4-29dr1.The sad news came by telegram from Dundurn, Sask., announcing the death at that place of Pius Steele, son of R. J. Steele, Newport. Pius, as he was popularly known, left home about eighteen months ago to seek his fortune in Western Canada. Recently he was employed by a lumber Co, when typhoid fever, the scourge of the West, laid its hand upon him. Before medical aid was available the dreaded malady had reached an advanced stage and shortly after consulting Dr. W. A. Wilson, Dundurn, the stalwart young man succumbed to its consuming blast. On receiving the sad tidings Mr. Steele, with the wishing to have his remains taken to his Island home and interred in the family plot in St. George's Cemetery, telegraphed to Dr. W. A. Wilson to forward the body but before the instruction had reached its destination the interment had taken place. There he sleeps in the great western province, the land of the stranger, many and many a league from his Island home, yet when the angel of the most Omnipotent shall announce to every child of Adam that time shall be no more the true consolation to his parents, brothers and sisters, is the edifying faith of a reunion in Eternal bliss. May his soul rest in peace. With equal pace impartial fate knocks at the cottage and the palace gate.
We want you to have us in your mind's eye as Careful Druggists. To know that when you are sick you can send your prescriptions here with a feeling that they shall receive our undivided attention, that the best drugs procurable shall be used, that they will be filled correctly, and that the price shall be as low as possible.
