Red Cross Campaign Opens At Summerside

The annual Red Cross campaign for funds in Summerside got away to a good start last evening with a supper meeting for workers at St. Mary's Hall, served by the ladies of the Red Cross branch. The canvassers were given instructions as to their duties and they heard interesting talks by Mr. R. H. Rogers, president of the P. E. I. Division of the Red Cross Society; acting Mayor Henry Wedge, and Mr. John E. Campbell, president of the Summerside branch.

Mr. G. M. Mulholland, campaign chairman, presided and outlined the details of the canvass. He asked the workers to do their best as more money is needed this year than last year and it would be up to them to try to get everybody to increase their donations. Mr. Rogers expressed his pleasure at being present as it was the first Red Cross gathering that he had attended in his capacity as Provincial president. He complimented the gathering on the splendid attendance and went on to give a brief outline of the history of the Red Cross which was originally only a war organization to succor those who had been wounded or injured during their war service. Such a splendid organization was built up during the First World War, he said, but it was felt it should not be allowed to pieces after hostilities had ended.

He described the peacetime purposes of the Red Cross as "promotion of health; prevention of disease and mitigation of suffering." The speaker then explained the various activities of the Red Cross as carried on at the present time including disaster relief which he said were so fortunate here he had very little to say. He dwelt at length on the Junior Red Cross and said that this Province has the enviable record of having the highest percentage of classrooms organized as Junior Red Cross branches in the world. He told of the activities and work of the Junior Red Cross, particularly their crippled children's work.

Other activities of the Red Cross that he told of were: women's work in providing supplies for veterans and people in war-ravaged lands; the hospital service for returned men; the swimming and water safety movement; nutrition; and the blood and blood plasma service provided free in hospitals to those who need it.

These services are all costly, he said, and the money that is given in this campaign will be well invested. Donors to the Red Cross have the satisfaction of knowing that their money will be used to aid those in need. In his concluding remarks he emphasized that more money is needed than was raised last year.

Acting Mayor Wedge told the workers that the success of the drive depended on them. He said that he felt sure the quota of $4,500 would be subscribed and he wished them every success. Mr. Campbell told the meeting that although most of the work done is voluntary, large sums of money are needed to carry on. The canvass commenced immediately after the meeting and will conclude with another supper meeting in St. Mary's Hall on Friday evening when all returns will be reported.

SOIL FERTILITY

Now they must try to return the fertility of the soil by ploughing in green manure or other costly methods which should be charged to capital accounts.

Calling for the "zoning of exemptions" for farmers' Income Tax, Mr. Ramsay pointed out that Ontario and Quebec farmers have no freight problems and that the prairie farmer has a guaranteed price for his wheat before he plants it.

Speaking on freight rates, the member from 1st. Prince agreed with the Provincial premier that C.N.R. deficits should be paid out of the Treasury rather than by raising the rates.

Mr. Ramsay reviewed the legislation with general approval including the Premier's efforts in fostering Newfoundland trade. He called for the paving of the Elmsdale-Tignish road and considered the possibility of a No. 2 grade butter with more moisture content than No. 1—competing with oleomargarine.

In conclusion, the speaker warned of the menace of Communism and stated that our greatest safeguard is to be more democratic and more Christian.

Urges Action On Behalf Of Fishermen

Requests for frozen bait "holding-rooms" at the fishing centres; a ten or twelve-mile limit off the Prince Edward Island coast for druggers; pavement for the eleven-mile stretch of road from Elmsdale to Tignish and unemployment insurance for farm help were made by Mr. J. Hector Richard (1st Prince) when speaking in the Legislature last evening.

Mr. Richard felt that the farm labor problem in the Province would be solved when farm help could count on security from the Workmen's Compensation and Unemployment Insurance.

Speaking of the numerous requests for roads to the National Park, he asked what would happen to the other roads of the Province. He spoke of some 200 fishing boats gathering produce around Tignish area and that roads were required in the worst way for this traffic.

To the complaints of fishermen regarding the "menace of the druggers," Mr. Richard quoted a letter from officials of the Department of Fisheries stating that "claimants may take action against the captains of the druggers."

"Can anyone make sense out of such a letter as that — sent to a fisherman?" asked the speaker. He suggested that druggers should be kept 10 or 12 miles off the P. E. I. coast.

He suggested a meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 to send a plea to Ottawa to protect our fishermen in this matter. The fisherman cannot protect himself.

Paying tribute to the late Mr. Chester P. McCarthy, the speaker stated that Tignish harbor had the oldest Fishermen's Union in the world.

He quoted last year's production as totalling 279,316 lbs. for 24 trawlers, which could be doubled if the fishermen had the bait.

"I appreciate the good work the Government is doing for the fishermen, but I can't understand how the cold storage for bait in Charlottetown can help the bait situation in Tignish, Alberton, Miminigash and Campbellton."

Mr. Richard advocated "holding-rooms" at the various centres to keep the bait when it might be held over.

"Give the fisherman lots of bait and you'll have no trouble with him. He'll make his way," concluded Mr. Richard.

Stresses Need For Expending In Agriculture

Agreement with Opposition criticism that the full estimates could have been expended to good advantage in the Department of Agriculture was expressed in the Legislature last night by Mr. Forrest Phillips, (L-2nd. Prince) in speaking in the Budget debate.

One activity the Department should encourage, he said, was artificial breeding. In his district the size of dairy herds are no longer available. If the insemination units could be broadened out to include the whole Province it would be of great benefit, he believed.

Mr. Phillips also urged that bulldozers be provided for clearing land and moving farmers' buildings. If one bulldozer were provided for each County it would be a help.

Commenting on the satisfactory prices received for farm products generally last year, Mr. Phillips said this did not apply to the farmer's only cash crop—potatoes— which but for the support price would have been as unprofitable as they were during the 1930's.

Should Advertise — The Experimental Stations throughout the Province should do more advertising, Mr. Phillips believed. A day of entertainment would draw crowds and interest the younger people.

He noted with concern that the average age of a farmer in Canada today is about 48 years, whereas twelve or fifteen years ago it was very little over 40. This indicated that young people are not staying on the land.

He commended government activities in opposing freight rate increases. Rural electrification, he said, is something for which "everyone is clamoring." It had been promised and "we were supposed to have an eight million dollar programme spread over a number of years."
