A stage was erected in the handball court, upon which sat His Lordship, Father Pius Macdonald, Spiritual Director of the Society, Mr. P. A. Smith, President of the Society, and Father Maurice McDonald. The reception hall was beautifully decorated and illuminated. A large arch of welcome, electrically illuminated, was to be seen in the foreground, while patriotic and emblematic bunting and strings of the papal colors were lavishly displayed. Mr. W. J. Brawders, Secretary of the Society, read the address to His Lordship, and Mr. P. A. Smith made the presentation, a beautiful gold crucifix, with wine and water cruets.

His Lordship in replying said he was very happy to be present to meet the Catholic young men of Charlottetown. He had heard of the Society many times and nothing would be dearer to his heart than their welfare. He assured them of his hearty assistance and co-operation in all their efforts. He spoke encouragingly of the project of building a new hall, in which he would be pleased to give every assistance possible.

Excellent addresses were delivered by Revs. Pius and Maurice McDonald, Messrs. Thomas Trainor, Joseph Francis, Ambrose Joy, R. F. Maddigan, Peter Doyle and P. A. Smith. A HUGE TREE.—An apple tree in the orchard of Mr. Kenneth McKay Margate, has attained the venerable age of 60 years and the respectable girth of 74 inches around the waist, and a spread from tip to tip of its branches of 52 feet. This monstrous tree grew from a seed planted 60 years ago and has in its life-time produced hundreds of barrels of excellent eating apples. It is now covered with blossoms and promises to yield a large crop this summer. If anyone knows of a tree of equal or superior pretensions as to size, age or productivity, the Guardian will be pleased to write its biography.

SHEEP DIPPING.—The sheep dipping demonstrations which have been carried on by the Department of Agriculture in Prince County during the past week have met with great success. A lot of sheep have been dipped, and every person who has seen the operation is quite enthusiastic over the thorough and efficient manner in which it is done. The cost too is very small where a large number are dipped. This week demonstrations are being given on Wednesday at Springfield on the farm of Everett Haslem, on Thursday at Graham's Road on the farm of Bruce McKinnon, and on Friday at Clinton on the farm of Jas. Pickering. Every person interested is invited to be present and bring in their sheep.

Miss Raymond is an elocutionist of unusual ability, and her rendering of difficult pieces showed faithful work. Miss Ferguson's violin playing for an undergraduate, was certainly a revelation of what girls can accomplish and delightfully entertain. Miss Spicer, pianist, is equally as good and did brilliant work through her course at the Ladies' College. They plan to give a series of concerts in the holidays. These young ladies give promise of being a credit to their Alma Mater, and we wish them success. They received a vote of thanks for their concert here for the Sunday School." Miss Ray Ferguson, spoken of here, is a daughter of Mr. J. C. Ferguson, Souris.

Dr. Bernard McDonald was after this waited upon by the Senior and Junior Philosophers of the college who presented him with a handsome gold-headed cane. Mr. Frank Walker read the address accompanying the gift and the recipient made a fitting reply.

The captain when they would go up to the top of the ship and cry out "Over, over, over, and when the passenger would get over he would be as wet as a shad. It is with satisfaction that the intelligence was received in Charlottetown yesterday that the two fishery boats of St. Peter's Harbor, about whose safety considerable anxiety existed on the previous evening, had been picked up in the morning by one of the gasoline boats which went out to their rescue. As reported in yesterday's Guardian, the two men, George Hume and John Drake (a lad of about 18), who were working in the interests of Mr. R. N. Cox's factory at St. Peter's Harbor, left there in a gasoline fishing boat at about nine o'clock on Monday morning and went to the fishing ground, about fifteen fathoms of water. It appeared that when in the course of the afternoon they started to make for the harbor their engine broke down and they drifted out for a couple of miles east of St. Peter's when their anchor held, and they were anchored there through the night, suffering somewhat from exposure. Naturally their failure to return to St. Peter's caused considerable apprehension there, and as the result of the weather becoming too rough for any boats to be sent out from St. Peter's to search for the absent craft, Mr. Russel Cox, of Morrell, telephoned his father, Mr. R. N. Cox, who happened to be in the city, asking him to get some steamer to go to the rescue. Mr. Cox senior immediately communicated with Capt.

Taylor, of the Marine Department, and through the agency of Messrs. A. A. McLean and Donald Nicholson, the Parliamentary representatives of Queen's County, the D. G. S. Brant was despatched to look for the missing gasoline boat. The Brant left Charlottetown at nine o'clock last night and was to proceed at once to St. Peter's to make inquiries before proceeding to the search. She was due to reach the scene about daylight. But it transpired that before she reached her destination and before she could join in the rescue, the missing craft had been brought safely to harbor by another gasoline boat which went out at daybreak and found the other craft at anchor not far from shore. The rescuing boat was in charge of Ronald and Reuben Drake and J. Arnold, and it turned out to be the Providential that they fell in with the missing boat as early as they did, because shortly after they had got her to harbor, the weather became very rough, so rough indeed that it would not have been possible for any boat to have gone out to the rescue. The two men, Hume and Drake, beyond the effects of exposure to the cold, were not much the worse for their unpleasant adventure. It happened, however, that they had a supply of food with them, and they were able to keep the inner man supplied if they were not able to keep their outer bodies as warm as they might have desired. Up to midnight last night the Brant had not returned to Charlottetown harbor.

BEAVER FLOUR THE BLENDED FLOUR
 Compare a Loaf of "Beaver" Flour Bread With One Made of Western Wheat Flour
 You never realized what a difference there could be in quality. "Beaver" Flour loaf is compact like cake—the texture is fine—smooth, even, regular—the color beautifully white—the crust, a rich, crisp brown—the taste, real homemade. Western wheat loaf is full of holes—texture, coarse—the color seems gray compared with the snowy whiteness of "Beaver" Flour bread—and the flavor is almost tasteless.
 "Beaver" Flour has a quality all its own, because it is a blended flour. It is Ontario fall wheat flour—with just enough Manitoba spring wheat flour to increase the strength and make the dough stand up in the oven.
 It is this combination—arrived at by years of experimenting and testing—that gives "Beaver" Flour both quality and quantity.
 It is because "Beaver" Flour is a true blended flour and made of the best wheat in the world, that it is equally good for bread and pastry, and best for both.
 "Beaver" Flour is immeasurably superior to any western wheat flour for all kinds of baking. You can prove this to your complete satisfaction, the very first time you use it for Bread, Rolls, Biscuits, Cakes, Pies or Pastry.
