(Special to The Guardian) LONDON, July 4.—The Russian General Naval Staff reports that a German battleship of the Deutschland type which was leading the enemy's line during Friday's naval engagement in the Baltic Sea was blown up by two torpedoes discharged by a Russian submarine.

(Special to The Guardian) BERLIN, July 4.—A statement issued by the German admiralty last night relative to Friday's engagement in the Baltic Sea, confirms the report that the German mine layer, Albatross, was forced aground on the coast of the Isle of Gothland, and states that 20 of the crew were killed and 27 wounded. The Albatross ran ashore in a sinking condition after two hours fighting with four Russian cruisers.

ALLIES IN WESTERN FRONT REPEL GERMAN WITH HEAVY LOSS

(Special to The Guardian.) PARIS, July 4.—Officers in the region north of Arras in the last night attacked in close formation our positions along the Holtow Road from Angres to Ablain, which is to the north of the highway running between Aix Roulette and Souchez. Our assaults were dispersed and driven back by fire from the French machine and machine guns and suffered heavy losses. On the front at La Haye, the Germans, following a violent bombardment, endeavored to attack our trenches at midnight. To the north of Reginville fire from our batteries prevented the forces of the enemy from spreading out. In front of Fey

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF J. PIERPONT MORGAN BY GERMAN PROFESSOR

(Special to The Guardian.) NEW YORK, July 4.—An attempt to assassinate J. P. Morgan, financier, who is the British Government's financial agent in the United States, was made at Morgan's country seat today. Mr. Morgan was shot but not dangerously wounded. His assailant said he was Fred Holt, instructor in French at Cornell University. The Cornell University record contains the name of Frank Holt, instructor in German during the last year and who was to go to the University of Texas as German instructor for the coming term. Henry Fisk, Morgan's butler, saved his employer from more serious injury by felling his assailant with a coat scuffle and overpowering him.

Holt was arrested and locked up in Glen Cove jail and said he was impelled to go to Morgan to persuade him to stop the shipment of war munitions from the United States. The attack on Morgan took place in the hall near the breakfast room. His assailant presented a pistol at the butler's body and pushed him into the hall towards the breakfast room, where Mr. Morgan had just finished breakfast. Mr. Morgan was shot through the groin, whether once or twice is not clear. Two shots were fired but it is said one went wild. Holt reached Glen Cove on the early train, carrying a suitcase. This he left in a hedge on the Morgan estate. When opened it contained a bomb and another pistol. After Holt pushed past the butler Mr. Morgan approached the door and asked for the answer was a shot. Morgan staggered and fell into a chair. The butler picked up a brass coal hod from the fireplace and brought it down on the assailant's head but too late to prevent another shot. The butler then fell on the man and took the weapon from him and called for help. Other servants came, calling police and a doctor. The man arrested is reported to be insane. It is also said he confessed that he was the party who put the bomb in the capitol at Washington.

(Special to The Guardian.) GLENCOVE, July 4.—Frank Holt, a former Cornell University instructor, who attempted to assassinate J. P. Morgan yesterday, confessed he was the man who put the bomb which exploded in the U. S. Capitol, Washington, on Friday night.

(Special to The Guardian.) NEW YORK, July 4.—J. P. Morgan, shot yesterday by Frank Holt, passed a good night and conditions are satisfactory. Bulletins will be discontinued.

WASHINGTON, July 3.—An explosion occurred in the senate wing of the capitol shortly before midnight last night, doing considerable damage. The explosion took place in the reception room on the second floor of the building, next to the office of the sergeant-at-arms. The doors of the room were blown out, but no one was hurt. Authorities immediately began an investigation.

The doors of the capitol were closed immediately after the explosion, and no one was permitted to enter while the investigation was under way. While the origin of the explosion has not been explained, some reports said it might have been caused by a bomb.

UNITED STATES GERMAN PLAN RAID ON CANADA

TORONTO, July 4.—The Globe has the following from Windsor, Ont.: Major S. C. Robinson, commanding the 2nd Regiment here, received a communication warning him that 1,000 Germans proposed to come over the Detroit River at some unspecified point on Sunday night next, and raid Canadian territory.

"Let them come," was the officer's response. "I can assure them there is not one of them will ever get back."

That is the spirit that pervades the Canadian frontier. "It took a charge of dynamite to wake some of us up, but we are right on the job now," declared Major J. C. Toimie, M.P.P.

Major Robinson made public his warning at a mass meeting of men called in the Armouries Friday night for enlistment. He emphasized, however, the fact that he had received no official information whatever.

