PERFECT WEATHER FOR EVENT

Show Voted One of the Most Successful Ever Held in the Province.

The most perfect November day imaginable greeted the foxmen yesterday morning as they wended their way to the Exhibition Building for the final classes and championships.

It was a full day indeed, starting at 9 a.m. with the Pale Silver Class and ending with judging being done outside by the waning light after five o'clock.

Nobody seemed tired, however, until it was all over and then the reaction from the strain and excitement of the week evidenced itself. It was not only the exhibitors who were keyed up, spectators, too, had a nervous tension and followed their favorite foxes up and down the board as eagerly and interestedly as they would the race horses on the exhibition track outside.

As usual, since the weather cleared up large attendances were in evidence morning and afternoon and it is a safe statement to make that no Silver Fox Show heretofore has created and sustained such continued interest among the public.

As the afternoon wore on and the championships had not been awarded, many became dubious as to whether the show would close that afternoon or have to be carried on this morning. Quick decisions featured the final awards, as said before, and five o'clock found the decisions made and everyone awaiting with eager expectancy the presentation of the trophies by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor George D. DeBols, who had arrived in time to witness the last of the judging. He was accompanied by his Aide-de-Camp, Captain Roland Paton, M. C., and his aide to the entrance to the Exhibition Building by the President of the Provincial Exhibition Association, Lt.-Col. D. A. MacKinnon, D. S. O., who conducted the Governor and his aide to the Paton Pavilion, where President F. G. Kennedy of the Silver Fox Exhibitors Association welcomed him on behalf of the Association. As he entered the show room the capacity audience all stood until His Honor was seated on the platform which bore the wonderful collection of trophies and cups that were to go to the successful winners of championships and groups.

The Premier, the Hon. Dr. W. J. P. MacMillan, who had entered very unobtrusively earlier in the afternoon but yet not sufficiently so to get away from cordial greetings by the Silver Fox men whose Exhibitors Association has so cordially supported, was conducted to a seat beside His Honor on the platform. Awards being finalized.

FLANDIN TAKES OVER GOV'T.

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) PARIS, Nov. 9.—Pierre Etienne Flandin, newest "truce" premier, promised the nation tonight to fight the depression as aged Gaston Doumergue went back into the retirement from which he was called to rescue France from civil war.

The strapping Flandin's program, with which he hoped to win the backing of France's watching millions, included these important points:

1. Continuation of the policy of political truce inaugurated when February's bloody Stavisky riots scared politicians into agreement.

2. A fight against poverty and unemployment.

3. Economy in government.

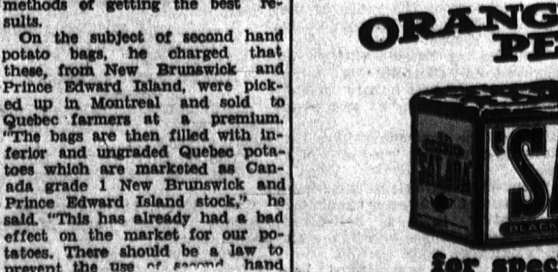

4. Rapid adoption of the 1935 budget.

5. Strengthening of the authority of the state.

NAZIS ACTIVE IN SAAR REPORT SHOWS

Commission Charges German Front With Intimidating Inhabitants.

(By Joseph E. Sharkey Associated Press Foreign Staff (By Guardian's Special Wire) GENEVA, Nov. 9.—The League of Nations Council, to meet Nov. 20 to consider the vexing question of the Saar, is expected to take up a new report of the Saar governing commission which charged the German front is intimidating inhabitants of the valley to vote for annexation to Germany.

The report, a 24-page document, maintained the German front was carrying on an organized campaign with the sanction of the German government.

Illegal Activities

"The commission feels it would not be fulfilling its duty if, at a moment so full of responsibility, it refrained from giving the council a faithful report of certain disturbing aspects of activities of the German front, many of which are illegal," the commission said.

The report revealed a native Saar member of the commission refused to subscribe to the catalogue of charges because he saw no real danger in the programme of the German front. This member also added that he believed the activities of groups hostile to Germany should have been reported simultaneously.

The report stated Nazis insist that inhabitants display the Swastika flag. The commission cited the experience of one priest, who, after his church wrote that he had received orders to hoist a flag over his house within five minutes. In his absence, the priest related, a flag was raised by his terrified sisters.

The commission stated one of the methods of terrifying voters was to publish libels against them or to place their names on "blacklists."

It was also charged persons deemed "traitors" by the Nazis had received threats that "punishment will follow quickly when the Saar returns to Germany."

Another priest complained that there had been made to cast religious leaders into concentration camps after the plebiscite. The commission stated Nazis were particularly active in boycotting motion pictures active in their efforts to gain control of the street-car for propaganda purposes.

Another Nazi activity, the report stated, was in the mortgage markets, the object being to prevent residents of the Saar from purchasing property held by foreigners.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) TORONTO, Nov. 9.—Two four-year-old playmates decided today to have a little game between themselves while waiting for a movie. They chased each other up and down the street thoroughly enjoying themselves.

