SUMMERSIDE and WESTERN GUARDIAN

—SCHOONER ARRIVAL—The schooner Maude Weston was in port on Saturday with a cargo of lumber from Richibucto, N. B.

—HEAVY GALE—The heavy gale of wind on Thursday night caused some anxiety among the fishermen for the safety of their lobster traps, but all their fears were relieved on Friday when they found their gear intact. The only damage yet reported was the demolishing of a barn in the eastern part of the town limits.

—RACE VIEWS—Some seven-teen views of the New Annan Races, taken by J. B. Barr, are being displayed in the harness window of R. T. Holman Ltd., Summerside. The finishes of the three races as well as several views of the heats are shown; also a few speed pictures of the Tremblay Brothers' boxing exhibition and the trick shooting by Blyoce Bowen.

—WEDDING BELLS—St. Mary's Rectory was the scene of a happy event on Wednesday when Rev. Rual Dean White united in marriage Mr. Frederick Dymond of Melburn, Lot 8, only the immediate relatives and a few friends being in attendance. The happy pair left by the evening train for their home in Springfield where they will remain for a few days before leaving for Boston where they intend to make their future home. We extend to Mr. and Mrs. Dymond our good wishes for a happy wedded life.

—BOY HURT IN ACCIDENT—Roderick, the seven year old son of Mr. Angus McDonald, of Emerald, was so severely cut about the face and injured around the shoulders on Friday morning when he was bringing his father's cattle home from the pasture that he had to be hurriedly taken to the Prince County Hospital at Summerside for treatment. While driving the cattle through a gate, some horses mixed in with them, and in the melee the boy was thrown to the ground and badly trodden upon by one of the farm horses, heavily shod. Last report on Saturday said the boy was doing as well as could be expected, and would recover from the effects of the injuries.

IN MEMORIAM

MR. ROSS DOUGLAS

The news of the death of Mr. Ross Douglas which took place at Bay Fortune on Aug. 12th, was received with general regret. Mr. Douglas was in the prime of life being only 36 years of age and was an energetic and successful farmer and he will be much missed in the community. He was a member of the Presbyterian church at Bay Fortune and took an active interest in all movements for the betterment and social uplift of the community. The sadness of the case is increased by the fact of the death in Feb. last of his eldest son Willie and in May last of his father, Mr. Joseph Douglas. Mrs. Douglas, nee Miss May Best of Lot 16 and four small children, Alice, Belle, Harold and Amy are left to mourn the keen loss of a devoted husband and loving father.

There remain also a brother William in Ontario and a sister, Mrs. Wesley McKenzie of Bay Fortune; also a half brother and half sister both of East Boston.

The funeral services on Sunday afternoon were conducted by his pastor, Rev. E. Lockhart. More than eighty carriages were in the cortege which followed the remains from his late residence to the Presbyterian cemetery at Bay Fortune. Mrs. Douglas and family have the sincere sympathy of neighbors and friends in their sad bereavement; they have also the comfort of the blessed memory of one to whom belonged the strong faith and deep peace of the redeemed in Christ.

LUDENDORFF HONOURED

It is stated in a Berlin despatch that flying in the face of republican opinion, Albertus University at Koenigsberg, when conferring the degree of Doctor of Medicine on former Field Marshal Ludendorff, cites him as "war hero and diplomat" and says he is entitled to this degree because he is such a consummate student of the military art that he saved the lives of German soldiers; that is, by his methods of attack he got the best results per men killed. He is also commended as "saver and avenger of our people."

Only the Socialist organs among the newspapers take exception to the degrees. Vorwaerts says he deserves quite a different kind of degree, because by pushing the war further than necessary, he caused many deaths. The paper expresses the hope that the professors at Koenigsberg teach medicine better than they understand politics.

THE PLANTING OF FRUIT TREES

This is the season for setting out young fruit trees, and it should be done just as early as possible. As soon as the ground is in condition to work, preparations should be made for the planting of the young orchard. A good, deep ploughing, if the land was not fall ploughed, should be given, followed by a thorough discing.

After the land has been worked into good condition, proceed to lay out the orchard. As it is desirable to get the trees lined up in all directions, this laying out should be done with care.

Start at one corner of the field and plant a stake, then run a straight line parallel to a fence, or in the desired direction. Having established this line, it is now necessary to run another line at right angles to it.

Go back to the first stake planted; with a stout cord measure to eight feet on this line and make a mark at that point; now shorten your line to six feet and by holding one end of the cord at the first stake planted, draw a circle on the ground. Having this done lengthen the cord to ten feet and hold one end of it at the point you marked of eight feet from the first stake, and draw another circle. Where this circle cuts the first circle made, plant a stake. The line made by this stake and the first one planted is at right angles to the line first run.

A flier in Newton, Kan., broke the arms of four persons who attempted to crank it in less than a week. That's what comes of crossing a bicycle with a mule.—The Legionaire.

TO CONTROL SPIRIT OF SOIL

Chinese pagodas are the work of the Buddhist church almost exclusively. The most beautiful specimens are in the Yangtze valley, where pagodas are the most numerous. Every important Chinese and Manchurian city is garlanded with them. From the walls of Peking dozen pagodas and towers may be counted within the city, and with a good glass a half-dozen may be seen rising from the surrounding plain.

Chinese have appropriated the pagoda as a counterpoise to evil, and use it subject to their rules of geomancy. At a city in Tung, in the Perkin plain, a region in past years visited by earthquakes there is a prominent pagoda, which at one time had 1,000 bronze bells suspended from its cornices, most of which are still in place. The people have this story of its construction: A water owl lives underground at this place, and when he shakes his tail it causes earthquakes. Geomancers located the end of his tail, and the pagoda was built in to hold it down. However, they could not locate his head, and thus he is still able to wriggle of the earth. When his eyelids have been accurately located a second pagoda will be built.

Pagodas range in height from 20 to over 300 feet, and are of various shapes, such as round, square, hexagonal, etc. They always have an odd number of stories, ranging usually from seven to nine, and sometimes with eleven, or even thirteen.
