potato crop here or elsewhere is going to be. Up till the present, in this province at least, there are prospects of a bumper crop.

The grain crops look very promising and it is expected that the Island's whole crop will be above average and that, generally speaking, prices will be little if any lower than last year.

"SIGNIFICANT"

It is indeed a pleasure to find in this arid desert of unrest and political turmoil, one spot, one oasis, on which we can stand side by side and in full agreement with our esteemed contemporary, the Patriot.

True, it is but a small spot and our contemporary, through native modesty no doubt, only hints at its significance, only gently pushes aside the branches that hide the infinite possibilities that lie, as it were, behind the beyond.

It is a significant coincidence that both the Republican and Democratic candidates for the Presidency of the United States have been newspaper men.

A coincidence verily, and significant, that the highest position in the gift of the people of the great republic should be offered to two newspaper men! Significant that the poor editor, once a printer's devil, once the galley slave of the composing room, once begrimed with printer's ink and sweat, should be raised from this lowly and too often despised position to one of perpetual purple and fine linen and three square meals and a chaser every day!

And why this rarity of occurrence? Why, in our own legislative halls, do we find only one newspaper man sandwiched in among seven lawyers, thirteen merchants and ten farmers? Does he not set the pace for them all? Does he not interpret the laws for them and straighten out the tangles in the constitution? And when his contemporaries pass beyond the bourne of time and taxes, legal or illegal, does he not cast the mantle of charity over all their delinquencies and place over their tomb in the columns of his paper, a eulogy that enshrines them among the saints and the benefactors of their race?

In a few days this opportunity will be presented to the people of this county. A candidate will be sought to present our grievances and our woes at Ottawa. Shall we look for a newspaper man to fill the gap? Shall we beseech him to accept our homage and our votes? Time alone will tell and we await the outcome with the hope that we too, like our cousins to the south of us, may exercise sufficient prevision to place a newspaper man on the ladder that reaches to the seats of the mighty.

OVERCROWDING THE EARTH.

There are always two sides to a question, and there are two sides to the question of the decline in the birthrate. The population of the world cannot go on indefinitely at the present rate. It has been estimated that if it does, then we are near the end of our tether. In about 170 years from now the maximum population that the earth can support will be reached!

CURRENT COMMENT

In its own peculiar political capital-seeking way, the Patriot has joined the Guardian in advocacy of a second Car Ferry Steamer. This is a public necessity, due to us by right, and indispensable to the progress and prosperity of the province.

In quoting the remarks of Mr. J. E. Sinclair, M. P., when pressing this claim, it does no wrong. He spoke as an Islander whom we all know to be interested in whatever will be for the benefit of his native province, and on behalf of a people who he knew to be unanimous, regardless of party connections, urgently in favor of a system of transportation, complete and sufficient for our trade requirements.

In its attempt to boom a political adventurer, however, using our grave transportation problem as its medium, it fouls its own nest and does a distinct wrong to our province. If it can find in Hon. W. L. McKenzie-King, anything in the line of political virtue, or personal admiration, it is their party capital, and they can use it to the P. E. Islanders hold dear, do not fail. But in the name of all that allow our new Car Ferry project, or any other public and needed utility to be placed upon the altar of sacrifice to their political Molech.

HAREST TRAIT OF ALL To love mankind, regardless of whether mankind deserves loving or not; that is the rarest trait of all and the most appealing. You cannot simulate this sort of impersonal affection; and the fact of it has wrecked the plans of many great men and institutions that desired to be of service in a racked world.

Thursday's Patriot, with its usual twist, commenting on the fact that of our "seven Judges in the province only one is a Catholic," says, "every one of these, with the exception of Mr. Justice Haszard, was appointed by Conservative governments."

this as in about every other public interest to which he gave a desultory attention. Because of his position, his attitude upon questions of public utility might be considered binding upon himself and party. If, to Canada's misfortune, they attained to power, he was under restraint from active earnest advocacy of this great and rightful claim of our province.

It would be another foolhardy act, if, as the Patriot suggests, it was made a party football at next Friday's Liberal Convention. From the party standpoint it might prove a vote catcher if it was a policy antagonistic to that of their opponents, but that is not now the case. It is a matter in which there is no division of interest or opinion.

The Patriot is again harping upon the question of a Dominion election. It has not been asked for by any known body of the government supporters, great or small, and seems to find its only inspiration in the editorial sanctum of the Toronto Globe and the little Charlottetown Liberal printer.

It is not however so vociferous in its demand for an election in our own province, although conditions are more pronounced in the demand for one than in any other part of the Dominion. The apology for a government which is now in control secured power upon absolutely false pretenses. They have violated every plank of the platform upon which they asked the suffrage of the people, and upon which they were returned.

Successful Meeting At St. Peter's Bay

A successful meeting was held last night at St. Peter's Bay, for the re-organization of the Farmers' Institute. At 7.30 the meeting was called to order and Mr. Chas. Waye was appointed chairman.

Mr. Lea, who spoke first, gave a valuable talk on the live stock industry. He emphasized the importance of keeping a high class of stock through which the farm could be maintained in a state of fertility and through which reliable profits could be assured.

Both speakers assisted in a discussion as to the ways and means of re-organizing the St. Peter's Institute, and for the purchase of a pure bred Ayrshire bull. It was pointed out that an greater inducement in the way of greater financial assistance was being given to the Farmers Institute and that also the annual grants for institutes had been materially increased.

number of men gave their consent to become members and do all in their power to forward the work. Nothing definite transpired until the Spring of 1918, when Messrs. J. W. Jones and B. J. Kennedy made a purchase of Holstein females in Ontario and distributed them at cost price, plus shipping charges, to those having given orders or an order for the same.

This work has developed in each case. Assistance has been given by the Department of Agriculture in the case of paying travelling expenses of the buyers, and also furnishing assistance in the selection of the animals. During all cases emphasis is placed on the individual quality of the animal, plus its parentage on both sides.

At the commencement of its work the members of the Club had never experienced the thrill which comes from owning or selling cows for $500.00. Yet from the local comment it is assumed that that sum has changed hands several times in exchange for a high-class female.

Such work is worthy of foremost consideration in this province. And where it is taken up it can be depended on to give as reliable the past three years, five carloads have been imported, including over sixty females and several males.
