GRAY GAUDET—A pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Dunstan's Basilica at 5.30 yesterday morning when Mary Patricia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gray of Hyde Park Mass., was united in marriage to Harold Gaudet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gaudet, of Charlottetown. The ceremony was performed and nuptial mass celebrated by Rev. Geo. McCormack of the Basilica staff. Despite the early hour a large number of friends of the bride and groom were present. As the bride proceeded up the aisle Mr. Alex McLean rendered the wedding march and presided at the organ during the mass. Mr. Plus Callaghan rendered with much feeling "Who Comes to Jesus" and "Do More", "Hail, Heavenly Queen" and the Latin hymn "Pans Augellous". The bride, attractively gowned in powdered blue with jacket of cyclamen shade and accessories to match was assisted by Miss Winnifred McDonald, who was attired in a cyclamen dress with wine accessories. The groom was ably supported by Mr. Frank Lappin. After the ceremony the bridal party motored to the Queen Hotel where a wedding breakfast was served after which Mr. and Mrs. Gaudet left on a honeymoon trip to Boston, New York and other American cities. The large number of presents testified to the popularity of the bride and groom. They consisted of china, silverware, electric floor and reading lamps, and a handsome set of silver from the cast of "Laughing Irish Eyes". The Guardian joins with a host of friends in extending hearty felicitations.

Tension in International Area Mounts
(By The Associated Press)
SEANGHAI, May 16 — Tension between officials of Japan and of other powers interested in the International Settlement of Kiangsu appeared to be heightening tonight as the Japanese were reported to have made demands for control of the foreign area.
The Japanese tonight were reported in dispatches from Amoy, island on which Kiangsu is situated, to have demanded that Japanese be given the major administrative jobs in the colony's government.
The area was created by and exists under treaties between China and foreign powers. The Japanese entered the area Friday after declaring the Japanese Naval Commander was endangered by an incident in which a Chinese was killed near him.
Countering the reported Japanese demands for control of the settlement, the Kiangsu municipal council was reported to have protested through the Japanese consul general there against Japanese occupation of the area, stating there were no anti-Japanese tendencies among the Chinese.
The council was reported in Amoy dispatches to have protested also against hoisting of the Japanese flag and against use of the area as a battleground for the fight against the Chinese.

That Body of Yours
By James W. Barton, M.D.
ELECTROLYSIS BY A SKILLED OPERATOR BEST METHOD OF REMOVING SUPERFLUOUS HAIR.
One of the distressing ailments that often causes an inferiority complex and may lead to actual mental trouble is superfluous hair. A girl or woman with an otherwise clear complexion may have a light growth of hair on her lip, any if she is a brunette, this hair is very noticeable. Superfluous hair may occur anywhere on the body.
For years dermatologists have advised patients to undergo electrolysis by which the electric current destroys or removes these hairs one at a time. Unfortunately, the results obtained by some patients have been disappointing in that they have lost time and money and in a number of cases their appearance is worse than before undergoing treatment. These results are usually due to the operator lacking the proper skill.
In an endeavor to show that electrolysis is still the best form of treatment and to prevent loss of disappointment to many of these individuals, Dr. Anthony C. Cipolario, New York, in The Journal of the American Medical Association
"Electrolysis is far from being a safe procedure in unskilled hands. Carelessness and ignorance applied to electrolysis can cause serious damage to the skin which are objectionable, disfiguring, painful, and even at times, dangerous."
On the other hand, electrolysis if properly conducted by a permanent and safe removal of unwanted hairs on various parts of the body.
After outlining the type of apparatus to use, the method of preparing the skin to remove fat or other substances, the method of inserting the "electric needle" to the full depth of the follicle or hair canal, the strength of the current and length of time needed is left in the follicle before hair is removed by the special forceps, the following advice is given:
1. Hairs should not be removed from inflamed areas.
2. A test treatment should be given to learn how much the skin (of other parts of the body) can stand.
3. One should always use the smallest amount of current that will effectively and permanently remove hair. A mild current sufficient to produce a redness.
4. A hair adjoining one that is being removed should not be removed at the same time as this may cause inflammation.
5. Hairs should not be left in follicle longer than is absolutely necessary.
6. Only about three or four hairs are removed from an area about the size of a dime.
Treatments last about thirty minutes and are given once a week.
