RODE ON WAGON TO QUEEN'S OPENING

KINGSTON, ONT., April 28.—Some interesting stories about Queen's University in its infancy in Upper Canada days have come to light through the discovery by Dr. R. Bruce Taylor, principal, of letters packed away in an old soap box in an obscure corner in a basement.

For instance there is a letter written by Thomas Wardrobe, for many years Presbyterian Minister at Guelph, who lived to the age of 94. Dr. Wardrobe tells how he came to attend the first session of Queen's in the year 1842. He had started his college course in Edinburgh, Scotland, but his parents migrated to Canada, and settled in the west of Upper Canada (now Ontario). He heard a Presbyterian College was to be established in Kingston, which had just become the seat of government for Upper and Lower Canada, with Lord Sydenham as Governor-General. The young man resolved to be present at the first session, which was to open on the first Monday in March. His home was 230 miles away from Kingston. Navigation had not opened and there were no railroads then. So in preference to taking the stage, he and two others engaged a friend to drive them to Kingston in his wagon, their trunks forming the seat.

"In five days and a half, averaging more than 40 miles a day with the same team, we reached Kingston," Dr. Wardrobe observed.

Reference is made about how he had to preach a Latin sermon in old St. Andrew's church with professors and students as an audience. Queen's was then housed in a small building on Colborne street, which still stands. Sir Richard Bonyycastle, British navy commander, then here remarked it was the "rummer" university he had ever seen when he made a visit to it. Professor Campbell, one of the Theology teachers, afterward's became principle of Aberdeen University in Scotland, showing the high type of Scottish scholars who started Queen's going nearly 90 years ago.

The present Queen's principal's residence in the university grounds was originally the home of Archdeacon Stuart, son of Dr. John Stuart, founder of the Church of England in Upper Canada. Archdeacon Stuart came here from Toronto (then York) to succeed his father as rector of St. George's, the first Anglican congregation in English Canada.

CATTLE SHIPMENT—Joseph G. Colby, Boscawen, N. H., has just purchased and shipped a carload of pure bred Holstein cows and heifers from breeders in Prince Edward Island. Those contributing to the shipment were Alex. M. Agnew, Charlottetown; Jas. MacCallum & Son, Southport; H. J. Kennedy, Southport; 3 females and a bull; Henry S. Stetson, O'Leary Station; Colby C. Lewis, Freetown; Blair M. Andrew, Hunter River; Percy O. Frederick, West Devon; I. W. E. MacCallum, 1.

WILL VISIT MARITIMES—Mr. James Rettle, Burgessville, Ont., Chief Inspector for the Advance Registration of Holstein cattle in Canada, has recently graded a number of herds for breeders in central and western Ontario, and when his work in this area has been finished he will leave about May 5th for the Eastern part of the province and Quebec, going from there to the Maritimes. As there is a possibility that the American Holstein-Friesian Association will at its next meeting in June pass a resolution debaring registration in its Herd Book to any female recorded in Canada which has not scored at least "Good" under the Canadian classification for cows, or a bull which has not scored "X" or better, many breeders of Holstein cattle throughout Canada with a view to being able to retain a market for their surplus stock in the United States, are now taking advantage of the opportunity of having their herds graded by Mr. Rettle at the earliest possible date.

P. E. Islanders Receive Honors

At the closing convocation of Pine Hill Divinity Hall, held at St. Matthew's Church, Halifax, on the evening of April 23rd, Prince Edward Island students played a prominent part. Three of the seven graduates, were Islanders, namely, Sterling H. Brown, B. A., of New Glasgow; E. Russell Woodside, B. A., of Darnley; and D. L. Geddings of Murray Harbour.

These three young men stood high in the prize list. Mr. Brown was awarded the first prize for Orations, while Mr. Woodside received the second prize, Mr. Geddings won the Rebecca A. Starr Scholarship for highest standing in Old Testament Exegeses, and the Russell Baskin Memorial prize for highest standing in the class of Religious Education. Their many friends will join with the Patriot in wishing these young men every success in their chosen profession.

At the same convocation the Degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred on Rev. George Millar, B. A., Douglastown, N. B., in recognition of the breadth of his scholarship, and of his long and devoted service to his church, as preacher, pastor and churchman.

Rev. Dr. Millar is widely and favorably known on the Island, having been minister for twelve years of New Glasgow and Brookfield, for twelve years of Alberton and for seven years of New London, having served in these three congregations a total of thirty one years, and enjoying the general esteem and respect of all in the communities where he dwelt.

A pleasing feature of the convocation was a message of congratulation from friends in Alberton, accompanied by a gift, which was handed to Dr. Millar at the close of the ceremony. He was presented for the Degree by Rev. W. A. MacQuarrie, of Hampton, P. E. I., who has, during the college session, been interim Professor of New Testament Language and Literature, in the absence of Rev. Prof. Dr. J. W. Falconer, because of ill health.

The Canadian Press with its many columns of news and information, is a most valuable asset to the community which has been the privilege of this paper.
