CUBS WIN WORLD SERIES OPENER 9-0

Detroit Tigers Shocked As Cubs Jump On Famed Newhouser In First Inning

By GAYLE TALBOT

DETROIT, Oct. 3—(AP)—Chicago Cubs jumped on Hal Newhouser at the outset of the World Series today and defeated Detroit Tigers, 9-0, behind the six-hit pitching of Hank Borowy as 54,637 fans shivered in Briggs Stadium.

A stroke of lightning out of the clear, sun-filled sky scarcely could have shocked them more than the ease with which the Cubs tore into Newhouser, greatest hurler of the American League, for eight hits and seven runs in the first three innings and drove him from the hill.

It was never a ball game. The National League champs, underdogs in the pre-series betting, looked so far superior for the day that it scarcely seemed necessary to play off the classic. They hammered the ball almost at will, piling up 13 hits, including a home run by Phil Cavarretta, a triple and two doubles, while only one Detroit player reached third base.

Borowy, who came to the Cubs from the Yankees for $100,000 two months before the season ended, had his former American League rivals handcuffed. All the six hits the Tigers managed off his sharp curving were singles, and they didn't look as though they could have scored off him if they had played another nine frames.

Borowy, the thin, serious young righthander from Fordham University, signed his application for the World Series hall of fame by his smoothly-pitched victory. He became the second pitcher in World Series history to pitch a victory both in the American and National Leagues. He hurled the Yankees to victory over St. Louis Cardinals in the 1943 classic. Jack Coombs last completed the trick in 1916 for Brooklyn Dodgers, having previously won in 1910 and 1911 for Philadelphia Athletics.

Newhouser, the Tigers' 25-game winning beauty, who figured to be the outstanding pitcher of the Series, proved to be the softest sort of a touch for manager Charlie Grimm's National Leaguers. The second Cub to bat belted him cleanly, and from there on until he was relieved by Al Benton in the third inning the Bruins clouted him almost at will. He gave up the game's first seven runs, and the Cubs got two more off flutterballer Jim Tobin in the seventh. At that point it didn't matter.

House Fell In

Newhouser got the first Cub batter, Stan Hack, out on an infield roller, and then the house fell in on his noggin. What had shaped up as possibly a great pitchers' duel quickly became a shambles as the Cubs stepped up and teed off.

Don Johnson beat out a hit through the box and stole second. Phil Cavarretta, the season's top hitter with an average of .355 beat out a roller to second base. Andy Pafko was purposely passed, filling the bases.

Bill Nicholson weighed in with a terrific triple to right field that cleaned the sacks, and scored a moment later on Mickey Livingston's single. Newhouser plainly had nothing at all to puzzle the Cubs. The attack on him finally ended only because Livingston tried to steal and was thrown out by Paul Richards' rifle-like arm.

It looked as if the Detroit southpaw star might simply have had a bad inning when he came back to strike out three Cubs in a row in the second inning. The frostbitten throng cheered when he whiffed Roy Hughes, Borowy and Hack as fast as he could serve up his southpaw shoots.

But it didn't last. Johnson led off the third with a double to centre that veteran Roger Cramer reached but couldn't hold. Peanuts Lowrey sacrificed him to third, and he raced in on Cavarretta's single. Pafko's double and Livingston's single brought in two more before the fire was put out, again because Livingston thought he could outrun a Richards' peg to second.

By this time Manager Steve O'Neill had decided Newhouser had enough, and Al Benton was on the hill.

Tobin took over in the fifth after a pinch-hitter had tried futilely to solve Borowy's slants, and the former National Leaguer held the Cubs in check for a couple of innings. But they got to him, too, in the seventh, when Cavarretta bounced his home run off a right-field stanchion, with none aboard, and Pafko and Nicholson followed with singles which, mixed in with a single and a passed ball, produced a second run.

A Hitting Ball Club

The Cubs looked like a hitting ball club, whereas the Tigers still were amazingly puny against Borowy. Cavarretta whaled his home run and two singles; Pafko had a double and two singles and walked once. Johnson, Nicholson and Livingston each clouted two clean hits. Hack got the other Cub hit, a single.

