Ceremony Of Religious Profession

On Thursday morning, the Feast of the Ascension, the Chapel of St. Vincent's Orphanage was the setting for a very impressive ceremony when seven novices pronounced their first vows of religion in the Congregation of the Sisters of St. Martha of Prince Edward Island.

The Psalm, Laetatus Sum, was rendered by the Sisters' choir as the novices, bearing lighted tapers, entered the chapel to assist at the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass celebrated by His Excellency, Most Reverend James Boyle, Bishop of Charlottetown. His Excellency was assisted by the Reverend John A. Sullivan and the Reverend J.P. E. O'Hanley.

A most inspiring sermon was delivered by the Reverend Father O'Hanley. After briefly describing the significance of the ceremony of Religious Profession, the speaker paid a high tribute to the sisters making profession. He pointed out that a vocation to the religious life is always an important contribution and a great blessing to society. Such an institution as the monastery of Monte Cassino and such saintly women as Mother Cabrini, foundress of the Institute of the Missionary Sisters of the Sacred Heart, and St. Teresa of the Child Jesus have made contributions to humanity that can be adequately evaluated only in the Book of Life. If the significance of the past is to be judged by its influence on the present, then the life-story of the Little Flower of Lisieux merits a long chapter in our history text books, and this saintly religious deserves to be honored as one of the greatest contributors to society of the past century.

Having congratulated the young sisters, Father O'Hanley assured them that it would be impossible for them to persevere as faithful religious and not to become saints. He tried to impress upon them that all the difficulties and trials they would experience in the service of God should be viewed in their proper setting in the beautiful and consoling background of the decrees of Divine Providence.

The novices who pronounced their first vows were: Sister Mary Alfred Hughes, Tracadie Cross; Sister Mary Eleanor Mullally, Souris West; Sister Mary Hermina Cahill, Alberton; Sister Mary Ignatius Kelly, St. Teresa's; Sister Joan Mary MacDonald, Little Pond; Sister Mary of Carmel MacDonald, Little Pond; Sister Anne Josephine Cahill, Alberton.

At the conclusion of the Mass His Excellency addressed words of congratulation, advice, and encouragement to the young professed. He urged them to generosity in God's service—a generosity inspired and motivated by the eternal love of God. He congratulated their parents and assured them that many blessings would descend upon them for the sacrifice they had made so generously, in giving their daughters to the service of their Master.

Members of the clergy present besides those already mentioned were: the Reverend K. C. MacPherson, Reverend Walter MacGuigan, Reverend Bennett MacDonald, Reverend William Simpson, and the Reverend P.J. Gallery, C.S.S.R.

The ceremony was concluded with the singing of the Te Deum.

Magnetic Finger New War Secret

NEW YORK, June 3—(AP)—A new war secret, a magnetic finger on airplanes, that pointed unerringly at submarines beneath the water and that sealed Gibraltar's straits to U-boat passage, was disclosed Saturday by Columbia University.

The finger is a magnetic detector, small enough to be attached to the extreme tail end of a plane or trailed from the end of a cable. In practice it was trailed from a cable to free it from the magnetic influences of the plane. It picks up and points to the magnetic disturbance of a steel ship.

This finger begins pointing in a wide cone above a submarine. The plane then circles until the magnetic device says the submarine is below at the right angle for dropping a depth bomb. The Columbia announcement said that in the critical days after the invasion of Normandy, that part of the German submarine fleet in the Mediterranean remained bottled up because no boat could pass Gibraltar.

The finger was called mad operator, from its right name which is magnetic airborne detector. It works on the same general principle as the land mine detector, the ship's cable that protected against German magnetic sea mines and the detectors miners use in prospecting.

HOLLYWOOD AT JASPER PARK

JASPER LODGE, Alta. June 4— Hollywood walked into the lives of twenty citizens of the little town of Jasper Alta., Saturday when they were cast to appear in Paramounts "The Emperor Waltz", technicolor film on location at this famous national park.

