In Memoriam

MR. JAMES MONAGHAN
 On Friday afternoon, February 2nd, 1935, Mr. James Monaghan, a well known and highly respected farmer of Hazelbrook, having been tenderly nursed by his wife and only daughter, Mary, for over a year, passed peacefully to his eternal rest after an illness which was borne with great patience and resignation.
 Born at Hazelbrook, August 12th, 1866, he was the eldest son of the late John and Mrs. Monaghan, nee Margaret Cullen. In 1903, he married Genevieve Gertrude Sullivan, daughter of the late Owen and Mrs. Sullivan, nee Margaret McKenna, of Vernon.
 He resided at Hazelbrook all his life and took a prominent part in all local undertakings of a progressive nature. He was particularly interested in co-operative dairying and in education, being a director and treasurer of the Hazelbrook Dairy Association since 1903 and a member of the board of trustees of the local school and of the MacDonald Consolidated School for many years. He was a quiet, conscientious and unassuming man and it has been said that no one ever turned to him for assistance or advice without going away a stronger believer in the great faith and charity of his fellow man. On many occasions differences of opinion among his neighbours were diplomatically settled by an appeal to him as he seemed to have the happy faculty of being able to get others to look at both sides of the question and then to agree to meet each other halfway.
 He was a full and ample life. Intensely proud of his Irish descent, ever throwing his influence on the side of right, well read and broadminded, taking a keen interest in public affairs, and in the friendship and confidence of persons of all creeds and classes, his door was always open and his hand at all times outstretched in beautiful kindness to those who required encouragement.
 The number of mass cards, flowers, letters and messages of sympathy bore testimony of the high esteem in which he was held by all those who knew him.
 He was attended during his last illness by Rev. Father J. W. McCordie of St. Dunstan's Basilica, of which church he was a lifelong and faithful member.
 He leaves to mourn his sorrowing widow, one daughter, Mrs. R. E. Shreeman, Hazelbrook, four sons, Sub-Inspector William J. P. of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Ottawa; Col. Clifford with the American Army somewhere in the Netherlands East Indies; Rev. Fred, parish priest at Kimberley, B.C.; and Fitz Arthur with the Canadian Army in Italy, one sister, Mrs. William Coady of Alexandria, and one brother, Joseph R. of Winnipeg. His other brother, John Edward, predeceased him by some weeks.
 The funeral, which was largely attended, took place on Tuesday, February 28th, at St. Dunstan's Basilica where solemn Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. J. W. McCordie, assisted by Rev. E. Robin, Deacon, and Rev. K. MacMillan, Sub-Deacon. His Excellency Bishop Boyle occupied his throne and was assisted by Rev. B. Croken and Rev.

 Whereas this interest in the youth has not only in their spiritual welfare but in their moral, mental and physical strength as well.
 Therefore resolved that we as a Church whose chief desire is the betterment of mankind, urge our representatives who constitute the present legislature to withhold any relaxation of the present prohibitory Act, if such is planned, but rather to seek to strengthen the regulations to the end that our youth may have a fair chance to reach the years of manhood and thereafter without being subjected to the handicap of legalized liquor stores commercialized for mere profit and gain, more than for the uplift and betterment of our people.

 Mrs. Ryan had been in failing health for a year or more but was confined to her bed only a month and in spite of the loving care and affection which she received, she finally succumbed to the will of God, after having received the last rites of the Catholic Church, of which she was a fervent and devoted member.
 Mrs. Ryan will long be remembered by her intimate friends and neighbors for her kind disposition and Christian charity.

Looking Ahead

Spring, so the poets say, is the season when a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love. That may be. But spring affects many other people in a very different way. To most home owners, for instance, spring means housecleaning time—time to put one's personal affairs in order—to take stock of oneself.
 This year, when giving yourself and your possessions the annual going-over, don't overlook your private papers, especially your life insurance. Circumstances may have changed since they were last reviewed; someone whom you named a beneficiary may have died; a policy purchased with a particular intention in mind may no longer be required for that reason, but for another; the almost every may, and I will be very glad to discuss them with you, in strictest confidence. Call or write me if you have any questions on matters connected with Life Insurance.

THE SILENT BRAVE
 So peaceful lie the dead who fought alive;
 All done forever with the need to strive
 With ancient hate and prejudice
 Donors of glory to time's furthest age.
 They'll be remembered Heroes
 Their deeds will song and pageant
 Praise long their portion; flowers
 With every spring;
 Armes will march for them, and church bells ring.
 But could they speak who died at
 This, and no more; that war on last, and peace.

BIBLE READING—
 Luke 12:35-36, 48-49.
 Some one has said, "Life has the habit of putting us on trial in the second watch." The attraction of the new year, with the new duties where we are learning fresh ways of doing things the word of appreciation for the task wisely undertaken have passed out and we have entered into a period of dull routine of repetition of method, with scant applause of humdrum waiting. We are less interested, less enthusiastic, more weary—the candle is burning low and has not even "been snuffed"—See verses 48, 49 and 47.
 During January and February we look backward and study the successes of our early days and sometimes wonder if the second watch is worth while.
 Critics ask, Has the W. C. T. U. lost its old power and influence? Half hearted workers or jobbers say, "What is the use anyway? Evidences have the running of everything. They are powerful in politics with money and we just watch and wait. What is the use?" Dr. Frank Crane has written, "Today is yours, God has given it to you. Take its pleasures and be glad. Play the new year, today is yours. Just a little man, today is between two darknesses, use it. All your yesterday has taken back, all your tomorrow are still in his hands." We have to consider the future—the past is gone.
 Let us place for the minute side-by-side some of the black spots and some of our lighted candles. Recent issues of our press tell of three great ocean liners to be equipped with floating

ACCOUNTS SHOW PROFITS ON LIQUOR AT NEW HIGH

With revenues exceeding $1,500,000 and expenditures of $1,045,893, the accounts of the Province of Nova Scotia have a net surplus of $2,276,754 last year, according to the accounts tabled in the Legislature yesterday by Premier A. S. Macdonald.
 Liquor profits at $5,546,641, the highest in record and up $1,289,286 over 1934, contributed the bulk of the increase in income although several other departments showed gains.
 The total for the year was $15,881,776, an increase of $94,840 over the previous year, with the entire revenue of the total amount coming from the liquor commission stores.
 On the other hand, increased expenditures, particularly for department boosted the total to $15,945,968 as compared to $14,045,584 in 1934.

DRINK BILL

From Ottawa Journal
 Those who complain of wartime restrictions on the sale of spirits and beer in Canada should note what is going on.
 In British Columbia, it was reported for the latest fiscal year more than $30,000,000 was spent for liquor and beer, and drinkers contributed nearly one-fifth of the entire revenue of the provincial treasury. They paid handsomely too, of course, to the Dominion treasury.
 They should note also the financial statement of Canadian Breweries Limited for 12 months to the end of last October. Profits from operations was $5,019,206, of which $3,800,000 went for taxes, and net profit increased by 50 per cent over the preceding year to $1,217,206 one half of this being the refundable portion of excess profits tax. In the same time working capital was increased by more than $1,000,000.
 It is a simple truth that this country's drinking bill is quite as high as we can afford. Beer, wine and spirit are luxuries at all times, and especially so when there exists the imperative necessity that we concentrate all our resources on the single and vital objective of national preservation. Those who grumble that there isn't enough whiskey, or that some times the taverns are out of beer, lose sight of realities.
