Passed Away In Colorado

Mr. Alfred Duchemin of this city received yesterday, by wire, the sad news of the death in Denver, Colorado, of his brother Hildreth Duchemin, a former resident of this city, where he was held in high esteem. He passed away at five o'clock yesterday morning after an illness from Bright's disease and pneumonia.

The late Mr. Duchemin was a son of the late Albert Duchemin of Charlottetown, and was about sixty years of age.

Before leaving for Colorado, for a number of years, he was employed in the lumber business in Charlottetown, first being associated with the late Mr. James Barrett. He later bought out the latter's business and carried it on on his own accord.

About twenty five years ago he removed to Denver, Colorado, where he has since been engaged in the contracting and building business.

He leaves to mourn a widow, nee Miss Cook of York, also two sons all residing in Denver. The surviving brothers are Alfred and Ernest in Charlottetown, Harry P. Duchemin, K. C., in Sydney, N. S., and Frank in British Columbia. Three brothers predeceased him.

A Tribute

(To Ruth Reynolds, Gaspereaux, P. E. I., who died February 20, 1934).

God gazed upon His garden here
And saw surpassing fair,
A rose of purest loveliness,
Shedding its perfume rare.
He gazed,—and pondered why
A bloom of beauty such
Should stay to feel the winds
Of fate, the gross, the crucial tear.
He stooped, and gently drew it forth
With fond and tender touch.

Its snowy petals softly closed,—
Asleep in the hands of God!
And smiling He raised it to His lips
And breathed its life anew;
He placed it on the Golden stair
Where only angels trod
And now it graces the Father's throne
Where angel wings caress,
And seeing it God smiles content
At its virgin loveliness.

Organist, Miss Edith MacCannell.

SOUTH AFRICAN VETERANS' BANQUET—The veterans of the South African War held a most enjoyable banquet at the Russ Hotel last evening. A number of visitors were also present with the veterans Col. Dr. H. D. Johnson presided. After the group had done justice to a splendid dinner the following toasts were honored: The King; Canada, responded to by Major T. E. MacNutt; Prince Edward Island Militia, responded to by Colonel Charles Leigh; the Canadian Legion, by Major F. B. Conrad; the ladies, by Mr. Bert Williams; and to the host and hostess. Dr. Johnson gave some readings on work of the militia in the earlier days. The remainder of the evening was spent in relation of stories and anecdotes of the South African and Great Wars. The function close with "The King."

CATHOLIC SOCIAL GUILD — The regular monthly meeting of the Catholic Social Guild was held Monday night in the Holy Redeemer Hall. In spite of the inclement weather there was a very large attendance. The programme opened with the singing of the "Hail Mary," followed by Miss Nan Leightizer who continued a paper on 'Reading" which was commenced at the January meeting. Miss Leightizer pointed out the pleasure, as well as the information one can get from reading historical novels, and showed how this oftimes wearying subject can become a real treat to one who pursues it. A vocal solo by Miss Florence Mallett and a reading by Miss Constance Coyle added to the enjoyment of the programme. A practical demonstration on "Correct Table Appointments and Serving of Meals" by Mrs. Lavallee of the Canadian National Hotel evinced a keen interest in this important subject, and brought forth much informal discussion. The members also had the privilege of hearing Rev. Father Arthur Kelly, C.SS.R. who spoke on "Outstanding Women in the Catholic Church." The Question Box under the direction of the Rector, Rev. H. Fleming, C.SS.R., concluded the programme.

Mr. W. M. Flynn, who has been confined to bed for the past two weeks with a very severe cold, is reported today as somewhat better, and is expected to be up in a few days.

QUEEN RECEIVES FLOWERS

BRUSSELS, February 27—During the Royal parade to the palace from Parliament today, a well dressed young Belgian boy carrying flowers tried to make his way through police lines, but was turned back.

Queen Astrid saw him gesticulating to a policeman and immediately ordered her carriage to halt. She called to the boy.

