Just a hint to the farmers of P. E. I. do not like tall small bone horses. I like them short legged, heavy flat bone good last year at Hughes Cove head. He is the kind of a horse for our country. I have a blood horse belonging to Hammond Kelly, Southport. He is the kind of a horse to breed to.

O YE OF LITTLE FAITH!
The bitter wind is whining in the sky
Before the blast the whispering leaves do roll,
The shivering cedars wring their hands—but why
Art thou disquieted within me, O my soul?
The troubled grasses lay them down and die
The summer time is rolled up like a scroll;
The naked hills are black and bare—but why
Art thou disquieted within me, O my soul?
No birds do sing, the troubled branches sigh;
The quail go scampering from knoll to knoll;
The waters chill repellent are—yet why
Art thou disquieted within me, O my soul?

Hark to the old-time promise—not sigh—
It covers all our world from pole to pole.
Seed-time and harvest shall not fail—then why
Art thou disquieted within me, O my soul?
The white-winged snows across our world shall fly,
And from our lives the frost shall take his toll;
The cold shall search the crannied walls—yet why
Art thou disquieted within me, O my soul?
Above the clamor of the tortured sky
A still small voice down through the tempest stole;
"I am the Resurrection and the Life!"—then why
Art thou disquieted within me, O my soul?

THE KHAN.
