W. C. T. U. NOTES

"THE MOMENTOUS HOUR"

The following stanza from an "Ode Written During the Negotiations with Benito Mussolini in January, 1914" by Robert Southey is quoted in an exchange as being peculiarly applicable to Hitler. It at least affords striking evidence of the resources of the English tongue in the matter of adjectives appropriate to the occasion:

But Evil was his God,
For all too long in blood had he been nursed,
And he: was earth with verier tyrant curst.
Bold man and bad,
Remorseless goddess, full of fraud and lies
And black with murders and with perjuries,
Himself in Hell's whole panoply he clad;
No law but his own headstrong will he knew,
No counsellor but his own wicked heart
From evil thus portentous strength he drew,
And tramped under foot all human ties,
And holy laws all natural charities.

The first stanza of the same Ode is also not inapplicable at this time and might well have been written in anticipation of victory by the present Foot Laureate instead of by his predecessor of a century ago:

Who counsels peace at this momentous hour,
When God hath given deliverance to the oppress'd?
And to the injured power?
Who counsels peace when Vengeance like a flood
Rolls on no longer now to be repress'd?
When innocent blood
From the four corners of the world cries out
For justice upon one accursed head;
When Freedom hath her holy banner spread
Over all nations now in one just cause
United; when with one sublime accord
Europe throws off the yoke abhor'd,
And Loyalty and Faith and Ancient Laws
Follow the avenging sword!

There are here lines which perfectly fit the present stage of the war between Hitler and the United Nations over whom "Freedom hath her holy banner spread" and the whole stanza makes his bid for peace as he will once he realizes his mad bid for world power has failed.

PEACE AND INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Mrs. R. H. Perigos, Toronto

In these times of crisis everywhere people are having to make big adjustments in their lives. They are having to make changes in their living and thinking. Their jobs, homes and even their lives seem threatened.

Throughout the earth we see momentous deeds being performed—the old giving way to the new. Dare we hope that these changes are in indication of the passing of an era of selfishness, greed, intolerance, race superiority and intolerance; and the birth of the era of Love and Brotherhood? Are we doing all we can to bring in this era? Ignorance breeds suspicion, and suspicion is the breeding ground for fear, and from fear springs the world's hatreds and so — war.

Thomas A. Warren of England, Vice-President of Rotary International speaking in Maple Leaf Gardens Toronto, said "To rid the world of war a superhuman task, but it must be done." Are we trying

To find how it can be done? The new social order demands a new kind of person as the unit of that society. We need to check ourselves to be sure we are building on the foundation of co-operation with others. To study is to know; to know is to care and to care is to act. "Out of us" work has been carried on through study groups, presentation of plays, book reviews, books recommended for study were "Out of us" by J. B. MacNeill and "Social Sixth of the World," by the Dean of Canterbury also "The Atlantic Charter" and "The Atlantic Charter" are co-operation in this educational work with Women's Institutes, Local Council of Women, W. M. S. and other Church groups; Home and School Association, Health League of Canada, and Canadian Committee of Refugees.

Do we really want Peace? If we do, are we willing to adopt the measures necessary to that end? Let us begin now to win the battle for Social Justice and Brotherhood, act now. "An ounce of action is worth a pound of discussion" — providing our action is the result of much study and wise thinking.

An interesting question on religious instruction and alcohol education in Ontario schools brought out the need of increased effort.

Last year our Provincial Secretary, Rosemund Duff, was allowed to present a demonstration of Alcohol Education at the Rural Section of the Ontario Educational Association. The presentation of books of value in Alcohol Education to school libraries or to individual teachers shows that the W. C. T. U. carries a needed work of supplying scientific information on Alcohol instruction.

"GREAT UNTOUCHABLE"

Minneapolis (Minn.) Tribune and Star Journal, July 26, 1942

To the Editor: This editorial appearing in this week's Christian-Evangelist published in St. Louis, Mo., and one of the national weeklies of the Disciples of Christ, raises a very pertinent question: "It's strange that though the executive of our government has claimed that liquor, which serves only a part of the population, cannot be prohibited or even effectively controlled, yet that same executive, by act of Congress, has exercised a drastic regulation and prohibition over articles of use and foods which are universal in demand and which are essential to life. We accept every restriction, but we ask why is liquor admitted to be beyond control?" — THE GREAT UNTOUCHABLE?

"What is liquor doing to help win the war that it should be treated as sacrosanct in a day of sacrifice and self-denial?"

"Who knows the answer?"

I wonder who knows the answer?

REV. HARRY BUCALSTEIN, Redwood Falls, Minn.

To the men in the services I can say after serving about forty years in the army, that nothing is gained by the use of alcohol. No one can safely pilot an airplane drive a truck, tractor, tank jeep, or ambulance unless he is at his best physically. —George A. Skinner, M. D.

Tuberculosis Must Not Win

In every part of Canada today health workers in voluntary associations and full-time departments of state are striving to build up their defences after years of struggle had carried them far offensively against their foe. The defences they had built up with such difficulty over many years of effort have been breached by one of our most insidious enemies, tuberculosis. They must be patched up, because with Canada at war people cannot — must not — be exposed to the perils of tuberculosis as well as to the dangers of man-made conquest.

Last year, for the first time since 1921 Canada saw a sharp increase in the death rate from tuberculosis. The rate shot up 2.5 deaths per 100,000 of population to 53.1. It showed the serious effect a vast war effect can have upon a people who are throwing every muscle and every nerve into a struggle for survival. It must be the no matter what the cost the struggle to check and control tuberculosis that has been so successful until the present, the efforts of the health workers and the protection of our industrial workers in this arsenal of democracy.

Canada must not say "If we can't prevent tuberculosis in wartime, we will cure it anyway." Certainly, tuberculosis can be cured if caught in its early stages. But curing is a costly and slow business compared with the comparatively cheap and speedy sanatoria and tuberculosis hospitals and every additional patient taxes the efforts of the health workers, doctors and nurses. Would it not be better to prevent as we have tried to do in the past and to inaugurate a prevention program now that the threat to our security has become real?

The province of Saskatchewan thinks it must be the health workers who have used miniature X-ray films and has made mass surveys

The roll call was responded to by 18 members, and three visitors were present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Reports of committees, Mrs. Geo.