He gave her the flowers, and she kissed him profusely. This was the signal for another of the many demonstrations she received during the day.

AUSTRIAN TROOPS ON ROUTE MARCH

(By Wade Werner)
(Copyright 1934 By the Associated Press)
(A. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

VIENNA, Feb. 27 — Mysterious troop movements which have been exciting rumors and conjectures in Austria and abroad recently were termed by Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss tonight a "natural aftermath" of the civil war.

A show of strength was needed in upper Austria where the Socialist uprising began two weeks ago and apparently smouldered the longest, Dr. Dollfuss said in a statement to the Associated Press.

"The Austrian government," he explained, "only ordered the movement of an auxiliary corps (the Fascist Heimwehr, or Home Guard) to upper Austria in order to maintain public security against all possible occurrences."

Must Be Repealed

One of Dollfuss' aides, Prince Ernst Rudiger Von Starhemberg, meanwhile, declared that laws banishing members of the Hapsburg dynasty from Austria and confiscating their property must be repealed.

The question of a possible restoration of the Hapsburg monarchy, the Heimwehr commander said, "is almost impossible to answer while we are in the midst of our work of reconstruction, particularly because we are not sure it could be kept a purely Austrian question."

Chancellor Dollfuss said that "parts of upper Austria were centres of riots (the civil war fighting) —which explains the necessity for such measures."

March on Vienna

Among rumors circulating with the departure of Homeguard units from Vienna late last week were several to the effect that they planned a march on Vienna or that the Heimwehr was being mobilized to protect the Austro-German frontier.

The usual precautions have been taken on the Austro German line, but "everything is quiet in all Austria, including the frontier district," Chancellor Dollfuss said.

As for the Czechoslovakian border, the Chancellor declared that "I can tell you emphatically that no shifting of troops has been ordered in that section."

Prince Von Starhemberg spoke in a similar vein.

He, however, said he expected no sensational development on the border tomorrow, but repeated a warning which he and Vice-Chancellor Fey have uttered frequently since the civil war: "If necessary, we in the Heimwehr will repulse any attack, weapon in hand, with the same thoroughness with which we repulsed the Bolshevists."

Tomorrow marks the end of an eight-day "truce" offered by Theodore Habicht, exiled adviser of Austrian Nazis, to the government in return for the taking in of Nazis in the government.

In a speech at Munch Feb. 19 Habicht declared that "the fight will be resumed" if the government does not "cooperate" with Nazis.

SILVER ACCORD APPROVED

(C. P. by Guardian's Special Wire)

OTTAWA, Feb. 26—The House of Commons tonight approved the World Silver Agreement, negotiated at London last June under which the producing nations took steps to stabilize prices. The pact received almost unanimous endorsation, only E. J. Young, Lib. Weyburn, shouting disapproval. There was no recorded vote.

The five leading silver producers, Australia, Canada, the United States, Mexico and Peru agreed to withdraw from the world market a total of 35,000,000 fine ounces of silver. Canada's share was 1,671,802 ounces but so far no steps have been taken to buy this from Canadian mines. In addition, the countries with silver coinage agreed not to debase their currencies, Canada's remaining 80 percent silver and 20 percent alloy.

Endorsation of the World Agreement marked the end of a debate on bi-metallism, introduced by Thomas Reid, Lib., New Westminster. He sponsored a motion to link gold and silver as a monetary base but Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance moved an amendment for approval of the silver agreement, dismissing bi-metallism with the statement it was impracticable unless adopted simultaneously by the leading countries of the world.

AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTION AT DEC. 1ST

The following information has just been released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics:

The total number of cattle and calves on Canadian farms at December 1 is estimated at 8,459,800 head, an increase of 337,200 head or 4.5 per cent above the population on December 1 1932, but a decrease of 414,700 head or 4.6 per cent compared with June 1, 1933 figures. The trend of cattle population is still upward.