But they failed to notice that they had dashed onto the road. An oncoming street car struck them down as they ran from behind a parked automobile, instantly killing them. The bodies of the youngsters, Dawn Lenore Case and Joan Scott, were taken from beneath the wheel of the car after the trucks had been jacked up.

Out in two, the bodies were taken to the morgue where a number of frantic mothers came to make sure they were not those of their own children. Identification was not made until tonight.

Tanker In Charge Of Island Captain Meets With Disaster

Captain J.J.Fitzgerald Of Georgetown, And Crew Of Coastwise Tanker "Caliche" Victims Of Tragedy In Mobile Bay, When Oil & Gasoline Cargo Explodes.

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 9.—An explosion beneath the bridge of the coastwise tanker, Caliche, set fire to the vessel today and caused the probable death of one seaman and injuries to 11 others.

The Caliche had cleared port only an hour before and was steaming down Mobile Bay enroute to Texas City, Texas, with a cargo of 30,000 barrels of oil and gasoline, when suddenly she exploded amidships, throwing the bridge high into the air and scattering blazing liquid in all directions.

So rapidly did the flames spread, that one member of the crew said there was no time to launch boats, forcing the crew to dive overboard into water covered with blazing gasoline.

SERIOUSLY INJURED
Captain J. J. Fitzgerald, master of the small tanker, was among the most seriously injured, suffering compound fractures of both legs and a broken arm. He was thrown into the air and landed on the deck as the bridge went up in the explosion.

Small fishing boats in the bay rushed to the aid of the stricken vessel, and one, the Wilmona, braved the danger of fire to draw alongside and take off Captain Fitzgerald.

EXPLODES AMIDSHIPS
MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 9.—The tanker Caliche, out bound from Mobile with a cargo of gasoline and oil exploded in Mobile Bay, 17 miles below here shortly before noon today. One member of the crew was reported killed and 12 injured, many in serious condition, were brought here to hospitals.

The tanker was proceeding down the bay when an explosion occurred amidships, and the cargo of gasoline and oil took fire. Seamen were thrown into the water of the bay, their clothing in flames.

Fire swept the vessel as the aid of the seamen, rescuing the 12 of the vessel, who had compound fractures of both legs.

Fire swept the vessel as the highly inflammable cargo was scattered about it.

The vessel, of 4,700 tons gross capacity, was owned by the Motor Ship Caliche Corporation of New York, and had cleared for Texas City, Texas.

Captain Fitzgerald, referred to above, is a native of Georgetown, this Province, and is a brother of Mr. Charles Fitzgerald, Georgetown, and of Mrs. W. D. Gibbs, Charlottetown. He visited here last summer. His many friends will anxiously await further news of his condition.

ARMISTICE DAY SERVICE IN OTTAWA

Service Will Be Held Before Temporary Cenotaph On Parliament Hill at 3 O'clock.

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, Nov. 9.—Ottawa's National Armistice Day service will be held on Sunday at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. This, according to officials of the Canadian Legion which is supervising the ceremony, has been arranged in order that the regular church services might not be disturbed.

A temporary cenotaph has been erected on the steps leading to the terrace on Parliament Hill. The veterans will parade there, reinforced by units of the Ottawa Garrison, the whole ceremony being graded by the Governor General and the Prime Minister.

Unique Feature
This week the Ottawa branch of the Canadian Legion introduced a unique feature in connection with Poppy Day. On the lawn west of the post office there has been erected a reproduction of the ruins of the Ypres Cloth Hall. This rises out of a base of poppies. In front of the ruins a place has been reserved for crosses of remembrance.

These made by the disabled veterans of the veteran workshops, are purchased by those who desire to pay tribute to the memory of the fallen and are deposited in the ground. Already several hundred crosses have been so placed.

The idea is an adaptation of that which the British Legion has been carrying out for some years on the lawn of Westminster Abbey on Armistice Day. The crosses are collected some days later and are burned. The ashes are then taken to France and scattered over the battlefields.

The ruins of the Cloth Hall and the work of Allen Beddoe, a local artist and an ex-service man, and Capt. F. C. Badgley, M.C., chief of the Dominion Government motion bureau.

The Countess of Beesborough visited Flanders Field on Post Office Square this afternoon and after conversing with the nursing sisters in charge purchased a token of remembrance and planted it in the ground.

Uncover New Swindle Case In France

(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) PARIS, Nov. 9.—Revelations of an alleged financial swindle of vast proportions, involving the juggling of millions of francs through complex network of companies were made today by police after the arrest of Joseph Levy.

Police struck at the activities of Levy, and his cousin, Charles Levy, last night, and today made a search of their offices.

The case broke the day Gaston Doumergue stepped out as Premier of France, and Pierre-Etienne Flandin became head of the Government.

WILL CO-OPERATE

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire) OTTAWA, Nov. 9.—Four nationwide veterans' organizations have "hooked up" with the Canadian Legion in the pilgrimage to Vinny Ridge contemplated for 1936, according to J. R. Bowler, General Secretary of the Legion here today.

The Amputations Association, the Sir Arthur G. Pearson Club for Blind Sailors and Soldiers, the Canadian Pensioners Association and the army and navy veterans in Canada have all signified their intention of co-operating with the Canadian Legion to ensure the success of the Vinny pilgrimage.
