"He took them with him last time," the priest said. "But I doubt whether they knew where it was they went to. They're pretty stupid fellows. Certainly they couldn't have had any idea why he went there, or the whole village would have known it long before this."

but he wouldn't be likely to talk about it. If he had, it would have interested back here, for certain. No, I feel sure that no one else knew about it.

U. S. Continues To Speed In Defence Measures

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—By a vote of 401 to 1, the United States House of Representatives stamped quick approval today on an extraordinary $1,706,053,908 bill providing funds for 3,600 new planes, 68 warships, 95,000 additional men for the army, a far-flung system of naval air bases and other defence measures.

Last of a series of big defence appropriations to start through Congress, the measure passed the House and went to the Senate with only representative Vito Marcantonio, New York's American labor party representative, dissenting.

Among other items in the bill are funds for training for 87,000 civilian air pilots, to be conducted by the civil aeronautics authority, and to include primary, secondary and "refresher" training, the last for old pilots who may need brushing up on combat flying.

The chiefs of the army and navy held an annual meeting with treasury secretary Henry Morgenthau. He then conferred with Allied purchasing agents who announced that the United States had promised them an opportunity to buy more surplus war materials, in line with the administration policy of all possible material aid to the Allies.

In the Senate, a group of legislators asked what they termed steps in the direction of war. "Every move is being made to take us down the road to war," declared Senator Burton Wheeler, Montana.

"We have seen this country led away from neutrality to non-belligerency," said Senator Rush Holt (Dem.-West Virginia). "And if President Roosevelt in the government have their way we will strike out the non and be belligerent before the snow flies."

Pushing forward with all possible speed with the task of building up United States defenses, the war announced during the day that it had ordered work started on two new battleships and 20 lesser craft last night within an hour after President Roosevelt had signed legislation providing the funds.

At the same time, the White House said "excellent progress" had been made in surveying army-navy stocks for the determination of what may be declared surplus and be made available to the Allies.

The army-navy chiefs, including secretary of war Harry Woodring, Lewis Compton, acting secretary of the navy, General George C. Marshall, chief of staff, Admiral Harold R. Stark, the chief of naval operations, and rear admiral John H. Towers, chief of the navy's bureau of aeronautics, met in secretary Morgenthau's office.

They had hardly left when Arthur B. Purvis, the chief Allied purchasing agent, and Sir Henry Self, British aircraft production expert, entered. Upon their departure, they made their announcement that more supplies would be made available.

ST. LOUIS, June 12 (AP)—Larry McPhail of Brooklyn Dodgers discussed with the Cardinals today a trade involving Joe Medwick, outfielder, but just what was accomplished was uncertain.

The meeting of the Brooklyn officials with President Sam Breadon of the St. Louis Club was secret. No announcement was forthcoming.