The number of milch cows continued to increase in all provinces, the total for Canada at December 1 being 3,659,200 compared with 3,508,600 a year ago. A greater proportional increase is shown in beef cows, which increased nearly 15 per cent from 562,300 to 666,000. Similarly there was a greater increase in the number of yearlings being raised for beef purposes than in yearlings raised for dairy purposes.

While milch cows form 84.6 per cent of the total cow population, yearlings being raised for dairy purposes were only 57.9 per cent of the total of yearlings. Since the yearling classification includes both steers and heifers, it is to be expected that there would be a considerable proportion of beef animals. Young male cattle raised for beef purposes are kept longer and are sold as yearling or two-year old steers rather than as veal calves.

The 1,798,500 calves on farms at December was only slightly greater than a year ago, which indicates that the rate of cattle increase is slowing up. This is most apparent in Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba, where there were decreased numbers of calves compared with the calf population of the previous December. The number of steers two years old and over increased from 361,800 to 416,000, the largest increases being in Quebec, Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The number of cows to calve in the December to May period is in the line with the increase in cow population. The fact that this advance represents an 8.4 per cent increase while dairy cows advance only 4.1 per cent and yearlings for milk 3.5 per cent would appear to further indicate the trend toward beef production. This conclusion can be discounted to some extent, however, by the large number of beef cows being used in a dual purpose capacity.

Swine Production

The decline in the swine population of Canada which began in 1931 continued during 1933, but breeding intentions for the December-May period of 1933-34 show an increase of 8.8 per cent over the same period of 1932-33.

The number of hogs on farms at December 1 is estimated at 3,587,900 head compared with 3,800,700 on June 1, or 5.5 per cent decrease, and 4,126,200 on December, or 15.9 per cent decrease. The period between June and December is usually featured by a seasonal decline in population. In these six months of 1933, there was a decline in the farrowings in every province of Canada compared with the same period of 1932. The reduction amounted to 56,400 head or 3.7 per cent. The decline in number of pigs saved was 293,600 or 10.2 per cent, some of the reduction in sows farrowing being offset by an increase in the number of pigs saved per litter. This feature occurred in every province, except Ontario.

For the spring and summer months, there are indications of reduced marketings compared with the same months of 1933. If the expressed intentions with regard to spring farrowings are carried out, there will be an increase in marketings in the fall of 1934 and winter months of 1934-35. The recent rise in prices would tend to increase late breeding. The trend of prices will, of course, affect the percentage of young hogs sold. During 1934 there should be some tendency to increase foundation stock.

Sheep And Lambs

The number of sheep and lambs in Canada at December 1 was 2,737,900 head—a seasonal decrease of 647,900 head or 19.1 per cent from the 3,385,800 at June 1 but 4.6 per cent below the 2,811,700 at December 1 1932. Comparing 1933 numbers with those in December 1932 the decreases in the Maritimes and eastern Canada more than offset increases in the three western provinces.

The decrease in number of ewes to lamb in the December-June period of 1933-34 is not as great as the reduction in sheep numbers indicating a probable reversal of the downward trend in sheep production of the past few years.

The prospective plans for sheep marketings do not reveal a heavy hold-over of lambs for future sale, the relation of intended marketings to total numbers being about the same as a year ago. There is, however, a reduction in the number of mature sheep for market. The tendency to retain larger numbers of mature animals may be associated with breeding or feeding policies.

Poultry

The number of hens and chickens on December 1 is estimated at 47,147,400, which is 14.2 per cent below the numbers of June 1, 1933 and 4.2 per cent below the numbers at December 1 of the previous year.

The marketing intentions for the current six months following December - reflect the decrease in numbers of poultry on farms. Pullets and cockerels are 30.1 per cent less than a year ago, hens and cocks 29.6 per cent, turkeys 20 per cent, ducks 30.4 per cent and geese 21.0 per cent, with a total decrease of 29.9 per cent for all classes.

