If that can be done. Of course, very often this is an utter impossibility for financial reasons. In such cases the only method that can be used is intimidation. Holding the threat of throwing the firebrand out into the cold, cold world will generally work, because the individual who is willing to upset a whole household to gratify his or her love of tormenting others is invariably selfish, and anything that promises to interfere with his or her comfort will bring him or her to terms.

There are many old people, like your mother, who are petty domestic tyrants and who take out on their own families all their baffled desire to rule the world at large. They are full of conceit and feel perfectly capable of shaping the lives of those about them. They have sharp tongues and get a sadistic pleasure in making speeches that stab like a knife.

It is useless to appeal to the appreciation of these old people and tell them that since they are enforced guests in their in-laws' houses the least they can do to pay for their board and lodging is to make themselves agreeable. It is useless to tell them that since they are young all the manners and customs have changed and they are not competent to sit in judgment on what their grandchildren do. It is useless to ask them to control their tongues, because talking is the chief recreation of the old.

But it is folly, and worse, to let a cantankerous old person break up a home and warp the natures of children. Sometimes old people are just children themselves and have to be treated like children and disciplined like children and even verbally spanked. And like children, they are all the happier for being made to behave themselves.

So screw up your courage and have a good plain talk with your mother and tell her that she is ruining your home life and that you can't and won't stand it. She will cry and accuse you of ingratitude, but that chances are that she will brace up and be pleasanter to live with.

Answer:

That phrase can have many interpretations. One is being disloyal. Being treacherous. Being a fair-weather friend who makes loud protestations of affection to one's face and stabs one in the back with cruel criticisms and ridicule. Being one of the friends who feast with you in your days of prosperity, but who would not even give you a crust of bread if you were poor and hungry. Being one of the kind of friends who lead the applause when all men speak well of you, but who would be the first to fall away when people spoke ill of you.

Also, those violate friendship who tell the things that a friend tells them in confidence, or who make public a friend's secrets.

the name of the groucher is legion, plying his grouches in the grouchy "section of the press", in the halls of legislation and in public discussion, and not confined to the Patriot columns alone, but to that "section of the press", wherever its whines are emitting their discordant sounds. And there are sections of the press that are above making sacrifice of the interests of the country in grouchy propaganda. And there are papers and public men, on both sides of politics, and having divergent views on national issues, who will not even broadcast facts, when these are of a character to foul their country's nests or add to our already overwhelming economic disaster.

The same narrow mindedness which influenced "Another Anti-Groucher" to fit the grouch cap on his own head and his own party organ has led him into dragging the pyrotechnics of political warfare, where displays of such character are estimated as the farce of vaudeville, diversions to amuse and without economic injury, into the arena of my attack where the credit of the country is subjected to positive injury for the sole purpose of creating the poisons of political propaganda.

To illustrate, he cites the "flag waving" in the contest of 1911, as a grouch not included in the "Other section of the press." True enough. Neither were the addresses of Erastus Wilman, an emissary from the United States, delivered in this Province and in leading cities of Canada, advocating the Liberal platform, nor the proclamations of the Liberal leaders denouncing Conservative Imperialism, referred to in my grouch list as the irritating molters of the defenders of the "Flag."

The dumb-dumb bullets and foul gases of war are reprehensible enough in conflict, but they are totally outlawed in the times of peace. And those who mar the atmosphere of amity interims with their improvised and mostly unfounded grouches are a curse to any community, canker worms attempting to eat into the heart of national life, and when as in recent instances they actually foul their own and their country's nest, to its irreparable injury, the time is ripe for the decent and law abiding of patriotic citizenship to stamp out these rot spots with the crushing iron heel.

Could Not Turn In Bed Her Back Was So Bad

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND LADY USED DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Three Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills Completely Relieved Her Sore Back.

Mount Stewart, P. E. I., April 13. (Special)—"My mother had a sore back for a long while," writes Mrs. Wm. N. Griffin, a resident of this place. "Her trouble was caused through strain and cold. It got so bad she could not turn in bed without help. All kinds of different remedies were tried, but they did no good. Finally she tried Dodd's Kidney Pills, taking in all, three boxes. She has not had a sore back since."

With the winter months come colds and chills, which often double the work of the kidneys. Often the results are serious, for, if the kidneys weaken, harmful uric acid and other poisons are allowed to escape. Backache, dizziness and urinary disorders should not be neglected. Use Dodd's Kidney Pills to stimulate kidney activity. This treatment relieves you of discomfort, and wards off Rheumatism, Lumbago and Sciatica. An occasional course of Dodd's Kidney Pills will prevent kidney disorders.

RETURNS FROM CONFERENCES—Mr. J. J. OUTLOOK GOOD—Business is looking up on Prince Edward Island and potatoes are moving in volume, chiefly to Ontario points, stated P.W. Clarkin, district freight and passenger agent, C.N.R., Charlottetown, who was in Moncton Monday on railway business. It is estimated that approximately $3,000,000 have been brought to Prince Edward Island through the sale of fox pelts during the past season (1932-33), he said. Mr. Clarkin continued, "prices received for pelts during the past season were higher than for a couple of seasons past, the greater proportion being disposed of through European markets. In addition pelts were disposed of through Montreal and New York markets." With regard to the tourist trade Mr. Clarkin remarked that Prince Edward Island expects to receive a greater number of tourists this year than last. Increased efforts are being made to attract tourists to the Garden of the Gulf. Facilities for handling tourists have never been better, he went on to say, with the new Canadian National Railway hotel, at Charlottetown, the Canadian National, and the new modern oil-burning steam car ferry which connects the Island and the mainland and carries passengers and motor cars across the Strait of Northumberland from Cape Tormentine, N. B., to Borden, P. E. I.—Moncton Times.

New Harbor Ferry Launched

(Canadian Press) SHELBURNE, N. S., April 12—The Loyalist, Saint John's new harbor ferry, slid from the ways into the moonlit waters of Shelburne harbor tonight. As the big ferry left the shipyard, she was christened in the traditional manner by Miss Elizabeth Bruce daughter of the builder, A. D. Bruce.

A crowd of several hundred persons witnessed the launching and afterwards many of them attended a banquet in honor of the event. Superintendent Speak of the Saint John Ferry Commission, and W. J. Rouse, the ship's designer, were present.

The Loyalist was taken in tow by the Government steamer Arlieux and docked after leaving the ways. She will be taken to Saint John later in the week, it is expected.