THE CANADIANS SUSTAINED HEAVY LOSSES

(Special to The Guardian.) TORONTO, Ont., July 4.—(Willson cable)—London, July 2.—The heavy tolls in the battles of Ypres, Festubert and Givenchy have reduced the Canadian infantry to a mere skeleton of the splendid body of men who went to France last February. RUSSIAN NAVY OUTCLASSED GERMANS

(Special to The Guardian) PETROGRAD, July 3.—When the Russian army squadron in the Baltic gave battle to five German cruisers and a flotilla of torpedo boats off the east coast of Gothland on July 2, one German cruiser was beached and the other warships were put to flight, according to an official statement made to-day by the Russian Admiralty. The damage to the Russian cruisers, the statement adds, was insignificant.

SUMMARY

(Special to The Guardian.) LONDON, July 4.—At a rate estimated at five miles a day General Von Mackenzen's army is swinging northward in Galicia and Poland in an endeavour to drive a wedge into the Russian centre and dislodge them from the Vistula river and force them back, splitting the forces into two sections with thousands of acres of swamp marsh between them. If the Austro-Germans can continue another week it is admitted the Russians will have to give up Warsaw and with it the whole line, and meantime the Germans are massing more troops in the Baltic provinces, and the recent encounter in the Baltic seems to suggest that they contemplate to co-ordinate naval action.

In south-east Galicia the Russians are fighting tenaciously and have the advantage of remarkable parallel rivers beyond the Gnita Lappa. The Austro-German advance is extremely costly. Thus on two extreme wings the Russians appear firm, and where they are retreating it is still claimed the retreat is orderly. The Austro-German line, on the advancing Dardanelles, is getting deeper into a country covered with forest streams and barren of railways between the middle Vistula and the Bug, which form a natural advantage to the Russians, and is lengthening the chain of Austro-German communication, which is an added burden to the Teutonic allies.

Some sections of the British public think it is time for Great Britain and France to begin a general offensive in the west and thus force the transfer of German troops from the east, but more conservative military writers think the time is not at hand and that the best aid England can give her ally is to pour into the Russians every ounce of ammunition without curtailing the supply at the western front. One of the main aims of German operations in the east seems to be directed to a vast turning movement behind Warsaw, embracing Litovak, one of the strong Russian bases, and the civilian residents of Warsaw are already leaving the city because of the possibility of German occupation.

Circulars dropped from German aeroplanes on the Polish capital, threaten the fall of Warsaw by the end of July. As explained at the Russian centre, a Petrograd despatch says the Russians will refuse to accept serious battle in a country devoid of railways. Russia has not denied that in the recent naval engagement in the Baltic Russian warships violated Swedish territorial waters, and the situation is not unlike in circumstances the affair off the coast of Chile when British cruisers sank the Dresden. Swedish papers comment on the episode in a mild tone and an expectation will be forthcoming. According to Copenhagen advices the greater part of the battle was fought in Swedish waters and the crew of the Cestgarns light-house had to lie flat to escape shrapnel.

RUSSIAN SUBMARINE DOES GOOD WORK

(Special to The Guardian) PETROGRAD, July 3.—The activity of a Russian submarine in the Black Sea is recounted in an official statement issued by the Admiralty to-day. The under-sea boat sank two Turkish steamers and one sailing ship with cargoes of coal and provisions and then exchanged shots with three armored schooners off the mouth of the Bosphorus, driving them ashore.

(Special to The Guardian) PARIS, July 4.—General Gouraud, Commander of the French expeditionary force in the Dardanelles, has been wounded, and is returning to France. This announcement was made in a French official statement issued last night and adds that the General, who received injuries by the explosion of a shell which fell near the ambulance, was not dangerously wounded. P.E.I. BAPTISTS MEET IN SUMMERSIDE

Large Attendance at all Meetings. Excellent Addresses by Leading Clergymen. Encouraging Reports from all Sections of the Field.

SUMMERSIDE, July 2.—The forty-seventh annual meeting of the Prince Edward Island United Baptist Association opened last evening in the Baptist Church. A large number of delegates were in attendance. The Moderator, Rev. A. Hurn was in the chair. Rev. L. E. Ackland, pastor of the Charlottetown Church, gave a very hearty word of welcome. He gave as the motto of the meetings, "Liberty, Unity and Service." The Moderator made a fitting reply. Rev. E. P. Calder was the preacher for the evening. His subject was "God's Personality." He gave a very interesting address, and his text was found in Rev. 1:4-6. He said in part: "Let us look at some of the things that God sends to his people. God is fond of individualizing his message. God speaks to you. He gives his grace to those who seek it. He gives us peace that is more than earthly. Trust the God who ministers to the present needs. Trust the God who was, the one who has ruled your life in the past. Let us get the idea of the God of development and growth, who is the God of the future, who is the God of the present. The real ground of faith is what Christ is. Jesus sits in the Eternal throne, gripping the eternal sceptre. All of these things are grounded in the everlasting love of God. The programme of the love of God is endless. Ministry is a blasphemy. The claims of Christ must stand before all others."