Eddie Mayo, Tiger second baseman, was the only man to solve Borowy twice. The Bengals' best scoring chance came in the fifth, when Mayo led off with a clout to left and Greenberg followed him an out later with a bruising single to centre. Mayo, however, made the mistake of trying to reach third on the sock, and Pafko cut him down with a perfect peg to Hack which caught the Tiger sparkplug 10 feet from the bag.

Outside of that, the Tigers made two blows off Borowy in only one inning, the first. Skeeter and Mayo led the opening heat with successive singles, and two other Tigers worked Borowy for walks, but nothing came of it, principally because the Cub infield produced a fast double play where it counted.

The Fielding Gem

The fielding gem of the contest, which produced several and was not blemished by an error, probably was the stop by Cavarretta of a smash by Webb down the first base line in the third inning. The Cubs' star dove into the dust about 10 feet back of first and came up with the ball in time to toss it to Borowy for the putout.

The weather was uncomfortable, to say the least. Few World Series fans ever have enough sense to carry an overcoat, and they suffered today for their lapses. The temperature at game time was 45 degrees. Detroit's trainer produced a couple of heaters to warm up the Tigers' mitts in the dugout, but it was of no appreciable benefit once Borowy began sailing his snowballs.

Manager Grimm of the victorious National Leaguers announced in the dressing room he would throw Hank (Hooks) Wyse, who won 22 and lost 10 in the regular season, against the Tigers tomorrow. Steve O'Neill chose Virgil Trucks, the righthanded fast-baller just released from the Navy, to try to pitch his club back into championship contention.

Art Ross, Jr. To Be Assistant Manager Of Boston Bruins

BOSTON, Oct. 3 — (AP)—Manager Art Ross of Boston Bruins Hockey Club announced today that his son, Arthur Ross, Jr., recently discharged from the R.C.A.F., will be assistant manager of the Bruins.

Ross also told sports writers at a luncheon that Johnny Crawford, star defenceman, will captain the Bruins for the 1945-46 season. Dit Clapper will act as coach and may fill a defence spot.

The Bruins will start practice in Quebec City next Tuesday with 45 players invited to report at the training camp. Among the former stars who are expected to appear are the famed Kraut kids — Bobby Bauer, Woody Dumart and Milt Schmidt.

Charlie Grimm In High Glee Over Victory Of His Cubs In Series Opener

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

DETROIT, Oct. 3 — (AP — The happiest man in Detroit tonight was Charles John Grimm, the inspiring 48-year-old leader of the triumphant Chicago Cubs.

The leather-faced Grimm was whistling with boyish enthusiasm as he led his chilled and shivering players into their steam-heated dressing room.

"It's a nice, cold day to get nine runs, isn't it?" he beamed. Then he launched into a complimentary speech on Hal Newhouser, the Detroit hurler:

"Newhouser had good stuff, but we just waded into him. Don't take it away from him boys, he's a helluva pitcher."

Grimm said the turning point of the game came in the first inning when Phil Cavarretta, Cub first baseman, beat out a roller to second baseman Eddie Mayo with two out.

Grimm said he would start Hank Wyse, a 23-game winner, against the Tigers tomorrow.

The noisiest and gabbiest of all the Cubs was the 65-year-old trainer, Dr. Andrew Hemmingway Lotshaw, serving his 25th year as club conditioner. Lotshaw, his uppers and lowers in his hip-pocket, began yelling for his bricks. "Where are them bricks?" he screamed. "Get me them bricks, I'll need them tomorrow."

Lotshaw explained he had soaked two huge paving bricks in hot water while the Cubs were on the field, so that Borowy could keep warm between innings. Andy placed one of the bricks on the pitcher's right arm and shoved the other under his feet while the Cub right-hander huddled on the bench trying to keep warm.

In Chicago, the pitchers are provided with electrically-heated coats.

Borowy, weary after taming the Tigers, quietly accepted the congratulations of his mates, grinning with appreciation for their sharp and brilliant fielding.