Milk Products

Cheese and evaporated milk are the most important of the milk products of Canada in the export trade. Cheese exported in January amounted to 12,341 cwt. of the value of $140,405 compared with 3,631 cwt. at $46,977 a year ago. However, the January export was far below the 64,085 cwt. at $688,291 in December, and the total for the past twelve months was 850,396 cwt. at $8,170,948 was lower than the 866,514 cwt. at $8,865,564 in the previous twelve months.

The evaporated milk export amounted to 5,067 cwt. of the value of $40,780 compared with 18,598 cwt. at $118,346 in January 1933. This product, however, has been making gains during the past twelve months, the export being 174,673 cwt. at $1,227,785 compared with 145,776 cwt. at $1,035,130 in the previous twelve months.

The total export of milk products in January was valued at $246,311, compared with $815,046 in December and $286,879 in January 1933, while for the past twelve months it was $11,000,000 as against $11,846,000 in the previous twelve months

PROBE CRASH OF AIR LINER

Pilot Lloyd Anderson Was Formerly of Burnt Church, N. B.

(A.P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 26 — A mountain snow storm, which investigators believe caused the crash of the United Air Lines plane near here Friday with a loss of eight lives, hampered a probe of the tragedy and the recovery of one body today.

The smashed plane had to be thrown upon its side before the eighth body, that of co-pilot Eric G. Danielson, could be extricated.

H. P. Lewis, chief pilot of the lines, expressed the belief that pilot Lloyd Anderson, a native of Burntchurch, N. B., was attempting to rise above a storm when he crashed shortly after taking off at Salt Lake City or Cheyenne.

"He probably was trying to lift out of a storm and saw the trees looming before him," said Lewis. "Fearing a crash, he probably tried to lift the ship too rapidly. the wreckage looks as if the ship did a chandelle (a half back turn) and nosed into the ground. The crash also brought to light the 1933 marriage of the 24 year old stewardess, Miss Mary Carten, to John Wheeler, 25, Chicago hotel manager .Wheeler said the marriage was not announced because of a regulation that stewardesses of the line be unmarried. He said he was working day and night in an effort to "raise enough money so Mary could stay home with me."

INCREASE IN COAL OUTPUT

(C. P. By Guardian's Special Wire)

OTTAWA, Feb. 27—An increase of 22 percent was shown in coal produced in January when the production amounted to 1,270,567 tons as compared with 1,038,528 in the corresponding month of 1933, says a report issued today by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

PHILLIPS

lips had delivered meat for his father, a Peninsula butcher on that particular morning.

Obtained Legally

Phillips' confession, the Chief Justice held, had been obtained legally, without duress, and in the presence of several disinterested witnesses. Further, Phillips had signed the confession and had even ordered certain corrections made to it.

If the jury believed the testimony of several witnesses who claimed having heard accused admit to his father he had committed the crime, then this was tantamount to a plea of guilty on Phillips' part, His Lordship concluded.

Youth's Character

Consideration of the character evidence adduced at trial was urged upon jurymen by Guy Hudon, defence counsel, in his address. He recalled a minister and a school teacher from Gaspe had testified to the accused's recognized good behavior. Up to Aug. 31, he said, Phillips had absolutely nothing against him and was looked upon as a model boy, reserved and obliging.

A confession, allegedly made by Phillips to former Detective Arthur Maloney, Montreal, who introduced himself to accused as "Eddy Baker" came in for close scrutiny by Mr. Hudon. "If the confession was made by accused's own free will," he insisted, "why did the detectives wait upstairs. There is no necessity of a preparation for a confession. If the one made by Phillips was spontaneous, why did he have to be prompted by a man named Maloney, alias Baker?"

Dealing with the question of blood found on accused's shirt the morning after the disappearance of the girls, the lawyer observed the stains were easily explained as Phillips delivered meat for his father. Summing up, he said, the confession had not been given voluntarily, there was nothing unusual in Phillips' having been with the cousins on the night of their disappearance, and the Crown had not been able to show any motive why accused would have wished the deaths of the girls.

