

IMPORTANT READING MATTER SELECTED FROM THIS WEEK'S NEWS FOR THE GUARDIAN'S SATURDAY SUBSCRIBERS

MONDAY

The death occurred at Stanley Bridge yesterday of Miss Katherine, eldest daughter of A. J. McLeod. The funeral notice will appear later.

The death occurred at her home on Winslow Road on Saturday, Feb'y 3rd, of Mrs. William Bryenton, aged 67 years. The funeral will take place from her late residence today (Monday) at 2.30 p. m. to Winslow Cemetery.

E. C. Peters, of the staff of the local branch of the Bank of Montreal, was Saturday morning operated on in the Moncton Hospital for appendicitis, and is reported to be resting as comfortably as can be expected.

W. T. Ritch, Ottawa, who has been conducting a series of meetings in the Maritime Provinces in connection with the sheep industry, was in the city Saturday. Mr. Ritch arrived in the province some days ago and has addressed meetings at Grand River and at Tracadie and spent the week end at that place the guest of Rev. P. D. McCutcheon.

The many friends of Miss Blanch Hodgson, Alberton, will be delighted to hear that she has returned home from spending a very pleasant six weeks' holiday with friends in Charlottetown and New London. Among the pleasant features of her visit to New London was a party given in her honor by Mrs. John McEwen of Clifton.

Mrs. Jessie Hogg of this city is lecturing in the State of Maine on the White Slave Traffic. The Bangor News says: The lecture by Mrs. Jessie Hogg on The White Slave Traffic was heard by more than 3,000 people in the Nickle on Wednesday. The white slave traffic is one of the greatest problems facing America today, and Mrs. Hogg presents its evils vividly, yet in such a manner that no person could possibly take offense.

Rev. Father McQuillan, in a short address before the boys of St. Mary's Sunday School yesterday, urged upon all who were not members of the Juvenile Society to become members as soon as possible.

W. T. Ritch, Ottawa, who has been conducting a series of meetings in the Maritime Provinces in connection with the sheep industry, was in the city Saturday. Mr. Ritch arrived in the province some days ago and has addressed meetings at Grand River and at Tracadie and spent the week end at that place the guest of Rev. P. D. McCutcheon. He leaves this morning for Georgetown where he will address a meeting tonight. Mr. Ritch has expressed the opinion that the Maritime Provinces are especially adapted for the raising of sheep and he considers that the wool production should be greatly increased. His addresses are interesting and instructive and were heard with much interest.

favorite among them as well as the parishioners.—Halifax Exe. (Father McQuillan is a native of Charlottetown.)

In their report on the Sheep Industry, Mr. Ritch points out that skill is required in the attention and care of a flock of sheep if the most is to be made out of them. He speaks of the pride taken by the Scotch shepherds in his flock and tells of a son succeeding father in the service. This helps to account for the true-to-type quality of British sheep. Mr. Ritch is a keen observer and a pleasant speaker and everyone should make it a point to hear him.

A meeting of the Seed Fair Committee was held in the Allen House, Summerside, on Thursday last at 11.00 a. m. All the members of the committee were present and in addition a very representative body of the Women's Guild and all others interested in Household Science. It was decided by the Seed Fair Committee that $25.00 should be added to the handicraft department, and the 6th prizes amounting in all to about $18.00, taken from the Household Science Department. Very few changes were made in the Seed Department on the Prize List. In some cases the first prizes were enlarged to suit the increased price of seed. An outlined program was arranged and the general plans for the Seed Fair developed. The meeting adjourned at the call of the President.

