William D. McEwen of St. Peter's Harbor drove to Victoria Cross on Saturday, May 4th, for the purpose of mating his speedy carriage mare with the French Coach Stallion, Saloman, owned by David Reid. Mr. McEwen is a well known horseman and strongly advises all those who wish to secure stock of the highest order, which commands the fancy and will stand the test of the experienced horseman's eye, to follow his example and see this beautiful animal for themselves before mating their mares elsewhere.

MCGEE HEARING

(Continued on page 13.) George, and did not see them alive again. Was ready to go when I heard the last two were dead. Went to the house again Saturday evening at nine o'clock. Dr. Allan, Coroner, and Dr. McMillan, Health Officer, were there. The Coroner's inquest was held and the jury ordered an autopsy. This was held on Thomas, the youngest boy and on Bridget, the youngest girl. Dr. McMillan took part and I assisted him. The cause of death was some kind of poison. I prepared specimens of the body for chemical examination. Heard on Thursday, April 18, that Johnny was sick. Arrived there about six and found Johnny sick in bed, with his clothes on, pale and bluish complexion. His condition resembled that of the other ones. He complained of pains; his temperature was normal. His pulse was 120 running fairly strong. He told me he took sick Tuesday evening. The pain struck him across the stomach and shortly after that he vomited and said the pain returned the next night and was much worse. Tuesday he had eggs and bread for each of his three meals. Did not notice any odor of his breath. The prisoner was not present when I made the inquiries of the boy. She said she did not know what caused his death. He had been eating some candy and she seemed to be quite unconcerned about the morning. The prisoner did not want to part with the boy when we told her the Premier said to take the boy away she stamped her foot and began to cry. She said the boy was alright. We took him to Thomas Cassidy's that evening. Just before I took him to Montague Mrs. MacGee was giving him some milk and

WIFE'S HEALTH RESTORED

Husband Declared Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Would Restore Her Health, And It Did.

Ashland, Ky.—"Four years ago I seemed to have everything the matter with me. I had female and kidney trouble and was so bad off I could hardly rest day or night. I doctored with all the best doctors in town and took many kinds of medicine but nothing did any good until I tried your wonderful remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My husband said it would restore my health and it has." Mrs. MAY WYATT, Ashland, Ky. There are probably hundreds of thousands of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over thirty years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering. Read What Another Woman says: Camden, N. J.—"I had female trouble and a serious displacement and was tired and discouraged and unable to do my work. My doctors told me I never could be cured without an operation, but thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I am cured of that affliction and have recommended it to more than one of my friends with the best results."—Mrs. ELIA JOHNSTON, 324 Vine St. If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

I stopped her but in spite of me she managed to give him some. The coroner's inquest was on April 20th. They had a post-mortem examination. Dr. McMillan, Dr. Stewart and myself. It was a thorough examination. All the organs were of a yellowish color, the liver was increased in weight and was of a golden yellow color. My opinion is that death was caused by poison. I would say it looked more like phosphorus than anything else.

Dr. McIntyre sworn, I live in Montague, practised about 13 years and saw the McGee children during their illness. I went there on Friday, the 12th, Dr. Fraser was the attending physician, I went on a message I got from Dr. Fraser. I was going to see a patient at Peter's Road when I met Dr. Fraser. I arrived about dark. One child was dead I asked how the children were. "That is one of them," pointing to Louis, she said. He was lying on his face, he seemed very drowsy; was very cold and his heart was beating all right and I asked him how he was. He laid his hand on his abdomen and complained of a pain. His abdomen was hard. Pansy said she was all right but only had a headache. They did not ask for water but if you would offer it to them they would drink it in large quantities. I stayed until about 9 o'clock. The mother did not take it as most mothers would, she did not appear to be crying very much. When I got back there again Louis and Bridget had died, George seemed to have improved some. I was not in very long when I noticed Pansy getting very pale and I could see that she was sinking fast. George grew worse and was also sinking. I then came home and told Dr. Fraser as he had charge of them. I was not at the autopsy. I was informed by Dr. Fraser about Johnny. The two of us went out together on Friday. He told us that Johnny was sick and that we were to remove him to the hospital or anywhere else where we thought best and we did it. I heard Dr. Fraser's evidence and it was substantially correct. I was at the post-mortem on Sunday. I had my mind made up before the post-mortem it was poison. I went to the cellar and saw the fish and they looked as if they were properly cured. I proceeded with the post-mortem. My belief is that death was caused by phosphorus poisoning. All the organs were of a peculiar color. The children that died in January died from natural causes, from pneumonia, I examined their throats. It was not a severe case of diphtheria. Death in my opinion was due to a poison substance causing fatty degeneration of the tissues and organs; such might be produced by phosphorus poisoning.

Stephen McGulgan (recalled). I heard Mrs. McGee say she was going to Boston if anything happened to Johnny. She said Pat could get married again. She said nothing about herself getting married. She said Pat was had to her and could not chastise the children for him. She talked a lot of that kind of talk. That was the evening she took Johnny to Montague. She was crying some then. She was not laughing any during my visit that evening.

Dr. McMillan, sworn. Live in Charlottetown. Was in St. Mary's Road April 13th. Went there to see what caused death of five McGee children. Dr. Allan, coroner, and Dr. Fraser were at the McGee house where an inquest was held. The jury recommended a post-mortem on two of the children, George and Bridget. The result was inconclusive. Certain parts of the organs of the boy George and the girl were taken by me and delivered to Dr. Ruttan.

from the McGee house. I assisted in the analysis in Montreal of the organs. Free phosphorus was not discovered but we found phosphoric acid phosphate. Have no doubt whatever that death was due to phosphorus poisoning. Much less phosphorus than was contained in the matches purchased by the McGees would be sufficient to cause death. Less than two cards, 25 matches, would contain enough poison to kill an adult. Dr. Stewart, (sworn). Was present at autopsy of Johnny McGee, assisted by Dr. McMillan, Health Officer. Heard evidence of the other doctors and they were correct. It was a very careful and thorough autopsy. I describe the death as due to phosphorus poisoning. Court adjourned at 6.00 o'clock to meet tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

THE ELEPHANTS IN THE DURBAR CEREMONIES

The Kinemacolor pictures were put on yesterday at the Opera House with a complete change of program, and the views shown, good as were the previous pictures, were the best yet. The scene of an eastern elephant pageant such as may only be witnessed on the most rare occasions in India, was reproduced in Kinemacolor in all its unique and gorgeous splendor. This being the culminating point of their Majesty King-Emperor George and Queen-Empress Mary's visit to Calcutta, the occasion appealed strongly to imagination at the Taltunder, the landed aristocracy of the country, who responded nobly. After great preparation and eight rehearsals, the experts selected some 200 elephants which took part in the most wonderful spectacle of the entire Durbar ceremonies. Besides showing a new introductory picture entitled British Motor Boat Racing, which was one of the most enjoyable subjects of the long program, a Royal Guard Party, Gun Firing by the Royal Horse Artillery, Reception Tent, Point to Point Races, Arrival at Selimnath, Delhi Polo Tournament, State Departure from Delhi, Coronation Durbar Along the Hooghly River and Scenes in Calcutta Races, Within the Elephant Stockade, the Durbar Crown, the spectacular Calcutta Elephant Pageant Procession, and the State Departure from India, The pictures are clear and distinct, and from an educational standpoint alone; the entertainment is well worth twice the admission fee. A well pleased audience witnessed the new program at both matinee and evening performances and crowded houses are expected today and tomorrow. St. John Telegraph. This company comes here direct from St. John and will present the first part of the Durbar series at the
