Two Islanders Killed In Regina

JAMES J. AND JOSEPH MCEACHERN, BROTHERS, FORMERLY OF P. E. ISLAND, BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN ASPHYXIATED IN REGINA

Although definite details are lacking at Maple Creek, of two Regina brothers, James J., brother in law of Mrs. P. A. Scully, Georgetown, and Joseph McEachern, was confirmed in a telegram received by Rev. Father Gerein, assistant priest at Sacred Heart rectory, at 10:40 p. m. Wednesday night. According to information received it is thought that the unfortunate men were asphyxiated while engaged in sinking the shaft of a well and the theory submitted states that one brother was overcome by gas while descending the shaft and the second brother was likewise affected while trying to rescue the first.

Both men were well known in P. E. Island, and in Regina and Saskatchewan, and held high reputations as well diggers. They met with considerable success in locating water in the central part of the Province. James J. McEachern resided at 1265 Robinson Street, Regina, up to less than four weeks ago when he travelled with his wife and five children to Estevan, from whence he operated his outfit. Joseph followed him to assist in sinking a well between Piapot and Maple Creek.

Surviving the two brothers are Mrs. E. McEachern, mother; Flora and Herbert at 850 Princess Street, Regina; Mrs. J. Paquet, Boston, Mass.; R. McEachern, brother at Youkou, B. C.; and Mrs. J. J. McEachern and five children.

The third brother, Herbert, left for Maple Creek by the C. P. R. train late last night. It is expected that the bodies will be brought to Regina for burial. A.

DOING NICELY — It is pleasing to report that Mr. J. M. Noonan, of Summerside, who was taken suddenly ill on Monday last at his store, is now recovering and able to be about the house a little. His many friends hope to see him around again soon.—S

LATER REPORT OF HOSPITAL DAY — A later report of the sale of tags for the Prince County Hospital from Summerside and other places is that the total receipts were $200, which included the sum made at the New Annan races.—S

REPAIRING FIRE DAMAGE AT THE JAIL — The Prince County Jail is now undergoing repairs for the damage caused by the recent fire, into which an investigation was held last week by the Fire Marshall, whose report has not yet been made public. The various offices on the ground floor, which were damaged by smoke are being redecorated; the carpenters are also at work repairing the cells, which were badly burned by the fire.—S

TRANSFER OF PROPERTY — Councillor Grady, of Summerside, has sold his property, some years ago known as the west end tannery, being the intersection of Water, Second and Duke streets, to the McCoil Frontenac Oil Co. The deal was made through Mr. H. M. Downings, who has the contract to build there another up-to-date filling station similar to the one which he has now almost completed for the same company on the corner of Water and Eustace streets. This will give the McCoil Frontenac Co. a filling station at the east and west approaches to the town.—S

BODY NOT YET RECOVERED — Although a number of motor boats have kept up the search and dragging operations outside the light house at Summerside at each low tide since Wednesday night's tragedy, the body of the victim, Mr. Eddie Gaudet, has not yet been recovered. In the opinion of longshoremen

TEA on the terrace" is booming in London, with the return of sunshine, and the tables extending in a double row all along the river side of the Houses of Parliament are thronged all the afternoon and early evening, and the famous strawberry teas are being supplied in hundreds. One result of the Socialist invasion in England is a mixture of fashions. The other day at one table was a party fashionably dressed and at the next table two railway men in uniform puffed their pipes.

HATS this winter are going to have brims, according to the exhibition of a Canadian importer. But the brims do the most eccentric things. Practically all of them turn up, so that in spite of their depth of five or six inches the hat is still small.

And brims are never, absolutely never, the same on both sides of the hat. They either take the notion, very flatly and very neatly, to turn down at the back like a helmet or they fly out at one side in a fanlike effect. Or they may even just fold smoothly over the back of the crown.

All hats are deeper in the back than they have been for the past couple of years. The Paris hats shown were extremely smart and quite tailored. They seemed to depend entirely on the originality of the lines of their brims. Their colors were black and browns ranging from sand to cocoa.

The New York hats were softer both in material and line. They had deeper crowns than the Paris hats, but they, unlike the tailored French hats, could be tucked and folded to suit the wearer. The colors were also softer. Several greens, soft light shades, appeared among the light browns, and there were several combinations of pastel colors. Sometimes green appeared with beige. Particularly pretty was a little rose and periwinkle velvet whose little brim ended at one side in a skeleton bow.

In fact bows of the hat fabric were quite popular on the New York hats. Quite surprising was the re-appearance of feather pompons of various colors. There were several in brown shades on beige-colored hats. There were more velvets than plushes.

Fabric hats this year will be very popular, manufacturers of hat frames believe. Felt hats are now being made so cheaply that they predict a return of the "made" hat to the forefront of fashion.

Two colorings seem likely to be of prime importance for formal wear. Brown seems likely to be the leading shade for millinery this fall. This agrees with the dress designers' ideas for the latter say that brown will be featured for street wear in daytime frocks.

The plain versus the fussy. That is the lingerie battle on the cards for the fall. According to the best judges, the plain types seem likely to have a shade the better of it, although the fussy type does not seem likely to go down and out entirely. The coloring most seen, or rather most hidden, are flesh, peach, tan, eggshell, blue and green.