"I'm dead tired," was the ex-Yankee's only comment.

Across the way in the Tiger clubhouse the gloom wasn't quite as thick as the steam from the showers.

Nobody offered any excuses, from Manager Steve O'Neill down.

"They just beat us. We'll be better tomorrow, I hope," O'Neill said from his wired-in cubby-hole of a dressing room.

"The Cubs just hit better than our fellows. Tomorrow's another day and maybe Virgil Trucks can do a better job of stopping them."

"We were bad," Hank Greenberg said, ripping a strip of adhesive tape from his bad right ankle. "Borowy was erratic and I thought we'd get to him until he got that seven-run lead. Of course he settled down after that. We just couldn't get started."

Eddie Mayo, thrown out trying to advance two bases on Greenberg's line drive single to centre in the fifth inning, couldn't deal out enough regard for the throwing arm of Chicago's centre fielder Andy Pafko.

"I hadn't a chance. That throw came up to third as if it were out of a cannon."

Roy Cullenbine, who went hitless, gave the bulk of the credit to Borowy for the Cub victory. "He pitched a beautiful game; he had good stuff and he kept it."

Hal Newhouser, who departed early after yielding eight hits to the first 16 Chicago batters, explained his sad fate dejectedly:

"I have no excuses. We were off to a bad start and couldn't do anything about it. I felt good and had plenty of stuff.

"We could have got out of it very easily in the first and third when the Cubs scored all those runs.

"It's the first time this year I've been scored on in the first inning —like that. I'll be back a couple of times. I'm not that bad."

Sydney Man Goes To Bruins Camp

(By The Canadian Press)

SYDNEY, N. S., Oct. 3 — Cliff Roach of Sydney, 23-year-old son of Mickey Roach, former National Hockey League star and once playing coach of New York Americans, will report to Boston Bruins' training camp at Quebec Sunday, it was learned here tonight.

Roach, who has just been discharged after three years in the Navy, played with the Halifax Sailors against Bobby Bauer a couple of seasons back, and the Kraut kid suggested to Bruins' manager Art Ross that he give the youngster a once-over.

The senior Roach played under Ross with Hamilton Tigers, and when Ross later went to Boston he tried unsuccessfully to buy Roach's contract from Tigers.

Cubs Become Series Favorites

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 3 — (AP) — Chicago's decisive victory over Detroit Tigers in the first game of the World Series today established the Cubs as betting favorites to take the 1945 baseball classic in the book of James J. Carroll, St. Louis betting commissioner.

Carroll, who favored the Tigers before the series started, announced that his odds now show that a bettor favoring Chicago must risk $20 to net $11 while a $5 wager on the Tigers will return $8.

However, Carroll likes the American League champions in the second game tomorrow with Virgil Trucks on the mound against Hank Wyse. A bet of $5 on the Tigers will net $4 while the Cubs are rated at even money.

Maritime Ball Finals Rained Out Again

(By The Canadian Press)

SPRINGHILL, N. S., Oct. 3—Rain and wet grounds washed out today's Springhill-St. Peter's tilt, second of the Maritime senior baseball finals, but a high wind that swept the diamond late this afternoon was expected to dry the field and let the teams go ino action tomorrow.

Springhill will send their star righthander, Len Boss, to the mound, but the starting choice for the Saint John squad is still uncertain. Lefty Ed Cunningham may taxe the box, but St. Pete's manager Clem O'Connor, pointing out that Frence Busters have eight starboard batters in their lineup, was wary of naming his choice. It is possible that the visitors will play a return engagement with Doug Ross, who handcuffed Springhill at Saint John Monday when St. Peter's took the first game of the best-in-three series 8-4.

Expect Softball Finals Will Open Today At Sydney

SYDNEY, N.S., Oct 3 — (CP) Postponed by rain storms and transportation difficulties, the opening game of the Nova Scotia senior softball finals is expected to get underway here tomorrow afternoon. Sydney Steel Union team meets Halifax People's Credit Jewellers, with the teams returning to Halifax for the second game Saturday or Monday.