Motive Not Necessary

It was not necessary for the Crown to show a motive for any crime, Lucien Cannon, K. C., joint Crown prosecutor in the case, said at the outset of his address. He spoke of direct and indirect evidence stressing accused's confession—"made without force or extortion—" as being the strongest evidence against him.

"Murder will out," Mr. Cannon declared, after remarking accused probably thought himself safe from arrest as time elapsed and no trace of the bodies of the girls was found. "I congratulate the police," he said, "and although it took them two months eventually they found Maud's body weighted down by stones at the bottom of Gaspe Bay. Accused was sure the bodies were bound in a grave from which they would never come back."

RECEIVES MANY CONGRATULATIONS ON 87TH BIRTHDAY

Former Prince Edward Island Lady Gives Demonstration On Spinning Wheel, Valued 100 Years Old Heirloom, On Eve Of Celebrating 87th Birthday Anniversary At Quincy, Mass.

The Quincy, Massachusetts, newspapers report a happy event on Feb. 17 when Mrs. Euphemia Gillis celebrated there her 87th birthday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Jardine. Mrs. Gillis was formerly Miss Euphemia Murchison, and was born in Point Prim, this Province, where she attended school. Later, she resided at Orwell Cove. When 32 years old she married the late Malcolm Gillis, and is the mother of five children, four girls and a son, and has twelve grandchildren. She went to the United States sixteen years ago, but has returned to her native Province every summer but two, one of which, seven years ago, she spent with a daughter in Seattle, Washington. Three children live in Quincy, Mrs. William Rennie, Mrs. John Jardine and William Gillis.

On her recent anniversary Mrs. Gillis received numerous callers and many floral tokens as well as cards from distant friends. "Few persons," says a Quincy paper, "reach the age of 87 without more evidence of the passing of time." She retains a fresh complexion, has not a gray hair, and takes active interest in the affairs of her church, home and community.

A few days before her birthday anniversary, a reception was held for Mrs. Gillis by the Opportunity Circle of the First Presbyterian Church at Quincy, where she was congratulated by all present and where she gave a demonstration of spinning for the benefit of the younger folks. Pictures of Mrs. Gillis at her wheel were featured prominently in the Quincy press. The spinning wheel which she uses is over 100 years old and was given her as a gift from her father-in-law after his wife's death. It was used for many years to weave the cloth needed by the family from wool of sheep they raised.

Mrs. Gillis is a cousin of Mr. A. E. MacLean, M. P., and an aunt of Captain S. D. Murchison, of this City. Her many friends here will be pleased to learn of her continued good health, and The Guardian joins them in wishing her many more years of activity and happiness.

EDEN WELL RECEIVED BY MUSSOLINI

(By Andrue Berding Associated Press Foreign Staff by Guardian's Special Wire)

ROME, Feb. 26—Premier Benito Mussolini and Captain Anthony Eden, special British envoy, agreed today on the possibility of finding a basis for a general agreement on disarmament, an official communique announced.

The communique, issued tonight after a long conference, said that "the head of this Government received the British Lord Privy Seal, Captain Eden, at Venezia Palace this afternoon.

"Captain Eden informed him (Mussolini) of conversations he (Eden) had had at Paris and Berlin.

"This information enables them to examine afresh the British and Italian memoranda.

"They find themselves in accord as to the object to be reached, particularly as to the possibility of finding a basis for a general agreement."

Discuss Phases

Premier Mussolini and Captain Eden discussed all phases of the European disarmament problem during their lengthy conference.

The British Ambassador, Sir Eric Drummond, former secretary of the League of Nations, accompanied Captain Eden to the Palace. Fulvio Suvich, Italian Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, just home from a special visit to Budapest and Vienna, was on hand to help his chief.

Although he would not permit newspaper correspondents to quote him, Captain Eden appeared very satisfied with his conversations with Premier Mussolini.
