CARRY ON NEWS AND VIEWS

You are requested to attend the Patriotic Meeting in Prince of Wales College Hall, Thursday, August 8th, at 8 p.m., Daylight Saving Time.

You will be asked to give your services to assist the war effort in any way convenient to yourself. If you were in Germany you would be represented and compelled to assist in any way Adolf demanded.

Canadians enjoy the privilege and right of self-expression. In Germany the individual is repressed and the state does all the expressing.

Whether you know it or not, Canada is at war. You may not be able to carry a rifle but you can carry a determination to do your bit in the defense of your Country.

HALT—your indifference! Enroll as a member of The Carry On Canada Corps. Here the satisfaction of making some personal contribution toward Canada's war effort.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific Canadians are aroused and determined to exterminate Hitlerism, Nazism, and all that rotten creed stands for, so that men everywhere will be free to work, speak, and worship as a free and happy people.

At the great battle of Trafalgar, Nelson raised the historic signal "ENGLAND EXPECTS EVERY MAN TO DO HIS DUTY." That day, today, Churchill, that man of resolute heart so typical of the indomitable fighting qualities of the British Bulldog has again raised this signal to the masses. Let every man answer for himself. AM "DOING MY DUTY."

There's always been an England, and because that is true there will always be a Canada, there will always be a Prince Edward Island, and there will always be beautiful landscapes, happy children, and a free people—provided the people are true to our great traditions and brave worthy of our glorious heritage.

The British Lion is aroused. His roar of defiance is heard around the world. From the uttermost parts of the earth the lion cub has heard the call and is rallying to the defense of the Motherland. The tall, magnificent Sikhs of India, the greatest colored fighting troops in the world, The Maoris, a generation ago untamed savages, but today an intelligent and brave race, The Amazons of Australia and New Zealand, South Africans, our stern enemy a quarter of a century ago, now loyal and patriotic subjects—a striking tribute to British justice and fair play. The hardy fishermen of Newfoundland, and our own brave Canadian lads, they fight on the land, in the sky, on the water, and in the bowels of the ocean, and glorious host, and by the Grace of God they will win, and redeem this old world from the grip of the accused.

Government by Assassination

A prominent United States College president has described Hitler's dictatorship as government by assassination. When assassination developed to Hitler a few years ago he wiped out those who opposed his policies, not at the polls, but at the point of a gun. In the famous blood purge, his secret police and henchmen killed all those who dared raise a voice against his government. For minor offenses, such as listening to English or American broadcasts, lesser penalties are meted out.

Suckers For Hitler

The biggest dupes of Hitler are not all in Germany or France or Holland or Belgium, we have some right here in Prince Edward Island. Hitler's propaganda is so effective that it has fooled some of the people of Europe and before they woke up they were sucking the Nazi heel. Right here on the Island there are some suckers who fall for the lies, half-truths, and myths that are poured out over the radio from Berlin. Take that pet phrase of Hitler himself, "the invincible might of Germany" for instance. A few people believe this hokum. But there are hundreds of Canadian veterans on Prince Edward Island, who remember what the invincible might of the German army looked like behind barbed wire after such battles as Vimy, Amiens, and other scraps. These supermen resemble nothing so much as a flock of half-feathered roosters, caught in a rain storm. The Canadians, like other units of the British Army, never go to believe in the invincible might of Germany. They licked them then, and they will lick them again and make them like it. This most fertile ground for Hitler's propaganda is ignorance. Today the people of Great Britain are standing to arms, confident of victory and heedless of threats and boasts of enslaved Germany. The United States government places no reliance whatever on the present government of the Reich. Neither the people of Great Britain nor of the United States, especially those who are enlightened enough to distinguish truth from error, are swayed by Berlin's efforts to bring about a peace on air waves. Some of our weak-kneed air force men need to pull up their socks, keep their eyes on the facts and let Hitler's fancies and fairy tales amuse those of feeble intellect.

Relief Food For Countries Under Nazi Domination

By Max Boyd

Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (AP)—Present indications are that relief food shipments to conquered countries from the United States this winter may be limited largely to supplies for children in territory not occupied by German troops.

British authorities are sympathetic to informal proposals from the American Red Cross that food for youngsters in the unoccupied part of France be permitted to pass through the blockade.

But British spokesmen have come out recently against mass government relief operations held by Hitler, and some relief officials here recognize that Britain must weigh humanitarian considerations against military necessities in determining relief plans.

Although experts of the United States government say there is sufficient food in Europe to prevent starvation, they question whether it can be distributed properly in view of disrupted transportation systems.

7,000,000 Refugees In France

In France alone, it is estimated, there are 7,000,000 refugees. The homes of most of these are in German-occupied territory and, until these persons can be returned, displaced and towns in the unoccupied zone are swollen with two or three times their normal populations.

Norman Davis, chairman of the Red Cross, has said that any relief operations by his organization would have to be under complete American supervision and control.

Whether Germany would be willing to permit a large number of American relief officials in occupied territory, such as the region along the English Channel, is a matter of conjecture. The Red Cross has been in charge of the relief work in occupied territory now.

A British point of view toward large-scale food shipments to conquered Allies was expressed a few days ago by a British official in charge of relief work in the United States on behalf of the Minister of Information.

"The United States will make it more difficult for us to win," he told reporters. "The prospect is grim for the unfortunate, but any guarantee from Germany that food will be delivered to the conquered populations."

one and the approaches to the St. Lawrence River.

General Elkins may come to fill in Canada a similar role to that filled by Lt-Gen. A.G.L. McCrae in Great Britain.

General Elkins was named in command of forces which must be ready to move anywhere to meet an enemy who may strike from the sea or the air. General Elkins was a Canadian army corps, built around the 1st Canadian division and engaged in defence of Britain.

General Elkins will command all the military forces operating in his area and will be responsible to national defence headquarters in Ottawa.

A naturally close contact will be maintained between General Elkins' headquarters and headquarters of the Royal Canadian Navy and the Royal Canadian Air Force for the Atlantic area but exact details of how the new organization will fit in with the sea and air forces and the existing military organization are in process of being worked out.

Military forces now in the area operate, as in other parts of Canada, under the command of the commanding officer of the military district No. 6, Halifax, now under the command of Maj-Gen. G. F. Constantine, under No. 7, Saint John, under the command of Brig. G. G. Anglin, will be under the new command. So will the eastern part of military district No. 5, Quebec, under Brig. E. S. Renaud.

Has Wide Experience

General Elkins, a soldier of wide experience and excellent record, is a native of Sherbrooke, Que., and a graduate of the Royal Military College, Kingston. He obtained his secondary education at Bishop's College School, Lennoxville, Que.

Of medium height and somewhat heavily built, he looks more like a successful business man than a long soldier. His work at national defence headquarters since the start of the present war has had a close relation to business for he was in charge of the ordering, securing and inspection of supplies for the Canadian forces.

That work called for 14 to 18 hours a day at a desk and it was largely done at night, during the two Canadian divisions now overseas were as well equipped as they were despite difficulties of obtaining supplies.

On graduating from R.M.C. in 1905 General Elkins obtained a commission in the artillery. He saw service in Canada and in France before the war. He was attached to N Battery, Royal Horse Artillery.

In the first great war General Elkins, now in the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel and to command an artillery brigade. He was mentioned in despatches three times and awarded the Distinguished Service Order and the British Empire Medal.

Since 1918 his rise in the permanent force has been steady. From 1928 to 1930 he was artillery staff officer in charge of the 1st Canadian division in Ottawa. From 1930 to 1935 he was Commandant of Royal Military College, from 1935 to 1938 he was District Officer commanding at Toronto.