The Jewellers squad left Halifax by train tonight for Cape Breton, after plans for highway transportation fell through.

Horseman Would Take Case To Court

TORONTO, Oct. 3 —(CP)—Doug Ness, well-known Canadian horseman suspended two weeks ago by the Incorporated Canadian Racing Associations for what the Associations termed "practices detrimental to the turf," seeks in an affidavit filed today at Osgoode Hall to have I C R A. proceedings reviewed by the Ontario Supreme Court.

Perno And McKinley In Draw At Sporting Club

Pete Perno and Ted McKinley wrestled to a draw in what turned out to be the feature match on a card staged at the Sporting Club last night. Originally billed as the semi-final, the bout went the full 60 minutes with each contestant being credited with a fall.

In a preliminary "filler-in" bout "Jinks" Jenkins, youthful local mat enthusiast, was awarded the decision over Peter Cormier of Moncton. "Jinks" took the first fall after four minutes and fifty-one seconds when he worked a body slam that had his more experienced opponent groggy. Two minutes and 47 seconds after the bout resumed Referee Wilf Enman gave the nod to Jenkins when Cormier failed to heed earlier warnings directed against punching with the closed fist and kicking with the toe.

A fair crowd was on hand to witness the card and genuine disappointment followed the announcement that the Kelly-Miller match was unavoidably off. However, the Perno-McKinley feud packed plenty of wallop and the resultant action gave fans an interesting evening.

McKinley took the first fall at the 37:24 mark when he followed a body slam with a paralyzing arm lock. Both grapplers, after opening cautiously, were showing signs of fatigue.

Perno scored the second fall of the match at 15:56, catching McKinley with a body slam and a spread-eagle press.

Throughout the match McKinley, claimant to the British Empire middleweight crown, favored an injured left arm.

Action and color was lent the contest when Perno played the ropes in an effort to give power to his ramming tactics. As often as not, however, he would pick himself off the floor and it wasn't in the ring.

Wilf Enman acted as referee, with Ed Acorn as timer.

U. N. R. R. A. Spends 100 Million On Goods In Canada

By JAMES McCOOK

LONDON, Oct. 3 — (CP Cable) — The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration has spent in Canada the entire Canadian $77,000,000 contribution to its work, plus a further amount in United States funds which may total $25,000,000 to $30,000,000, Rolf Nugent, of the U. N. R. R. A. Bureau of Supplies, said at a press conference today.

Various countries in the international relief agency made contributions on the basis of one per cent of their national income. Although there were unexhausted funds in many countries under this first contribution, U. N. R. R. A. already was faced with shortages of funds in areas where goods could be obtained.

Mr. Nugent, who has made a trip through Europe, said Canadian wheat is going to countries receiving U. N. R. R. A. aid and the Dominion is a "primary source of meat supplies." Textiles, trucks, soap, farm machinery, canned fish and seed were among other invaluable Canadian contributions.

The organization hoped soon to be able to call on unexhausted contributions in other countries, such as Australia, but the serious Australian drought had cut into bread and grain supplies from contributing countries, although this food still was plentiful.

Meat allocations were far below requirements. U. N. R. R. A. had been forced to obtain animal protein not subject to allocation, such as blood sausage, horse meat and whale meat.

The drive for used clothing for U. N. R. R. A. in Canada and the United States was "a tremendous success." In Canada between 10,000,000 and 15,000,000 pounds of clothing were collected and 110,000,000 in the United States.

Canadian livestock now was being moved to restore the horse power and herds of Europe with at least several hundred head of Canadian cattle and horses in a total of about 13,600 shipped by the end of September.

American Soft Coal Producers Present Case

OTTAWA, Oct. 3—American bituminous coal producers today put before the Royal Commission on Coal their claim to a continued share of the Canadian market.

In three briefs the American producers gave assurance that they were in a position to continue to serve Canadian consumers on the same basis as American consumers and from one of the American spokesmen came the statement that a reduction in the duty of bituminous coal would be welcomed.