The program for the big forestry convention at Ottawa, Feb. 7 and 8, which Supt. Clarke of the Charlottetown Experimental Farm has left to attend, is now complete. The subject of how handle our forests, so as to get the most out of them, both now and in the future will be dealt with by leaders from Canada and from the United States. Among those who will speak are Gifford Pinchot, formerly chief forester of the United States; E. A. Sterling, forester of the Pennsylvania Railroad, which is now growing its own trees; Dr. Fernow, secretary of the forestry school of Cornell University; Dr. J. W. Robertson, of the Conservation Commission, and H. R. MacMillan, of the forestry branch of the department of the interior. The banquet on Wednesday evening, will be attended by parliamentary leaders, educational leaders, foresters, lumbermen and the heads of financial and commercial institutions. The day sessions are open to the public, and the importance which the government attaches to this subject is shown by the fact that these are held in the railway committee room of the parliament building, while the railway have granted special rates to delegates. The Seed Growers' Association, convene on Feb. 8 and 9, so that delegates to the forestry convention will be able to attend some of sessions of that body.

The officers and members of Court Glynwood, I. O. F., with thirty invited guests assembled at the home of the Court Deputy Neil A. Boulter, Glenwood, on the evening of Jan 27th, to bid God speed to Sister and companion Ella M. Schurman on her departure to her home in Summerside. The first part of the evening was pleasantly past in selections on the violin and organ and by playing some very amusing games. About eleven o'clock the Sister Foresters served a hot supper of Duck accompanied by all the other delicacies that the young ladies of Glenwood are so capable of preparing. The most pleasing feature of the evening was the toasts rendered to Our King, responded to by singing God Save the King; Canada, responded to by singing The Maple Leaf forever. The Order of the I. O. F. responded to by singing the Foresters Anthem, Our Island, responded to by singing The Island Hymn, To the Young Ladies, responded to by the Chief Ranger, Bro John Hierlihy, and to the host and hostess, replied to by the host. On account of it being Saturday night the company was compelled to retire early but they all went home feeling it payed to be a Forester and a friend to Forestry.

Montague, to George A. Anear, son of John A. Anear of Lower Montague, took place at the residence of the bride's parents. On January 24th. The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. N. McLeod of Dundas, in the presence of near relatives and intimate friends of the contracting parties. Both bride and groom were unattended. On the return of the wedded pair to their home in Lower Montague, a reception was held at Mr. Anear's home where a large number of guests were present, and a most enjoyable time was spent. The many wedding gifts attest to the popularity of bride and groom.

TUESDAY

The remains of the late Minnie M. Wyatt who died on Jan. 31st after a lingering illness borne with Christian resignation and fortitude, were laid to rest in the York Cemetery Friday afternoon Feb. 2nd. The deceased was a daughter of Edward and Mrs. Wyatt, Pleasant Grove. The funeral procession was one of the largest ever seen in this part of the country thus showing the esteem in which she was held. The officers and members of Pleasant Grove Division marched in full regalia and took part in the service at the grave. The late Miss Wyatt was of more than ordinary intelligence and greatly beloved by all who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. Of her it could be said she "wore the white flower of a blameless life." She leaves to mourn, besides her parents, one brother Arthur on the homestead. The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. E. A. Westmorland, the pall bearers being: R. D. Crockett, Parnell Curran, John Lamphier, Ray Crockett, Herbert Vessey, and Thomas Clow.

There is no death, what seems so is transition. This life of mortal breath is but a suburb of the life ethereal Whose portals we call death.

Quite a large number of the members and adherents of Brookfield Presbyterian Church assembled at the Manse on Monday evening, Jan. 29th. They presented their minister, Rev. A. J. W. Back, with a handsome driving sleigh and robe accompanied by the following address which speaks for itself:— Brookfield, Jan. 29, 1912. Rev. A. J. W. Back, Dear Sir:—We the members and adherents of the Brookfield Presbyterian Church wish to give you a slight token of our respect and esteem.

During the short time that you have been our pastor, we have found in you a preacher of whom we are proud while you and your accomplished family make quite an agreeable addition in our community. Please accept this sleigh, robe, envelope, etc., and wishing you and your family a happy and prosperous New Year, we remain Yours in behalf of congregation— Angus N. McLeod, Murdoch McLean, Brenton Dollar, Everett Johnston, Presentation Committee. Mr. Back made a suitable reply, thanking his people for thus remembering him, and telling them that their appreciation was a source of great pleasure to him. After spending a pleasant evening in singing, music, etc., all went to