Rev. R. N. Rand conducted a very interesting evangelistic service in closing.

At 9.30 Friday morning Rev. E. P. Calder opened the session with a devotional service. He has charge of all the devotional services of the Association and he announced that he would take one subject through them all, that of worship. God prepared his people for worship by the Holy Spirit. The initiative to worship. The great struggle in Europe will bring the world back to the worship of God. The purpose of worship is to teach people to be true to God. In everything the children of Israel did, God wanted them to do it that he should be glorified. The worship time should be the preparation for power or it was before Pentecost. As the cloud lifts let us follow the altar.

Rev. A. Hurn took the chair at 10 o'clock. The printed programme was adopted and the necessary changes made. The delegation were enrolled and the Association was organized. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—Moderator—G. Warren, Clerk, Rev. R. N. Rand; Treas., George Warren. The following committees were appointed:—The Moderator, Rev. W. P. McVie, Rev. M. E. Fletcher, and William McLeod. Arrangements—Rev. L. E. Ackland, Rev. R. N. Rand, J. Smallman.

Rev. A. A. Gates read an illuminating report on Denominational Literature. Every Baptist family should be subscribed to that excellent paper, The Maritime Baptist. In every one of our homes there should be volumes of Baptist history and doctrine. There should be biographies on the lives of our missionaries. A good hymn book is important. Sunday School literature should be carefully selected. A good catechism may be serviceable for the children. A lively discussion followed in which Rev. E. P. Calder, Rev. Z. L. Fash, Rev. M. E. Fletcher, and William Scott took part.

Rev. W. P. McVie read a clear cut report on Western Missions. The past year has been one of great financial stringency, and yet our mission has done well under difficulties. The needs of the west are very great this year. The call for help is loud to us. Rev. A. Hurn moved the adoption of the report and it was seconded by Rev. E. P. Calder. On motion of Rev. A. Hurn it was decided that the Circular Letter be eliminated from the programme in the future. Some changes were also decided upon in reference to the report on obituaries. The Moderator in retiring gives an address each year.

At the afternoon session Rev. E. P. Calder conducted a very helpful devotional service. His subject was the place of worship in the New Testament. Jesus Christ is the centre of all worship in the New Testament.

The Moderator took the chair at three o'clock. After reading of the minutes Rev. F. A. Hubley read a clean cut report on Systematic Benevolence. The very word benevolence is Christian in its meaning, but today the greatest emphasis needs to be put upon the word systematic. Jesus Christ was truly unselfish and he demands that of his followers. When self prevails Christ is not supreme. The loss of life is real gain. Sacrifice is the heart of the gospel. Christian benevolence gives its best for Jesus Christ. If there was systematic giving on the part of the people our missions would not suffer.

Rev. M. E. Fletcher gave a reassuring address on Christian Living. The Church Letters were read and they showed that good progress had been made during the year in the churches. The Moderator gave a hearty welcome for new ministers who had settled in the province during the year. They were Rev. E. P. Calder, Rev. A. A. Gates, Licentiate F. J. Jordan and E. L. Curry, each spoke briefly.

Mr. A. D. Matheson read a well written report on Grand League Missions. The Rev. D. Nowlan, Rev. Mr. McPherson, Rev. B. I. Porter and Rev. M. E. Fletcher were invited to a seat in the Association. The session continues tonight and all day tomorrow and on Sunday.

SUMMERSIDE, July 3.—The meetings of the Baptist Association are being largely attended. The hospitality of the Summerside people abounds. The weather is ideal. Saturday and Sunday will be great days. Friday evening, Rev. E. P. Calder conducted the opening devotional service. The Moderator took the chair and called upon Rev. M. E. Fletcher, St. John, N. B., Secretary of Canadian Baptist Foreign Missions Eastern Section. Mr. Fletcher gave a most inspiring address on the rise and growth of the Baptist Denominational organizations in the Maritime Provinces. His work back to the year 1800, when they had no Home Mission Boards. In 1814 the Baptist Fathers began Home Mission Work. Foreign Mission work began with them at the same time. Mr. Fletcher graphically pictured the story of Baptist progress. He mentioned the first Women's Missionary and Society in the Maritime Provinces. During the twenty-five years of their existence they have done much for missions.