The submissions of the American mine operators were heard after the Commission, which opened its hearings in Ottawa today, had received representations from the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy favoring Government assistance to the Canadian coal mining industry to prevent entire dependence on American mines.

The position of the American mines was summed up in a brief read by R. E. Howe of Cincinnati, Ohio, which referred to international discussions pointing to a relaxation of trade restrictions.

"We sincerely trust, if this is to be the policy bituminous coal flowing from our mines to your consuming points will get the benefit of more favorable conditions in the future than it has had in the past," the brief said. "We feel, of course, this would be to the advantage of the Canadian consumer as well as to the United States producer."

Mr. Howe told the Commission he felt it would be presumptuous for an American company to make any direct representations to the commission or the Canadian Government.

"I suppose you would like to see the 75-cent duty reduced to 50 cents," Mr. Justice W. F. Carroll, Commission chairman, suggested.

"It would be helpful," Mr. Howe replied.

Bermuda To Stick With British Empire

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Oct. 3—(CP Cable) — Bermuda firmly let the United States know that she does not intend to be the subject of any gift, barter or sale, making this plain in the reply to Governor Lord Burghley's Throne Speech Saturday afternoon.

The House noted with great satisfaction that it was the declared determination of the United Kingdom not to allow this to happen in any part of the Empire.

Hereward Watlington said that the Assembly might as well be frank about it—the remarks were addressed towards the United States where comments in Congress and the press suggested the colony be ceded to the States.

The Assembly told the Governor "we on our part desire to reaffirm our unswerving allegiance to the Crown and our unhesitating adherance to this principle."

A divergence of opinion occurred when some members observed that the word "empire" included Canada although that country had freedom to make her own decisions. However, others quickly pointed out that Bermuda wanted Canada to remain within the Empire.

Gov't Purchases Surplus Equipment At Mount Pleasant

The Provincial Department of Reconstruction has secured various materials for departmental use as the result of yesterday's sale of surplus equipment by the War Assets Corporation at the Mount Pleasant airport.

Chairs for the Department of Education, small tools and some electrical equipment for the vocational school now building, medical supplies for the Sanatorium, tools for the Public Works garage, and overshoes, rubbers and other supplies for Falconwood Hospital were purchased.

Pending distribution of the goods purchased by the Reconstruction Department, they will be stored in the former Portland Packing Company building, located at the corner of Pownal and Dorchester Streets. This building was purchased by the Provincial Government a few weeks ago for storage purposes.

The generators and heavy electrical equipment at Mt. Pleasant were not on sale, as they have not yet been released to the War Assets Corporation by the electrical controller. It was reported some time ago that the Provincial Government was considering purchase of this equipment as a start in its program of rural electrification.

Earliest Christian Record Discovered On Burial Urns

(By The Associated Press)

JERUSALEM, Ont., Oct. 3—Archaeologists said today they had discovered the name of Jesus, carved before 70 A.D. and perhaps by an eye-witness to the Crucifixion, among inscriptions on eleven early Christian burial urns found in a cave on the Jerusalem-Bethlehem road.

The urns may provide the "oldest archaeological record of Christianity" and an historical confirmation of the trial and crucifixion of Christ, the archaeologists said. The inscriptions have not yet been translated fully.

A sect of Hebrews who followed Jesus, denounced Pontius Pilate and mourned the Crucifixion of their leader was believed to have left the writings on the ossuries in the cave.

Pottery, lamps and bottles were discovered with the urns and transferred to the museum of Jewish antiques.

If your jingle is used in our advertising, we will send you $10.00! Remember, the more entries you send, the better your chances of winning. Have every member of your family send in an entry!
COLGATE'S SMALL BUBBLE LATHER GIVES YOU SKIN-LEVEL SHAVES WITHOUT SKIN-STING!
Big bubbles can't reach hairs at base where beard is toughest. Shaving hurts—stubble remains!
Colgate's small bubbles reach right down to skin level...soften every hair! Your razor glides smoothly—no pull ...no sting...no irritation. You get a really clean, comfortable shave!
