

"Doc Bird Says"

The only importance we attach to this business is that it is our life work. That is the most important thing in life after all.

It's quite important that you use only drugs of superior quality.

The purpose of drugs is to relieve suffering—restore health.

Inferior, weak, impure drugs do neither—the kind we sell do the greatest good. You'll be clear-sighted enough to realize that it's to your advantage to purchase drugs in this store—so well known for its high character goods and fair prices.

The sweetness of low price seldom equals the bitterness of poor quality.

SAVING THE FRUIT TREES

Economy and Common Sense Will Keep up the Orchard

All old fruit trees, when they cease to bear good crops of fruit should be grubbed and burned. To keep up the stock of fertile fruit trees there should always be young ones in course of preparation to take the place of those that are worn out, then when an orchard tree fails to bear, the young one can at once take its place. It should be understood, however, that when the old tree has been grubbed up, the soil in which it has been growing should be renewed, and if need be some rough material in the way of broken bricks, etc., put into the bottom to assist drainage if the subsoil is at all heavy and inclined to hold water. Those who like to do home grafting need never be without young healthy trees. It may be pointed out that old trees must not be condemned until one is quite sure that they are past renewing, as many suffer from pure neglect in the way of food. Orchards in which cattle and sheep are allowed to graze are not so likely to fail, but when the grass is converted into hay and nothing in the shape of food is brought back, then the trees must suffer and fall to crop. Orchard trees that are past recovery should be allowed further trial and rich top dressings given. In many of our farmyards drainings from the cowshed and stable are often allowed to run to waste, whereas these, if saved and diluted applied to such old trees, will work wonders. Sewage from the house and the soap-suds from the laundry may be profitably utilized in the same way.

TEA SPOILS WITH AGE

No tea is fit to drink after it is two years old. That is the age limit of tea quality and benefit. The best tea is the freshest.

"SALADA" Tea owes much of its world wide reputation to its salubrity from the plantation. The leaves are fresh picked every week the year round, then dried, sorted and packed in air-tight led packets. Every five weeks a new picking of "SALADA" comes fresh from the plantation to the purchasers.

Bulk Teas, carried year after year lose their freshness. Use "SALADA" and benefit by getting a cup of tea that is a pleasure to drink.

SKIRT OF HEAVY WORSTED WAIST OF DARK RED CHIFFON

This is the kind of a dress that the girl who used to wear shirt waists is now wearing, and very natty it is. The skirt is of heavy, mannish worsted—a kind of gray mixture. It is cut peculiarly in a way that draws around the figure at the feet. At one side there is a pleat or tuck running down the entire length of the skirt from hip to foot. From the front around to the other side there is a gored panel put on with large buttons. The waist is of dark red chiffon cloth over heavy white lace. Across the back there is a dark blue velvet star fastened at the shoulders with tiny buttons to match those on the skirt, and there is a little piping of the same velvet each side of the lace under sleeves that show beneath the chiffon. One original thing about this costume is that the fronts of the kimono waist are cut long enough to tie in a little bow at the top of the high waisted skirt in front, at one side at which is placed one of those little bunches of English field flowers that are omnipresent just now.

Reservoir For Ink

This isn't a fountain pen. It's simply a regular pen with two pen points in the holder instead of one. It will be found that by using a system like this 40 or 70 words can be written before it is necessary to dip the pen in the ink again. The space between the pens forms a small reservoir that feeds the ink to the points freely and easily. The upper pen point should be shoved into the holder just the least little bit further than the lower with which the writing is done.

New Tax For German Householders

An enormous amount of dissatisfaction has arisen among householders in Germany with regard to the new tax of 50 shillings per annum on every servant kept. For the payment of this sum the State undertakes to relieve the householder of all responsibility when servants become ill.