Soon after they had turned out to greet the special train bringing Joan Fontaine and 135 members of a location troupe to Jasper, the towns people were interviewed at a special office setup in town and twenty were selected for roles in picture.

Among them was Ernie Neiderer, internationally known Swiss Alpine guide, for years a resident of Jasper. He will not appear in the picture as an alpinest however, but as a shepherd.

The citizenry that has never been or seen a movie troupe were scheduled to work in scenes with Miss Fontaine, after being made up by Wally Westmore of the famous makeup family and after being out fitted by hollywood leading costumers only one drawback was anticipated in arrangements by producer Charles Brackett and director Billy Wilder. In order to shoot technicolor scenes in the early morning sun, the Jasper citizen actors were given a 3 a.m. call.

Mazerall Gets Four-Year Term

OTTAWA, June 4 — (CP) — Chief Justice J C McRuer of the Ontario Supreme Court Saturday sentenced Edward Mazerall, 30, former National Research Council engineer, to penitentiary for four years on a charge of conspiring to break the Official Secrets Act of 1939.

Mazerall betrayed not a trace of emotion as he heard the sentence passed. He was led away by a guard.

A native of Fredericton, Mazerall was the third to be sentenced among 14 Canadians detained in connection with activities of a Russian espionage range. He was first detained Feb. 15, and convicted May 22 by a 12-man jury after a 10-day trial.

It was shown in evidence that he had given for the use of Russia two radar documents taken from the Research Council. The defence contended that they could have been obtained by Russia herself if she had asked for them officially.

Y.M.C.A. News

Ten commandments of safety on the water front were issued today by A. Merle Harding, Physical Education Secretary, National Council Y.M.C.A., in an effort to cut down the toll that will be taken by swimming accidents this summer.

1. Never go swimming alone. Even a good swimmer can get into trouble, and if he is alone, there will be no one to aid him or to go for help.

2. Never go swimming at an unguarded spot. The safest swimming places are beaches or pools adequately protected by skilled life guards. The most dangerous are docks, piers, river banks or other unguarded spots.

3. Never dive into strange water. You don't know what is on the bottom, and might crack you head on hidden rocks, get stuck in mud, or run into other dangers. Slip into strange water carefully, and explore it before doing any diving.

4. Don't show off in the water. Many an innocent prank has had fatal results, particularly if in deep water or swift currents. Besides being dangerous, a show off is annoying to other swimmers and spoils their fun.

5. Don't attempt a rescue unless you are a strong swimmer. Every year many lives are lost because weak swimmers' noble impulses overcome their discretion. If you can't swim, you'll do the most good by finding someone who can. Even if you are a good swimmer, don't swim to a rescue if you can reach the victim with a boat, rope or pole.

6. If you have been exercising or working, be sure to cool off before plunging into cold water. Cramps result from over-exertion or sudden changes of temperature.

7. Don't rock the boat. This is old advice, but it is still sound. Fooling around in a small boat or canoe is a frequent cause of accidents. If you can't swim, stay out of small boats.

8. Pay strict attention to all warning signs. They were not put up by busy-bodies, but by authorities who had your personal safety in mind. Don't go beyond safe limits marked by ropes or other boundaries.

9. When swimming or rowing with the tide or current, keep in mind that it will be "uphill", and twice the work, coming back. At the same time, remember that you should "go out like a lamb, and back like a lion." Do your sprinting toward the shore, not away from it.

10. Know your limitations. Don't try to swim across a lake or river just because someone dares you. A good rule is: when in doubt, don't do it.

LUNENBURG, N.S., June 3 — (CP) — Replica in miniature of the Bluenose, departed queen of the North Atlantic fishing fleet, the 70-foot schooner yacht, Margaret Busby, slid trimly into Lunenburg harbor Saturday. The schooner, provided with space for engine installation, was built during a lull in contract construction by Smith and Rhuland Shipyards, builders of the Bluenose. The 130-foot Bluenose, launched in 1921, was a champion both in deep sea fishing off Newfoundland's Grand Banks and in international fishermen's racing competition. She foundered off Haiti last winter finishing her career as a British West Indies trader.
